LINES ON LEAVING EUROPE.

BY N. P. WILLIS.

Bright flag at yonder tapering mast!
Fling out your field of azure blue;
Let star and stripe be westward cast
And point as Freedom's eagle flew!
Strain home! oh lithe and quivering spar!
Point home, my country's flag of stars!

The wind blows fair! The vessel feels
The pressure of the rizing breeze;
And, swiftest of a thousand keels,
She leaps to the careering seas!
Oh, fair cloud of snowy sail,
In whose white breast I seem to lie,
How oft, when blew this eastern gale,
I've seen your semblance in the sky,
And long'd with breaking heart, to flee,
On such white pinions o'er the sea!

Adieu, oh lands of fame and old!
I turn to watch our foamy track,
And thoughts with which I first beheld
Yon clouded line, come hurrying back;
My lips are dry with vague desire—
My cheek once more is hot with joy—
My pulse, my brain, my soul on fire!
Oh, what has changed that trav[illegible] of
As leaves the ship this dying foam
His visions fade behind—his weary feet spreads home!

Adieu, oh soft and southern shore,
Where dwelt the stars long miss'd in heaven!
Those forms of beauty seen no more,
Yet once to Art's rapt vision given!
Oh, still the enamoured sun delays,
And pries through fount and crumbling
fane,
To win to his adoring gaze
Those children of the sky again!
Irradiate beauty, such as never
That light on other earth hath shone;
Has made this land her home forever;
And could I live for this alone—
Were not my [illegible]
Than such voluptuous slaves can be—
Held not the West one glorious star,
New born and blazing for the free—
Soar'd not to heaven our eagle yet—
Rome, with their Helot sons, should teach me to forget!

Adieu, oh fatherland! I see
And though to freer skies I flee,
My heart swells, and my eyes are dim!
As knows the dove the task you give her,
When loosed upon a foreign shore—
As spreads the rain-drop in the river
In which it may have flowed before—
To England, over vale and mountain,
My fancy flew from climes more fair—
My blood that knew its parent fountain,
Ran warm and fast in England's air.

My mother! in thy prayer to night
There come new words and warmer tears!
On long, long darkness breaks the light—
Come home the loved, the lost for years!
Sleep safe oh wave worn mariner!
Fear not to night, or storm or sea!
The car of heaven bends low to her?
He comes to shore who sails with me!
The wind lost spider needs no token
How stands the tree when lightnings blaze;
And by a thread from heaven unbroken,
I know my mother lives and prays!
Dear mother! when our lips can speak—
When first our tears will let us see—
When I can gaze upon thy cheek,
And thou with the dear eyes on me—
"Twill be a pastime little sad
To trace what weight Time's heavy fingers
Upon each other's forms have had—
For all may flee, so feeling lingers!
But there's a change, beloved mother!
To stir for deeper thoughts of shine;
I come—but with me comes another
To share the heart once only mine!

Thou, on whose thoughts, when sad and lonely,
One star arose in memory's heaven—
Thou, who hast watch'd one treasure only Watered one flower with tears at even—
Room in thy heart! The hearth she left
Is darken'd to lend light to ours!
There are bright flowers of care bereft,
And bears that languish more than flowers—
She was their light—their very air—
Room, mother! in thy heart!—place 'or her in thy prayers.

DIED,

In this town, on Friday of last week, after a lingering illness, which she bore with the fortitude of a Christian, Miss Susan Woolford.

OBITUARY—[COMMUNICATED]

Died, at her residence, on Lower Fishing Creek, in this county, February 6th, Mrs. Elizabeth Reddish, aged about 48, of a pulmonary consumption of some years' continuance.

When individuals of distinguished piety and great moral worth, are taken from the higher walks of life, they are generally much regretted; but when those of a similar character, disappear from the shades of retirement, the event scarcely demands a passing notice. Although the subject of these lines was identified with the legatees of affliction, &c., in this world, yet she sustained a character highly creditable to her sex, and the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which she was an exemplary member the greater part of her life. To the amiability of her natural disposition, she added the accomplishments of religion, the consolations of which were so signally manifested in her dying hours, that she with great composure gave directions relative to the future management of the family, chose the Minister whom she wished to perform her funeral obsequies, selected her pall-bearers, and then, after expressing herself to the satisfaction of all, in relation to her prospects of happiness, gave to her elder daughter some general advice respecting her attention to her afflicted father, and little brother and sister, &c., and triumphantly entered into the joy of her Lord without a opposing effort of nature.

"Night dews fall not more gently to the ground,
Nor weary, worn-out winds expire so soft."

ROBERT SINCLAIR, Sr.

PROPRIETOR,

HEREBY informs his friends and the public, that he expects the weather will be suitable to commence filling orders very soon.

Owing to winter setting in so unusually early, many persons, it is believed, were prevented from ordering who had intended to do so, and even many orders that did come, had to remain unfilled until the spring, consequently his stock remains good for most articles as advertised last fall—particularly Apple, Plum, Quince, English Raspberry, Strawberry, Gooseberry, Currant, Grape Vines, three years old, and Cuttings of the same, a few hundred Morus Multicaulis, and other Mulberry Trees, Ornamental Shade Trees, many, and several of them of large size, Balsam Fir, or Balm of Gilead, and other evergreens, and a superb collections of Garden and China Roses, and other beautiful Flowering Shrubs, Honey Suckles, Vines and Creepers, Rhubarb for tarts, &c. See printed and priced catalogues, to be had of the proprietor, gratis, or of R. Sinclair, Jr., 10 Light Street, Baltimore.

Also, will be delivered to customers, strong thrifty potted plants, about the middle of May, a splendid assortment of Double Dahlias, consisting of about one hundred varieties, carefully selected from among the best and latest importations. Printed catalogues will be furnished as above.

A few more pair white Turkeys, and two male Peacocks.

I have the pleasure, gratefully to acknowledge the favors that I have heretofore received in the line of my trade from the liberality of those who have employed me, and pledge myself to leave nothing untried still to merit in the prosecution of my business the approbation of the public.

February 28th, 1837.

Stephen D. Roark,
vs.
William Windsor.

THE object of the bill filed in this cause, is to obtain a decree for the sale of the property hereinafter mentioned.

The bill states that a certain Joseph Elliott, late of Dorchester county, made and executed his last will and testament, by which he bequeathed to his wife all his lands during her natural life, then to Samuel Windsor by paying Washington Elliott two hundred dollars—That the said Samuel Windsor departed this life intestate, and left a sister his heir at law, who has departed this life an infant, and left her father, William Windsor, her heir at law—That the said Washington Elliott assigned the said legacy to the complainant, and that no part has been paid to the said Elliott or to complainant, and said William Windsor refuses to pay the same. The bill prays for a sale of the said real estate to pay the said legacy. The bill also states that the said William Windsor resides out of the State of Maryland.

I is thereupon ordered that the complainant, by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper, once in each of three successive weeks, before the third day of April next, give notice to the said non resident defendant of the substance and object of the bill, that he may be warned to appear in this Court, in person, or by a solicitor, on or before the 28th day of July next, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

William Powell and Henry B. Fiddeman,
vs.
Elizabeth V. Davis and others.

THE object of the bill filed in this cause is to obtain a decree for the sale of the real estate of Charles L. Davis for the payment of his debts, his personal estate being insufficient for that purpose.

The bill states that said Charles L. Davis gave his bill obligatory to Francis P. Phelps for one hundred and fifty five dollars and fifty-seven cents, payable on demand, with interest from date—That Complainants are trading under the firm of Powell & Fiddeman, and that the said Francis P. Phelps assigned said bill obligatory to them, and that no part thereof has been paid—That the personal estate of said Charles L. Davis is not sufficient for the payment of his debts, and that letters of administration on his personal estate have been granted to Caleb P. Davis—That said Charles L. Davis died intestate, leaving real estate in Caroline county, and leaving the following children his heirs at law, to wit: Elizabeth V. Davis, John M. A. Davis, Mary E. V. Davis, and Sally C. Davis. It is also stated by petition that since the filing of the bill the said Elizabeth V. Davis, John M. A. Davis, Mary E. V. Davis and Sally C. Davis have removed out of the State of Maryland.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has removed from the house which he lately occupied, and kept as a tavern, to his recently erected establishment, on Main street, Cambridge, where he will continue his former business. His present stand, nearly opposite the Court House, and the nearest public house in Cambridge to the river, is believed to be one of the most extensive and commodious of its kind on the Eastern Shore. Tendering his grateful acknowledgments to those who have heretofore with so much liberality extended to him their patronage, and indulging the hope that he will hereafter merit and receive their countenance and support, he pledges his assiduous attention to his business, and the employment of his best exertions to please and give satisfaction to them and others who may favor him with their custom.—His Bar will at all times be supplied with choice wines and liquors, and his table with the best the market affords.

☞Boarders will, as hitherto, be taken by the year, month, week or day, on moderate terms.

DORCHESTER

HOUSE.

THE undersigned respectfully announces to his friends and the public generally that he has taken that well-known

Tavern House

IN THE TOWN OF CAMBRIDGE,

lately occupied by Mr. John Bradshaw, (which will in future be styled the "DORCHESTER HOUSE,") where he designs keeping a first rate establishment for the accommodation of all, and every person, who may favor him with their patronage. His TABLE will at all times be furnished with the best the market will afford. His BAR is now, and will continue to be, stocked with pure and unadulterated Liquors, of every variety; to attend in which he has procured the valuable services of Mr. Thomas Smith, who will always be ready to administer to the comforts of visitors. To attend his STABLES, he has careful and experienced Ostlers, which, together with his personal knowledge of the character and habits of that most valuable of animals, will, he flatters himself, afford ample assurance that all horses left in his charge will be well attended to. The House, in the course of the ensuing summer, will undergo a thorough repair, and be very considerably enlarged.

The advantages of its location must be acknowledged by all who visit it; for, while it is in the middle of the village, it is yet retired and quiet, it stands on a fine airy situation, about equi-distant from either end of the town.

The undersigned pledges himself to his patrons that his efforts to render their sojourn with him agreeable, shall be unremitting, and that nothing shall be left undone to accomplish that object; he, therefore, respectfully solicits a share of the patronage of an enlightened public.

The public's obedient servant,

WILLIAM E. YATES.

THE object of the bill filed in this cause is to obtain a decree for the sale of the real estate of Ezekiel Jones for the payment of his debts.

The bill states that the said Ezekiel Jones, on or about the 13th day of October, 1827, gave his bill obligatory to a certain Jesse Elliott for the sum of fifty dollars, with William Jones as his security—That said Jesse Elliott has departed this life intestate, and letters of administration were granted by the Orphans' Court of Dorchester County to Abel Elliott, who, for a valuable consideration, assigned the said debt to the complainant—That the said Ezekiel Jones has departed this life intestate, and that letters of administration on his personal estate have been granted to Jacob Willey, of said county, and that the personal estate of said Ezekiel Jones is not sufficient for the payment of his debts; and that he died seized of real estate lying in Dorchester county, and left the following children his heirs at law, to wit: William Jones, Elemuel Jones, Ezekiel Jones, Mary wife of Solomon Wheatley, Margaret wife of George Moore, Thomas Jones, Timothy Jones, and John Jones. It is also stated by the petition that the said William Jones, Elemuel Jones, Ezekiel Jones, Thomas Jones, Timothy Jones, and John Jones, reside out of the State of Maryland.
