CAMBRIDGE:

SATURDAY, JANUARY 16, 1836.

☞ The Orphans' Court of this county will sit on Monday next, the 18th instant.

France and the United States.—The matter which will be found under the Foreign Head, in the foregoing page, is not devoid of interest. Though it reached us on Tuesday, it is the latest we have from beyond the Atlantic, as the papers received yesterday evening, mention no arrival from Europe since that of the ship Helen. Its principal theme is the posture of affairs in relation to France and the United States, and its tenor is certainly less ambiguous than could be wished.

Of all the phases which the misunderstanding between these powers has yet presented to general observation, that which it now wears is perhaps pre-eminent in betokening the approach of a crisis, if not in indicating the ultimate tendency of the unfortunate difficulty. That this phasis will be differently regarded by different persons, there is no doubt; but, assuming all wish for peace and deprecate war, it is equally clear that it will have the effect to depress the hope of some, without dispelling the fear of any. It is, indeed, not strange that many have repudiated and still do repudiate the idea that war with France is probable. For, if we consider the nature of the difference, an affair of mere etiquette—if we consider the total absence of all just cause for a rupture—if we consider how easily the breach might be amicably closed—if we consider how futile and ridiculous would be the attempt at reparation by a resort to arms—if we consider the manifold disasters of war—if we consider these things, in a manner at all abstract, it is hard, we know, to entertain the belief, that the tenure of peace is exceedingly precarious and weak. But when we take a more enlarged view—when we bring before us every thing having a bearing in the case—when we look at the return of Mr. Barton and the recall of Mr. Pageot—at the cessation of diplomatic intercourse between France and the United States—at the unwonted activity in their respective maritime departments—at the supercilious tone which a portion of the press in each country is assuming in reference to the other—at the increasing sensitiveness which both governments and both people feel on the subject—at President Jackson's reported desire for actual hostilities—when we regard all these circumstances, have we not reason to apprehend that the Rubicon is already passed, and that the shadow of hideous war even now darkens our happy land?

The Legislature.—We give in the preceding page, an abstract of the proceedings of this body up to the 9th instant. We have before us an account of its transactions up to the 14th; but find nothing in it of moment. The bill to authorise the commissioners of this town (Cambridge) to remove certain obstructions from the mouth of Cambridge creek, and the resolution for erecting light houses and placing buoys in the waters of the Chesapeake Bay, have passed the House, and were sent to the Senate on the 11th. On the 11th, also, in the House, Mr. Annan obtained leave to bring in a bill to provide for the recording of judgments rendered by justices of the peace, and making them a lien on real estate, &c.; Mr. Hambleton obtained leave to bring in a bill, entitled an act to increase the salary of the Treasurer of the Eastern Shore; Mr. Teackle introduced a proposition to institute an inquiry into the practicability and expediency of prohibiting negroes and mulattoes from acting as masters of vessels in this State; and Mr. Bayly submitted the following resolution:—"Resolved by the General Assembly of Maryland, That his excellency, the Governor, procure a silver pitcher with suitable inscriptions and ornaments, and present it in the name of this State to Dr. Joseph E. Muse, of the Eastern Shore, as a testimony of the high sense entertained of his great zeal, and the distinguished services he has rendered to advance the science of agriculture in this State." This resolution being read the first time, Mr. Bayly moved that it have a second reading by special order, which motion was determined in the negative. When the resolution was again taken up, on the 13th, it was referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

On the 12th, (in the House,) leave was asked to bring in a bill to be entitled an act for the augmentation of the salaries of the Chief Justices of the several Judicial Districts of the State; and resolutions were submitted, declaratory of the equal right of each of the United States, in its just proportion, to a participation in the proceeds of the public lands, as well as requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress to exert their best efforts to effect the passage of a law, appropriating to Maryland, for the purposes of education and internal improvement, such part of said proceeds as may be equitable and just.

The Mails—New Arrangement.—It may subserve the interest of some of our readers, to notice here the late change in the arrival and departure of the Mails, at and from this place. According to the new arrangement, then, all the Mails arrive on Tuesday and Friday evenings, and depart on Wednesday and Saturday mornings, at five o'clock, closing at half past eight, the night previous to their starting. Persons, therefore, having any thing to forward, should take care to have it deposited in the Post Office by half past eight o'clock on the evening preceding the morning fixed for the exit of the mail by which they would have it conveyed.—Otherwise, it will, in all probability, remain in the Post Office here several days.

By the way—this change, as all changes should be, seems calculated to do us of the Chronicle no injury—and, whether we are indebted for it to some freak of "that unstable deity, Fortune," as Hume calls her, or the kindly design of Mr. Post Master General Kendall, or the random doings of somebody else, we are not oblivious of our duty to feel duly thankful for the benefits which may redound to us from it. Formerly, our sheet has lain here twenty-four hours waiting the departure of the mail which was to bear it hence to distant subscribers; but now, it will be passed from the press to the mail bag with such rapidity, that it will, as it were, start on its journey while the office is yet trembling from the effects of the power which impressed it with its contents. Our readers, who receive the Chronicle by the mail, will, therefore, generally be put in possession of it a whole day earlier than heretofore, and most of them throughout the peninsula will get it the very day on which it is issued. This is a consideration of some moment to us, as well as to our subscribers and advertising friends. Perhaps no country paper in the State enjoys greater advantages, in this respect, than those which are likely to result to us from this new arrangement, and we shall endeavor to avail ourselves of them with steady perseverance, and becoming meekness. For instance—the mails arriving on Friday evening, furnish us with a budget of the latest papers from different quarters; and the Chronicle, subsequently put to press that night, and presenting at least a bird's eye view of all the interesting contents of these various papers, may not only be found early next morning on the tables of our town subscribers, but on the same day it may also be seen at the fireside of those in Princess-Anne and the intermediate places; those in Georgetown and the intermediate places; and those in Queenstown and intervening places; as well as in the hands of many of our country readers in this county. So that while the readers of the Chronicle may expect the latest intelligence through the medium of its columns, the advertising customers of the paper will perceive that it presents a very eligible channel of communication with the public.

It should be remarked, perhaps, for the sake of perspicuity, that although, as we have already intimated, the mails will be closed on the evenings before they leave, yet we have made arrangements hereafter to despatch our papers on their route by mail on the morning they are printed.

The State Executive.—As we have already stated, Col. Thomas W. Veazey, of Cecil, was chosen Governor of Maryland, on Monday, the 4th instant. On the succeeding day, the following gentlemen were elected the members of the Council, they having respectively received, on joint ballot of the Legislature, the number of votes placed opposite their names:—

	votes.
GWYNN HARRIS, of Charles, received	64
JOHN MCKENNY, of Queen Ann's,	62
WILLIAM F. JOHNSON, of Balt. co.,	59
NATHANIEL F. WILLIAMS, of Balt. city,	58
JOHN C. HENRY, of Dorchester,	54

Mr. Harris received the highest number of votes, and is, consequently, president of the Board. Col. Veazey having been elected Governor, Mr. Tiernan (who had recently been appointed to fill the place of Col. Washington, elected to Congress,) having declined a nomination, and Dr. Martin having, according to usage, been considered ineligible, as he had served three years, Messrs. Harris and Williams are the only members of the late Council, who have been re elected.

State Finances—Treasurer's Report.—By the Report of the Treasurer of the Western Shore, just made to the Legislature, it appears that the receipts into the Treasury, from various sources, during the financial year closing on the first ultimo, were $1,507,546 73, which, being added to $31,387 49, the sum remaining in the Treasury at the commencement of that year, make a total of $1,538,934 22. The disbursements during the year having amounted to $1,503,856 03, there remained on the 1st December last, a balance in the Treasury of $29,078 10, subject, however, to appropriations to that date of $45,902 57. So that there was in fact, at that time, a deficit of $16,824 38, which, if added to the amount of the Journal of Accounts for the present session that is computed at $50,000, will exhibit an aggregate deficiency of $66,828 38.

Of the receipts during the financial year just ended, 31,748 94 were on account of revenue which accrued prior to 1835.

$2,111,187 36 is the estimated amount of the receipts of the current year, leaving applicable to the discharge of claims against the State, after the payment of the present deficit, the sum of $2,044,362 98. While the demands upon the State during the same period, exclusive of the deficit aforesaid, is computed at $2,037,067 04. Thus leaving a balance of $7,295 94, applicable to the payment of the Journal of Accounts of the next session.

We regret to have heard yesterday evening, that the Hon. Irving Spence, of Worcester county, died on Sunday last, of a pulmonary disease, with which he had been for some years afflicted.

More Servile Troubles.—It appears that an insurrection in embryo was detected at Jackson, Louisiana, on Christmas eve, which occasioned much excitement. Upwards of forty were found with arms. Two whites, concerned in the plot, were hung on the following Saturday. At the latest accounts, the citizens were patrolling the country, and taking active measures to bring the deluded creatures to punishment.

War in Florida.—Some three weeks ago, we noticed certain hostile demonstrations by the Seminoles in Florida, and we are sorry now to perceive that that territory has become the theatre of actual warfare between the whites and Indians, the blood of both having already been shed. A conflict occurred on the 18th December, near Fort Crum, between 50 or 60 Indians and 30 or 40 of the militia, in which eight of the latter were killed and seven wounded. A general battle was soon expected, as the body of the Indians was in the neighboring hammocks. Gen. Call, with 250 men, arrived in camp on the 19th, and assumed the command. The Indians are said to have laid waste the country from Black Creek to Fort King, a distance of eighty miles. The whites, in great consternation, have generally abandoned their homes, and fled for refuge to the forts erected by the inhabitants.

The last accounts from the seat of war in Florida, contained in the papers by yesterday evening's mail, represent that several other skirmishes (but no general engagement) have occurred, in which the Indians were worsted.

Mexico and Texas.—The advices from Tampico are to the 15th December. The struggle between the belligerents, seems to be not only prosecuted with unabated activity, but also to have become fiercer and bloodier. On the 14th, the Mexicans, pursuant to the sentence of a court martial, shot twenty-eight of the prisoners taken by them in repulsing an attack made upon Tampico by the Texian expedition under Gen. Mehia. Of these unfortunate men, 23 were Americans, 3 Frenchmen, and 2 Germans.

The report that the Mexican ports were closed against American vessels, is erroneous. It probably grew out of the circumstance that the port of Tampico was closed only during Gen. Mehia's stay there.

Later—It is stated in the New Orleans Bee that the Texian army have succeeded in taking the town of San Antonio, having driven the enemy across the river with great loss; that among the killed was Gen. Coss; and that not a Mexican soldier now remains in Texas.

The pressure in the Philadelphia Money Market, which has been felt with severity for some time, continues to exist; and money is so very scarce, that, according to Bicknell's Reporter, some of the best paper has within the last week been offered at the rate of interest of two per cent. a month, or twenty-four dollars a year for the loan of one hundred dollars.

Gov. Tyler, of Virginia.—This gentleman accepts his nomination as a candidate for the Vice Presidency, made by the Whig Convention, lately held in Baltimore.

The loss by the Great Fire in New York—Latest estimate.—The committee appointed to inquire into the extent of the loss occasioned by the late conflagration, puts it down at $17,115,692—exceeding by upwards of 2,000,000 the computation theretofore made. The whole number of buildings destroyed was five hundred and twenty-seven, exclusive of the Merchants' Exchange and South Dutch Church. The aggregate estimated loss, was

In Buildings, - -	$4,000,000

A new City.—The corner stone of a new city, to be called Jackson, on the south bank of the Potomac, opposite Washington, was laid on Friday of last week, the 8th instant, President Jackson assisting in the ceremony.

Two millions of dollars have been already subscribed in Boston for the contemplated Rail Road from that city to Albany; and other measures preparatory to the speedy commencement of the work are in progress.

Silk in Vermont.—Amongst the late acts passed by the Legislature of Vermont, is one to encourage the growth of silk, providing for the payment of a bonus or premium of ten cents, to the grower, for every pound of cocoons hereafter produced within the state.

Death of the Ettrick Shepherd.—James Hogg, the Ettrick Shepherd, is no more.—He died "like a child going to its placid rest," on the 21st of November last, at his residence, on the banks of the Yarrow, in the 60th year of his age. It is said of him, that, as a poet he had few superiors—as a man he had none.

Large dividend.—The Boston Ocean Insurance Company, have just declared a dividend of forty per cent. for the last six months.

The New Orleans Evening Post, of a late date, says—"The newspapers of Mississippi indicate that an attempt, as projected by the Murrel gang, of insurrection among the slaves, will be made at the end of this month. It is feared that the snake is but scotched, not killed; and that, though Murrel is imprisoned, his ruffians are not idle in plotting mischief."

The New York Daily Advertiser complains loudly of the exorbitant rent demanded by landlords in the lower parts of that city. Stores that a few years ago rented for a thousand dollars, are now let for four or five thousand dollars.

Murphy, (says the Baltimore Chronicle,) who was convicted at Annapolis and sentenced to death, some time last year, for the murder of Mr. Watson, on the Baltimore and Washington Rail Road, has had his punishment commuted by the Governor to confinement in the Penitentiary for fourteen years.

Important Invention.—Mr. M'Crew, of Cincinnati, has invented a mode of obtaining and applying power for propelling boats, &c., from condensed air, which is said to be of the greatest importance and likely to supersede steam.

To the Editor of the Cambridge Chronicle.

Mr. Callahan—By the insertion of these two pieces, you will truly oblige

AMICUS.

HYMN.

My wayward heart! my wayward heart!
Ah wherefore wilt thou stray,
Forever thus from Reason's path,
The safe, though narrow way?

My sinful heart! my sinful heart!
O! wherefore art thou prone
To evil thoughts, nor fix thy thoughts
On God, and Heaven alone?

My weary heart! my weary heart!
Ah wherefore wilt thou toil
For wages which are death to thee?
O! seek a nobler spoil.

Turn, turn my heart! and soar above
Ignoble Passion's sway;
Lo! where the SAVIOUR beckons thee
From Ruin's course away.

On, on my heart! to VIRTUE'S shrine,
And leave, Oh! leave it not:
Blessing and peace will there be thine,
Though by the world forgot.

On, on my heart! the morning breaks—
A glorious day it brings—
The SUN OF RIGHTEOUSNESS hath come,
With healing in his wings.

Reject not, Oh, my heart!! the ray;
To life, it bids thee rise
From that long death, the death of SIN:
Be wise, my heart! be wise!

AMICUS.

Child of immortal hope! why droops thy soul?
Why, trembling, looks it forth on life's rough way
Dejected, faithless! Turn not thus astray,
Let heavenly trust these anxious fears control.
Oh! in the past, to thee has it been given
To feel a tender Parent's holy care;
Each present good still gratefully to share,
And leave thy griefs, in peaceful faith, with Heaven.
Cease, then, those tears—and lift thy vision there;
A Father's hand controls life's troubled tide;
And wheresoe'er on its cold bosom driven,
His love thy lonely footsteps still shall guide.
Ah! heed not where through earth those steps may roam,
So they but reach at last the spirit's endless home!

AMICUS.
