For the Chronicle.

DIED,—In Cambridge Md., on the 26th of August, Mrs. REBECCA RICHARDSON, in the 85th year of her age.

We are not often called to record the death of an individual who has passed through a long life with less to regret, than the subject of these remarks. The fidelity with which she watched over and provided for the comfort and well being of a large family—her sincerity in all the intercourse of life—her remarkable exemption from those faults which disturb the peace of society; and the steadfastness of her friendships, will long be remembered by a numerous family connexion and a still wider circle of friends. She received the doctrines and institutions of Christ's Holy Church as He has revealed them to us, and from them her affections never wandered. In simple and confiding faith, she looked for salvation in the "old paths" in which apostles and confessors walked. Probably at no period of her life was she indifferent to the claims of Religion and destitute of its controlling influence. And as she advanced in years and approached the end of her probation, she sought more earnestly the grace of Christ in the institutions of His Church. During many months of confinement and of frequent suffering, she asked for & obtained the celebration of the ordinance of Religion in her sick room, and the fervour with which she joined in these holy offices—the expressions of inward peace and tranquillity which often fell from her lips—her high appreciation of the privileges of the church, and especially of communion with her Redeemer in the blessed Sacrament of His body and blood, will not soon be forgotten, we trust, by those who witnessed these cheering tokens of genuine faith. May the lessons which they then learned quicken them in the ways of godliness!

While many whom she has left behind deeply feel their loss, as at regards herself there is nothing to regret in her removal from a world of sin and sorrow. No gloomy thoughts linger about her tomb or follow her into eternity. We have satisfactory evidence that the prayer in which she often joined, has been answered, in her behalf, in its full intent and meaning: —"When we shall have served thee in our generation, may we be gathered unto our fathers, having the testimony of a good conscience, in the communion of the Catholic Church; in the confidence of a certain faith; in the comfort of a reasonable, religious and holy hope; in favor with thee our God, and in perfect charity with the world." TO THE VOTERS OF DORCHESTER.

FELLOW CITIZENS:

It will be observed by reference to the columns of the Chronicle of the 30th ult. that my address to you has called forth a very full and exceedingly amicable commentary from the pen of my friend James Thompson, Esq. Great umbrage seems to have been taken by that gentleman at the use of the words "juggling, wireworking, corruption &c," some of which, though not contained in my address, he yet quotes therefrom—and under the influence of this dissatisfaction he has at last been induced very reluctantly, to present to the Editor of the Chronicle a communication occupying an entire column of that paper and comprising three distinct heads or subjects of discourse. The first is an answer to the charge made by me against the Convention generally—the second, a reply to that made against him individually—the third and last, the expression of warm feelings of personal friendship for me &c., which may properly come under the general head of Sundries.

These are his positions, and in reference to them I invite the attention of my fellow-citizens of Dorchester to a review thereof. "Come now and let us reason together." In answer to the first charge, viz. that against the Convention—he says, "I do most positively and conscientiously declare that no juggling, wireworking or undue means were used in the least to the prejudice of Mr. Hayward or any other gentleman candidates before the convention." This is indeed a very strong declaration and coming as it does from a man of Mr. Thompsons standing it is calculated to have very great weight. But does not my friend Mr. Thompson speak too fast? It seems to me that such haste in making an assertion belongs rather to the hair brained impetuosity of youth, than to the serious, sober, calm, unbiassed reflection which marks the action of the man of years. Let us see. There were four candidates before the convention and eight Districts in the County from which Delegates were chosen—can Mr. Thompson say, of his own knowledge, that these Delegates were elected honestly and fairly to represent the wishes of their respective districts, and that they did express those wishes? I imagine not. So far from it is the true state of the case, that I have the assurances of several gentlemen, whose truthfulness cannot be doubted for one moment—I can get their certificates if necessary—that in the Vienna district, where the parties had agreed to keep open the polls one hour, at the expiration of which time I had the majority, they kept them open one hour and a half in order to get votes for the Jacobs ticket—that those opposed to me started a ticket calling it unpledged, when at that very moment, as I have reason to believe, it was pledged to Mr. Jacobs—and that on a vacancy occurring, after they had met in Cambridge before it could be filled, the gentleman had to be sounded in order to see who he was for, before he was selected, to fill the vacancy; with this array of facts before him, independent of others which could be brought forward, can Mr. Thompson say that no undue means were used to prejudice me before the convention? I leave that question to be answered by my Fellow-Citizens of my native County. Besides, Mr. Thompson does me great injustice when he insinuates that I am wanting in proper gratitude to my friends. My charges against the convention were only intended for those in it whom the cap fit. I said that juggling characterized it, not because the action of the convention itself was unfair but because the election of some of its members was improperly effected, and because undue influences were used to bias others. A body cannot be pure if some of its elements are unclean, nor can a convention be fair when any of its constituent parts are fraudulently selected. So much for the first charge.

And now a few words with regard to the second, viz. the charge against him, Mr. Thompson individually. He says: "I understand Mr. H. accuses me with having been called on by some Gentlemen, Delegates from Hooper's Island, who were favourable to his nomination, and who were pledged to him, to give my opinion as to which of the candidates for the sheriffalty was the most availible man, or in other words to that amount, and that I asserted that I believed Mr. Jacobs was the man, and the man of my choice." This Mr. Thompson admits is all true as far as it goes, but that it is not all of the story. He then goes on to detail a long conversation which took place between these gentlemen and himself as they were coming out of the back yard of Major Yates. It seems that they were anxious to know whether or not it was true as had been reported that Mr. Jacobs was unpopular. In reply to this interrogatory, he stated that the charge of his unpopularity was unfounded and that any person who made such a charge could not be a friend to Mr. Jacobs but must design to injure him in regard to the nomination. These remarks together with some compliment to the capacity of each of us for discharging the duties of the office, comprise the whole of the conversation as reported by Mr. Thompson. But I would ask that gentleman since he inclines so much to the hearing of the whole story, if what he has detailed is all that he knows about the present one. Doubtless it is—but let me recall to his mind some portion of that story which has escaped his memory. I would advise him to reflect about the matter and he will soon recollect, that I am right. Mr. Thompson not only defended Mr. Jacobs from the charge of unpopularity but stated to those gentlemen that if Mr. Jacobs was nominated he would easily be elected, but that if I was he did not know how it might be. Yes he said this, and if any man doubts it let him come to me, I have incontrovertible proofs within my possession which will satisfy the most incredulous. These gentlemen came from a distance, their district was favourable to me—I have never said they were pledged to me—they desired to know if I was available, they asked Mr. Thompson who was supposed to be well informed upon the subject and a man upon whose statements they could rely and he expressed a doubt in reference to the result if I were nominated, but a certainty with regard to it should Mr. Jacobs be taken up. By such representations gentlemen who were disposed to vote for me, acting under information given them by a person in whom they confided were induced to vote against me—thus robbing me of my rights before the convention and the people of their claims to an equal representation.—This is about the whole of the story.

One word in reference to the last division of this able letter and I have done. Mr. Thompson declares I am mistaken if I suppose he is not my friend. Truly there seems to be some inconsistency in this assertion—any one who charged Mr. Jacobs with unpopularity, he thinks could not have been a friend of that gentleman, but designed to injure him in regard to the nomination—he however is a warm friend of mine at the same time that he expresses doubts as to my election even if I were taken up by the convention. I should prefer friendship to be evidenced by outward acts rather than newspaper paragraphs. Still Mr. Thompson is my friend; I owe him my thanks—he has dealt with me; I am under many obligations to him—but when he says he cannot approve my course nor does he see how any consistent party man can, I must say with reference to that matter, that though I respect, yet I should not be guided by his opinion nor do I feel myself in want of his instruction. I have been a Whig as long as Mr. Thompson has, I have never voted against my political sentiments but once in my life—and that was in the old days of Federalism & Democracy, when I voted for my friend Thos. H. Hicks, Esq. who was the Democratic candidate for the Sheriffalty, against the candidate of my own party—I did not regard the office of Sheriff as a party office but voted for the man I thought best qualified. The question then of my party consistency I shall rather refer to the voters of Dorchester, than to the isolated opinion of my friend Mr. Thompson. I believe now as I did in former days, that the sheriff should not be a party officer, and if elected, I shall act in conformity with that belief. As an officer of court, and of the people, I will not suffer, as far as I can prevent it, the free course of justice to be trammelled by party bias or political prejudice, but will guarantee to every man a fair hearing before jurors whose ears are open to the voice of his complaint. My Fellow-Citizens I have spent my life amongst you, judge you then of my party consisteney and my claims to the office for which I am a candidate before you. I await with confidence your decree thro' the ballot box. Your obedient servant. THOS. HAYWARD.

JAMES THOMPSON,
Aug. 30, 1845. 3t Adm'r.

TO THE VOTERS OF DORCHESTER COUNTY.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—

I am a Candidate for the office of Sheriff of Dorchester County, at the approaching election. As such I have been announced for some time past in the Cambridge Chronicle. From information which was communicated to me of a plan concocted by a Junto of political Jugglers, I had determined not to permit my name to be handed into the Convention which was to nominate a Candidate for that office.

I however abandoned this determination, making at the same time an express and unqualified declaration, to the member of the Convention who handed in my name, that unless the whole proceedings of that body were marked by fairness and a just regard to the will of the people I should not abide its action. Since its adjournment strong assurances have been made to me that such was not the character of the proceeding—On the contrary, I have good reasons for the assertion that the results we have seen, were brought about by undue and improper influences Conceiving therefore that the conditions upon which I placed my name before the Convention were not fulfilled, I cannot consider myself as under any obligation to abide such decision, nor do I deem that a refusal can subject me to the imputation of violating any moral duty whatever. Such artifices as have been practised will not, I am sure be tolerated even by the warmest advocates of conventions, amongst whom I claim to rank myself.

My friends also insist that I shall be a candidate, and my own deliberate judgement, and my feelings, prompt me to acquiesce in their wishes. It is a prostitution of the system of Conventions to submit tamely to those which are unfair. The only means by which they can be fully sustained, is by opposing with our utmost might all such as are characterized by packing, and juggling, which were the distinguishing features of the convention of the 21st Inst. Opposed, as I am, to the action of that Body, I present myself before you as a Candidate for your suffrages. If elected, I shall endeavour to discharge the duties of the office, which I ask for at your hands, in a manner satisfactory to you all. The office of sheriff ought not to be regarded as a party office. Justice, truth, and reason proclaim that, that officer should be elected above party considerations. It would be a disgrace to our community, should its members exercise their right of suffrage in the election of county officers solely upon political grounds—thus indirectly introducing party spirit even into our very courts of Justice. Jurymen should be chosen for their honesty, probity and intelligence, and not for their adhearance to this or that party. I repeat, my fellow citizens, that I am belere you as a candidate, and I pledge myself to continue as such, until the last moment of the day of the election. I will not leave the field. I pledge myself, if elected, to discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability, with upright ness, and impartiality. I pledge myself to select Jurymen without reference to party—being always careful to have such men as are worthy of so important a place. I shall remember that the property, the liberty, the lives of all persons may be entrusted to their hands. I shall select them with a view to the momentous trusts which may be confided to them.

In conclusion, my fellow citizens, I would say that I am a native of your county,—myself nor family have ever asked an office at your hands,—I am known to most of you—you can judge of my qualifications, of my fitness for the office I now ask of you. The issue rests in your hands. I shall most willingly abide by your determination of it.

Having been organized according to the provisions of its Charter, is now prepared to take

FIRE, MARINE AND INLAND RISKS,

On terms as favorable as any Institution in the United States, at their office, corner of Gay and Lombard Streets, up stairs.

DIRECTORS.

COLUMBUS O'DONNELL, Esq.
RICHARD NORRIS, Esq.
B. H. RICHARDSON, Esq.
JNO. D. EARLY, Esq.
WM. LONEY, Esq.
JAS. HARWOOD, Esq.
ALPHEUS HYATT, Esq.
RICHARD NORRIS, Esq., President.

JNO. S. LAFITTE, Secretary.

The Board avail themselves of this opportunity to draw the attention of the Public to some of the important features of their Charter:

1st. In this Company, all interests are equal; there is no privileged stock.

2d. Persons effecting insurance are not answerable for losses beyond the amount of premiums paid by them; and will divide amongst themselves annually the nett profits.

3d The capital of the Company is limited to half a million of dollars, and at the expiration of the Charter, that sum is to be divided pro rata amongst all persons holding the Policies of the Company, without reference to the time when they were issued, or to the fact of their having expired.

4. In the selection of persons to act as Directors of this Company, there can be felt none of that proxy influence which has destroyed, or weakened some of our strongest corporations; with us, the direction of the affairs of the Company must be in the hands of those most deeply interested in its proper and prosperous management.

5th. Any Policy holder has the right and the privilege of looking at the monthly statement of its affairs.

6th. Persons insuring in this Company, upon a renewal of their risks, are entitled to a deduction of 5 per cent. on the amount of premiums.

☞Our Tariff of rates has been carefully revised and the form of our Policies has been amended under the best legal advice, so as to embrace all the modern improvements suggested by Experience. The classification of the Fire Risks, as well as the direction given to represent them in the applications are so modified as to avoid all doubt and ambiguity, and with a view to avoid all possible difficulties in the settlement of losses.

I have accepted the agency of the above Company, and persons desirous of Insuring their Property will find me at all times at my store, where I will receive their proposals, give the necessary information, and have their Insurance effected as soon as returns can be had from the office at Baltimore.

THOS. HAYWARD, agent.
