driven away the warm atmosphere, redolent with perfume. Death is written upon Nature, and Winter's white shroud will be soon thrown over her corpse. So it is with life. The changing seasons teach us a mournful lesson, and yet in him whose heart is right it is beautiful as mournful.

The death of Nature is not an everlasting sleep, ere many months it shall cast off its funeral gear, and spring up from its grave with new life, and bud and blossom as before. Nature never dies, but it rests from its labors.

This is is with human existence. The great principle of vitality in nature is equally applicable to the spirtual as to the animal economy.—The intellect may throw its vision beyond the snows of life's dreary winter, and see itself in the bloom of an eternal existence. We pity the man who esteems himself of less value in the estimation of Heaven than the mute tree or soulless flower.—Port. Amer.

The necessity of Exercise.—The following rational remarks are taken from a sermon delivered before the library societies of Yale College, by the Rev. George Bethune, of Philadelphia:

'Exercise, to be of service, must be enjoyed, and to be enjoyed, have some aim no matter what, so that it be innocent, which will occupy our thoughts pleasantly. There is a most pernicious false public opinion among us, which looks upon athletic amusements as undignified for intellectual men and almost wicked for clergymen people would be shocked to see grave black coated personages engaged, like school boys in a game of ball, or contending with each other in pitching quoits; yet an occasional even frequent exercise of some such sort would save many a promising young man from an early tomb and prolong the usefulness of many prematurely old. 'All work and no play' is as poor a maxim for the adult as the child; it makes the one dull as it does the other, for we are the 'children of a larger growth'—Our thoughts become too abstract, unnatural, and often gloomy. The brain takes the tone of the stomach. Some starve it, thereby to obviate the necessity of exercise, and grow light headed or visionary; others overload it, and grow confused melancholic or ill tempered. It has been observed that wars in volving lasting mischief to great nations have arisen from a ministerial despatch having been written during a fit indigestion. Dryden's favorite inspiration, when wishing to do better than usual, was a strong saline draught; and a very eminent English statesman resorted to a similar mode of clearing his head. It is more than probable that hurtful theories are often promulgated in bookst whose authors labor under similar dificulties without taking meanes to remove them, which pleasent out-door exercise might do. If so, to abstain from it is a sin against ourselves and the world.

Here is the secret, says the Doctor, of that sound, clear headed vigor for which Scotch intellect is notable.

"CONFESSION."

THE subscriber, publicly confess that I have been afflicted with a Secret Disease ever since 1823, I had thirteen eminent physicians whose names are recorded at the French Medical House; some of them aggravated the disease, but it always returned worse than before, until it carried away both sides of my throat and pierced the top of the palate. I also lost several bones of my nose and was almost blind of an eye, and my face was covered with an immense quantity of scabs, between which the skin was as red as scarlet, and I was indeed in a most deplorable condition, so much so that the learned professor S. pronounced me incurable, It was obvious to me then, that a common doctor could not extricate me from the jaws of death—for they all follow the same old routine with their train of mercury, mixture or pills, invented by ignorance and continued by cupidity, and do no good to any but the Doctor of the Medical House, 16 South FREDERICK St., as a scientific man and a rare genius in these complaints. I went to him and he pledged himself to cure me on written guaranty, and he furnished me with one room in his house, as he generally does with strangers, at no cure no pay. I did not hesitate at all on seeing so many likenesses of patients, who are living evidences of the many wonderful cures he has performed of almost every kind of disease. Then he had my daguerreotype likeness and I took his medicine for about a year which completely cured me. He had then my other likeness taken, and both are to be seen at his office. If this meets the eye of some wretched being in the grasp of death, as I was, let him fly to this praise worthy philanthropist, whose deep knowledge of the vital principles which animate and move the human frame, are known in both hemispheres, and I believe from my very soul (not forgetful that I am on oath) that his exquisite genius will discover as many new and well appropriated remedies, as new diseases may be formed. in Dorchester County. This tract is situated in "Button's Neck," in Parson's Creek district near Church Creek, and contains 904 ACRES.

The said land formerly belonged to the late Charles Tubman; it has not been pillaged or trespassed upon, and is almost entirely covered with heavy timber, suitable for ship building. From the character of this land and its proximity to navigable water, it may be considered as offering greater inducements to purchasers than perhaps any land in the county. For the convenience of purchasers, the tract will be divided into lots of 100 acres each; the title is indisputable. Terms made known on the day of sale.

CITIZENS & TRAVELLERS.

THE subscriber has taken charge of the Hotel lately occupied by Wm. H. Yates, Esq, where the travelling community, as well as the citizens of Dorchester, have been so agreeably entertained. If a table furnished with all the luxuries of the season, honest, and polite servants; chambers and bedding clean and comfortable, stables in good order and ostlers always at hand; in short, if a quiet, comfortable and orderly house can offer any inducement to the community, he flatters himself that his exertions to please will not be unrequited by a generous public. His wish is, to make it the interest as well as the pleasure of the public to bestow upon him a share of their patronage.

He intends always to keep in readiness, carriages and horses, by which he will be enabled to convey persons to any part of the peninsula on moderate terms.

THOMPSON'S
VEGETABLE WORM SYRUP,
PREPARED BY
DOCTOR A. C. THOMPSON,
CAMBRIDGE, MD.

The most common cause of Worms is unwholesome food, with bad digestion, Worms appear most frequent in children of relaxed habit, whose bowels contain a preternatural quantity of Mucus or Slimy Matter, although many children who appear of a robust constitution are liable to have them, especially if they have lived on unwholesome food; hence worms are most common to children, although many grown persons are subject to them, I have known persons of advanced age to have them.

It is well known to the Medical profession, that many diseases are brought on, and continued by reason of Worms, and many children die annually in consequence of their not being timely expelled from them. It therefore becomes a subject of great importance, to know when they do exist, and to be prepared with a remedy that will be certain to expel them.

It is often a difficult matter to expel worms, from children, although numerous remedies have been recommended and used for that purpose, yet there are articles which if properly combined and judiciously used, will seldom fail in accomplishing that object.

In consequence of my frequent failures in 30 years practice to expel worms from children with the remedies in common use, I have been induced to prepare a remedy in the use of which I have but seldom failed. Therefore to serve the cause of humanity and to be instrumental in saving the lives of many children, I offer it to the public as Thompson's Vegetable Worm Syrup.

This most valuable Vermifuge is prepared entirely of Vegetable extract, and combines the most active and efficient worm medicine in use, and can be recommended as a perfectly safe remedy in all states and conditions of persons, who are infested with worms, and as all children are more or less liable to have worms, every family in the community should never be without it.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

CAMBRIDGE, April 25, 1845.

To Dr. A. C. Thompson,

DEAR SIR:—A knowledge of the various vegetable medicinal agents embodying your "Vegetable Worm Syrup," and their anthelmintic power, sufficiently considered, justifies me in alluding in no measured terms of praise to the Vermifuge powers of the compound; which I take very great pleasure in recommending as an heroic, safe and efficient anthelmintic, which if properly adapted to the prevail complications so often manifested in Verminose irritation, will seldom disappoint us in our most sanguine expectations:

Very respectfully yours,
THOS. H. HANDY, M. D.

CAMBRIDGE, April 26, 1845.

My Dear Sir,

I believe that your "Preparation for Worms," will give general satisfaction—being an excellent combination of the most certain anthelmintics.

Yours very truly,
ALEX. H. BAYLY, M. D.

To Anthony C. Thompson.

I concur in the above commendations of Dr. Thompson's Vegetable Worm Syrup.
WILLIAM L. WINGATE, M. D.

THOMPSON'S
VEGETABLE ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS,
PREPARED BY
A. C. THOMPSON, M. D.
Cambridge, Md.

As Dr. Thomas justly observes, "it is impossible to give a concise and proper definition of the disease known by the name of fever, as it has no symptoms invariably attendant on it, which can point out its real nature or essence," but as all fevers act directly or indirectly on the Liver, all febrile diseases partake more or less of a bilious character, whether of the intermittant, remittant or continued type; hence the frequency of those cases, where the Viscery Glands and Membranes are attacked, and put in all the various forms of Rheumatic, and inflammatory affections, so often met with in districts of country where bilious diseases prevail.

Therefore to repel these complicated varieties of disease, depending on a derangement of the Liver, I have prepared, for the benefit of families, and for the accommodation of the medical practitioners, an efficient and safe remedy, which can be relied on, as containing a combination of such vegetable extracts as are usually employed in general practice, scientifically arranged so as to act on the Liver, and biliarly secretions, are thereby prevent or remove those diseases, arising from a redundancy or a deficiency of bile in the system— and may be used in all cases where purging is necessary.

And in the following diseases in particular:

Bilious Ague, Inflammatory and nervous Fevers; all affections of the Liver, Bilious Colic, Jaundice or obstruction of the Liver, Indigestion or dyspepsia, convulsions or Fits, Rheumatism, Pleurisy, dysentery, foul stomach, colds and costiveness.

Numerous certificates might be obtained in commendation of these pills, but as the inventor is so extensively known, having been a practitioner of medicine for nearly thirty years, on the E. Shore of Maryland, he deems them entirely unnecessary, as the medicine will recommend itself in every family where it may be used, and the inventor would here remark, that he claims no new discovery in the articles which compose his anti-bilious pills, to give them a character.—Nor does he recommend them as a cure all for all diseases, as there are too many of such articles imposed on the public, but from a conviction of the necessity of an article in which the public can rely. He can from long experience in practice, with confidence recommend them to all who may stand in need of medicine.
