The Baltimore Jubilee.

In response to numerous inquires from this section of the State the Greater Baltimore Jubilee Commitee announces that while the city will probably have the largest crowd of visitors in its history in Jubilee Week, September 9th to 16th, that the arrangements made for the accommodation of the coming hosts are such as to insure comfort to all. If the hotels and boarding houses are taxed beyond their capacity assurances have been received that many private families will open their homes for the entertainment of the city's guests. Any and all information concerning living accomodations while in the city will be furnished on application in person or by mail to the Jubilee Committee.

There is a big demand now for windows along the route of the three days' parades and there has been some lively bidding this week for choice positions between rivals for the points of vantage. Work has not yet begun on the grand stands but there will be several of these of large size and many of smaller proportions. All will be equipped with seats which will insure comfort during the passing of the lengthy processions.

With characteristic democracy the average Baltimorean will prefer the sidewalk for his in lieu of a pinnacle on a stand or a perch in an upper window, and there will be tens of thousands of enthusiasts who wil jubilate over the big pageants from positions on the pavements. The routes will be long with a view to affording everybody a chance to see the sights to the best advantage.

What's in McClures'.

"The Story of Montana," the great serial for the year, begun in the August McCLURE'S, gains impetus as it goes along. From its striking picture of the early days of the commonwealth, it turns to the development of the mining industry, the picturesque conditions and enormous fortunes which resulted, and the bitter feud that arose between Marcus Daly and William A. Clark. The story of the quarrel, of Clark's first attemps to reach the United States Senate, of his spectacular defeat, and of the Montana capital fight, is told in the September McCLURE'S. It makes one of the most interesting pages in American history.

"A Royal Romance," by C.N. and A. M. Williamson, is a timely narrative of the young King of Spain's courtship of an English girl. One of the remarkable features of the article is the account of a personal interview with the Princess Ena. The thirty years' war between the New York Mutual and Equitable companies is related with some surprising disclosures in chapter V. of Burton J. Hendrick's "The Story of Life Insurance." Eugene Wood contributes an original article on "Niagara."

The fiction department of the September McCLURE'S lives up to the record made in the August number. Kipling, in the fifth of his Robin Goodfellow Stories, tells the charming legend of how the fairies were ferried out of England. Perceval Gibbon appears for the first time in McCLURE'S with a remarkable South African tale, "The Trader of Last Notch." "B. Jones, Butcher," is a satire by Samuel Hopkins Adams, in which one man, single handed, fights a trust. John McIntyre tells an amusing tale of boy life in a Catholic school, under the title of "The Three Wise Men," and James Hopper contributes a comedy of Filipino life' "Benevolent Assimilation." There is a realistic narrative of a Western political campaign, by Viola Roseboro', and a poem by Florence Wilkinson, "The Mountain God."

The frontispiece of the September number, from a painting by N.C. Wyeth, represents "The Prospector," a significant figure in Western history. W. Hatherell has drawn the pictures for James Hopper's story; Andre Castaigne and Frederic Dorr Steele illustrate Kipling's fairy tale, and L Raven Hill has made artistic drawings for "The Three Wise Men." Eugene Wood's article on Niagara is accompanied by some remarkable color productions.

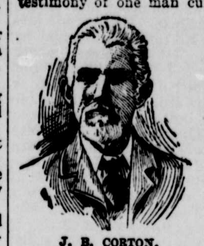
Can't Lift Ten Pounds.

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Strength and Health to the Sufferer, Making Him Feel Twenty-Five Years Younger.

Sick kidneys cause a weak, lame or aching back, and a weak back makes a weak man. Can't be well and strong until the kidneys are cured. Treat them with Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's the testimony of one man cured.



J. B. CORTON.

J. B. Corton, farmer and lumberman, of Deppe, N. C., says "I suffered for years with my back. It was so bad that I could not walk any distance nor even ride in easy buggy. I do not believe I could have raised ten pounds of weight from the ground, the pain was so severe. This was my condition when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly relieved me and now I am never troubled as I was. My back is strong and I can walk or ride a long distance and feel just as strong as I did twenty-five years ago. I think so much of Doan's Kidney Pills that I have given a supply of the remedy to some of my neighbors and they have also found good results. If you can sift anything from this rambling note that will be of any service to you, or to any one suffering from kidney trouble, you are at liberty to do so."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Corton will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.
