Pennsylvania Instructions.—The resolutions instructing the Senators from the State of Pennsylvania to vote against the Sub-Treasury Bill it the present session, passed the Senate of that State on Friday by a vote of fifteen to twelve.—The instruction is, therefore, complete and Mr. Buchanan must either obey or resign as he recognizes the right of instruction.

"Those lips so sweet."—Rats it seems knows what's good as well as other people. A maiden lady was awakened from her delicious sleep, the other night in this town, by very familliar caresses from somebody. She found, to her horror, that a large rat had fastened himself upon her lips, and it was with great difficulty she could disengage him! This is fact not fiction, and the incredulous can see the print of his teeth upon her virgin mouth even now!—Northampton Courier.

THE PRINTER.—Many who have acquired great fame and celebrity in the world, began their career as printers.—Sir William Blackstone, the learned English commentator of laws, was a printer by trade. King George III. was also a printer, and not unfrequently worked at the trade, after he ascended the throne of England. We need not say that Franklin was a printer, for it is well known to all who are familliar with the name. Alexander Cambell, the greatest theologian that ever graced the Christian world since the apostolic age, is a printer. Many a flaxen headed urchin that plays in the streets every day, idle, dirty and ragged, if he were put to the art of printing might become great and good. Parents and guardians, look to it.

DISCOVERY OF MADERIA.—According to tradition, we owe the discovery of Maderia to love. Lionel Machid, a young English gentlemen in the reign of Edward Third, of handsome person and enaging manners, became deeply enamoured of Arrabella D'Arey, a lady of high family and incomparable beauty. Being rejected by her friends, who betrothed her to another, he prevailed on the lady to elope with him; and putting her on board a small ship at Bristol, sailed away for the Continent. They had however, scarcely lost sight of land, before a tempest arose, and drove them far out into the Atlantic. For many days they beat about in the ocean, and felt all the agonies which the prospect of starvation could inflict; but were at length driven by the winds on some unknown island. This island was Madeira. They landed and roamed about delighted among its ravines and sunny slopes; but the fatigues and hardships they underwent were too much for Arabella—she withered away and died in the arms of her lover. Machin soon followed her.—their remains were interred in a woody little eminence overlooking the sea; and to this day the Portuguese point out the spot where their ashes repose; and the town of Machico traces the name of that of the unfortunate lover.

DORCHESTER COUNTY,—To WIT:

ON application to me, the subscriber, one of the Justices of the Orphans' Court of Dorchester County, by Denwood H. Brinsfield, of the said county, stating that he is in confinement for debts which he is unable to pay, and praying to be relieved thereform agreeably to the acts of Assembly for the relief of Insolvent Debtors, a schedule of his property and a list of his creditors and debtors, on oath, so far as he can at present ascertain the same, being annexed to his petition, and the said Denwood H Brinsfield being in actual confinement, and I being satisfied that the said Denwood H. Brinsfield, has resided for two years last past in the State of Maryland, and he having taken the oath prescribed by the act of 1805, and given bond with sufficient security for his appearance before the judges of Dorchester County Court, to be held at Cambrige, in the said county, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April next, and at such other time or times as the said Court may direct, to answer the allegations of his creditors, and having complied with the requisitions of the act of December session, 1825, and the several supplements thereto, by executing a deed of al his property, real, personal or mixed, to Elijah Brinsfield, appointed by me trustee to the said Denwood H. Brinsfield, and the said trustee having given bond with approved security for the performance of the trust and certified in writing to me that he is in possession of all the estate of the said Denwood H. Brinsfield, mentioned in his schedule—I do, therefore, order and direct that the said Denwood H. Brinsfield, be discharged from his imprisonment, and that he be and appear before the Judges of Dorchester County Court on the day above mentioned; the same time is appointed for his creditors to attend, and show cause, if any they have, why the said Denwood H. Brinsfield, should not obtain the benefit of the said Insolvent Laws—And I do further order direct, that the said Denwood H. Brinsfield give notice to his creditors by causing a copy of this application to be inserted in a newspaper published in Cambridge, three months before the said day, and to be continued in such newspaper once a week for four successive weeks, and also a like copy to be set up at the Court House door three months before the said day.

CAUTION.

Beware of violating a law when the public are injured,—The habit of hiring negroes of late years and giving them permission to act for themselves, has become so common, that it is difficult to get hands willing to be controlled after such liberties have been granted them, & hands are so scarce that many farmers are put to great inconvenience, & some have not one to assist, even to feed their stock, owing mostly to this illjudged practice of obliging a set of ungrateful negroes. Information will therefore be given and the penalty of the law enforced against all who continue this injurious and illjudged practice. and to prevent cost and trouble, it is hoped that those now offending will take immediate steps to prevent it.

The N. York Express.

The New-York Express is a Daily and Semi-weekly Newspaper, lately established in the City of New-York, by JAMES BROOKS of Portland, Maine, and ROBERT HUDSON, of Hudson's News Rooms. The price of the daily is ten dollars, and of the Semi-weekly, four dollars in advance, and five if not paid within the year.

Subscribers not known to the proprietors are expected to give references in New York, unless the money accompanies their order. The proprietors know full well that in the management of a daily newspaper in New York, the editors must neither sleep nor slumber upon their posts, and while thousands of their fellow citizens are in their beds, that is the time for them to be at their desk, but they are prepared for this exertion. They have the health, spirits and the age for such an encounter and are ready for it knowing full as they do, the activity of some of their contemporaries and their indefatigable exertions never to be outdone.—But nevertheless, they think there is room for them. New York is increasing with a rapidity that defies calculation and mocks at prophecy—marching onwards even with trides that threaten a close approximation to the empire city of the commericial world over the sea: and sure in all this vigorous and marvellous growth, a new Journal may succeed, where others have, when New-York was, as it were, but in her swathing clothes, and not the giant she now is—with her thousand arms stretching over both the old world and new. In such a great city then; the heart of our vast land, and the link between that land and Europe—where no taxes upon paper, no stamps, no restrictions upon the Press, encumber and overload the business of Journalizing, there is ample scope and range enough for us and all our contemporaries too.

The great and primary object of the proprietors is to create a commercial Newspaper, but it is just as impossible to live in this hot political world of ours without mingling in politics, as to go into the fire without being burnt. True, when the Whigs aver that two and two make four, and the friends of Mr. Van Buren aver that two and two make three and a half, they could take the ground of neutrality, aver as loudly as either, that two and two make three & three fourths, but there is a right and a wrong side on every question, and one must in a country like this be on one side or other.—As to this right political side, we are quite sure that it is that of the Whigs, but were it otherwise, we should be puzzled enough to publish a Commercial Journal, when Commerce and Whig principles are identified, one with another. Already we have in connexion with "Hudson's News Room," the basis of a newspaper establishment, a Price Current, Shipping List, and excellent arrangements for all news, Foreign and American: but not satisfied with this we shall immediately push our arragements to the furtherest point for the procuring of news.—One of the Messrs. Hudsons is about to sail for Liverpool, and go from thence to London, Havre and Paris, for the purpose of devising the most expeditious and surest means of receiving commercial intelligence from abroad. The rapid arrangements that we have been compelled to make for the publication of the "Express," have of course put it out of our power to have a new Press, we have ordered one of the first quality, a double cylinder, which will be done by the middle of September, and then the 'Express' will be the largest Daily Newspaper in the World.

The arrangements of our office, though not wholly completed, are rapidly advancing. We have established, at a great expense, a Correspondence with every important section of our country, and as soon as possible we intend to do the same with every interesting part of the world. Our subscription list has increased and is still increasing beyond the highest expectations. We feel sure of ultimate success and it will therefore be our pride to deserve it. With such arrangements as these, we hope to have a fair share of public patronage, to deserve which, we shall assuredly do all that is in our power.
