IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW.

What a Heap of Happiness it Would Bring to Chestertown Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.
Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.
If women only knew the cause—that
Backache pains come from sick kidneys.
'Twould save such needless woe.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.
Many residents of this vicinity endorse them.

Mrs. John V. Deiss, 102 S. Queen street, Dover, Del., says: "I am always glad to give a word in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. I first publicly endorsed this remedy several years ago and to-day I confirm that statement and add that my cure has been permanent. I suffered for a long time from bearing-down pains in the small of my back and a weakness through my loins. When I stooped, sharp pains always darted through my kidneys and I had other symptoms of kidney complaint. Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills were all that was required to completely rid me of my trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 Cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

OUR COAST BEACONS,

Cheering Lights That Warn and Guide the Mariner.

A BLAZE OF KEROSENE OIL.

The Wonderful Lamps and Lenses That Produce the Brilliant and Far-reaching Flame—Why Electricity Is Not Used In Lighthouses.

The goal toward which the lighthouse board of this country is striving is a continuous chain of lights completely encircling the United States and possessions and in the case of rivers and inland seas bounding the waters on all sides, so that a ship may never leave the area of a light thrown by one lighthouse before entering the circle of the light of another. As fast as congress will appropriate the money the gaps are being filled.

But what makes the light? When the curious inquirer is told "kerosene" he naturally wonders why his own student lamp does not give a better light if the same oil in the lighthouse sends its beam from five to twenty-five miles.

Various methods of lighting were in use until 1840, when a new system was introduced of employing nearly true paraboloid reflectors and better glass lenses. In some cases these reflectors gave a light which is not surpassed even today except when handled with intelligent care. In 1852, when the present lighthouse board was instituted, the Fresnal system of lenticular glasses was introduced from France and still remains. The first cost is great, but by the saving of oil over the reflector system this is soon reduced. With any reasonable care a fine light always results, and it is impossible for a keeper to maintain a poor light with this apparatus without flagrant disobedience of instructions.

Even with such an apparatus no common lamp can supply the light. First order lamps have five wicks, one inside the other, and are fed with oil by a pump and pipe system. The oil is fed to the wicks so that it reaches the ends where the flame is in the right time and in the right quantity. It is difficult to look at it, so intense is the light. In the lenses rather than in the lamp is the secret, for they pick up and utilize nearly all the rays of light which ordinarily go astray. The Fresnel apparatus collects almost all of this waste light and reflects and refracts it out in one great broad beam of light, parallel to the surface of the sea, where it is needed.

The flames which come from the lamps are largely transparent. So, of course, are all other similar flames. If flames were not transparent there could be no advantage in having one flame inside another and a third inside the first two, etc. The lights from the inner flames could not get out and would do no good.

In some lighthouses, usually for range light purposes, the light is all to be concentrated in one beam. This is done by concentric rings of prisms and a central bullseye and a reflector. Vessels getting such a light in range, either by itself or with another light and running down the beam, are safe from obstructions which may be near by, the range lights or beams of light marking out the channel to be followed.

It is frequently asked of light keepers why electricity is not used in place of mineral oil. An electric light is expensive to install and difficult and expensive to maintain. There is always difficulty in keeping the arc exactly in the focal point of the lenses, the carbons never burning twice alike and constant watching being necessary. Failure to have the light source exactly in the focal point of the lens results in sending the light rays up or down instead of straight out, where they are wanted. Electricity, while superior in penetrative power in a fog, has no advantage over a powerful oil lantern in clear weather. Mineral oil, colza oil or lard oil lights of the first order could be seen a hundred miles were it not for the curvature of the earth, and as long as the light is visible long before the coast is all purposes are served.

It is only within recent years that mineral oil has been in use. Lard oil succeeded colza oil and was used exclusively up to 1880 and with mineral oil up to 1889. Since the latter year mineral oil has been used entirely, except where electricity has been experimented with, or coal or acetylene gas. So far coal oil, for power, efficiency, cleanliness, ease of operation and cheapness, holds its own against all other means of light making.

Electricity, if it can be successfully installed, is the best light, but through expense of maintenance and in the inability to get skilled attendants for such a light for the price set on keepers' services it makes slow headway.

The traveler who cruises up the coasts and who sinks one light before picking up another must know that somewhere in the dark circle is a spot picked for the foundation of a light which will be erected as soon as funds and time allow.—Scientific American.

Grange Notes.

Messrs. H. P. Skipper and Thomas D. Bowers, master and lecturer of the Chestertown Grange, visited Millington Grange on Monday, and discussed matters of importance with a good attendance of members. The Millington Grange is getting down to working order, and it is making great preparations to entertain the Pomona Grange on April 1. It is expected that the next county meeting at Millington will be a record breaking meeting both for attendance and interest. Mr. J. Edward Spear is master, Mr. George W. Jones overseer and Dr. Gowman is lecturer of Millington Grange.

Fairlee Grange is growing apace. There were 20 applications for membership at their regular meeting on Wednesday evening.

The Chestertown Grange held an important meeting on Tuesday afternoon. "Potato Growing for Profit" was ably discussed by Col. William J. Vannort and Mr. Cooper Tarbutton. Mr. Tarbutton is one of the most extensive sweet potatoe growers in Queen Annes county and stated that he has netted as high as $200 per acre from his crops recently. The general opinion was that potatoes can be profitably grown in Kent county. The committee on binder twine reported progress and secured orders for more than 3000 pounds. All those who have not placed their orders are requested to do so at the meeting on Tuesday next, when final arrangements will be made with the dealer. The fertilizer committee also reported progress and showed that they are doing excellent work. All members are requested to decide upon formula they wish to use and report to the committee, Mr. Benj. F. Rash, Col. Albert Story and Mr. Clifton L. Jarrell.

The Tomato Growers' Protective Association will meet next Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock in grange hall, Chestertown. All farmers and others interested are urged to be present.

Farmers Demand $8.40.

The Tomato Growers Protective Association of Kent county held a meeting at Melitota on Saturday afternoon last and met Mr. Vogleman, representative of Numsen & Co., of Baltimore, who offered the farmers $7.20 per ton as the contract price for growing tomatoes this season. The association demanded $8 40 as a fair price and passed a resolution to that effect. The meeting adjourned to meet in Chestertown Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock when Mr. Vogleman is asked to be present again. Nearly all the tomato growers of this section of the county are members of the association and are in the movement to demand what is considered a fair price for growing tomatoes. Nearly all the farmers in the county declare that at the present price of grain they can get more profit out of growing corn than they can at the price offered for tomatoes, and all will refuse to grow tomatoes unless they can secure a reasonable price. It is likely that some agreement will be reached at the meeting in Chestertown on Tuesday.

Millington Items.

Rev. Sidell is visiting Mrs. Jos. Mallalieu.

MISERY IN STOMACH.

And Indigestion Vanishes in Five Minutes and You Feel Fine.

Why not start new—to-day, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and besides, one triangule will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works your stomach rests—gets itself in order, clears up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to begin taking Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to be thoroughly cured of Indigestion.

Consumption

is, by no means, the dreadful disease it is thought to be—in the beginning.

It can always be stopped—in the beginning. The trouble is: you don't know you've got it; you don't believe it; you won't believe it—till you are forced to. Then it is dangerous.

Don't be afraid; but attend to it quick—you can do it yourself and at home. Take
