FOOT HEALTH
YOUR FEET

DR. PAUL M. DETRICH
Graduate Chiropodist.

Answering the question as to why women are troubled more with aching feet than men.

Just suppose we listen in on a conversation between the clerk of a large shoe store and 19 year old Mary Jones.

"Mr. Brown, I would like to have a pair of slippers like Annabelle Smith's new ones. You know the kind with the funny little gadets on the front of them. The size of the shoes I'm wearing are 6 1-2A and they feel comfortable so I'll take the same size again."

"Yes Miss Jones," replied the clerk, and he immediately takes from the shelf a pair of slippers like Annabelle had recently purchased.

"There you are how do you like them?

"Gee, ain't they swell looking; I can't hardly wait until I wear them," responds Mary all thrilled about buying a new pair of stylish shoes.

Putting on the shoes Mary walks back and forth on the carpet to see how they look on her feet rather than to see if they fit properly.

"They feel a little tight across the toes but they will be all right once I have them broken in. Gee don't they look cute?" Mary inquires of the clerk.

"They do look nice on you but I can give you a size wider that would feel much more comfortable, answers Mr. Brown.

"No they'll stretch and they won't bother me at all. I think I'll keep them on and you may wrap up the old ones because I want to show them to some of my girl friends."

And in this manner Mary leaves the store wearing shoes that are too small for her feet.

The result of this foot strain will be weak and displaced arches, corns, callouses and bunions.

The foot structure is one of the most complicated and yet wonderfully conceived of the human body. Just considering the duty it must perform will cause you to wonder and give an increased respect for this important and much mistreated member of your body.

How many of you people young, middle aged or old can be placed in the same category as Mary Jones.

Fit the foot properly and let style take care of itself.

'Don't knock a competitor' has not yet been accepted by women as a rule of conduct.

Honesty is the best policy, but a lot of people refuse to accept it as a working principle.

Every going business, no matter how small, contains the germ of a bigger business.

THE OLIVER ROW-CROP "70"

Smoother Power—Less Vibration—Easier Riding—A Pleasure To Drive

With its six cylinders giving overlapping power—and a decreased intensity of individual power impulses—the motor in the new Row Crop "70" runs more smoothly and with less vibration than a two or four-cylinder engine.

You'll really enjoy driving it. There's less wear and tear on both driver and tractor. With finger-tip control—planting and cultivating equipment mounted in full view of the operator—and plowing with two 14-inch bases, under ordinary soil conditions, at over 4 miles an hour—you'll get a big day's work done easier and quicker. There's more time left for other jobs—more hours to live!

There are two "70's"—one operating most economically on 70 octane gasoline—and the other on kerosene or distillate—neither a combination makeshift. Come in and see these sensational new Row Crop "70's"—with a complete line of mounted listing, busting, planting and cultivating equipment.
