cruel war of all times . . . up to that date. Mothers do not soon forget and today many of them will recall the unbounded joy they experienced when whistles began to blow and bells began to peal forth the glad news. Thousands, though they knew that their own sons would never return, rejoiced because of the knowledge that other mothers would soon be privileged to hold in loving embrace their sons or husbands. It is unfortunate that those who came back, and are now affiliated with Dorchester Post of the American Legion are not celebrating at home today, but it is commendable in them to take part in the celebration of their fellow comrades at Easton. We hope that the good citizens of Cambridge will rally around their heroes of 1918 in a fitting celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice next November. On that day, in 1918, many were filled with joy. They were willing and anxious to celebrate then . . . but today, they go on about their business affairs as though the "Boys" had not made the sacrifice. They've forgotten.

NEW FURNITURE STORE TO OPEN

Unless unforseen obstacles arise the new and spacious stores, among the largest and most attractive on the entire Eastern Shore of Maryland, of The Nathan Furniture Company will be thrown open to the public on nevt Thursday, November 18th.

Mr. Milford Nathan, who is perhaps as well known as any business man on the Eastern Shore, is manifesting great pride in his new quarters, just a few doors from the old store on High Street, near the corner of Locust.

The contractors, Charles F. Brohawn and Brothers, commenced wrecking the old building formerly occupied by the Cambridge post office, on July 1st. The building has been extended back to a depth of 150 and to a width of 40 feet; the entire three floors comprising approximately 15,000 square feet A modern heating, sprinkling and lighting system has been installed by the contractors and when finished the latter part of this week, the front will be one of tehmost expensive and handsomest throughout the State.

Nathan's stores were established in Cambridge in 1880 and the present owner and director is being congratulated upon the remarkable progress the firm has made, upon its reputation for quality merchandise and fair dealing with its patrons.
