TEXAS A AND M CORRECTION

President T. O. Walton of Texas A and M has outlined a few points not observed in this column's recent release on low cost education at his school. Wrong impressions can result from the figures quoted by Mr. Carnegie last week, he says. While boys with special experience in printing, stenography or languages can make all expenses the average annual cost a year is nearer $500" than the quoted figures. Board and room costs $25 per month and the matriculation fee is based on a reciprocal basis with other state colleges.

WORK MADE INTERESTING

A boy ten years old was given the job of ladling grease at a soap factory. There wae a terrible stench in the factory; the work was most disagreeable. The boy had to wear a leather apron to keep from upsetting the grease on himself; in spite of his best efforts he did spill it on the floor and on his shoes. He hated his job. The name of that boy was Benjamin Franklin.

His uncle told him something to change his entire life. He said. "Make your job interesting! All jobs are interesting if you make them so. The thing that's wrong is not the job. It's you!"

Young Ben thought it a crazy statement. But it did make an impression. He had a natural liking for reading and books, but now he threw himself into reading in earnest. Yea, more than mere reading. Study! He had to dip grease during the day; at night he dipped into knowledge. He asked himself questions about grease. What constituted grease? Why was it necessary to soap-making? He found that grease was most important in the history of tribes and nations. By now, he no longer looked on grease-ladling as a humdrum affair, but as vital in the matter of living.

He attracted the attention and respect of his older half-brother. Why! here was a boy who went after things. He understood things. Being the owner of a printing shop, he asked young Ben to come and work for him. Ben began making this job interesting, too. He studied printing; he studied type. His half brother founded a newspaper, and Ben was invited to write for it. His experiences led to his becoming the greatest journalist in America.

Franklin applied this method to everything he undertook. His range of interest grew. Nothing in all the world seemed dull to him.

If your job is dull it's because you make it dull.

SAYS STATE DOES FINE BREEDING BOB WHITE

"The little State of Maryland is doing a magnificent job of breeding Bob White in captivity and using them for restocking farms throughout the State's twenty-three counties. At Gwynbrook State Farm, just above Baltimore, 10,191 bob whites were raised.

WHO'S WHO
Among Cambridge Businessmen
BY L. B. NORRIS

Bennett Automotive Service Popular

Chrysler and Plymouth cars are featured in new 1941 models at the Bennett Automotive Service, a reliable agency for sales and service functions at 232 Race Street, Cambridge. Established only 16 months ago, the firm has already gained a noteworthy favor among motorists for its policy of satisfaction. It has modern facilities and all proper coverage over automobile agency requ sites.

Donald C. Bennett, proprietor, was formerly with Chevrolet Motor Division and has had about 12 years of experience in the automotive field. He knows the field of service thoroughly and directs a staff of nine employees, among which are L. Eldrige Lloyd, salesman, and Russell Spohn, service manager. Texaco and Firestone products as well as a complete repair service is featured. Bear Wheel Aligning service is handled by experts.

Mr. Bennett, who is a member of the Elks, takes an active interest in civic affairs. We wish him continued success in Cambridge.

Meridith's Garage Has Fine Reputation

There are many advantages available in the broad roster of service provided by Edward L. Meridith, local dealer for the famed International trucks at 15 Market Street, Cambridge, established in modern headquarters since last year.

Recognized as a reliable center for the needs of many motorists and farmers, the agency is maintained with complete sales and service aids rendered in modern fashion. A local dealer for International trucks for the past eight years, Mr. Meridith is thoroughly apace of the latest trends and gives close supervision to the program, making certain that satisfaction prevails in each and every phase. Now operated and equipped on the up-to-date basis, the garage is winning increasing patronage from this entire section. Two efficient employees assist Mr. Meridith in rendering complete satisfaction.

We wish him continued success in Cambridge.

Thomas Funeral Home Outstanding

Prominent in anything that has to do with the progress of Cambridge, and entering heartily into any movement that makes for community betterment, Kenneth R. Thomas, 204 Gay Street, Cambridge, is accounted a reliable citizen in all matters that make their appeal to loyalty and public spiritedness. Because of his painstaking and thorough methods, there is no better known or more highly esteemed funeral director in this part of the city. The appointments and equipment at his place are the more modern and approved and nothing is lacking to give the modernized service so desirable in a time of sorrow such as a funeral service. Both within and aside from his profession, Mr. Thomas is a man of sympathetic nature, ever thoughtful of his fellowmen's interest. A graduate of the Cinn. College of Embalming, Mr. Thomas has had about 16 years of practical experience. He is a member of the Lions Club and Fire Company.

Dr. Barcus Heads Read's Drug Store

Read's Drug & Chemical Company, at 20 Race Street, Cambridge, is one of the most popular establishments in the community. One of 47 stores to be found throughout this section, the store has built the business to its present size from a very modest beginning.

Physicians send their patients to Read's to have their prescriptions filled, because only a physician can fully appreciate the importance of using the best and freshest drugs, full up to the standard of the U. S. P. and then to have them compounded by skilled graduate pharmacists. In addition to drugs, there are many other departments of interest to milady, such as fine toiletries, accessories, and other related items.

Dr. G. W. Barcus who assumed the position of manager about 9 months ago, is assisted by a total staff of 12 employees. A graduate of the Pitt University, Dr. Barcus is registered in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

H. C. Brooks Local Auto Dealer Here

Cambridge's importance as an automobile center is acknowledged and the activities of certain men have resulted in booming the business locally. For example, the Brooks Brothers Garage, at 124 Gay Street, of which H. C. Brooks is the proprietor.

A man of keen judgement and understanding, Mr. Brooks has necessary modernly equipped sales rooms and service station that have given the word service a new and signficant meaning. A local dealer for Buick and Pontiac cars, the firm has boosted the sale of these cars in a most competent manner.

Brooks Brothers' Garage, which was started in Cambridge about twenty-one years ago, employs a total staff of five experts. Mr. Brooks is a member of the Masons and takes an active interest in community affairs. We wish him continued success in his splendid work.

Fine Products At Twilley's Dairies

An important factor contributing to the health of all communities is the quality of milk and other dairy products. Cambridge is fortunate in possessing one of the best managed enterprises of its kind in this part of the county, Twilley's Dairies, in modern headquarters on Boundary Avenue, which handles only tuberculin tested milk and is noted for maintaining a high standard in all its products. Most credit is therefore due to Brice G. Twilley, who is the proprietor.

Established in Cambridge for the past 16 years, Twilley's products are known to be rich in fats and nutritive food elements and are handled under the most sanitary conditions. Mr. Twilley is ably assisted by five employees and deliveries are promptly made throughout Cambridge and vicinity. A member of the Cambridge Businessmen's Association, Mr. Twilley is also active in civic affairs. We are pleased to include him in our column.

Feimster Heads Academy Service

Featuring Richfield and Bethoine products in a 100 per cent. capacity for care of cars and careful, courteous satisfaction to motorists, Academy Street Service Station, Muir & Academy Streets, Cambridge, attracts a steady, increasing trade. Established about 8 years ago and modern in its equipment, this place is reliable for thorough aids on car up-keep problems.

Paul Feimster is the proprietor of this splendid enterprise and has greatly increased the efficiencies since assuming ownership about five years ago. A complete lubrication and washing service is done by experts and cars are promptly called for and delivered. U. S. Royal tires and other related items are sold at reasonable prices.

Mr. Feimster, who is a member of the Elks, Skeet Club and Cambridge Credit Bureau, is active in community affairs.

Cambridge Bakery Has Noted Success

People are more particular about bakery products these days than any other item on their tables. It has been this demand for first-class goods that has been responsible for the rapid expansion of the Cambridge Bakery of 12 Race Street, Cambridge, of which C. F. Phillips is proprietor.

Established for more than 50 years, the bakery is known favorably throughout this section for its quality offerings which has become a household word, making the demand incessant. Mr. Phillips, who became proprietor of this popular firm about 21 years ago, has the able assistance of 40 employees on the staff. There are 14 trucks which make deliveries throughout the lower end of the Eastern Shore. The materials used in the baking process are a big item worthy of the consumers' attention and appreciation. We are pleased to put our stamp of approval on the fair and courteous treatment accorded all patrons.

The Thos. E. Jones Company Noteworthy

One of the best known and ablest representatives of Cambridge's business interests is The Thomas E. Jones Company on Maryland Avenue, engaged in the Oyster Packing business for almost 40 years.

Recently incorporated, the firm has long been recognized as a constructive force in bringing Cambridge nearer its goal of commercial supremacy, employing about one hundred people from the community. Products of the Jones Company are shipped throughout the entire country and Canada.

Officers of the firm are, Thomas E. Jones, President; and Woodrow W. Jones, Vice-President and General Manager. Both men are known to administer the affairs of their office in a competent manner and their connections bind them to the tasks encumbent on those who are representatives of Cambridge's best business traditions, which make a tableau of financial strength and reliability. We wish them continued success in their endeavors.

LeCompte Store Wins Public Favor

Nationally-known and advertised values in men's, women's and children's shoes are featured at E. Lee LeCompte & Company, 25 Race Street, Cambridge. Hughes' Grocery Well Patronized

No establishment in any community could be more important than that which serves us with the necessities to our very livelihood. The community grocer has come to be a veritable institution but an establishment such as Hughes' Store, located at Pine & Cross Street, Cambridge, goes a step further by reason of its extraodinary equipment, splendid business policies and fair dealings. Of course, this is a direct reflection on the splendid attributes of T. Milton Hughes who is the proprietor.

Starting the business on his own behalf a year ago, formerly known as the Hughes & Jews enterprise, the store now is equipped with all the latest devices for keeping perishable goods pure and sweet. The refrigeration system is a model of its kind and deliveries are made throughout the entire community.

A member of the Masons, K. of P., Odd Fellows, and Elks, Mr Hughes takes sincere interest in the progress and welfare of Cambridge.

We are pleased to include him in our column.

Madison News

Easter Monday was an ideal day for "Egg Hunting," at the home of Captain and Mrs. Charles A. Bromwell, Jr. Bery early in the morning Bobert Bromwell and Richard Insley hid nearly two hundred eggs, all beautiful colored, in different places, one part of the lawn for larger children, another place for the little ones. At 10 o'clock, the crowd was on hand, then the fun started. Dr. T. C. Mulligan with some helpers, idrected the games, and by the time they were through he must have lost a few of his two (200) hundred pounds. After the games and treating were over, Dr. Mulligan presented Mrs. Bromwell with a lovely box of candy, for her kindness, in being hostess and giving the use of the grounds. Then calling the children in a group, dismissed with prayer. Mr. Paul Palmer and Mr. "Whitey" Barth, of Cambridge, gave Dr. Mulligan, a lot of nice candies, Easter eggs, and Bunnies, which the members of the church appreciate. They have done this for a long time. Also many thanks are due Dr. Mulligan for giving up attending a ministerial meeting, at Hooper's Island to be here.
