GRAND RALLY FOR GEN'L. TAYLOR.

The noble, brave, war-worn, and staunch Patriot—the illastrious hero, who, in good taste wrote to Secretary Marcy "that he asked no favors and shrunk from no responsibility," and who has covered himself with imperishable laurels—whose fame now extends throughout the civilized world—whose deeds of dauntless heroism have excited the most thrilling emotions in every hamlet in this glorious Republic—the same master-spirit who was victorious at Fort Harrison, in the late war—more recently in the everglades of Florida, and still more lately amid the chapparels and on to Palo Alto. Resaca de la Palma, and as he ascended the heights of Monterey, extending the blaze of his glory—who closed his military career for the present, by order of the Government, deep in the gorges and recesses of Buena Vista, whose unfrequented passes he has immortalized by an unparalleled victory with a mere handful of brave volunteers over the Mexican hosts, with Santa Ana at their head. The identical and immortal patriot who has said if the people, irrespective of party, think proper to place him in their highest office, he will faithfully discharge the duties, according to the requirements of the constitution and for the best interests of the whole country, taking the noble examples of the first President, Gen. Washington and of Jefferson and Madison, for his guides.

This incorruptible fellow-citizen has consented to serve the people as their chief civil officer. To speak slightly of such a man or his pretensions, would evince a moral obliquity unbecoming an intelligent head or patriot heart. The people are in favor of such a man, with such virtues and such determinations. Such a man is necessary for the crisis. All, who are favorable to his election, regardless of former party distinctions—Whigs or Democrats, one and all, who rally to the standard of old Zachary Taylor, are requested to meet at the Court House, in Cambridge, at 3 o'clock on TUESDAY the 4th of APRIL, to take such public action in his favor as may seem to be proper. A grand rally of the friends of General Taylor is respectfully invited.
