E PLURIBUS UNUM

WESTMINSTER:

FRIDAY, JANUARY 27, 1860

No Speaker Yet.

There seems to be a general indisposition to take a vote for Speaker at present, the condition of parties continuing to be such as not to promise a successful result. There is no indication of any of Mr. Sherman's friends transferring their support to any other candidate.

Death of Hon John Nelson.

The Hon. John Nelson died at his residence, in Baltimore, on Wednesday night of last week, after a short but severe illness. He was about 69 years of age, and has long occupied a high position at the bar, not only of Maryland, but of the country, and has at different periods filled offices of honor and trust with marked ability. He was a native of Frederick county, Md., but has resided in Baltimore for many years.

Bills of Sale

The adoption of the new code by the Legislature, materially changes the mode of making bills of sale; it provides "that no bill of sale or mortgage of personal property shall be valid, except as between the parties, unless the bargainee or vendee or mortgagee or some one of them, or the agent of some one of them, shall make the affidavit required to be made by mortgagees of real estate, and such affidavit may be made at any time before recording, and before any person authorized to take the acknowledgment of such bill of sale or mortgage."

The Court of appeals lately decided that it was not necessary, under the act of 1856, to make such affidavit, and many bills of sale have been entered under its decision. The new code supercedes the decision of the Court of Appeals, and makes it necessary to have an affidavit endorsed thereon.

Military Laws of the State.

The codification of the Military Laws of the State, which have always been non-understandable on account of the mixture of the laws relating to and suitable for the counties with those pertaining to the city, renders the movement recently made in the legislature for a re organization of the military, more than ever essential. The codifiers were compelled to take the laws as they found them on the statute book, and work out of them a system for the whole State.

The Weekly Press

We observe by the last issue of the New Windsor Herald that that establishment has been purchased by Mr. J. H. Christ, of Uniontown. It will be removed to the latter place, consolidated with the Enterprise, and issued under the title of "The Weekly Press." The first number will appear on the third of February.

An Insane Congressman.

The Hon. Clark E. Cochrane, who was taken to the Utica Insane Asylum on the 18th instant, is a republican member of the present Congress from Western New York. He recently returned home from Washington. The exciting agitation in Congress is believed to have greatly contributed in bringing on his unfortunate insanity. His friends are in hopes that by skillful treatment he may in a short time be restored to reason and health.

Baltimore Commercial College

We speak advisedly when we say, that this is the place to become thorough in Accounts, and perfect master of Book-keeping in all its branches. Persons who receive their commercial education at this Institution are capable of keeping books in any way desired, either by single or double entry, and we take great pleasure in recommending to parents or guardians, having charge of young men whom they may wish to have thoroughly educated for the counting house, to send them to the Baltimore Commercial College See Advertisement.

The Union Party.

Although, as yet, nothing more than the telegraphic account of the organization of the National Union Executive Committee has reached the country, it has called forth in all sections a hearty and enthusiastic response. The conservative masses are fully aroused. The long and anxiously expected occasion for action is at hand. They are everywhere preparing to join the grand army of the Union. North and South Americans, Whigs, and Union-loving men who are tired of the shackles of Democracy and Republicanism, are coming together with cordial and friendly unanimity to act together in the present emergency in the promotion of the success of the Union Party.

Conviction of Dr Boyd

The trial of Dr. Wm. Boyd, who was arrested in this County, for stealing negro slaves, was closed at Washington on the 13th, by the jury returning a verdict of guilty as indicted. There were four several indictments against the doctor, two for stealing slaves, and two for transporting them to a free State. The trial concluded embraced the two indictments charging the larceny, and the verdict of guilty embraced both. The remaining two cases are still to be tried.

Mr. Carrigan, for defendant, put in a motion for a new trial of the cases just investigated, and will argue his motion at a future day. Boyd was not sentenced therefore.

The U S. Treasuryship

It is stated that the President tendered some days ago to ex-Governor Thomas, of Maryland, the U. S. Treasuryship. Mr. T., it is added, has written a letter to the President declining the appointment.

Virginia Legislature.

Bills have been reported in the House granting a pension to Mrs. Burley, whose husband was killed at Harper's Ferry, and a pension to Ed. McCabe, wounded at Harper's Ferry. It is said the whole expense of the State of the Harper's Ferry affair will not exceed $100,000.

The Speakership.

The House of representatives is still unorganized, and with no more prospect of electing a speaker than there was six weeks ago.

Whatever may be the result, the American party have shown themselves the only national party on the floor of the House. They have brought to the support of their candidate, Mr. Gilmer, a large slave owner, such a vote from the Northern States as shows that the party there care nothing for the slavery question. The Democrats, on the other hand, cannot bring the whole of even their small force to the support of any candidate. Several of their men from the Northern States steadily refuse to vote for any southern Democrat, and are either throwing their votes away, or casting them for the republican candidate. The Americans have on more than one occasion shown that they can effect an organization, honorable and advantageous to the South, and so national as to satisfy the whole country.—The Democrats profess to desire above all things the defeat of the Republicans, and yet they refuse to vote, for Mr. Gilmer a citizen of North Carolina, and the owner of a hundred slaves, when their votes can elect him by a triumphant majority. The falsity of their professions is shown by their acts. At no time has any Democrat received votes enough to be elected, had all the Southern Americans given him their votes.—The Democrats have shown themselves powerless to effect an organization even with our aid. They are thus responsible for the disorganized state of Congress, and all the evils to the country which may result from it; and if a Republican should be elected, they alone are responsible, since the Americans put it in their power to elect a man from the South, true to all her interests. After this can any American be asked to vote for a Democrat for Speaker? We think even locofoco audacity will not go so far. Should such a thing be asked, we think it will receive such an indignant refusal as will send the supplicant away with his head down. The American who would vote for a Democratic candidate for Speaker, after the events of the last six weeks, must have lost the last spark of manhood and independence; and we tell him the people will not sustain him in this sacrifice of honor, manhood and truth.

The Wise Men of Gotham.

The Democracy, through their leaders in Washington, have announced to the enlightened people of this country, and to the world, "and the rest of mankind," that they could not vote for Mr. Gilmer, an American of North Carolina, and owing nearly one hundred slaves, simply because some republicans voted for him. Well, that is a most wise and unanswerable reason, for their conduct, and perfectly satisfactory to ever insane man. Ah, the wisdom and discretion of these most pure and excellent democrats. Surely their names should be engraven on brass, and handed down to posterity as the noblest of ninnies.

The January Thaw.

The late warm rains and general thaw, like the "cold snap" that preceded them, seems to have extended over the entire country. The Western and southern papers come to us with accounts of the breaking up of the ice and the flooding of the rivers, in some cases doing much damage. On the Monongahela above Pittsburg the ice gave way on Sunday morning. The Dispatch says the river rose rapidly; the ice came down in large fields, carrying all before it. The destruction of property from the first dam to that point was heavy. On the Brimingham side there was scarcely a craft that was not swept away. Thirty bottoms of boats were counted by one person. The total number of every description that floated off could not have been less than fifty.

Daring Robbery in Memphis.

An agent of a New York house named Keller Kurtz, was garrotted and robbed in his room, at the Gayoso House, in daytime, in Memphis, Tenn., on the 9th instant. After the robber completed his work, he bound Mr. Kurtz, who was sick in bed, hand and foot, and, with the remark that he would send him assistance, left the room, leaving the door a little ajar. Mr Kurtz waited a few moments, and then succeeded in reaching the bell, which he rung with all the strength his crippled condition would permit of. A servant responded and he was liberated, and immediately gave information to the police, with a description of the articles taken from him.

One Headed Nigger Man.

The following good story is told at Washington of the Hon. Thaddeus Stevens, of Pennsylvania: At the time when several of the Anti-Lecompton men voted for Mr. Gilmer of North Carolina, one of the prominent Southern Democrats approached Mr. Stevens, saying he was very much astonished that these men should vote for Mr. Gilmer, who owned nearly a "hundred head of niggers." "Does he?" said Mr. S.; "then I think I shall vote for him myself, for it is your little one-headed nigger men who make all the trouble."

The Post Office Contractorr.

A number of letters were received at the Postoffice Department in Washington on Tuesday, from mail contractors in different parts of the Union, declaring their intention to break off the lines, if no appropriation is made by the 1st of March. The House of Representatives in so long delaying its organization, is assuming a fearful responsibility.

Large Sale of Negroes.

Five hundred and thirty-six negroes, owned by the estate of the late Joseph Boud, were sold at Albany, Ga., on the 4th inst, at an average of $1,025.—They were sold in families, and there are still thirty to be disposed of. One boy brought $3,600, and a woman field hand sold for $2,500.

Inhuman Mother.

Julia Ann Cady, a married woman, living in Chenango, N. Y., a few days since took her own child, 4 years (1), born before her marriage, and stripped it of its clothing, and then put it headforemost into the stove, holding it there until she supposed it dead. She then placed it in a bed which she set on fire, and went to the neighbors. The child, however, recovered itself so far as to escape from the bed and out of doors where it was found fatally burned.

Congress.

Already seven weeks have elapsed since the meeting of the Thirty-sixth Congress. During all this time the balloting for Speaker has been going on, and yet each days ballot shows, practically, the same unvarying result that appeared on the day previous. Every successive effort to form a complete coalition of opposing elements against Mr. Sherman, has proved futile. Each new candidate taken up by the Democrats, South Americans or Know Knothings, is invariably dropped after the first few ballotings. This state of things having continued so long, it must appear most plain that it is impossible to elect a speaker without adopting the prurality rule. This is the only resort we can look to; if we are to hope for any organization at all. To this feasible method the Democrats are opposed, resting their obstinate opposition, it is said, upon the forlorn hope that Mr. Sherman will surrender, in which case, "an election of speaker—no matter who—would be regarded as a Democratic victory." This delay, which is thus attributed to the Administration party, has already exerted a pernicious influence upon our public credit, and must eventually prove detrimental to our permanent National interests.

If no other reason can prevail to bring these Democratic Disorganizers to terms, a respect, at least, for the order and dignity of the body of which they are members, should have some weight. For the many noisy and disorderly scenes which are of such frequent occurrence, and which are incident only to the present disorganized state of the house, the Democrats are plainly responsible.

Interview of the Sons of Temperance with the President.

The Constitution has the following account of the interview of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of Maryland, with President Buchanan, on Thursday last:—

Upwards of one hundred and fifty gentlemen, with a freshness and healthfulness of aspect and general appearance of vigor and elasticity which temperance habits only can produce, were introduced to him in the "east room." Benj. E. Gantt, the Grand Worthy Patriarch of the Order, addressed the President in a cordial and glowing speech. He referred to the President himself, significantly, as an example of temperance. His apparent health, his vigor, his activity, his capacity, and habits of labor, all indicated temperance in all things. The remarks of the Patriarch were to the point, and well delivered.

President Buchanan replied with his accustomed readiness and felicity. He had always been a temperate man. Before societies had been thought of he had ever exerted moderation in eating as well as in drinking—and to this control over both the appetites he attributed (under Providence) the health which he enjoyed. Although not a total abstinence man, he believed that these temperance societies were calculated to do the highest good; and if every man in the nation were to practise their principles, the whole country would be greatly the better for it.

The gentlemen constituting the order were then, individually, introduced to the President, who received every one with that warmth and friendship which distinguish him in all his receptions.—This interview was particularly interesting, because it was significant of the feeling which the people entertain towards the President. They came to him not as politicians, but as friends and advocates of a great moral cause.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post understands that Mr. Corwin has fixed upon a time when he will desert Sherman.—Meeting one of his colleagues the other day, he said: "Well, ——. I have concluded upon a time when I shall stop voting for Mr. Sherman; in short, when I will abandon him and try somebody else." "Indeed," replied his colleague, a little alarmed, "when is your time?" Corwin looked very grave and solemn, as he replied in a very low tone of voice, "When old Gabriel sounds his last trump!"

☞ We notice the Locofocos are just now horrified at the practice of cooping on election occasions—and well they may be, but we would suggest to the Legislature the propriety of appointing a Committee of Inquiry whose duty it shall be to go back for some years past, and it is probable they may find some very prominent members of the Locofoco party (still living) concerned in this villainous and odious practice, and that on one occasion a prisoner died in the coop, and his body was sold to the surgeons by his keepers.

☞ The Hon. William F. Boone, Judge of the United States District Court of New Mexico, died at the residence of his family, in West Philadelphia, on Wednesday. Mr. Boone had just returned from New Mexico on a brief visit to his family, after an absence of two years. He served for many years in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, and under the Administration of Millard Fillmore was a Commissioner to Nicaragua. To the position he filled at the time of his death he was appointed by President Buchanan. Mr. Boone was one time a resident of Lancaster.

☞ We perceive that a change of proprietorship has taken place in the York Republican. Mr Shay is succeeded by Horace Bonham, Esq., a gentleman of education and fine attainments. The political tone of the journal will remain unchanged. We extend a cordial welcome to the new editor, and trust that the position he has assumed may prove both profitable and pleasant.

Excitement in Europe.

The news received from Europe by the Jura and Europa is of a most important character. Judging from the aspect of affairs all over the Continent, arising out of the French pamphlet on the Papal question, it looks as if Europe was about to be embroiled in a great religious contest—an irrepressible conflict between the two contending forces of the Catholic and Protestant nations.

☞ Ex-Governor Wise, of Virginia, has returned to the practice of the law, and will continue the defence of Walter S. Land, charged with the murder of Benj. F. Flannigan, whose trial will take place in February next. Rhetorical sky-rockets may be expected about that time.

FEMALE EDUCATION.

There is nothing so beautiful, so sublime, as the Education of the human mind, the developments of its latent powers; the unfolding of the gems of thought; thought which never dies, but sends itself forward, onward in endless reproduction. If the human soul is "the urn that scatters beauty on the universe," if stars are lovely because the mind breathes upon them, if the gorgeous colors of the rainbow and setting sun and vernal flowers were not in them, but in mind, if the harmony of sweet sounds live not in the voice of creation, nor in the tuned instruments of art, but in the inner depths of man's sensitive nature; what a grand thing then is mind, creating a universe for itself, of beauty or loveliness, of discord or harmony, of pleasure or pain.—As Lord Jeffrey, I will contend "that the universe is but a great mirror of the mind of man."

The true science of polite human culture has been the paramount study of all human ages, and of the profoundest minds, the apple of discordmuong all people; yet what master spirit has ever fixed the immutable standard, the universal law. Female education has been most painfully neglected among us, and when we consider the bearing and influence of educated women upon society, we cannot but deplore this state of things. The first friend whom the infant recognizes, is his mother.—To her tenderness, her attachment, her patience, he probably, owes more than to the kindness of any of his species. Under her gentle auspices the first budding of his rational nature begins to unfold. To her is allotted the delightful province of teaching "the young idea how to shoot," of moulding the heart—of cherishing all its amiable and generous affections—of storing it with the "sweet charities" of life—of leading it in filial piety to God, the sovereign good.

Character is the result of habit. Men overlook the connection between the act and the result; they are also insensible of the value and influence of first steps. Character, growth day by day, and all things slid it in unfolding." We read "it is a little thing," and forget it is the germ of a great thing—To-day is the result of yesterday, and to-morrow carries to the far-off future the work of to-day. Now we are reaping a harvest springing from the past. Now we are sowing the seed that we shall gather in a harvest of woe or joy in the awful hereafter.

Farmers and other in the community, have displayed too little interest in the subject of the education of their daughters. They have ample means to do it—and their daughters deserve to be highly educated if any class of ladies do; and there remains no excuse therefore for them. Their daughters have natural abilities, and it is too true that fine minds are often lost for want of culture—

"Full many a gem of purest ray serene,
The dark unfathomed caves of ocean bear,
Full many a flower is born to blush unseen,
And waste its sweetness on the desert air."

It is true, we have not had the most inviting facilities for educating our daughters offered us in time past, but now an opportunity is being afforded us to educate the female portion of our youth, in every branch of polite literature and substantial education. Then educate your daughters. It will not only give them grace and refinement; but it will the better prepare them for the varying scenes of life, when once they are called upon to adorn and make happy and inviting the home of a worthy husband and family.

I have pleasure in recommending to the favorable consideration of the public a FEMALE SCHOOL recently established at Westminster, Carroll County, Maryland, by FAWSETT R. BUELL, Esq. This gentleman possesses in an eminent degree the requisite qualifications to enable him to give entire satisfaction to all who may entrust the training and education of their daughters to his care. He has employed a highly accomplished and talented lady from New York, Miss WHITE, to whom the care and instruction of the students will at present be chiefly entrusted.

For present reputation in the above capacity we may refer to any and all of their present patrons, some of whom we mention: John Roger, John Englar, Jesse Schweigert, David Calsell, Peter Bille, Alfred Troxel, David Zepp, &c. They are prepared to take students through a thorough English and Classical Education. For terms apply to F. R. Buell. M.

REV WILLIAM COSGROVE,

THE PECULIARITIES of the female constitution and the various trials to which the sex is subjected, demand an occasional recourse to stimulants. It is important, however, that these shall be of a harmless nature, and at the same time accomplish the desired end. Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters is the very article. Its effects in all cases of debility are almost magical. It restores the tone of the digestive organs, infuses fresh vitality into the whole system, and gives that cheerfulness to the temperament which is the most valuable of feminine attractions. The proprietors feel flattered from the fact that many of the most prominent medical gentlemen in the Union have bestowed encomiums upon the Bitters, the virtues of which they have frequently tested and acknowledged. There are numerous counterfeits offered for sale, all of which are destitute of merit, and positively injurious to the system.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

A Query. Why will you suffer? Dyspepsia is a faint but comprehensive term for the numerous diseases which affect the stomach, liver, and in fact the whole human system. Until Dr. Green discovered the Oxygenated Bitters medical science was at fault and had exhausted itself in fruitless efforts to cure this disease. The dyspeptic need suffer no longer with a disease that is always painful, and frequently a fatal affliction.

This unique and peculiar compound will as certainly cure the disease as the disease exists. Had it not this power such testimony as follows would not be given in its favor:

VALUABLE TESTIMONY IN FAVOR OF THE OXYGENATED BITTERS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.

Having made use of the Oxygenated Bitters, prepared by Dr. George B. Green, of Windsor, Vt. and from knowledge obtained of their efficacy in other cases, we cheerfully recommend them to the public, believing they will fully sustain the recommendation of the proprietor. We hope that this valuable remedy may be accessible to all the afflicted.

J. F. MOREHEAD, U. S Senator, and formerly Governor of Kentucky
L. H. ARNOLD, formerly Governor of Rhode Island.

Its success in every case of DYSPEPSIA, ASTHMA, AND GENERAL DEBILITY OF THE SYSTEM, places it among the most wonderful discoveries in medical science, and has given it a reputation far beyond any remedy known for these complaints, in all their various forms.
