POETRY.

For the Sentinel.

A PRAYER.

Bow down thy gracious ear to me, O Lord,
Hear thou my soul's complaint;
To tread alone life's dark and dreary road,
Maketh my spirit faint.

And there are thorns about my erring feet,
That wound them as I go,
I look for help into each face I meet,
None understands my woe.

The mist has quenched my lamp that feebly glowed,
Has quenched it long ago;
And now the dangers of life's toilsome road,
How can I see or know.

I only know that I am journeying fast,
To an eternal sea; [past,
The stream that leadeth there, must soon be
Death,—— a dark stream to me.

O! that my lamp were trimmed and burning bright,
To guide me through the gloom;
The mist dispelled—and all celestial light,
Between me and the tomb.

But in this path where comfortless I stray,
Once Israel's Shepherd trod;
Would I could see His foot-prints in the way,
And walk in them to God.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Maryland Inebriate Asylum

The Executive Committee of the Maryland Inebriate Asylum have issued an address to the people of Maryland, which commences by stating that the Legislature of the State has authorized the establishment of an institution, for the relief and recovery of persons, whose habits of inebriety have rendered them unfit to take care of themselves, and for proper association with their families and friends. The plan calls for starting the enterprise with about one hundred thousand dollars, and to secure this sum is the object of the appeal, which the Committee intends shall be made, not only to their fellow citizens of the State of Maryland, but to the philanthropists throughout the Union. The address next discusses the extent of the evil, expressing the opinion that not less than one out of every three of the residents of the State are suffering in various ways from the effects of intemperance; that the sufferers are not limited to any grade or condition of society, but include the rich, the less wealthy and the poor.—That the evil is increasing is also discussed, and a remedy proposed; that the surest remedy that can be applied, is the removal of the cause by which it is produced; therefore, it would be necessary to prohibit the sale of ardent spirits; or destroy the distilleries. As neither of these can be effected at the present time, the need for an asylum becomes more clearly apparent. The report proceeds to discuss at some length the great benefits which must accrue from such an asylum.

A Child Devoured by Vermin.

The New York correspondent of the Baltimore American, writing on the 25th ult., says another horror has come to light. A poor Irish woman, about to become a mother, was, on Sunday last, admitted to the Bellevue Hospital, but the physician, thinking that his services were unnecessary just then, left her for the night, after administering to her present wants. Before morning, however, the woman gave birth to a child, but was so weak that she could not call for assistance. When the medical attendant came to her in the morning, it was ascertained that the child was dead, it having been literally devoured by the hordes of rats which ran riot through the apartment. The newly born babe was a most disgusting sight; its extremities, body, head and face were horribly gnawed and disfigured. The woman said that she felt the rats running over her and the bed; but did not know they had attacked her infant. The officers of the Hospital are much blamed for neglect, in not having a nurse or physician in the room, where, besides the woman above alluded to, there were five or six in the same situation.

Purchase of Mormon Possessions.

We learn from Washington that as the first legislative step on the subject which has been privately discussed during the past six months, Mr. Morris, of Ill., will urge the passage of a joint resolution appointing Mr. Orr, of South Carolina, Gen. Doniphan, of Missouri, and Gov. Wood, of Illinois, commissioners to negotiate with the Mormons for the sale of their possessions, on the express condition that they move within a reasonable time from the limits and jurisdiction of the United States. The commissioners to make their report to the President by the next session of Congress.

The ground for this movement is to prevent the recurrence of war and bloodshed, as the history of the Mormons in Missouri and Illinois shows they cannot, owing to their peculiarities, live on terms of peace and good neighborship with contiguous settlements. It is also treated as a question of economy to the treasury.

Another Prize Fight.

The prize-fight for one thousand dollars and the championship of light weights, between Ed. Wilson and Harry Gribben, came off at Riker's Island, N. Y., between five and six o'clock on Thursday morning, in presence of about two hundred spectators. Wilson drew the first blood, and Gribben got in the first knock down. The fight lasted fifty-five minutes, during which time sixty-one rounds were fought, when it was decided to consider the battle a draw.

Unhappy.—The New York Tribune is unhappy because Senator Davis has not attempted to shoot an abolitionist, and other papers of the same like are unhappy because a knife fight did not occur between Potter and Pryor. Gentle doves, these Philanthropists.

A Confiding Gentleman.

The Mobile Tribune relates the following swindling transaction: "An old-fashioned, innocent looking countryman, some fifty years of age, wearing plain country clothes, and who says he lives in the backwoods, and seldom comes to town, called on officer Fuller a short time since, with a statement something like the following: He had come to the city on a little business, and had about three hundred dollars in bills on some of the city banks, which he wanted to change for gold, but never having been in a bank, he neither knew where to find it nor how to proceed to get the gold from it when found. Happening to meet a good-looking, well dressed man, he inquired where the bank was, and telling him for what purpose he wanted to find it. The man proposed to go and show him the bank; and as they walked on together he seemed so kind that the old man asked him to take the money and get it changed for him, which he, quite obliging, consented to do, and accordingly took it. When they came in front of the Battle House, he told the old man that was the bank, and to wait a minute and he would step in and get the gold for him. The old man waited, and, as he did not return, stepped in himself at about the end of an hour, to look for him, and not finding his accommodating acquaintance, inquired and learned that he was at the Battle House instead of a bank."

Ohio Speaks.

The Republican and Democratic organs in Ohio are filled with alarm at the rapid and portentous progress of the Constitutional Union party. They find the masses of the people there rallying by thousands with glad zeal to its banners. They try in vain to check the exodus from their ranks, and they writhe in agony at the visibly increasing magnitude of the National Union party.—Their efforts are rebuked by the St. Clairsville, Ohio, Republican, hitherto a Republican party paper, but now a zealous advocate of the Constitutional Union party. It says emphatically "the Union movement meets with favor everywhere, except amongst the abolition furees; they are sneering and laughing, as usual, in order to cast ridicule upon the movement. Let them sneer, we say, for the National Union party is a fixed fact, and the sooner these abolitionists realize the fact the better. Our friends are firm and determined to put down the sectional agitation which has ruled politics for the last twelve years. The interest of the white man must be attended to now, and as the National Union party is a white man's party, they intend to look to that interest alone."

Murder and Speedy Retribution

Two men named Moses Young and William West, got into a difficulty at Auroria, Nebraska, on the 13th, respecting some title deeds which the latter held to secure a debt of $125, due him from the former, when Young deliberately leveled his gun and killed his creditor. He secretly concealed himself until evening, when he was arrested by a crowd who, with remarkable moderation determined he should have a fair trial, and elected three discreet Judges and appointed a Sheriff for that purpose.—A jury of the best citizens was then empanelled, and at 10 o'clock in the morning the trial was commenced, continuing until dark, when the prisoner was pronounced guilty, and sentenced to be hung on the 15th, a judgment which was fully and formally carried out.

Male and Female Butchers.

A terrible affair happened recently at Shellbank, Texas. A Mr. Stephenson sold a piece of land to General Bishop, and soon after the purchaser had made improvements on the land, Stephenson wanted to get it back for the same amount he had been paid for it, but his proposition was refused by Bishop.—This incensed Stephenson, and accordingly he, with his wife, son and daughter, went to Gen. Bishop's house, where they found young Bishop sick in bed.—The wife and daughter held the sick man down while young Stephenson literally cut him to pieces with a knife, killing him almost immediately. While this was going on, General Bishop knocked out the eye of the elder Stephenson with a hatchet. The Stephensons were arrested.

Archbishop Hughes to be Made a Cardinal.

A correspondent of a New York paper says Archbishop Hughes will be made a Cardinal, in October, an honor which would have been conferred upon Bishop England, of South Carolina, but for his early death, and oracularly adds, it is seriously whispered in some circles that should the Pope be deprived of his political power at Rome, a very probable event, he will shake from his sandals the dust of that city, and remove the Holy See, may be to St. Louis. Pius, conjecturing that he may not live to carry out his plan, wishes to adorn the American Archbishop's astute head with a Cardinal's hat, as the preliminary step towards securing a successor who has energy, genius, will, and a knowledge of the New Continent.

Abolition Incendiaries.

Mr. Davis, the postmaster at Concord, N. H., being suspected of having informed the United States officers where Sanborn, the chief aider and abettor of John Brown in his treason, was to be found, recently had his barn, with hay, machinery, tools and wagons, destroyed by some incendiary. So that in Concord, to be suspected of a disposition to obey the laws of his country is sufficient ground for burning up a man's property—why not for hanging him?

☞ John S. Robinson, chairman of the Vermont delegation, died of apoplexy, at the Charleston Convention on the 26th ult.

To Business Men.

In recommending people to advertise, weekly, monthly, yearly, perpetually, the Grand Rapids Enquirer gives the following reasons:—

1st. It gives the appearance of a desire to do business upon fair and liberal terms.

2d. It is a compliment to the community, in the nature of an invitation, to call and see you, which they will generally accept, either out of curiosity or out of gratitude for the trouble of telling them where they can find the articles they may be in search of. In either case you make a trade if you are reasonable, and if you are not, you will find out the state of the market, and govern yourself accordingly.

3d. To advertise liberally, to have your name continually before the public in connection with your business, shows that you are neither ashamed of your name nor your business.

4th. It looks like enterprise, and most people prefer dealing with enterprising men rather than crusty old fogies who stand behind their counters or workshops, sulkily defying the world to deal with them, if they choose, or dare to leave it alone.

5th. It supports newspapers, which in return affords immense benefit to humanity.

If these reasons are not sufficient, we ask our readers to look at the fact, that while hardly any man flourishes without advertising, those who advertise the most are the most flourishing.

Provisional Government for Arizona.

The Arizona correspondent of the Missouri Republican says a convention to form a Provisional Government for Arizona, consisting of thirty-one delegates representing all parties of the territory, met at Tueson on the 2d ult., and organized by electing James A. Lucas, chairman. A constitution and schedule to remain in force till Congress shall organize a territorial government was unanimously adopted, after which the territorial officers headed by L. S. Owings of Mesilla, for Governor, Ignatio Orraatia for Lieutenant Governor, and three District Judges, were elected, and provision made for calling out the militia for the protection of life and property, and W. C. Woodsworth appointed Major General.

Sad Picture of Iowa.

The Lexington Ky. Observer says no man living in that State can have anything like a correct idea of the utter hopelessness of the state of things in Iowa. Speculation has been the ruin of the State. The river towns are so flat that they never can get up again until there is an entire change of population. This place contained a population in 1857 of 40,000, is now reduced to 18,000 and people leaving just as fast as they can get money to get away upon. The place is in debt one million and a quarter! and she, as well as Dubuque et. al. along the river, are now talking of repudiation! So do not own lands in Iowa, if you can avoid it. It will make you that much poorer.

The Census

Superintendent Kennedy has issued his circular of instructions to marshals for taking the eighth census. They are said to be full and explicit in all respects, and are illustrated with specimen schedules for making up the returns with uniformity. The matter and forms do not differ materially from those used in the seventh census. They have already gone to the Pacific coast, and will be in the hands of all marshals and their thousands of assistants in time for them to prepare and commence their labors on the 1st of June. The superintendent expects complete returns previous to October. The census takers are cautioned against communicating results to individuals for private purposes, or to the press for publication.

The Rifle Corps of England.

Throughout the whole of England, as if by magic, the volunteer rifle movement has sprung up, and hundreds of thousands of holiday soldiers have been made, the whole plan having received the sanction and patronage of royalty, the nobility and the regular army. The organization is very much like that of our volunteer companies in America, but too much under the control of the regular army officers to act with any degree of independence, in case they are needed. During the summer, the Queen intends reviewing a hundred thousand or so of these fair-weather soldiers, in Hyde Park, which will be a sight we'l worth seeing.

Mysterious Outrage.

The Martinsburg, Va., Republican relates that on Tuesday night of last week, a respectable lady of that city, upon going into the yard attached to her residence, was seized by two unknown men who instantly covered her mouth with a handkerchief, carried her to the creek and throwing her in it, left her to drown. She managed to escape and reached her home in a state of utter prostration, about 10 o'clock. The Mayor has offered a reward of $300 for the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

A Maryland Invention.

The Frederick (Md.) papers speak in high terms of a machine for printing addresses upon newspapers, invented by Messrs. Noah and Edward Bowlus, of Middletown, Frederick county. The machine is said to be capable of printing five or six thousand addresses per hour.

☞ A family by the name of Story, consisting of twelve members, recently stole from a miller in the vicinity of Fayetteville, Brown county, Ohio, a barrel of flour which had been poisoned for the purpose of killing rats, and eating a portion of its contents, the succeeding day, were poisoned so badly that three of the number died.

OH! NEVER FLIRT, GIRLS!

Oh! never, never flirt, girls!
Don't play with human hearts!
You say you meant in fun, girls,
To wound with Cupid's darts,
But they are cruel wounds, girls,
Wounds that for life may hurt;
Then heed a wise old counsellor—
Don't flirt, my girls, don't flirt!

You say that men are hardy, girls,
And really never feel;
But many an old bachelor
His secret could reveal,
And tell of happy days gone by,
Of false girls, feelings hurt—
As I now condemn all womankind;
Don't flirt, then girls, don't flirt.

There is no real pleasure, girls
In striving to excel
In such an art as flirting, girls;
Though you may do it well;
Then if you love, love truly, girls;
But love not to your hurt;
Choose wisely, well, and sensibly;
But, girls, oh! never flirt!

A Difficult Question Answered.

Can any reader of Life Illustrated tell why, when Eve was manufactured from one of Adam's ribs, a hired girl wasn't made at the same time to wait on her?

We can, easy! Because Adam never came whining to Eve with a ragged stocking to be darned, a collar string to be sewed on, or a glove to be mended right away, quick now!! Because he never read the newspaper until the sun got down behind the palm tree, and stretched himself, yawning out, 'Ain't supper most ready, my dear?' Not he. He made the fire and hung over the teakettle himself, we'll venture, and pulled the radishes, and peeled the bananas, and did everything else that he ought to. He milked the cows, and fed the chickens, and looked after the pigs himself. He never brought home a half a dozen friends to dinner, when Eve hadn't any fresh pomegranates, and the mango season was over. He never stayed out until eleven o'clock to a 'ward meeting,' hurrahing for the out and out-candidate, and then scolded because poor dear Eve was sitting up and crying inside the gate. To be sure he acted very cowardly about apple gathering time, but then that don't depreciate his general helpfulness about the garden! He never played billiards, nor drove fast horses, nor choked Eve with cigar smoke. He never loafed around corner groceries while solitary Eve was rocking little Cain's cradle at home.—In short, he didn't think she was especially created for the purpose of waiting on him, and wasn't under the impression that it disgraced a man to lighten his wife's cares a little.

That's the reason that Eve did not need a hired girl, and we wish it was the reason that none of her fair descendants did!

What a Printer Must Be

Punch says: How nice this is being a printer! A public servant, and withal a servant of the devil. A good natured fellow—must always smile—bow to every body—must be killing polite on all occasions, especially to the ladies—must always be a regular duck of a man, always witty, and dignified; must never do anything that would not accord with the strictest propriety of the most precise old maid, and must always be correct in everything he does; he is always expected to know the latest news, is styled "muggins" if he is not always posted; must please everybody, and is supposed never to need the one thing needful; must trust everybody, and is thought a great bore if he presents his bill; must be a ladder for all political aspirants to step into office, who very soon become independent, don't owe him anything, consider the printer at best a sorry dog, who cannot expect any better treatment than kicks and cuffs, and finally summing it up, he is expected to be a man without a model and without a shadow.

☞ "Breaches of faith!" screamed Mrs. Partington, as she heard that term applied to Mexican violations of an armistice. "Well, I wonder what they will have next. I have heard tell of cloaks of hypocrisy, and robes of purity, but I never heard of breeches of faith before. I hope they're made of something that won't change and wear out, as old Deacon Gungin's faith did, for his was always changing. He went from believing that nobody would be, and at last turned out a phrenologee, and didn't believe in nothing! I wonder if it's strong as casmere?' And she bit off her thread and prepared a new needle full.

☞ An Irishman had been sick a long time, and while in that state would occasionally cease breathing, and life be apparently extinct for some time, when he would come to again. On one of these occasions when he had just awakened from his sleep, his friend Patrick asked him,—"And how'll we know, Jemmy, when yer dead? yer after waking up every time." "Bring me a glass o' whiskey, and say here's till ye, Jemmy, and if I don't rise an' drink, then bury me."

☞ A worthy citizen of Kentucky, sitting for the first time, at the great dinner-table of the Astor House Hotel, in this city, took up the bill-of-fare.—His eyes caught up the names of its, to him, unknown dishes: Soupe a la flamanue, Soupe a la Creci, Laugue de Bœuff, piquee, Pieds de Couchan a la Ste. Monehould, etc. It was too much for his simple heart. Laying down the scarlet bound volume in disgust, he cried to the waiter: "I guess I shall go back to first principles. Give us some beans and bacon."

He Oughn't to Have Allowed it.

At Memphis, Tenn., a few days since the Recorder fined a termegant woman $10 for whipping her husband, and $5 for permitting himself to be whipped.

The Old Crow Wouldn't Lay

Being a short time since at an evening party, or "sociable," I witnessed an occurrence which convulsed the whole company with laughter.

In playing a game of forfeits, a green, gawky young man was judged "to make a crow's nest" with a certain lady, and put some eggs in it. Greeny protested he didn't know how.

"I will show you," says the jude.—"Just step this way and kneel down in front of this chair. Now, miss, kneel on the opposite side. And you (addressing greeny) must kiss the lady seven times through the back of the chair."

According to instructions, he knelt down, and made a desperate lunge at the lady's face through the chair back, but was doomed to defeat by the lady moving quickly aside. But he was determined not to be foiled in this manner, and tried repeatedly to reach the lady's face with his lips, which were protruded to their utmost capacity; but as she constantly evaded him, he became discouraged at last, and got up, and was making tracks to his seat, when the judge interrupted him with:

"You did not pay your forfeit, sir.—I told you to put seven eggs in the nest, and you have not put in one."

"I—I tried to," he stammered; "but—but the old crow wouldn't lay!"

Heavy Transport of Silver

Thirty kegs of silver, (a government transfer,) en route to New York from New Orleans, passed through Alexandria, on Friday, in charge of the Adams Express Company. It came through by the new route, in three days. In New York, taxation is at the rate of three mills and three-fourths on the dollar. In Virginia the tax is four mills.

☞ Not long since the remains of a human head, of an enormous size, were found in a load of Peruvian guano, at Petersburg, Va. Last week in a load of guano received at Norfolk, there were found the vertebra of a human being, which was about twice the size of that portion of the human frame to be found in those now living. This would seem to be proof that at some anterior time there existed in Peru a race of giants. Various bones have also been found of great size, all of which have been pronounced human.

☞ A few years ago, a young man in Cincinnati, by the name of Baldwin, was splitting wood, when the handle becoming loose in the axe, he took a stick to drive in a wedge, and accidentally ran a splinter into the fleshy part of his hand. The wound healed over without festering, and the splinter remained. It is about three-eighths of an inch in length, can be felt plainly, and causes no pain.

☞ On the 9th ult., Mr. David Brumley, Sen., of Greenville, Tenn., was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Mary Ann Davis, living somewhere in the same vicinity. The bridegroom was 73 years of age, the blushing bride was 15. Thus "Winter oftimes lingers in the lap of May." It would be safe to bet that Mr. David Brumley, Sen., is worth a good sum in bank.

☞ A woman—a married woman—who permits herself to find fault with her condition in life, and allows herself to be chagrined or feel emotion of envy toward those who are peculiarly better situated than herself, has already taken the first false step that may lead her on to ruin, and disgrace, coupled with degradation. Envy and pride go hand in hand.

☞ A traveler writes: "We started from a little town in the vicinity of Holstine. I would not undertake to spell or pronounce the name; but if you will take Tzschaken and Kionoged, and mix them up with Ompompanshe, Scotch snuff and Passamaquoddy, and pronounce the whole backward with a sneeze, you will then get within about six miles of it."

A loafer who had got his New Year's load on "fetched up" against the side of a house which had been newly painted. Shoving himself clear by a vigorous effort, he took one glimpse at his shoulder another at the house, a third at his hands, and exclaimed: "Well, that's a mighty careless trick in whoever painted that house, to leave it standing out all night for people to run against!"

An Ohio Mystery.—On Friday last, Mr. James Eaton, of Rockport, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, while ploughing on his farm, turned up three human skeletons which lay close together, and only about a foot beneath the surface. About a year ago Mr. E. ploughed up a skeleton near the same place.

A burden train of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad ran off the track, it is reported in the Shepherdstown "Register," at Flagg's Mills, a short distance east of Martinsburg, on the 17th ult., injuring several persons slightly, and killing 150 sheep and a number of hogs, belonging to Mr. Flagg.

☞ "Mother," said a little urchin the other day, "if a man is a Mister, ain't a woman a Mystery?" The mother plied her needle furiously, while the father laid down his paper and sarcastically replied, "your mother is one, my child."

☞ The Duchess of Leeds, one of the grand-daughters of Charles Carroll, recently sent the Pope $5000 to help him out of his difficulties with the people.

Gen. Cass has conveyed to the city of Detroit a lot of land valued at fifteen thousand dollars for a "Union Schoolhouse."

☞ Noble Towner, the American Consul, at Barbadoes, died at that place last month.

Willoughby's Patent

GUM SPRING & GUM FEEDER

DRILL.

MANUFACTURED BY

E. WAGONER.

The Best Drill ever heard of!

IT Sows all kinds of Grain perfect, from one peck to four bushels without choaking the Machine. The quantity can be changed when in motion, by a slide. It will sow Wheat, Buckwheat, Rye, Oats, and Barley without choaking by white caps, wheat heads or straws. This Drill feeds by two vulcanized rubber cylinders revolving together. The spring drag bar is very useful in rough land, stumpy or rocky. It will pass over any thing not over fifteen inches high without breaking of pins or anything else. The hoe will pass over, and fill in its proper place. I also build them with Guano or other fertilizer sowers attached, which all farmers who use any of those manures ought to have, as they will save one half of the manure and have more grain, as it sows direct with the grain. This attachment is warranted to sow correct without choaking or clogging, and will sow from fifty pounds to any number of pounds that is wanted to be sown by a Drill.

Anyone wanting an Attachment of this Fertilizer Sower put on their Drills, will please be as early as possible, as I have a great deal of this kind of work to do.

For further particulars, address E. WAGONER, Westminster, Carroll County, Md.

☞ All kinds of work done as heretofore.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN STEREOSCOPIC EMPORIUM.

E. ANTHONY,

308 Broadway, New York,

After May 1st, 1860, at 501 BROADWAY, two doors from the St. Nicholas Hotel.

The Stereoscope is the most instructive, interesting, entertaining, amusing, and exciting of modern inventions.

None are too young, none too old, none too intelligent, none too uneducated, to acknowledge its worth and beauty.

No home is complete without it, and it must and will penetrate everywhere.

It presents to your view every part of the world, in all the relief, boldness, perspective, and sharpness of detail, as if you were on the spot.

Photographers are everywhere exploring Europe, Asia, Africa, America, in search of the grand and the beautiful, and the results of their skill are constantly enriching our stock.

We have an immense variety of paper Views of Science in Paris, London, England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Spain, The Rhine, Versailles, St Cloud, Fontainebleau, Tuilleries, Italy, Turkey, Egypt, Athens, the Holy Land, China, India, Crystal Palace, also Groups Historical, amusing, marriage scenes, breakfast scenes, pic nics, statuary, &c., &c. An exquisite assortment of Illuminated Interiors of Palaces, Churches, and Cathedrals of France, Italy &c., &c. The effect of these illuminated views is most remarkable.

Every gentleman of wealth and refined taste should have in his drawing room some of our exquisite views on glass, with a revolving stereoscope, showing 12, 25, 50 or 100 scenes. Nothing can be more fascinating, and one can offer no greater treat to a friend fond of the picturesque and the beautiful.

Anthony's Instantaneous Stereoscope Views are the latest Photographic wonder. They are taken in the fortieth part of a second, and everything no matter how rapidly it may be moving, is depicted as sharply and distinctly as if it had been perfectly at rest. This gives an additional value, for to the beauties of inanimate nature it adds also the charm of life and motion. The process is a discovery of our own, and being unknown in Europe, we receive from London and Paris large orders for Anthony's Instantaneous Views of American life and scenery.

Among other things we have just published Stereoscopic Illustrations of the Scene of the FULTON STREET PRAYER MEETINGS, in which many hearts feel an interest. The particulars of this will be found in our catalogue.

OUR CATALOGUE of subjects and prices will be forwarded to any address on receipt of a stamp.

Parties at a distance sending us $3, $5, $10, $15, $20, or $25 can have a good instrument and such pictures as they may request, sent by Express.

Views alone, (without instrument) can be sent by mail.

Parties who wish to be advised of everything really valuable in the line that comes out, may send us their names to place on record, and we will keep them posted at our own expense.

Men of leisure will find Photography a most fascinating and delightful amusement. We are prepared to fit out amateurs with everything necessary for their success together with instructions "How to take Stereoscopic Pictures." E. ANTHONY,

Importer and Manufacturer of Photographic Materials, Stereoscopes and Stereoscopic Views.

☞ Merchants from every section of the country are respectfully invited to make an examination of our stock, as our discount to the trade will be liberal.

TO PHOTOGRAPHERS.—First class stereoscopic Negatives wanted. Jan. 20.—4m.
