THE KAISER'S DREAM.

There's a rumor now current' tho' strange it may seem;
Of the German Emperor's wonderful dream
Being tired of war' he lay down in bed,
And 'mongst other things, drempt that he was dead.

And in a deep coffin, lying in state,
With his cold, waxen features frozen with hate,
He wasn't long dead when he found to his cost,
That his map of the next world and passports were lost.

So, leaving this earth to Heaven went straight,
Jauntily strutting right up to the gate,
But the lookout angel, in voice strong and clear,
Said, begone Kaiser Wilhelm, we don't want you here.

Well! thought Wilhelm, that's very uncivil,
Does he mean that I must go straight to the Devil?
So he turned on his heel, and off he did go,
Running full speed to the regions below.

But when he got there he was filled with dismay,
For whilst waiting outside, he heard Satan say,
To his imps, now look here, boys, I give you all warning,
I'm expecting the Kaiser down here this morning.

But don't let him in, for to me it is clear,
We'rt far too good for the mongrel down here.
If he gets in, there'll be the dickins to pay,
For, bad as I am, he's much worse any day.

Oh, Satan, dear friend, the Emperor cried;
Excuse me for listening, whilst waiting outside;
If you don't let me in, then where can I go?
"Indeed," said the Devil, "I really don't know."

Oh, do let me in, I'm feeling quite cold,
If money you want, I've plenty of gold,
Just give me a corner, no matter how hot,
"No," said the Devil, "most certainly not."

We don't let apartments for richest or pelf,
Here's some sulphur and matches, make a hell for yourself.
Then he kicked Wilhelm out and vanished in smoke,
And just at that moment the Kaiser awoke.

He jumped out of bed in a shivering sweat,
And cried, Gott, that dream I shall never forget;
That I won't go to Heaven, I know very well,
But it's awful tough luck to b... kicked out of hell.
