POETRY.

For the Sentinel.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

The glorious fourth was ushered in,
Amid the sounds of martial din;
While village maidens gaily sung,
As hope within their bosoms sprung.
The boys that once played on the street,
Now hasten to some cool retreat:
And men their major cares neglect,
To pay a tribute of respect.
Farmers who toiled 'neath many a sun,
Now sit as though their work is done;
They talk not now of wealth or store,
But battle fields, and blood, and gore;
Of Bunker Hill and Brandywine,
Won to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."
Tho' many sun have rose and set,
Since freedom's boon was dear to man;
Let countless thousands still 'rise yet,
Ere it be bought with blood again.
Where are the heroes of that day,
'Tis whispered they have passed away?
They knew no South, they knew no North,
They knew no East, nor any West,
But freely gave up all their worth,
And boldly through the phalanx pressed.
Then bow ye pines, obedient be,
Ye winds that whistle o'er the lea;
Ye monsters of the mighty deep,
Some token of their memory keep.
Ye birds that flutter on the breeze,
And warble sweetly 'mong the trees;
Be quick to tune your sweetest lay,
And sing to this most welcome day.
Ye mountains high, ye rugged steeps,
Where many a soldier's spirit sleeps;
Ye vales, the theme of Poet's dreams,
Why ceased to flow your crimson streams?
The battle's o'er, our freedom's won,
Peace now reigns beneath our sun;
No more shall we to battles go,
For crimson streams have ceased to flow:
Loud sounds the peals of cannon's far,
But martialed not for death and war;
Men, too, are hurrying to and fro,
But not as when on "Linden low."
In future days that yet may come,
While peace and plenty crowd your home;
Be ye not loath, or disobey,
To cherish this most welcome day.

Sykesville, July 4, 1860. PRESCOT.

Enigma.

I am composed of 20 letters:

My 18, 6, 20, 3, 15, is a city east of Mecca;
My 5, 13, 7, 6, 17, 3, 4, 3, is a Territory;
My 19, 10, 8, 7, 11, is the name of a Lord that was one of the Generals in the operations against the French, West Indies.

My whole is a Military Company in Maryland. S. S.

Military.

His Excellency, Gov. Hicks, has commissioned Wm Stokes, as Aid de Camp; Chas. W. Ross, Aid de Camp; Ulysses Hobbs, Inspector; John E. Sifford, Quartermaster; and Dr. John Goldsborough, Surgeon—the Staff of the Fourth Division Maryland Militia. The lines of the Fourth Division extend "from the Fairfax Stone to North Point," a distance of three hundred miles, embracing Allegany, Washington, and parts of Frederick, Carroll and Baltimore counties; within which limits there are 3 brigades, 5 regiments of Cavalry, and 16 regiments of Infantry, the whole under the command of Major Gen. Anthony Kimmel.

Sunday Amusements in San Francisco

An advertisement in a San Francisco paper, for a Sunday performance at the Volk's Garden, announces that the festivities will commence at two P. M., and at four the ball will begin, to last "until next morning." Among the list of "festivities" are a concert, cock-fighting, target-shooting, Indian shooting, (announced as a new game,) a bag race, and gymnastics and various games for children. The company also is to be gladdened in the evening with an extensive display of fireworks, and an illumination of the gardens. All this is to be enjoyed for the moderate sum of fifty cents.

Virginia.

It is a fixed fact. For the first time, the Opposition in Virginia can see plainly the dawn of success. Our friends there are filled with confidence and assurance of success. One of our cotemporaries there says: "There are about forty thousand Democrats in the State of Virginia—on the fence—at sea—in the woods—wild, or whatever else you please to term the 'condition' of not being able to discern the National Democratic party from the Democratic National party." In the meantime let our friends there become thoroughly organized and these forty thousand will look for nationality only in the Union party.

Methodism on the Eastern Shore.

At a meeting of the official and other members of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Kent county, held at Chestertown, Md., on the 26th, the action of the late General Conference and the sentiments of the new chapter introduced by that body into the discipline, relating to the subject of slavery, was promptly and unanimously repudiated and declared to be of such a character that the meeting would not submit to it. An Eastern Shore Methodist Convention was recommended to be held on the 24th.

Our Regular Army.

The total strength of the United States army on the 1st of July was as follows: 16,667—apportioned thus—two regiments of cavalry, 10 companies each; two of dragoons, 10 companies each; one regiment of mounted riflemen, 10 companies; four regiments of artillery, 12 companies each, and ten regiments of infantry, 10 companies each; beside 180 cavalry dragoons, 214 artillery, 360 infantry, and 330 other officers, averaging one officer to every 13 men.

Sam Houston for Bell and Everett

We have received information, says the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, coming direct from a friend in Texas, that the hero of San Jacinto has declared for the only National ticket, Bell and Everett.

How Congress Elects the President and Vice President.

It may be useful just about this time to reproduce the statement which the approach of a presidential election makes opportune every four years,

The House of Representatives has nothing whatever to do with the election of a vice president, nor the Senate with election of a President. The powers of each body are distinct and entirely independent of the other.

If no President be chosen by the electors, the House of Representatives may choose the President, their choice being restricted to the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three on the list of those voted for the President.

If no Vice-President be chosen by the electors, the Senate shall choose a Vice-President from the two highest numbers on the list of those voted for Vice-President.

If the House fails to elect a President before the 4th of March next following, then the Vice President, whether elected by the electors or by the Senate, shall act as President.

The rule or manner of voting under which the Senate chooses a Vice President is exactly the reverse of that of the House in choosing a President—each being the reverse of the general principle or basis upon which the respective bodies are organized. The House, representing the people, and ordinarily voting per capita, vote for President by the States, the representation from each State having one vote, and a majority of all the States being necessary to a choice. The Senate representing the States—in theory, at least, and the manner of electing Senators—votes for President per capita, each Senator being entitled to a vote, and a majority of all the Senators being necessary to a choice.

Organize!

The Constitutional Union ticket is the only National ticket now in the field.—Let Bell and Everett clubs be formed in every State, county, township, village and neighborhood in the country. The way is clear. To the work. If the conservative men of the country rally to the support of the Constitutional Union ticket, the election of Lincoln will be prevented; but if the opposition is left to the Democratic party, in its present state of disorganization, the Black Republican candidate will walk triumphantly into the White House next March.—If you want to prevent it, vote for Bell and Everett.

The Prince Coming.

The Persia brings intelligence that the Prince of Wales would leave England on the 11th inst. for Canada, in the St. George screw ship, twenty guns, attended by the Earl of St. Germains, the Lord Steward of the Queen's household, and a large retinue. It is now understood that he will extend his travels far West, and employ perhaps two months in making the proposed tour. In this case, he cannot well avoid American territory but as yet the United States Government has received no official intimation of an intended visit.

Treaty Between China and the United States.

Mr. S. W. Williams, Secretary of Legation to China has arrived at Washington, bearing the treaty between China and the United States ratified in due form, and an autograph letter from the Emperor to the President. Thus, while France and England are preparing for war upon China, our interests in that quarter are steadily advanced by peaceful means.

The Cattle Disease.

In the proceedings of the executive committee of the Maryland State Agricultural Society, Mr. Merryman, the President, called the attention of the committee to the subject and a resolution was adopted advisory to the farmers and planters of the State, against the introduction of cattle from any State where the disease may have made its appearance, and also forbidding the reception at our annual exhibition of stock from such States.

The Wheat Harvest.

Western papers have frequent notices of the progress of the wheat harvest, in which farmers are now actively engaged, in the southern parts of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The yield everywhere is spoken of as very abundant—the best that has been realized for several years. Corn is represented as looking very promising, except that in some places drought has retarded its growth

Hotel Profits During Convention Time.

During the conventions at Baltimore, the hotels—Barnum's, the Gilmor, the Eutaw, the Maltby, the Fountain, and in fact all others—did quite a profitable business. Barnum took over $35,000 gross receipts; the Eutaw, probably $20,000; the Gilmor and Guy's about $15,000; others in proportion. It is supposed the Convention left half a million of dollars in Baltimore.

Death of the Jackson Democratic Association.

The Jackson Democratic Association at Washington, which, for twenty years, has exercised a controlling influence over the fortunes of the locofoco party, was totally disrupted on Tuesday night by disagreements on the Presidential question. In point of fact it ended its existence in a grand democratic row.

The Old Gentlemen's Party.

Some of the Democratic papers are fond of calling the Conservative Union party "the old gentlemen's party." If the Democratic party is an old gentlemen's party or a young gentlemen's party, or any sort of gentlemen's party, it was most scandalously misrepresented at Baltimore.

Giving up all Hope.

The New York Herald, one of the main pillars of the Democratic party for the last three years, has given up all hope of the election of a Democratic President. In a late issue it uses the following language, viz:

The Democratic party is destroyed. There is not the remotest visible ghost of a contingency for the reunion of the belligerent elements of this revolutionary convention. The moral consequence of what they have already done render it superfluous to speculate upon what they may do to-day or to-morrow. Assuming that those fighting factions, cliques and sections may still agree to bury the hatchet, and unite upon a compromise ticket, it will avail them nothing. The party is broken to pieces, and, with one, two or three tickets, it must be superseded. It is too badly cut up, too seriously crippled, and has too many bones broken, to be healed and put upon its legs again in a single day or a single year. It is practically dissolved and disbanded, whatever may be the remedies attempted by this Convention. In brief, the National Convention of the Democratic party having become degraded to the base condition of Tammany Hall in its worst days of ruffianism, is only suffering the fate of Tammany Hall—discords, divisions, rebellion, defeat and disgrace.

☞ The friends of the Union, and of Bell and Everett, have every reason to be encouraged. The doubts and hesitation which lowered around the Union movement, at its initiation have all been dissipated. The "no chance" cry with which its first appearance in the political arena was greeted by Democrats and Republicans has been changed into a reluctant acknowledgement of its vitality, its enthusiasm and its rapid progress towards success. From being the "third party" it has suddenly risen to the importance of the only party manifesting any ability to cope with Republicanism, and beat back the threatening waves of sectional fanaticism.

Everywhere, hosts are gathering to its standard. The incurable dissentions and divisions in the Democratic party, have insured to Bell and Everett nearly all of the Southern States. Even Virginia, the old and hitherto impregnable Gibraltar of Democracy, is now acknowledged by the most sapient leaders of both the Democratic factions to be certain for Bell and Everett. It is evident beyond any shadow of doubt now that Maryland will not stand alone in upholding the Union party standard.—She will have with her and by her side at least nine others of the largest and most populous of the Southern States.

☞ The session of Congress closed on Monday week. It occupied a period of 203 days. Two deaths only occurred during the session, out of 303 members, and both of the House of Representatives. The general exemption of members from disease, remarks the National Intelligencer, notwithstanding their confinement within heated chambers for many hours in each day, indicates a very healthy condition of the National Metropolis. We agree with our venerable cotemporary, as to its physical health; but as to its moral health, there is but one opinion among us out-siders, that there has been a great deal of "looseness" in the observance of at least some of the commandments of the decalogue. We will not go into a full statement as to all—though no doubt many of them are broken; but will allude merely to a Governmental action in defiance of the Eighth Commandment, allowing or rather encouraging its minions and satellites to violate that part of the Decalogue.

☞ By the overland mail we have San Francisco dates to the 19th ult. The result of the Oregon election was still in doubt. The Anti-Lecompton Democrats and the Republicans have a majority of the Legislature, which is to elect United States Senators to succeed Gen. Joseph Lane, whose term expires in 1861, and Hon. Delazon Smith, appointed by the Governor to fill a vacancy.

☞ The Maryland Union, a democratic paper at Frederick, is divided in its household. One of its editors, Bradley T. Johnson, who was a delegate to the national convention, and is chairman of the Maryland democratic State central committee, supports Breckinridge for the Presidency, while Mr. Charles Cole, the junior editor, advocates the election of Judge Douglas. Arrangements are therefore contemplated for one or the other party to acquire the sole ownership and the paper take position accordingly.

☞ The Democratic party shows a front different from any it has heretofore presented at the outset of a presidential campaign. It has been the custom of that party to go into battle with a defiant charge ringing from its trumpets and with its banners proudly and defiantly displayed. Now, all that is changed; and instead we see it marching to the field, with muffled drums—colors trailing—by the left flank—in great disorder—to the melancholy wail of the dead march."

☞ The Democratic party, once so powerful and so respectable, once so strongly intrenched in the popular favor, is now broken into fragments. It deserves its fate, for if it has become degenerate, has denied the principles which once made its strength, has renounced all that was good and noble in its purposes, and to be weak, and despised, and the prey of intestine discords, is the proper conclusion of a career which has become so disgraceful.

☞ The Pike's Peak express arrived at St. Joseph on the 8th, with $15,000 in dust. The Indian depredations upon straggling parties had become so frequent that a resolution was proposed at a meeting of citizens to drive the Indians from the country if they did not leave in three days.

☞ Col. Wm. P. Maulsby addressed a large Douglas meeting at Baltimore on Monday night week.

☞ Senator Douglas is rusticating at Newport.

☞ Our foreign files to the 23rd ult., received by the steamer Persia, arrived at New York on Tuesday, furnish some interesting foreign intelligence. The news from Sicily continues encouraging. Garibaldi was organizing his forces, and it was believed preparing for an attack upon the mainland. One of the two vessels captured by the Neapolitan cruiser with Garibaldi emigrants on board is reported as the Charles and Jane, of Baltimore. The Baden Conference is regarded as having eventuated in the postponement of Napoleon's schemes for the extension of the French empire toward the Rhine. The weather in Great Britain continued unfavorable to the crops, and a short harvest was in prospect.

☞ By the steamship Fulton, spoken off Cape Race, we have additional advices to 27th ult. The death of Prince Jerome Bonaparte is announced. Jerome Bonaparte was fifteen years younger than Napoleon. He entered the navy when his elder brother assumed the Consulship. It was while in the navy and when cruising in American waters that he first met Miss Elizabeth Patterson, of Baltimore. They were married on Christmas eve, in the year 1803. In 1805 they crossed the Atlantic, but did not enter France, for orders had been given not to admit the lady.—Soon after arriving in Europe their first child, the present Mr. Jerome Bonaparte, of Baltimore, was born.

☞ A Curious Incident is mentioned by the Cattaragus (New York) Republican, in which a child narrowly escaped being buried alive. The child, as it was supposed, died on Sunday, and on Monday preparations were made for its burial.—On Monday afternoon the funeral was held, and the body of the child, accompanied by a large number of friends was conveyed to the grave. As the dirt began to fall on the coffin a feeble cry was heard. The coffin was instantly raised and opened, and a shriek of "mother!" burst from the lips of the resuscitated child. It is useless to attempt a description of the scene that followed. The child is in a fair way to recover.

☞ There are now six Presidential candidates in the field, to wit:—John Bell, the Union candidate; Abraham Lincoln, the Black Republican candidate; Stephen Arnold Douglas, the Regular Democratic candidate; John C. Breckinridge, the Southern Intervention Democratic candidate; Sam Houston, the Texan Democratic candidate; and Gerritt Smith, the Abolition candidate. Electoral tickets favoring the four first named, are expected to be run in Maryland.

☞ The Democracy of Ohio, in State Convention on Thursday, after nominating a State ticket, passed resolutions endorsing Douglas and Johnson, when some fifty Breckinridge men withdrew, and measures were adopted for another Convention. A Breckinridge and Lane ratification meeting was held at St. Louis on Tuesday evening, at which the regular nominees of the party for Governor and Lieut. Governor were repudiated on account of their Douglas proclivities, and new nominations made.

☞ By the arrival of the steamship Palestine we have one day later European advices. The King of Naples had accepted the liberal Constitution, granting to enrol forces, and his march upon Naples was considered the next probable move in the work of freedom. The Prince of Wales has accepted an invitation from President Buchanan to visit Washington. He is expected to arrive at Montreal about the 23d of August.

☞ The Douglas "National Democratic Executive Committee," at Washington has put forth a circular repudiating and reprobating the suggestion of running joint electoral tickets with the Breckinridge or any other party.

A sporting man named Charles Clark, was arrested in Syracuse on Thursday, charged with stealing the clothes of the wife of Mr. Sturges, of Weedsport.—Mrs. Sturges was in the clothes when stolen.

☞ A "Yankee" colporteur was burned to death at Buchanan, Texas, a few weeks since, because among his Bibles and standard religious works were found a few copies of "Helper's Impending Crisis."

Mrs. Partington told Bonus the other day in confidence, that a young man had committed infanticide by blowing his brains up in a state of delirous tremendous, and the coroner was holding a conquest over his remnants.

The Washington Constitution says there have not been many Bell and Everett ratification meetings. There will be a grand one all over the Union the first Monday in November.

The gentlemen employed in taking the census find a great many young ladies aged sixteen or seventeen years. In one family in Vermont there were twelve girls between ten and sixteen years of age.

☞ Ex-president John Tyler has written no letter declaring his preference for the presidency, as has been stated. Hixson, John Tyler, Jr. did so, in favor of Breckinridge.

☞ Senator Crittenden, of Kentucky instead of having declared for Breckenridge, it is stated, is zealously engaged in advocating the cause of Bell and Everett.

It is said that Napoleon will not recognize the annexation of Sicily to Piedmont.

Why is a greedy boy like a grub-worm? Because he makes the butter fly. (Butter-fly.)

The Best Drill ever heard of!

IT Sows all kinds of Grain perfectly from one peck to four bushels without changing the Machine. The quantity can be changed when in motion, by a slide. It will sow Wheat, Buckwheat, Rye, Oats and Barley without clogging by wheat caps, chaff heads or straws. This Drill feeds by two ratchet wheel cylinders revolving together. The spring drag bar is very useful in rough land, stumpy or rocky. It will pass over any thing not over fifteen inches high, without breaking or injuring anything else. The hoe will pass over and fall in its proper place. I also build them with Guano or other fertilizer attachment, which all farmers who use any of these manures ought to have, as they will save one half of the manure and have it in grain, as it should be with the grain. This attachment is warranted to sow correctly with no clinking or clogging and will save from fifty cents to any number of pounds that is wanted to be sown by a Drill.

Persons wanting an Attachment of this Fertilizer Sower put on their Drills, will please be ready early in spring, as I have a great deal of this kind of work to do.

For further particulars, address E. WAGONER, Westminster, Carroll County, Md.

☞ All kinds of work done as heretofore.
