BEAUTIFUL PATRIOTIC SERVICE HELD IN THE M. E. CHURCH

Edifice Thronged With People To See Flag Unfurled To Young Men Called To The Colors

Chestertown M. E. Church was thronged on Sunday evening to witness one of the most beautiful services held in that edifice for many years, when the war service flag of the church was unfurled.

The music throughout the service, under the direction of Mr. T. Kemp Bordley, was impressive and beautiful, while his violin solo, "The Marseillaise"—the national anthem of the French Republic—was appropriate as well as nicely rendered. "The Star Spangled Banner" and other American patriotic airs, and "God Save The King," the national anthem of England, were sung.

In a speech that told of the horrors and brutality of the Germans, Rev. C. H. Frick, chaplain of the U S. Army at Camp Meade, presented the flag to the church. Miss Grace Newnam, one of Kent county's most attractive young ladies, unfurled the flag, while Dr. T. F. Beauchamp, pastor of the church, in a short but appropriate address, received the flag on behalf of the church.

There are twenty-eight stars on the flag, which are represented by the following young men:

Corporal Robert A. Ayres, Anniston.

Corporal Colin F. Duyer, Anniston.

Fred, Ford, Anniston.

Loice M. Rust, Anniston.

"OVER THERE" FEATURES INSPIRINGLY PATRIOTIC

Widely Educational In Scope, And Unlike Any Other Exhibit.

Focusses Country's Attention.

Famous speakers, demonstrations of various phases of war work, by the Young Men's Christian Association, American Red Cross, Food and Fuel Administrations, Young Women's Christian Association, Vocational Training experts, Army and Navy, Munitions Manufacturers, and other, thrilling motion pictures depicting war scenes, plenty of excellent music by noted bands, and soloists, distinguished visitors—these are just a few of the numerous striking features of "Over There," the great Liberty Loan Cantonment which opened at the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore on Saturday for a run of several weeks.

Nothing quite equal to the Cantonment has ever been "put across" in any other part of the country. So stupendous and spectacular is this war exposition that the attention of the entire country has been attracted. Inquiries from other States have been made regarding it and plans for the show have been sent by the Treasury Department to every Federal Reserve Bank in the country.

It is felt that Baltimore has achieved something that will give impetus to the third Liberty Loan drive, which is to be launched on April 6, something, in fact, that will undoubtedly push Uncle Sam's third financial effort far along the road to success.

The tremendous crowds which flocked to the Armory on Saturday, its opening day, witnessed a spectacle that thrilled them through and through. The visualization of the war was not an easy task, but so excellently and realistically has this been done that many visitors to the great show upon entering the Armory stood spell bound at the marvellous reproduction of "Over There," where stretched before them. The minute a person leaves the 15-cent stub of his 40-cent ticket in the hands of the door-keeper, it is just like actually being transported overseas.

To the right lies the battlefield with its front line trenches. Through the trenches Canadian soldiers, but recently returned from France, guide visitors who otherwise would be lost in them. As visitors are taken through the trenches, the Canadians explain the various guns which are placed in the same positions they occupy in the front line trenches in France and show how they are fired into the enemy's lines which sometimes are but a few yards distant. They also show the communicating trenches, the "dug-outs" banked with sand bags, into which the "boys" crawl when the bombardment is particularly heavy, the gun pits, sentry boxes, listening posts, parapets, fire step, all phases of trench warfare, in fact, are realistically depicted and made all the more real by the explanations of the battle-scarred Canadian soldiers who talk with knowledge gained at first hand. Directly in back of the battlefield is a huge painting of No Man's Land which the Canadians declare to be so actual in its likeness to that blood-stained place that they instinctively shuddered when they first saw it. The trenches at the Armory measure 127 by 67 feet.

To the left of the entrance lies the base section. Here one finds the Red Cross field dressing station, where the wounded soldiers receive their first aid treatments before they are taken to the base hospital. Near this interesting section there is the Young Men's Christian Association "dug-out" where the "boys" "Over There" find their only recreation and periods of rest. In this part of the cantonment also one finds the Navy Panorama, which attracted world-wide attention when it was exhibited at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. This panorama shows the Navy from the time of its inception to the present types of battleships and colliers. The panorama is 35 feet in diameter and is kept in motion on turn tables, operated by an electric motor. Models of ships are seen in action on a cleverly painted ocean which with the aid of certain lighting device gives an illusion of the United States fleet passing in review. Even the cloud effects are noted and these add much to the general artisticness and interest of this exhibit.

At the Young Woman's Christian Association Hostess House, which is an exact replica of those now established at the Regular Army Cantonments, even to the dainty curtains in the windows and the blooming window boxes, hundreds of soldiers from Camp Meade, through previous arrangement, met their wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts and with them they enjoyed the numerous exhibits and features of the cantonment.

The idea of having some place to meet one's friends or relatives at the cantonment has also been very carefully and thoughtfully worked out by the Publicity Committee of the Liberty Loan Committee for Maryland in the establishment at the Armory of a county headquarters where visitors from the county can go upon their arrival at the cantonment and meet their friends or relatives. A sign over the entrance of the Armory will direct county visitors to their headquarters which will be in charge of representatives from each county. All one will have to do will be to tell which county he "hails" from and nine chances out of ten he will find someone there whom he knows well enough to call by first name.
