POETRY.

CAMPAIGN SONG.

AIR—"Oh, Susannah."

I had a dream the other night,
When all around was still,
I dream'd I saw poor Breckinridge
A sitting on a hill.
A corn-cob pipe was in his mouth,
A tear was in his eye;
Says he, they beat us North and south;
But Yancey, do not cry.
Oh, Fire-eaters, do not cry, said he,
Tho' we are left of hope bereft,
By BELL, or TENNESSEE.

Not far away stood Stephen A.,
I think I see him now,
With clenched fist and lips compressed,
And dark and frowning brow,
With sorrowing phiz poor Breckinridge
No sooner caught his eye,
Than hands did place upon his face,
And loud began to cry,
Oh, Lord, Stephen, don't be mad with me;
There was nothing so deceivin'
As that BELL, or TENNESSEE.

Then in the rear there did appear,
A doleful picture drawn,
With clothes neglect and hair erect,
And features woe-begone,
I'll go again to splitting rails,
Quoth he with piteous sigh;
The colored question once more falls,
So darkies, let us cry:
Oh, dear niggers, come and cry with me;
Our hopes are o'er for evermore,
With BELL or TENNESSEE.

Then by his side I there espied,
Old Buck, with phiz demure;
Friend Abe, he said, I'm much afraid,
Our cause is hopeless sure.
To Breckinridge tho' I was pledged,
All powers I did apply,
Tho' indirect, you to elect,
So, Lincoln do not cry.
Oh, fanatics, do not cry, said he;
We all have fell by OLD JOHN BELL,
That hails from Tennessee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Appalling Calamity at Pittsburg.

The boiler in the marble works of a Mr. Wallace, of Pittsburg, exploded one afternoon last week. There were one hundred men engaged in the works at the time, ten or twelve of whom it is supposed were killed and several wounded. The boiler passed through the building, reducing a part of it to a heap of ruins, and then struck the front of a clothing store on the opposite side of Liberty street, killing the proprietor, Mr. Robert Burkers, who was standing at the door. His head was nearly taken off. The boiler then passed through the rear wall of the store into Swartz's lager beer hall, which is nearly demolished; and a man named Wilpeifer, who was in the saloon, was killed. The boiler finally landed in the Presbyterian grave-yard back of the hall, having passed through four walls.—The scene at the building was terrific and heartrending. Some of the wounded hobbled out; others were removed to the pavement and left there until they could be taken away. The lower part of the building was a mass of ruins, from which ascended the groans and shrieks of the wounded and dying. At this time, too, the house was on fire, and such a scene of death and destruction has seldom been witnessed here.

Odd Fellowship in the United States

The following statistics are taken from the reports made to the U. S. Lodge of Odd Fellows, lately in session at Nashville:

The number of grand lodges in the United States 51; number of lodges in United States 3,425; number admitted during the year 17,564; number of deaths during the year 1,710; whole number of members 177,711; whole number of members who have received pecuniary relief from the Order 18,131; number of widowed families relieved 2,697; amount paid for relief $300,389 15; amount paid for relief of widowed families $61,454; amount paid for education of orphans $13,888 72; amount for burying the dead $65,227 75; amount of annual receipts $116,080 60.

Mr. Boyleston, of South Carolina, who has been elected Grand Sire for the next two years, is one of the ablest lawyers in the country, and a gentleman of high character and eminent talents.

A Windfall for Garibaldi.

An item in the foreign intelligence brought by the Adriatic states that Garibaldi found in the bank of Naples no less than eighty millions of livre. This is of more importance than it may at first seem, for it at once places in Garibaldi's hands the sinews of war in cash, amounting in our currency to about fourteen million and four hundred thousand dollars.

"Nothing to Wear."

The executors of a lady named Desmond, who died at Brompton, England, in last May, sold the extraordinary number of 1800 silk dresses, 700 velvet mantles, 200 bonnets and upwards of 100 pair of shoes, with innumerable kerchiefs and scarfs of all colors of the rainbow, which had been purchased by the deceased lady within ten years of her demise.

The Millerites.

The Millerites have just concluded their annual religious services in North Wilbraham, Mass. The sect, as was stated, now numbers 50,000 in the United States and Canadas, and representatives from nearly every State in the Union attend their annual camp meetings.

The Number Lost by the Lady Elgin.

The Milwaukie People's Press thinks that the number of passengers on board of the Lady Elgin, at the time of her loss, has been underrated. In consequence of conversations had with several of the survivors, the Press is confirmed in the belief that there were fully five hundred souls on board the ill-fated vessel, and that consequently four hundred were lost.

☞ Hon. John S. Millson in a letter assigning his reasons for supporting Douglas, says: "Mr. Breckinridge was set up to be beaten, not to be elected, and to make sure also of the defeat of any Democratic competitor."

A Fusion Ticket in Tennessee.

Efforts are making to form a union of the Douglas and Breckinridge electoral tickets in Tennessee, so as to throw the vote of the State for the candidate who can thereby be elected.

☞ An American traveller ran a large invoice of valuable cigars into England by putting them in a box, under a false bottom, with rattlesnakes on top. The custom officials did no wish to investigate.

☞ A daughter of Mrs. C. Lease, in Frederick, Md., aged 6 years, was shot dead on the 19th ultimo, by the accidental discharge of a pistol lying in an out-house.

Betting on Elections.

The new code contains the following sections, which are of interest at the present time to those disposed to bet on elections in Maryland:

Art. 35, sec. 46.—No person shall make any bet or wager on the result of any election to take place in this State.

Sec. 47.—Any person offending against the last preceding section shall be liable to indictment in the Circuit Courts if the offense be committed in any county, or in the criminal Court of Baltimore if the offense be committed in Baltimore; and on conviction shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars, to be paid to the State for the use of the school fund.

Sec. 48.—Every deposit of any money in any part of the State as a wager, or bet upon elections in this State or elsewhere, shall be forfeited and paid over to the county commissioners of the county where deposited, for the use of the county, and if deposited in the city, to the mayor and city council.

Abe to be suddenly "Cut Off," if Elected.—A correspondent of the New York Herald thus writes:

I intimated in a letter dated yesterday that Lincoln would be suddenly cut off by some Southern youth, either before or as soon after his inauguration as an opportunity would offer. That belief I strongly entertain; nor will it be changed until he shall have occupied the White House at least for a year. His immunity will not depend upon an impartial administration of the Presidency. He will have to seek it in other safeguards, such as obnoxious crowned heads are accustomed to resort to. His avowals of hostility to the South are deemed sufficient already to render him amenable to all the vengeance that could befall any public malefactor. He is assailing the dearest interests of as noble minded a people as any on earth, and he may well presume upon evil consequences as the result.

Victor Emmanuel and the Pope.

We have not had long to wait for the decision of the King of Sardinia upon the advice proffered to him by the French semi-official press. The troops of Victor Emmanuel have entered the Roman territories, and war has begun in good earnest. General Cialdini has taken Pesaro, which was already announced as being in a state of insurrection, and with the town twelve hundred Germans and Monsignor Bella have fallen into his hands. Orvieto has also surrendered This is a dashing beginning of the campaign, and a step that cannot be retracted. Sardinia has abandoned the temporizing policy which she had adopted since the armistice of Villafranca. She no longer oscillates backwards and forwards, but throws in her lot with the Italian revolution. Policy has done her work, all that negotiation, all that balancing and temporizing could effect has been effected, and there is nothing left for it but to fight it out manfully to the last.

☞ Cotton, tobacco, corn, wheat, and all that—practical, material, subjects—are brought now into the discussion about Disunion and Secession. The New Orleans Commercial Bulletin declares, that a breaking up of the Union "would not only cause the ships to rot at the levee, and bankruptcy and ruin to follow in the train of disasters, but the real estate of New Orleans would not be worth twenty-five cents on the dollar to what it now is; cotton would go down to such a figure that it would not pay to cultivate it, and the pall of general stagnation, the wings of a dreary desolation, would rest upon the land torn by internal dissensions, and drenched in civil and fraternal blood. Mexico is but a feint picture of what our condition would be upon a gigantic scale."

☞ The New York World quotes the speeches and opinions of what are called the more conservative leaders of the Republican party, and contrasts them with the doctrines avowed by the ultraists of the same party, and argues that, under the circumstances, if Mr. Lincoln should be elected, "it will be morally impossible for him to retain, for any length of time, the undivided sympathy and support of his party, as now constituted." "He cannot," adds the same journal, "at one and the same time satisfy the views of those who believe slavery agitation productive of mischief, and desire an end put to it, and of those who believe incessant agitation against slavery, for all time to come, a necessity and a duty."

Old Buck Exerting Himself for Bell.—The Postmaster at Keokuk, Mo., Col. Patterson, was removed a few days ago, not for loving Democracy less, but for loving Douglas more, and Mr. Jamieson, a Bell and Everett man, appointed in his stead. This is the first good appointment "Old Buck" has made since he became President. We presume the old fellow perceives that, after the 4th of March next, all the Postmasters will be Bell and Everett men, and that he might as well appoint a few of them himself, to lighten Mr. Bell's future labors.

Missouri Politics.

The Breckinridge State Convention of Missouri met on Friday last, and, after passing various resolutions supporting Breckinridge and Lane, one was presented instructing the electors to vote for any candidate to defeat Lincoln. The convention refused to accept the resolution, and after thoroughly revising the electoral ticket, adjourned sine die.

☞ Twenty couples were divorced at the late session of the Superior Court in New London, Conn.

☞ A writer asks if any one can inform a poor man the best way to start a little nursery? Certainly. Get married.

☞ Mrs. Sarah Green, of Lowell, Mass., committed suicide by drowning herself on Tuesday. Cause—She had been suffering severely from a headache.

JUDGE BIBB FOR BELL AND EVERETT.—Judge Bibb, of Alabama, a very influential Democrat of that State, in a letter to a friend states that he had heretofore declined to commit himself to the support of any one until he could be better informed as to the individual who might be most successful in defeating Lincoln, and adds:

"In my recent visit to several watering places in the mountains of Virginia, I had an opportunity of seeing and conversing with a number of gentlemen of intelligence, from most of the Southern States, and among them were the friends of Breckinridge, Douglas and Bell, and taking the aggregate of information thus obtained, I am satisfied that Bell and Everett stand the best chance to defeat the Black Republican Lincoln, and have determined to give them my support."

Trade with Japan.

The indications are that direct trade between Japan and America will be established. Mr. Gallaher, of New York, proposes to establish a line of clipper ships between New York and Kanagawa, Japan, where he has a house already established and doing a good business. His first vessel is to sail soon, and will carry out twenty or thirty passengers, and about a thousand tons of freight, mostly already engaged, and consisting of machinery, frame houses and assorted merchandise. He expects to bring home a quantity of Japanese seed-wheat, which is represented as of superior quality, and ripens early enough to give place to another crop, while it is less subject to smut than the wheat now cultivated here.

New York City Politics.

The republicans of New York city have nominated Judge Edmonds, the celebrated spiritualist, for recorder, and J. Sedgwick for city judge. Hon. Daniel E. Sickles declines a re-election to Congress. The republicans have nominated A. J. Williamson, proprietor of the Sunday Dispatch, and who was defeated by Mr. Sickles last year. Ex-Mayor Wm. Wall, of Williamsburg, is the republican nominee for Congress in the fifth district; A. F. Daw in the seventh district, and A. Wakeman in the eighth district.

An Insatiable Glutton.

A man named Corben appeared on Thursday at a grocery store in New York, and offered as a wager to eat four pounds of damaged ham, two loaves of bread, a pound of tallow candles, and drink two quarts of common brandy, a pint of gin and a pint of lamp oil. His offer was accepted and he won the wager, and after swallowing the aforesaid mess, wanted more.

Census of Baltimore County.—The census of the county is now nearly completed and figured up. The whole population of the county is 54,420; increase since 1850 over 11,000. Number of slaves in the county 3,120. Value of property over $44,000,000.—Adv.

☞ Garibaldi in Naples, and Victor Emmanuel King of United Italy! Two events in the calendar of 1860, that will cast their converging light adown the vista of ages growing in intensity and brilliancy, until every vestige of civil and ecclesiastical tyranny shall be consumed in the flame of its burning.

EX-PRESIDENT FILLMORE AND THE PRINCE.—A letter written by ex-President Fillmore, on behalf of the citizens of Buffalo, inviting the Prince of Wales to that city, is published. The Duke of New Castle returned a declination, adding: "The Prince of Wales is greatly gratified by a letter from so eminent a person as yourself."

New Jersey Politics.

The executive committee of the constitutional Union party of New Jersey have issued an address to the American voters urging them to support the Union electoral ticket, and have nothing to do with the republicans.

Breckinridge Adcised to withdraw.—The Virginia Index, in an item headed "a sensible movement," says that it is understood upon reliable authority, that in certain counties of Virginia the leading friends of Breckinridge have petitioned him to withdraw from the canvass.

☞ The first duty of every sound Constitutional Whig, at this time, is to break up, annihilate and scatter the Democratic party, now broken in two by the very spirit of "sectionalism," upon which it has so long lived. It evoked the spirit it could not quell. When it is quelled, a party will be found suited to the exigencies of the country. The people may be trusted when leaders fail.

THE TIDE RECEDING.—The great falling off in the Republican majorities in Vermont and Maine from their 1856 vote, is considered a sure indication of the coming defeat of Lincoln. He will not run in the North as well as Fremont; will not get half as many electoral votes, if we take those elections as a thermometer of public sentiment.

The friends of Bell and Everett feel more and more confident that the election will go to the House of Representatives. Wagers against the success of Lincoln—that he will not be the next President—find no takers in this city.—Cin. Inq.

Probable Preparation for Lincoln's Inauguration.—A despatch from Washington announces that seventeen thousand stand of arms has been ordered to Fort Moultrie, South Carolina. As the garrison (only about three hundred) is already well supplied, the order may well create inquiry as to the wherefore.

A Jaw-Cracking Name.—The following elongated and not very intelligible address appeared in the list of letters advertised in the New York Herald:

"Ollenbaubengrasenteinersholentlick John."

A POSITIVE CURE FOR CANCER

WITHOUT THE USE OF CAUSTIC OR KNIFE.

Endorsed and Legalized by Special Enactment of the State Legislature of Maryland.

With a good report from five physicians of the House of Delegates who were appointed to examine its claims.

The undersigned will guarantee a cure of all external Cancers, where vital parts have not become involved before the application is made and the general health of the patient is good.

The above is all that is deemed necessary to say, as the great efficacy of this remedy is now so extensively known, as well as the unparalleled success of the operator.

A pamphlet giving useful information on the subject, will be sent to all requiring the knowledge it contains, who will inclose a stamp. Address,

DR. JOHN CATHERS,
Office, 102 Baltimore Street, Baltimore.
