Fordson

FARM TRACTOR

On the farm, just as in the big factories in the city, the machine way of doing things is quicker, easier, better. The Fordson way is the machine way of farming. It will help you to raise more per acre, thus increasing your income. It will help you to do more work in a day. It will lighten your work; and make your work easier for you.

The Fordson doesn't stop with the field work. It is a flexible, all around power plant, ready for use during the entire year, and at a remarkably low cost of upkeep. And there's work for the Fordson on every farm every day in the year.

The Fordson is very simple to operate—a school-boy can drive it.

We will be glad to explain it to you, and tell you why it is a profitable investment. Come in and see us.

MATERNITY HOSPITALS

For the suffering womanhood of the world the Salvation Army has established a chain of Maternity Hospitals, where the girls, betrayed, deserted, without money, home and friends, may find a refuge and medical attention. While here, every effort is put forth toward their regeneration—the first step in which is the future care of their babies. When physically fit to go out, they are sent out to situations with their babies, which they are urged to keep and support, or they are sent back to their parents and friends.

During the past year 7103 were received into these homes of whom 6408, or 90 per cent., returned to self sustaining lives of respectability.

Another feature of the Maternity Hospital is that section set apart for the respectable woman of moderate circumstances who may here obtain a room and the attention and nursing during her confinement at a low charge, that she could not possibly afford in the regular hospitals.

The Salvation Army has also created a little club in each Rescue Home and Maternity Hospital by means of which it is able to keep in touch with the girls who have found a haven in these hospitals in their time of great trouble. This is called the 'Out-of-Love-Circle' and its members are the girls whose little nameless babies first saw light of day in a Salvation Army Maternity Hospital.

They meet once a month in each of the 23 cities in this country in which there is located a Salvation Army Rescue Home for women.

All employed in positions, most of which the Army has secured for them, and all making good; they come back to their meetings out of love, they feel for what was done for them, and thus try to show it by helping the inmates of the homes toward getting new hope for the future.

This is one of the reasons why more than 85 per cent. of all the women and girls who are graduates of the Salvation Army's 26 institutions for erring girls are now supporting themselves and their children.

TOLCHESTER SWAMPS

Big Area In The Sixth District Where The Raccoon Has His Den, The Fox His Lair And Where The Rabbits And Squirrels Go Unmolested

In the Sixth District of Kent County, near the wash of the Chesapeake, lies that region of swamp, of brier, and of tanglewood known as "Tolchester Swamps." This region of almost perpetual shade and shadow is the haunt of the widest animals of Kent county. In this region the raccoon builds his home high in the monarch of the woods, almost safe from the invading touch of the human climber; in this same section the fox roams at will, knowing that few will venture into the fastnesses of the swamp after him, while rabbits, squirrels and other game find equal seclusion. In the winter the wild animals are safe from the hunters because the region is blocked against trespass by almost endless areas of lakes, while in the summer the luxuriant vegetation flings out an impassable barrier against the approach of the hunter. The area contains about 1500 acres.

The following lines of poetry convey an apt illustration of this, Kent's most rugged habitant of its wild life:

A green secluded mystic place I know,
'Tis where the Swamp King rules supreme below,
Tall trees, hung thick with vines, from top to root.
Man, never here, may set his heavy foot.
A little stream comes from this King's abode,
And 'cross the dusty highway takes its road.
And here we often rest, my horse and I,
And while he drinks, the lazy time goes by.
Seductive sounds come from this hidden glen,
The wild call of the jay, the sudden laughter of the wren,
The monotone of myriad humming bees,
The whispering and sighing of the breeze,
And under all, in deep accompanying tones,
The booming of the frogs forever drones.
Perchance a snake coming wiggling down the brook,
And backward turns, and creeps into his nook.
Oh, mighty monarch of the marsh within,
Could I an entrance to your court but win,
There in mysterious twilight would the hours
Glide by uncounted, under perfumed bowers
Of wild magnolia, rose and grapevine sweet,
A royal temple, for a King most meet,
There dreaming at my ease would I forget
The trials that this weary life beset.
Alas, my good horse turns his gentle head,
With mild, inquiring eyes, as if he said,
"Good Sir, we have yet some way to go."
He takes his forelegs from the water's flow,
And gazes up the dusty road, and so
Recalls me to the errand we must go.
Reproved, I gather up the reins, and sigh,
And down the road we jog, my horse and I.
