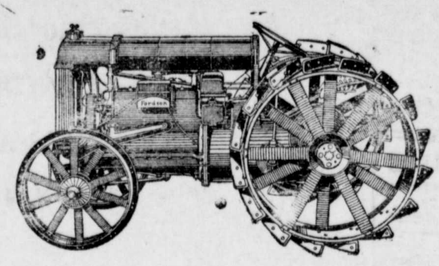
Fordson



More and more every day the demand for the Fordson Tractor increases because the Fordson has demonstrated so much usefulness, so much economy, so much labor saving, so much money saving, along so many lines of activity. The farmer has discovered that not only for plowing, harrowing discing, seeding, mowing, reaping and threshing, but a multitude of other uses; cutting wood; feed; grinding feed; churning; washing; furnishing water in the house; making electric light possible in the house and around the barns. so that, as a matter of fact, there is hardly an hour in the day when the Tractor cannot be made a profitable servant. There is ditching to do; there are roads to fix; and so on all down the line of the numerous calls that constantly face the farmer the Fordson steps in and does the work, shoulders the complete burden of the toil and the hard work, one might almost say "drudgery."

This is the Age of Machinery, the day when man plans the day's work or the year's work, and then turns it over to the Tractor to execute. Get the book, "The Fordson at Work," because it is free. If you cannot call for it, write and we will mail it to you. The Tractor is not only a necessity to every farmer but it is an established utility along a great many commercial lines. Our allotment is limited to so many each month. Let's have your order now.

NEW COMMANDER

MAJOR HENRY D. BALE

Assigned To Baltimore In Charge Of The Chesapeake Division Of The Salvation Army.

Major Henry Davey Bale, new divisional commander of the Chesapeake Division of the Salvation Army, who has recently come from Minneapolis, has had an extensive career in Salvation Army work, which really dates back to his birth as his parents were both Salvation Army officers.

He began his commissioned service in England, where he served eight appointments. Afterwards received and served nine appointments in Canada covering a period of eighteen years.

Since being transferred to the United States, Major Bale served in Chicago prior to being stationed in Minneapolis, where he made an enviable record in bringing his territory into considerable prominence. Commendations were showered upon him and promotion to commandership of the Chesapeake Division with headquarters in Baltimore followed. Major Bale hopes to make the Chesapeake Division the banner division of the East and since his arrival all the evangelistical work has received a decided impetus.

CHILDREN'S HOMES.

Among the activities of the Salvation Army not generally known, though of vital importance, are the Children's Homes.

Throughout the world, there are 87 of these accommodating about 4,000 children orphaned or dependent.

In the United States, there are five, and in Maryland one.

Poverty, desertion, sickness and death of parents all contribute to make this work for children necessary. Frequently it is found best to remove a child from its parents—then it is at once obligatory to provide a home.

Skilled dieticians plan and prepare the food for the little bodies, often wasted by inherited diseases or from long neglect and lack of nutritious food and sanitary care.

In these homes no baby is too small, too ill or too obscure of origin to be admitted, and no effort too great to bring back a child to normal condition. There are no barriers to any child who needs its care—neither race, color, creed nor condition is considered.

In New York City in one of these homes out of 120 babies under a year old, 5 were foundlings picked up on doorsteps, from the subway and from ash cans, wrapped in newspaper and entirely devoid of any mark of identification. They had been thrown out by heartless parents as refuse to die.

One of these, named by the city, John McDonald, now about three months old is a sturdy beautiful boy.

The non-institution idea prevails—and no two dresses or rompers are alike, and these homes furnish splendid examples of the Salvation Army's investment in citizenship—for it believes every baby worth its weight in gold, and by this means provides those thrown upon its bounty with a carefree love sheltered babyhood, and a good education which embraces vocational and spiritual training, as well as the regular public school education.

A model Home is at Lytton Springs, Sonoma county, California, to which place the courts of the State commit a great number of boys and girls, all of whom are cared for in the best way possible. The instruction and training comprehends all that is included in a public school education and added thereto are the most practical lessons in farming, dairying, fruit-raising, with courses in domestic science specially for the girls. Music, both vocal and instrumental, has a place in the curriculum, but the thing regarded as of supreme importance is the moral training of the young.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS MISSING

An English sailor settled in Australia and after his wife died, leaving a boy and girl of ten and twelve years of age, he concluded to leave them and come to America.

Sometime afterward he met and married a woman who imposed the condition that he never communicate with his children or his first wife's people. He kept that promise for thirty-five years but after her death he began to long for his boy and girl and started inquiries to find them.

At the same time, these two in Australia began inquiries for the father so long lost to them in America.

Advertisements inserted by both parent and children in the War Cry—he in America—and they in Australia—were brought into communication and a happy old man embarked for the voyage that promised reunion.

Nearly two thousand inquiries found issue in the "War Cry" last year. Nearly 800 missing friends were located by this means.

BE A BOOSTER

WHEN the people stand back of the merchants you depend on it that the merchants will stand back of the town. When a merchant prospers he is sure to invest his money in enterprises at home that will give more men and women work at good wages because he knows plenty of work and good pay makes more business for him. Patronizing home merchants is co-operation between buyer and seller and always boosts a town.

MORAL—If the home town is not prosperous, organize and co-operate and make it so.
