M. E. Missionary Meetings To Be In Local Church

Under the leadership of Bishop William F. McDowell, of Washington, D. C., a missionary meeting for members of all churches in the Middletown District of the Wilmington Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will be held in Methodist Episcopal Church of Chestertown, Maryland, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 25 and 26. Several hundred persons from communities many miles around Chestertown will be in attendance.

A number of missionary leaders and nationals from mission countries under the leadership of Dr. E. Stanley Jones, noted author, missionary and evangelist, who has just returned from a series of successful evangelist meetings throughout South America, will conduct "The World Mission of Christianity." the title which has been given to these sessions. Dr. Jones enjoys a world-wide reputation as an evangelist; he is an American who has given most of his life to preaching to the Mohammadans and high caste Hindus of India. In May of this year he was elected a bishop by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, but resigned twenty-four hours later because he wished to continue to work as an evangelist. He is the author of "The Christ of the Indian Road" and "Christ at the Round Table," probably the widest read religious books of the present decade. On the evening of Tuesday, September 25, Dr. Jones will address a great mass meeting in the Chestertown Church at 7:30.

Others on the two-day program include: Dr. Ralph E. Diffendorfer, corresponding secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, who speaks on "Back to Jerusalem, from the Olive Orchard"; Prof. Yoshimune Abe, principal of Aoyama Gakuin Academy, Tokyo, Japan, on "Aoyama Gakuin—For Christ and Country"; Miss Georgiana Sush, a mission worker among the Kabyles of North Africa, on "Moslem Women and Children in North Africa"; Rev. A. N. Warner, missionary in Nagpur, India, on "India Today and Tomorrow"; Rev. Cipriano Navarro, pastor at Linguyen, Philippine Islands, on "The Youth of the Philippines and Their Churches"; S. K. Hu a noted business man in Foochow, China, a former member of the Min River Commission, and recently a lay delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, on "The Chinese Church and the Revolution;" and the Rev. Howard A. Musser, a former missionary to India, on "What About India?"

The meeting will open on Tuesday at 10 a. m., and there will be sessions at 2 p. m., 4:30 p. m., and 7:30 p. m. The Wednesday morning meeting, from nine until twelve, will be for ministers only. It will be in the nature of a "retreat" with Dr. Jones who will speak on the message and method of evangelism.

FARM LEADERS BOLT HOOVER

Dyer of Indiana, and Reed of Minnesota, Declare for Smith.

RASKOB ADDRESSES FARMERS

Democratic Chairman Stresses Need for Program Which Will Bring Farm Prosperity—Urges Tariff Equality.

Further evidence that sentiment for Governor Smith is sweeping the Middle West is contained in the announcement that J. F. Reed, for seven years president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, and John Napier Dyer of Vincennes, Indiana, director in the American Farm Bureau federation, will support the Democratic candidate for President.

Both Reed and Dyer have been lifelong Republicans. Each has issued a statement setting forth that the Republican party has turned a deaf ear to American agriculture and that the championship of the cause of the farmer by Governor Smith now compels true friends of agriculture to enlist in the Democratic forces.

Meanwhile, John J. Raskob, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, was asserting the urgent need for a national policy giving the farmer prosperity and tariff equality.

"The greatest insurance for our future prosperity," said Mr. Raskob, "will depend on our ability to increase the purchasing power of the farmer. That can be done only through giving the farmer tariff protection, thus putting him on an equality with industry and enabling him to pay the high wages for farm labor which he is compelled to pay in competition with industry."

Cycle of Prosperity

Putting our farms on a profitable earning basis, Mr. Raskob pointed out, would give the farm population, "which constitutes 30 per cent of our total population, tremendously increased purchasing power. Now purchasing power means consumption and consumption requires production—production requires labor and labor employed again means purchasing power and thus the cycle of prosperity is completed."

Feeling that the Farm Bureau federation should be non-partisan, Mr. Reed has resigned from his position as president of the Minnesota bureau to adopt the course of supporting Governor Smith to which he says he is compelled by the present issue between the Republicans and Democrats.

"Both the platform and the candidate of the Republican party," says Mr. Reed, "withhold from agriculture any promise of an adequate remedy for existing conditions, confining their agricultural pledge to vague generalities which in no way define nor suggest nor promise the remedy long sought by American agriculture—'Control and orderly marketing of crop surpluses with adequate provision for the distribution of the costs upon the marketed units of the crops benefited.'

Honesty Compels Endorsement

"The platform of the Democratic party and the pronouncement of its candidate upon the question of agricultural equality embraces so definitely and clearly the principles held vital to any adequate farm relief plan by myself and the farmers of the state generally, that candor and honesty compels me to endorse the platform and the candidate of the Democratic party."

After reciting the failure of the Republican party to keep its pledges to agriculture, and the repudiation of the farmer's cause by Herbert Hoover, Mr. Dyer announces that he is quitting the Republican party, "disgusted with its lack of honor in the repudiation of its solemn pledges to the American farmer, and I am aligning myself with the Democratic party, with faith in its leader."

Mr. Dyer, operator of a thousand-acre farm in Knox county, Indiana, also states that he is a dry and a Protestant. He is president of the Knox County Horticultural association, and is one of the leading fruit growers of the country.

SURE OF SOUTH CAROLINA

Governor Smith is already assured of the largest votes ever cast for President in South Carolina. More than 180,000 persons have signed a pledge to support him in that State.

What Is a Democrat?

By HON. ROBERT L. OWEN

One who believes in freedom of speech, in freedom of the press, in freedom of religion, in the equal rights to every person to life, liberty and to the pursuit of happiness, and who believes in the principles of the Constitution of the United States properly interpreted. * * *

He opposes all attempts of self-seeking interests to control the operations of the Government to private advantage at the expense of the public. * * *

A Democrat may be a Catholic or Protestant, Jew or Gentile, of any race whatever, and a Democrat may either favor the Volstead Act or oppose the Volstead Act. He is a Liberal as opposed to ultra-conservatism.—From the Congressional Record.

Not Quite

An American history class in one of the high schools had been having an interesting discussion of Civil war songs.

"Now," continued the teacher, "who can name a song inspired by John Brown's experience?"

"John Brown's body lies over the ocean," exclaimed one member of the class enthusiastically.

Eighteen Million Telephones

"In 1907 there were about 6,000,000 telephones in the United States, but they were only partially interconnected, while today there are over 18,000,000 telephones in the United States so interconnected that it is possible for practically any one of the 18,000,000 to be connected with reasonable promptness with any other one of the 18,000,000 * * *"

WALTER S. GIFFORD,
President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company
(Bell System)

There are now over 18,000,000 telephones in and connected with the Bell System in the United States. And it has been less than the span of a lifetime since the telephone first talked.

It started with one man, a set of crude instruments, and a vision of a great service that might be given if the way could be found. That was all.

The way was found and today, instead of two telephone workers—the inventor and his assistant—and two telephone instruments, 374,000 men and women and 18,000,000 telephones make possible a service—a continuous service—used more than 73,000,000 times each day, saving time and money and bringing comfort and convenience to millions of people. A service within the reach of anyone, anywhere!

Today, there is one telephone for every seven persons in the United States and there is scarcely a hamlet without the service. The nation is made one neighborhood for you through your telephone.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City with more than 194,000 telephones in the State of Maryland, is one of the associate companies of this nation-wide system. Its policy is the same—to give you a quick, dependable, and reasonably priced telephone service. To that end we are bending every energy.
