JOHN D. URIE, Atty.

GOV. SMITH IS BETTER FITTED TO HEAD NATION

Eminent Republican Banker Calls Him Master of Science of Government.

HOOVER LACKS DIPLOMACY AND COURAGE, HE SAYS

Jerome Davis Greene, Rockefeller Associate, One of Many Frominent Figures Who Repudiates Party's Candidate.

Describing Governor Smith as probably the greatest living master of the science of governmental reorganization, Jerome Davis Greene, the banker who is associated with John D. Rockefeller in the management of the vast Rockefeller business and philanthropic interests, has declared in a letter to the Editor of the New York Times that he will support the Democratic candidate.

Mr. Greene, a Republican and Congregationalist, is a director in many great corporations and an officer and member of many scientific organizations. In his letter, which was not solicited by the newspaper nor by any political organization, he comments that Hoover's supporters urge his election on the ground of his administrative ability. That, he asserts, is an obvious fallacy.

Pointing out that whatever success Hoover achieved as a food administrator was due, not to courage or diplomacy, but to the almost autocratic power with which he had been invested, Mr. Green continues:

"The candid and gallant stand which Governor Smith has taken upon the subject of prohibition by Federal enactment as an instrument of social reform, and the outstanding importance of the issue thus presented, has somewhat obscured in the public mind his legitimate claim to preference over Mr. Hoover in respect to the one qualification which is urged, with perhaps more emphasis and greater sincerity than any other, in support of Mr. Hoover.

Science of Government

"Many, especially those who live outside of the State of New York, are perhaps unaware of the fact, known to all students of recent advances in the science of governmental organization in this country, that there is probably no man in public life more familiar with the theory and recent improved practice of that science than the present Governor of the State of New York.

"Governor Smith has made a record of which the people of his State are justly proud. Moreover, it is a record made by an avowed political partisan who has subordinated his political partisanship in those matters to the higher call of loyal citizenship and enlightened statesmanship. In so doing, he has more than once found himself a willing and welcome collaborator with like-minded men whose political partisanship was hostile to his own.

"If all this be of Tammany, let us have more of it."

Philanthropist Supports Governor

Another eminent financial figure who has added his name to the long list of leading Republicans to declare for Governor Smith, is E. S. Harkness, capitalist and philanthropist, and one of the largest holders of railroad securities in America. Sending a $10,000 contribution to the Smith campaign fund, Mr. Harkness wrote:

"Any nation that can produce a real leader is to be congratulated and I cannot but feel that Governor Smith has demonstrated to the people of this country that he possesses rare qualities of leadership."

Among other wealthy and prominent Republicans who have recently bolted their party to support Smith, are Charles W. Clark, mine owner, and son of the late Senator William A. Clark of Montana, who has voted the Republican ticket since 1896; Haley Fiske, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., who is actively identified with the affairs of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and Thomas Gerald Condon, railroad builder with vast holdings in the coal and iron regions.

FARMERS IGNORE HOOVER

Corn Belt Leaders Refuse to Confer With Republican Candidate

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Declaring that any farmer who supported Herbert Hoover would be "a traitor to the cause of agriculture," A. W. Ricker, Secretary of the Corn Belt Federation of Farmers, pointed out, in a statement issued here, that not a single recognized farm leader had accepted the Republican candidate's invitation to meet him and "talk over the situation." He said:

"We have good reason for not wanting Mr. Hoover. We know him and his methods. We have been up against his stubborn opposition for eight years."

When Herbert Hoover says that he also has been personally attacked, he probably refers to the things the Republican candidate for Vice President said about him before the Kansas City convention.
