Dr. Miles NERVINE "Did the work" says Miss Glivar

WHY DON'T YOU TRY IT?

After more than three months of suffering from a nervous ailment, Miss Glivar used Dr. Miles Nervine which gave her such splendid results that she wrote us an enthusiastic letter.

If you suffer from "Nerves." If you lie awake nights, start at sudden noises, tire easily, are cranky, blue and fidgety, your nerves are probably out of order.

Quiet and relax them with the same medicine that "did the work" for this Colorado girl.

Whether your "Nerves" have troubled you for hours or for years, you'll find this time-tested remedy effective.

JACKIE COOPER has the finest role of his young career as star of the outstanding Fox Film production, "Peck's Bad Boy." Preview audiences have voted it one of the notable screen performances of the year.

'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch,' the third and last of the three great novels of and by Americans, has been made into a motion picture by Paramount and comes on Monday and Tuesday, November 5 and 6 to the New Lyceum Theatre.

'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch,' which was written by Alice Hegan Rice in 1901, is generally ranked with 'Little Women,' by Louisa May Alcott and 'David Harum' by Edward Noyes. The latter two have already been filmed, and 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch' is now completed.

Pauline Lord, distinguished stage star who played in such notable productions as 'Anna Christie,' 'The Late Christopher Bean,' 'Strange Interlude,' and 'They Knew What They Wanted,' makes her screen debut as 'Mrs. Wiggs'. She rejected numerous screen offers in the pa st but succumbed to the chance to play in this classic.

Evelyn Venable and Kent Taylor, who have been teamed several times, are cast as the young lovers, Miss Lucy and Mr. Bob. W. C. Fields has a leading role and ZaSu Pitts plays the vapid Miss Hazy. All five of the child roles —Jimmy, Billy, Asia, Europena and Australia—have been filled by well-known youngsters already prominent in pictures.

Adapted from the play by Mrs. Rice and Anne Crawford Flexner, 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch' brings to the screen the world-famous characters of the story.

Richard Arlen and the young English actress, Ida Lupino, will be seen in the new Paramount picture, 'Ready for Love,' coming to the New Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday, November 7 and 8. Supporting the two young stars is Marjorie Rambeau, one of the stage and screen's best known character actresses.

'Ready for Love' tells the story of a girl who unwittingly loses her reputation. Instead of being overcome by this apparent disaster, she turns it to her advantage. She is headstrong, gay and likable, but she refuses to allow a bad name to interfere with her activities. Even the young editor of the local paper plays up the scandal in which she appears as the central figure until he falls in love with her. Then he is forced to change his attack and instead of fighting against her, he rallies to her defense.

Ida Lupino plays the girl who suffers the scorn of gossips, endures the shame of a bad name until her ability to laugh in the face of trouble enables her to come out on top.

Richard Arlen is cast as the editor who makes the most of a scandal until he is forced to eat his own words. In addition to Marporie Rambeau, the supporting cast includes Beulah Bondi and Esther Howard.

'Ready for Love,' directed by Marion Gering, is an adaptation of the Roy Fannagan story 'The Whipping.'

Suppe sted by, rather than adapted from, the famous 'Peck's Bad Boy' stories that delighted readers a generation ago, the Fox Film screen production of that name, coming on Friday and Satur day, November 9 and 10th to the New Lyceum Theatre, has Jackie Cooper as its star and Thomas Meighan in a story role. 'Peck's Bad Boy' is in no sense a 'kids' story. It is a rich human document.

Jackie, as Bill Peck, believes himself to be the son of Henry Peck, widower, but is actually the latter's adopted son. He is happy with his foster father until the arrival of Aunt Lily and her small son, Horace. These two set out to alienate father and son so that Horace may usurp Bill's place in the Peck household. They nearly succeed.

BOY'S HEARTACHE

An e pisode adapted from the original book, serves to bring the story to a climax by diverting to Bill the blame for a piece of mischief done by Horace. This is the celebrated 'episode of the ants.' Bill gets the blame as well as the thrashing. This piece of injustice on his father's part is the first exhibition Bill has had of a father's unfairness. Suffering from hurt pride, Bill is alone in his room when Horace comes and tells him the truth of his relationship with Peck. As a result, Bill runs away from home.

Before the frm is ended, however, he has learned that his father could be no more devoted, were he his own flesh and blood. The story is said to reach its climax on a note of profound human understanding and with high-voltage dramatic effect.

JACKIE'S ROLE

According to advance accounts, Jackie Cooper has the finest role of his screen career as young Billy Peck. Both in its moments of comedy and in the moving delinetion of a small boy's heart-ache, it is said to surpass anything he has yet done.

A notable cast includes Thomas Meighan, as the father; Dorothy Peterson, as the designing aunt; O. P. Heggie, Jackie Searl and Henry Hall.

Edward F. Cline directed and Sol Lesser produced the film for Fox release.

ESSAY ON THE MANY USES OF ICE

BY MRS. HARRY GOODMAN

I will start my essay in this way:—

I live near the water, and my husband works on the water for a living, and I was never fortunate enough to have an ice box until now. I have had the ice box for over six months, and I really could not do without it. They told me ice was expensive, but I find out the food I used to throw away would more than pay for the ice. I could never cook my Sunday dinner on Saturday, nor have iced tea or cold lemonade; and I never could make any ice cream like the rest of my neighbors. But since I have been using ice I can have or make all of these things. And when I have any left-overs, I can always find something for the next meal.

Ice is also used in sickness. Ice bound to the throat is excellent for a sore throat; Ice bound to the head (put in a bag, if you do not have an ice cap)—will stop a bad headache. And, pray tell me, what would the Hospital do without ice? There are many ways they have of using it. If the patient is very ill, he may be able to eat only crushed ice, or crushed ice may be given in a glass of milk. Ice bags are used in the treatment of appendicitis, and also to help reduce fever. Ice is used when tonsils are removed, by putting an ice bag to the throat to prevent hemorages. Ice is also used to revive people when they faint.

And what would become of the people in Chestertown and in the cities if they had to drink that old warm hydrant water, if they could not get ice to put in it. Large quantities of ice are used in all the big meat packing establishments, and in all stores which handle fresh meats, chickens, etc. Florists also keep their flowers in large rooms cooled by ice, and when embalming fluid is not used, they use ice to keep the dead.

The great variety of foods which people can have the year around is made possible by the use of refrigerated cars, trucks, and steamships. Just think of the money it saves for truck growers. If they could not have ice, they would lose all of their vegetables before they could be shipped long distances to market. Now, people can set a better table than ever before. It used to be, not many years ago, that people could not be put in a diet, because they could not get the fresh vegetables they really had to have all the time, but now the doctors can put people on the right kind of diet for certain diseases, and they do not have to give so much medicine, for now all kinds of vegetables are kept fresh by the use of ice.

We are told that Mastodons, and other beasts, have been found frozen in Glaciers, and have kept in perfect condition for years and years. This proves that when food it kept clean and well iced it will not decay.

I was in Chestertown in August, and I read a sign on Mr. Noland's store which said, 'Shop in Comfort.' I walked in, expecting to see 5 or 6 electric fans, and to my surprise he had Ice Stoves, with pans setting underneath the stoves to catch the water. It was some cool in there, and I found comfort, and so the places of business are kept cool by the use of ice.

I live eight miles from Chestertown, and my home is blessed, as well as other farm homes, by the use of ICE supplied from the good old Ice Plant in Chestertown owned by Mr. Nicholson. I hope my letter, with its many little thoughts and uses, will help convince others that they, too, can afford to buy Ice.

I will remain as one of your Contest Members, Mrs. Harry Goodman, Chestertown, R. R. No. 3.
