THE MARYLAND RADICAL MINORITY MOVEMENT.

The presentation to the National Congress of a memorial from a portion of the radical members of the Legislature of Maryland, and another from the "Grand Union League of Maryland," invoking in direct terms the interference of Congress in the affairs of this State, is one of those lamentable exhibitions of frenzied partizanship which would only excite commiseration for the unfortunate men whose desperation is thus evinced, were it not for the fact that in these revolutionary times there is no telling what usurpation might not be attempted on the part of some at least of those aspiring to bad eminence in that body. But it is not reasonable to suppose that a majority of the dominant party in Congress have so little appreciation of our system of government, and so little regard for the rights thereunder of a State like Maryland, which has borne steady fealty to the Union, as to pursue such a monstrous course as is suggested. It would not be just either, to put so low an estimate upon the intelligence of Congress as to suppose it capable of accepting as fact all the grounds of procedure set forth by the memorialists. That the present Legislature of Maryland is an immaculate body, or that all its acts in the late session were unexceptionable, need not be claimed. Doubtless, neither the one nor the other is the case, and the same may be said of the Legislature which preceded this one, and its acts. But there has been nothing, and there is nothing in all that has transpired, or is likely to transpire, to justify interference by Congress, even had Congress the shadow of a right under the constitution to do such a thing. The picture attempted to be drawn of the alleged "rebel" condition of the State, is more the fruit of a vivid imagination than anything else, and only seems to illustrate how very ideal plain and prosaic men may become under partizan inspiration. As to the enormity of the Legislature passing an act concerning a State convention, it is yet for the people to decide whether one shall be held or not, and, if they do authorize the assembling of such a body, they will be very derelict in duty to themselves if they do not send their very best men to represent them in it—men who comprehend the period in which they live, and who, while conservative, are yet enlightenedly progressive. Should they not do this, it were better, of course, that no convention be held. The enfranchisement under which many will vote on the question of a convention, who heretofore were excluded, was evidently contemplated by the framers of the present constitution, as it was by reason of the express provision of that instrument, which gives power to the Legislature to enfranchise, by a two thirds vote, that the law which removes all improper restrictions was passed. The allegation that the danger of "bloodshed is imminent" will take people generally by surprise, and how the memorialists can have conjured up such a horror, seeing that they themselves have never been known to engage in the sanguinary work of "blood letting," as Senator Chandler would say, is past ordinary comprehension. What the National Intelligencer says on this subject we annex as follows:

Among the many startling novelties which have been developed by recent congressional legislation nothing is more calculated to awaken the sober reflection of thoughtful people than the extraordinary memorial of the radical minority of the Legislature of Maryland. These gentlemen have a great deal to say about the anti-republican action of the Legislature. They forget that when in power and framing a constitution they never proposed to admit the negroes to vote, and made the constitution even more restrictive than before by disfranchising a large class of white men. They forget, or would have the public forget that it was the determined opposition of themselves and associates in the Philadelphia Loyalist Convention which prevented the full commitment of that body to the policy of negro suffrage. We say nothing now about the utter irreconcilability of their present dogmas with the universally received notions of what constitutes a republican form of government within the meaning of the constitution and point to the inconsistency of this action of these new and zealous converts to universal suffrage with their recent action and professions, and we ask if the people of Maryland were not worthy to be despised if they entrusted such men with their confidence? Zealous as are these proselytes in their new faith, we do not believe that they can convince Congress of the necessity of interfering in their behalf with the sovereign will of the people of Maryland, and of thus trampling upon all the well-recognized principles of our constitutional government.

FUNERAL OF SENATOR RIDDLE.—The remains of the Hon. George Read Riddle, late United States Senator from Delaware, who died in Washington last week, reached Wilmington on Saturday night, and the funeral took place on Monday. It was attended by a large number of the citizens of Wilmington, including the Mayor and City Council, the members of the bar, and a committee of the two houses of Congress. The flags in the city were placed at half-mast and the bells tolled during the funeral solemnities.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.—An intelligent colored man was approached to know how he felt in regard to the approaching Municipal election, and as to whether he could be calculated upon to support a Radical ticket. The Freedman, keen in the business, observed: Well, if you give us [the colored voters] half-and half of the Council ticket, we will consider the matter; otherwise, I am disposed to go with those who have proved our best friends in times past.—Fredericksburg (Va.) News.

SUSPENSION OF VIRGINIA ELECTIONS.—Gen. Scofield has issued an order suspending all elections till the registration is completed. In the meantime vacancies occurring will be filled by the commanding general.

NIGHT POLITICAL PROCESSIONS.—A bill has been presented in the Pennsylvania Legislature, which proposes to prohibit political processions in Philadelphia by night, within ten days of an election.

U. S. INTERNAL REVENUE.

INCOME FOR 1866.

NOTICE is hereby given, that I am now ready to receive Income Returns for 1866. The Assessment must be closed on the 30th day of April, 1867. After that date I shall be compelled to assess from the best information I can obtain, and add 50 per cent. to the amount of tax, from which there is no appeal. All persons of lawful age are required to make a list or return of their gross income, and articles liable to tax, without deduction. Profits on sales of Real estate purchased since December 31st, 1863, are made taxable as income. It is expected that every farmer will prepare his list of sales and deductions before calling on the Assistant Assessor, which must be delivered in person. Returns of Carriages, Plate and Gold Watches must accompany said lists.

All persons engaged in any business required to pay a license or special tax must renew the same.

For the convenience of tax payers I will visit different sections of the county for the purpose of receiving their returns, as follows: On April 2d, 3d, 4th and 5th at Kennedyville. April 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th at Galena.—April 16th, 17th, 18th, and 19th at Edesville. Remainder of the time till April 30th at Chestertown.
