THE SAN DOMINGO COMMISSIONERS.

The Voyage of the Tennessee—Bay of Samana—First Impressions—The Reception and Entertainment—Scientific Explorations—San Domingo City, &c.

The United States steamer Tennessee, having on board the San Domingo commission, arrived at San Domingo City from Samana on February 2d, all on board being in good health. The commission landed on the 3d, and were formally received by Baez. From letters of different correspondents we make the following extracts:

The Samana correspondent of the New York Herald of the 24th ult. gives the following account of the voyage of the Tennessee:

After a run of seven days the frigate Tennessee, with the United States commissioners on board, dropped her anchor in Samana bay. The passage has been a fine one, and without storms or any mishap. The Tennessee is a good sailer, and the winds have favored her. She has had the aid of steam, however, the greater part of the way, though her steam power does not exceed four or five miles an hour.

The shores on approaching Samana bay are bold and high. Hills rise up from the water's edge. The entrance to the bay is about a half mile wide, and there is deep water all the way. The little town of Santa Barbara de Samana, which is the only one near here, contains 200 or 300 people. It is a collection of miserable huts. This lies in the inner bay, in which a large vessel like the Tennessee could not ride. We are lying in the outer bay, about a mile from the town, in sixteen fathoms of water. It is a fine and safe barbor. The largest fleet could lie in it safely.

The commission and press correspondents were delighted with the scene.—Many had not seen a tropical country before, and thought this a primitive sort of paradise. They were much struck with the dense forests of palms and of other trees, and the richness of the verdue.—Only a tent here and there could be seen amid the dense tropical foliage, and there was no sign of cultivation except in spots of a few yards in extent around these very sparse and rude dwellings.

Soon after the anchor fell nearly all wanted to go ashore. The boats were soon lowered and the commission and correspondents went to the little village mentioned. The people, nearly all colored, and of many shades and types of the colored races, appeared well pleased to see the visitors, but seemed incapable of excitement. The day after we dropped anchor, that is, the 25th, the dignitaries and principal citizens of Santa Barbara de Samana were received on board by invitation and with the honor of a salute. They were introduced to the commissioners, and after that were entertained with a cold collation in the cabin.

The correspondent writes on the 30th, when the Tennessee left Samana bay for San Domingo:

The scientific exploring parties have returned, and make on the whole favorable reports. Professor W. P. Blake, the geologist and mineralogist of the commission, who has charge generally of the scientific explorations, went up to the head of the bay or gulf and mouth of the Yuna river in the ship's cutter, with the special object of examining the reported coal mines near there. He reports to the commission that he found outcrops of lignite or tertiary brown coal, indicating beds of considerable extent and favorably situated for working and for transportation to the gulf. He does not regard it as of any value for ocean steamers, but as likely to prove of some economical value to this region as fuel for local steamers on the gulf, for making gas, and, possibly, for use to locomotives in case a railway should ever be laid along the great valley. No other valuable minerals have so far been discovered. All agree that the soil is very rich and generally deep, even to the tops of the hills or small mountains.

ARRIVAL AT SAN DOMINGO.

The Tennessee anchored in the port of San Domingo, three miles from shore, owing to the general badness of the harbor, on the 2d instant, after a thirty-five hours' run from Samana Bay.

St. Domingo is a quaint-looking, ancient and dilapidated old town, containing seven or eight thousand inhabitants. It is the oldest place built by Europeans in America. It is much like Panama and other old towns built by the Spaniards, except, perhaps, that it is in a worse condition of decay and has a more perishing blight resting upon it. The very buildings are evergrown in many places with grass and shrubs. Some of these buildings and large ruins are picturesque, as showing the architecture, state of civilization and colonial grandeur of Spain several centuries ago. To a Northerner it is a mystery how the natives can live with so little work. All exertion is distasteful to them, and they make one think of the men who was not lazy, but "born tired." In the town there are several small stores, at which you can purchase queer little loaves of bread, oranges, bananas, limes, mangoes, plantains, yams and tobacco. American, French and Spanish gold and silver comprise the little money in circulation. Very good cigars, made of the native weed, can be had for $1.50 per hundred or $12 per thousand, and are the cheapest commodity in this extensive mart.

The mountains are filled with wild hogs, and they hunt and kill the old ones, and capture the young and domesticate them. An acre of ground cultivated will furnish all the additional food necessary for a considerably family, and they build their own houses and make all the necessary household implements from the products of the forest. They do not only have one crop, but a succession of crops. Thus for ten months in the year they can plant corn, keeping up a constant supply; so also with bananas, and all the varieties of garden fruits. My experience is that four-fifths of the human family do not work for the love of it, and if they could procure the necessaries of life with the performance of the smallest modicum of labor, they would not exert themselves more than these people do. Then there are no facilities for the transportation of produce to the seaports from the interior, except on the backs of pack-horses, and there is a very slight demand for any surplus that may be raised over what is reqeired for household consumption. They have but little use for money, except to buy clothing, and a very small quantity of the lightest fabrics is alone required in this climate, where the less you wear the more comfortable you feel. Nearly one-half the men of the town are soldiers, and a large shanty seen as you land on the beach—watched by a crowd of idlers—is a guardhouse. They are all negroes, and mostly tall, well-formed, and capable of enduring fatigue. They wear cheap blue chintz shirts and pantaloons, no sleeves, and brigh-colored cloths wrapped about the head.

AMERICAN SETTLEMENTS.

While many live on the luscious fruits which grow wild here in abundance in the woods, on the peninsula there are several small farms. In this part of the island are the American settlements of about 300 negroes from the "States," as our country is called here, the result of the colony sent by the American Colonization Society in 1825. At that time San Domingo was under the control of Hayti, and President Boyer allotted about three caros (or nine acres) to each family.—They are satisfied, of course, with a country yielding so much with so little exertion, but complain of the frequency of war and destruction of property, and of being the heaviest sufferers.

A company of us visited some of their ranches on the mountains, and were very cordially entertained and treated to oranges and cocoanuts. They live in the same wretched manner as the natives.—There were those among them who had not seen a white face for many years, and as ours passed for such—although they are burned of a beautiful red, gradually deepening at the end of the nose—they received us hospitably. One old woman was so glad to see us that she ran after us a quarter of a mile, and breathlessly urged us to take a token of her admiration in the shape of three hen eggs, the last the poor creature had. The American colored settlers are Wesleyan Methodists, and are building on a hill west of the town, in a workmanlike manner refreshing to see in this country of wretched houses, a large frame church to contain 400 persons, their church edifice having been destroyed in the war.

The Eastern Shore Railroad Connection.

A project for a short line of railroad from Middletown, Del., on the Peninsular railroad, to Elkton, Md., we see is attracting a good deal of attention. It appears to be conceded that what is known as the Elkton and Massey's Cross Roads project, for giving a more direct connection between Baltimore and the Eastern Shore, cannot be carried out. The line from Middletown to Elkton, it is said, will only be twelve miles long, and will reduce the distance to Baltimore from every point on the Shore below Wilmington over 36 miles. The Wilmington Commercial says it shall watch the movement with interest and hail its success with satisfaction, and adds:

"The present scheme can prove of no direct advantage to Wilmington, and, so far as it affects her at all, it will at first affect her interests injuriously, but we believe that in the long run whatever benefits the peninsula must benefit its chief and only city. That the new road will prove of advantage to the peninsula we do not doubt, as it will give it almost as direct communication with Baltimore as with Philadelphia, and the advantage to an agricultural and fruit-growing section of having access to the markets of three great cities instead of two is unquestionable. The great bulk of our fruit will doubtless continue to go to New York, but the demand in that city, either for consumption or shipment elsewhere, is no longer equal to the supply from this State alone, in case we have a favorable season and a full crop. This road will make Baltimore and Washington as accessible to our peach growers as are now Philadelphia and New York.

"But it is to Baltimore that it will be chiefly of advantage. It places that city on an equal footing with Philadelphia in competition for the whole peninsular trade, which none of the schemes now abandoned could ever have done. In urging this a year ago we stated this patent fact, and showed that the Massey's Cross Roads scheme would only give a few counties access to Baltimore, while this would give her access to all the Eastern Shore and to the counties of this State as well. These facts should lead Baltimore to give a hearty and generous support to this enterprise, and with such support it can be speedily pushed to a successful conclusion.

Meetings have been held at both Middletown and Elkton on the subject, and a committee, consisting of Robert A. Cochran, E. C. Fenimore and Nathaniel Williams, on the part of Delaware, and Hon. Hiram McCullough, William Lindsay and David Scott, on the part of Maryland, appointed to secure a charter from the Delaware Legislature for so much of said road as will lie in Delaware. In Cecil county, Md., it is believrd that the charter for the abandoned Elkton and Massey's project can be made use of to secure the building of that portion of the road lying in Maryland. The Cecil Whig editorially declares that the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company will favor the project. We judge from the nature of the project that that corporation would not oppose it.

The proposed road would, as above stated, be but twelve miles long, and it is estimated that it can be built for from $120,000 to $150,000—a very considerable portion of which, it is said, is already subscribed.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.—There is a project on the tapis of forming a colony of Cecil countians to emigrate to one of the Territories—Colorado or Montana perhaps—and form a settlement. A community of not less than fifty families is the minimum number suggested, to be composed of all trades, professions and callings, except grog sellers. Their charter will exclude entirely the sale of spirituous liquor in the colony. Some of the best and most enterprising young men in the county are enlisted in the enterprise. A meeting is called on Monday, 27th instant, at the Odd-Fellows' Hall, in Elkton, to take definite action in the matter.—Elkton (Md.) Whig.

JNO. D. KEMP, for a number of years a member of the Denton Bar, is preparing for the ministry. He preached in the M. E. Church in Denton on Sunday week.

THE NEW MODE OF GOVERNING THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.—The bill providing a new mode of Government for the District of Columbia, has passed both houses of Congress and has been signed by the President. The act vests the executive authority in a Governor, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and hold office for four years, and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. Provision is made for a secretary of the District, by appointment in the same way as the Governor. The legislative department includes a council and house of delegates, the council to consist of eleven members, of whom two shall be residents of the city of Georgetown, and two residents of the county outside of said cities of Washington and Georgetown, who shall be appointed by the President, to serve two years. The House of Delegates will consist of 22 members, to serve one year, the members thereof to be elected within 60 days from legislative districts, to be hereafter prescribed. The sessions of the legislative body are limited to 60 days in any one year. The charters of the cities of Georgetown and Washington are to be repealed on the first day of June next, the present mayor and officers of Georgetown to hold over until that time.

Unanswerable Arguments.

Established facts are silent arguments which neither pen nor tongue can shake, and it is upon established facts that the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, as a health-preserving elixir, and a wholesome and powerful remedy, is based. When witnesses come forward in crowds, year after year, and reiterate the same statements in relation to the beneficial effects of a medicine upon themselves, disbelief in its efficiency is literally impossible. The credentials of this unequalled tonic and alterative, extending over a period of nearly twenty years, include individuals of every class, and residents of every clime, and refer to the most prevalent among the complaints which afflict and harass the human family. Either a multitude of people, strangers to each other, have annually been seized with an insane and motiveless desire to deceive the public, or Hostetter's Bitters, for no less than a fifth of a century, have been affording such relief to sufferers from indigestion, fever and ague, biliousness, general debility, and nervous disorders, as no other preparation has ever imparted. To-day, while the eyes of the reader are upon these lines, tens of thousands of persons of both sexes are relying upon the Bitters as a sure defence against the ailments which the present season engenders, and their confidence is not misplaced. The local potions which interested dealers sometimes endeavor to foist upon the sick in its stead, are everywhere meeting the fate that is due to fraud and imposture, while the demand for the great vegetable specific is constantly increasing.

Clear and Harmless as Water!

NATTANS' CRYSTAL DISCOVERY

FOR THE HAIR!

A PERFECTLY clear preparation in one bottle, as easily applied as water, for restoring to gray hair its natural color and youthful appearance, to eradicate and prevent dandruff, to promote the growth of the hair and stop its falling. It is perfectly harmless and entirely free from any poisonous substance and will therefore take the place of all the dirty and unpleasant preparations now in use. In everything in which the articles now in use are objectionable, CRYSTAL DISCOVERY is perfect. It is warranted to contain neither Sugar of Lead, Sulphur, Litharage, or Nitrate of Silver. Bear this in mind when you want anything for your hair.

Clear and clean as water, it does not soil the scalp or clothes, is agreeably perfumed, and makes one of the best dressings for the hair in use. It restores the color of the hair more perfect and uniformly than any other preparation, and always does so in from 3 to 10 days. Virtually feeding the roots of the hair with all the nourishing qualities necessary to its growth and healthy condition, it restores the decayed and induces a new growth of the hair more positively than anything else. The application of this wonderful discovery also produces a pleasant and cooling effect on the scalp and gives the hair a glossy appearance.

☞ We call especial attention to the fact that a limited number of trial bottles will be given away gratuitously to those desiring to try it. You will notice that in pursuing this course our aim is to convince by the actual merits of the article. ARTHUR NATTANS, Inventor and Proprietor, Washington, D. C., to whom all orders must be addressed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5, 1870.

Mr. Arthur Nattans:

Dear Sir—I do not hesitate to say that your Crystal Discovery deserves to supercede all other preparations claiming to restore the growth and color of the hair. I have used it a week now, and my hair has already returned to its natural color, and has ceased falling almost entirely. I cheerfully recommend it.

A NEW ERA IN BELTING.

PAGE'S PATENT

Tanned Leather Belt.

Tanned in Oil and by the same process as Lace Leather, by PAGE BROS., inventors and manufacturers of the celebrated Page's Lace Leather.

These Belts are perfectly soft, and hug the pulley like pure rubber, thus giving 25 per ct. more driving power than any other belt.

They also have eighty per ct. more strength than the best oak-tanned belts.

They have been placed on pullies running 9,000 turns per minute, and in places where all other belts have failed, have given entire satisfaction, outwearing every other belt 50 per ct.

The fact that they are driving out of the market in the East, very fast, the other kinds of belt, is sufficient testimony.

All the large Eastern Factories now use them.

The following are a few of the many testimonials we have received:

Messrs. Charles E. Inloes & Co.:

GENTS:—We have been using Page's Patent Belt in our factories for over a year, and believe it to be the best and cheapest belt made. Best, because it is stronger and more durable than oak-tanned; and cheapest, because its adhesive qualities give it so much more driving power. Very respectfully,

R. H. THOMPSON,
Sup't Union Mfg. Co. of Maryland,
Ellicott's Mills.

Messrs. Charles E. Inloes & Co.:

GENTS:—The fourteen-inch Page's Patent Belt, bought from you, has been in daily use ever since, and gives perfect satisfaction, and you are at liberty to use our name in endorsing the qualities you claim for it, in every respect, as we believe it to be the best Belt made, and shall adopt it altogether in our mills.
