POLITICAL VIEWS OF HON. D. W. VOORHEES.—This gentleman publishes a card in the Terre Haute Journal, proposing an important movement. He says:

"I keenly appreciate the importance of an authoritative expression of the principles which are to guide us in the future as in the past. It should be made at an early day in order that the organization shall be perfected and confidence restored by the time the approaching campaign is upon us. This, however, should be the work of a national convention embracing delegates from all the States. I am in favor of calling such convention, at some central point in the West, on a day not later than the 22d of February next. The call should be issued by the national executive committee, and delegates should be appointed by State and district conventions. The business of this body should be to carefully and patiently weigh all all views laid before it, and to agree upon and publish a clear, definite declaration of principles upon all matters affecting the political welfare of the people and the safety of our free institutions. This being done, it should adjourn to the day fixed for the nomination of a candidate for the Presidency. In the meantime, the people of the States can discuss, approve or disapprove of what has been done.

"It would be the duty of all Democrats taking part in politics to submit to the voice of the majority. If they are such as prefer their own convictions, even to the platform of the national convention, they can step aside without embarrassing anybody else. Let us, however, have political as well as personal harmony, and success is within our reach. If the entire Democratic vote can be consolidated, inspired with enthusiasm, and brought to the polls, Gen. Grant cannot be re-elected.

"It was voters in our party that stayed at home on the day of the late elections which wrought such wide-spread defeat. There is no increase of the Republican vote. I make the above suggestions, knowing that it is entirely practicable, and that it meets an urgent demand of the present crisis. I shall respectfully urge it upon the attention of the national executive committee, and ask for it the favorable consideration of conservative men everywhere."

THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.—There has been for some time a great agitation in Hunter's Point, L. I., in reference to the reading of the Bible in the Public Schools. Friday morning, on the opening of the school, two young men, the sons of John Denan, one of the agitators, made their appearance, and desired of the Principal to be admitted as scholars. The Principal, before assigning them to a class, wished to examine them, and consequently asked them to be seated during the morning exercises. When the reading of the Scriptures was commenced a sister of the boys arose from her seat and, in a very excited manner, refused to remain in the room, expressing her disbelief in the Scriptures, and said its doctrines if believed, would send them to hell. Many of the other scholars applauded the action of the girl, and the greatest uproar ensued. The act of insubordination the Principal determined to correct, and in a firm but quiet manner he ordered the girl to retire to another room. Immediately her two brothers jumped up and approached the Principal in a threatening manner, and ordered him to let the girl alone, and with physical force compelled him to retreat. The Principal immediately left the school in charge of his assistants, and procured the arrest of the young men by the police.—The wildest excitement seemed, in the meantime, to have taken possession of the people of the Point, most of whom are Roman Catholics, and crowds flocked to the school-house and endeavored to gain entrance, but no one was admitted save trustees or privileged characters. The Superintendent is reported to have stated that he did not care which version of the Bible was read in the school if they could only have peace. It is the general impression that the whole affair was premeditated.

The friends of the two boys who made the attack on Mr. Sieburg, the teacher of the Hunter's Point school, say that the anti-Bible committee wanted some legal evidence that the Bible was read in order to bring the subject into court, and consequently induced the boys to attend.—There was no intention of committing any overt act or breaking the peace. Mr. Sieburg was arrested on a charge of perjury, as he swore in his complaint that the boys threatened his life. Father Cummins, the Roman Catholic clergyman at Hunter's Point, in alluding to the subject from his pulpit, advised peace. He strongly advocated the removal of the Bible from the schools, but it must be done in a peaceful way. He warned his congregation not to discuss the subject in the streets, or at their homes. He denies that he is at the bottom of the trouble.

THE GREAT GRAIN ELEVATOR.—This valuable acquisition, to be supplied by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, for facilitating the trade of Baltimore, is referred to as follows by the Baltimore correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce:

"An elevator, containing 120 bins and having storage capacity for 600,000 bushels of grain, is almost completed at Locust Point, the terminal point of the railroad. An agent of the company was delegated to examine the best elevators with a view of constructing this on the most approved modern principles, and combining all the best features. Five cars can unload at a time on the first floor. Ninety-four buckets, of half a peck capacity, making each an actual pull of a quarter of a peck, on a belt running sixty-seven revolutions a minute, will elevate grain to the bins as fast as it will enter, become necessary. It is well understood, of course, that the theory of a grain elevator is to raise grain to a point whence it will flow of its own weight from bin to vessel. This elevator has capacity for loading five vessels at a time from several shoots, straight or elbowed, into any part of the vessels. It is also provided with facilities for elevating on the water front, from vessels to warehouse. The building is 80 by 150 feet in outside dimensions, and 145 feet high. It fills a want that has been much felt, and the merchants will probably indulge in a jubilee on its completion."

THE COMING CONGRESS.—According to General Butler, President-making is to be the main business of the coming session of Congress. Unless the government has become practically an oligarchy, the making of Presidents ought to be left to the people. That is no part of the function of Congress, or, if it is, the people have no more to do with the selection of their chief ruler than the subjects of European monarchies. All they have to do, at the utmost, is to ratify a selection by an election. This was not the design of the founders of the government, nor consistent with the republican theory. Such an assumption by Congress, besides opening the door for corrupt appointments and bribery, involves the neglect of all practical business. The reduction of taxes and the lightening of other public burthens are objects anxiously desired by the country, and in which Congress might find a legitimate and ample field for its energies. Another fact of evil omen is mentioned by correspondents when they inform us that the birds of prey are already flocking to the capital. It is predicted that every old scheme that has failed any time these last ten years will probably be renewed, and new ones be engendered hourly. The corruptionists gathering in Washington seem not to have taken to heart the lesson taught by the fate of the New York ring They seem to be lulled in the same profound sense of security that the ring exhibited in New York just before the reform earthquake shook the ground under them. It may be some time before the national sentiment against corruption takes the Washington ring in hand, and, being stronger and worse than any other, they are likely to die harder. But their day is coming, for the people are more powerful than President makers and lobbyists, as the national Tweeds may yet discover when it is too late to escape the public indignation they have aroused.

QUEER SUICIDE.—A few days since a young man residing in Steubenville, Ohio, visited Pittsburgh, and, of his own accord, applied for and obtained a situation at a hospital where several violent cases of small-pox were, for the purpose, he claimed afterwards, of contracting the disease that he might die. He continued the handling of small pox patients and corpses for several weeks, and returning to his home told his exploits, saying he wished he would take the small-pox, that he was tired of life and "wanted God Almighty to take it." He had his wish. In a few days after making the reckless remarks he was stricken with the disease in the most violent form, his physician pronouncing his case almost hopeless from the first. On Tuesday morning he died and was conveyed to the last earthly tenement, where the troubles of life cease. In his death the circumstances are peculiar; the wish expressed, and the means taken to contract the disease as stated, was a new method of getting rid of life. Another singular circumstance was the publication of his death and the digging of his grave the day before death occurred.

A SHOCKING MURDER IN NORTH CAROLINA.—At a fox-hunt in Wilkes county, N. C., some days ago, Constant Gray and his half-brother, Wm. Mathias, got into an affray, in which Gray cut Mathias's throat, who died almost instantly. Gray took to the woods, and two or three days afterwards sent word to some friends to come and see him. He halted them when they had approached within some fifty yards and gave directions for the disposal of his property. He then drew a knife and cut his throat, and to make the deed sure, drew out the jugular vein with his finger from the gash and severed it.—Gray and Mathias were the best of friends, and the whole affair is attributed to liquor. Gray was a man about fifty years of age, and possessed of considerable property.—He leaves a wife and six children, four of them sons, and all nearly grown, save one.—Raleigh (N. C.) Carolinian.

WE see, by the Anne Arundel Advertiser, Wm. T. Iglehart, Esq., editor, that Grant, previous to the State election, sent at order to Commodore Worden, commandant at the Naval School at Annapolis directing that none of the employees under him should be allowed to vote the Democratic ticket under the penalty of immediate discharge! That such an order was sent by Grant, is proven by the fact that all in the employ of the Government at the Naval School who voted the Democratic ticket, were discharged. It is true to Commodore Worden to say that he protested against this mean and contemptible order.

Now, the "Enforcement Act" subjects any citizen who shall attempt to influence the vote of any one in his employ, to arrest, fine and imprisonment. This is exactly the law, and Grant has flatly violated it. Shall he be arrested for this crime? Why not?

A SON KILLS HIS MOTHER.—In Meridan, Connecticut, on Friday last, a young man named Charles Vetts murdered his mother by cutting her throat with a butcher knife, and then to complete the awful tragedy he cut his own throat and fell dead over the corpse of his mother. The double assassin was to have been married in a few days, and the union being opposed by his mother is supposed was the cause of the difficulty. The walls of the room in which the tragedy occurred were splashed in all directions with blood, the carpet torn up and the furniture overturned, indicating that the mother struggled terribly with her maniac son.

THIS is the heading of a paragraph in a Western paper recording a suicide:—"He blew his head off. Billious, poor, and disheartened—the gun-muzzle in his mouth, his toe on the trigger, and up goes his hair."

A DYING man at Wilkesbarre, Pa., has confessed that he was one of a party of six that set fire to the coal-breaker which produced the memorable Avondale disaster. He died before completing his confession.

AMONG the competitors for the darning prize lately offered in the Georgia State fair, one lady presented a stocking so neatly mended that the judges couldn't find the mark of a needle about the darned thing.

THIRTY-SEVEN enthusiastic members of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals made one horse draw them last week to a concert in aid of the association, at Salem.

FEMALE influence is evidently getting uppermost in Arkansas. At a county fair there a premium is offered for the handsomest man exhibited.

Now is the season to look out for those taking men who slyly enter halls and take overcoats and take leave.

A CHICAGO paper of recent date says: "The first divorce suit since the fire has been entered, and we are once more a city."

THERE have been five thousand deaths from small-pox in London during the past season.

WHO pays the highest price for a home? The woman who marries for one.

SENATOR GARRET DAVIS has just received $5,000 as a fee in a Kentucky lawsuit.

THE Chicago banks have resumed business on a safe basis, but they are careful what kind of safes they buy.

THE RAVAGES OF SMALL-POX IN PHILADELPHIA—Five Thousand Sufferers.—A Philadelphia letter of Sunday says: The ravages of the small-pox in this city have become alarming. The number of its victims is being added to daily, and as the cold weather comes on there is every reason to believe that it will be still worse. The most stringent sanitary regulations are in force here, yet the contagion is in the air, and all that man can do (except to vaccinate) in the way of sanitary precaution seems a waste of time, for the disease has a foothold and the harvest of death will be reaped.

Let it be born in mind that scourge is not confined to the poorer classes. Some of the richest families in Philadelphia are afflicted, and have supplied victims to the loathsome disease since it appeared in June last.

The small-pox hospital building is situated outside of the city. It is overcrowded, and tents have been erected on the premises for the reception of patients.—It is estimated on competent authority that there are no less than five thousand people now suffering from small-pox within the city. There are, of course, many whose names are not reported, although the law in this respect is very stringent.

AN ANNEXATION MOVEMENT.—The British colonists resident in New York held a meeting on the 23d of November for the purpose of organizing a colonial annexation movement. Representatives of Canada, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland, united in a pledge to sustain the project of a union of all these colonies with the United States, and measures were taken to secure the co-operation of their brethren in Chicago, St. Louis, Buffalo, and other places. The speakers at this meeting dwelt upon the project of annexation with great earnestness, contending that it is as sure of consummation as it is certain that England is losing faith in the colonial system, and, therefore, that the question should be considered calmly with reference to contingencies not remote.—As the Journal of Commerce remarks, these gentlemen mean well, but they will fail to get up any enthusiasm over annexation at this time. The advance of the Alabama claims towards settlement has stopped the annexationists in the United States from asking for Canada as an offset to those claims. And, on the other hand, a community that went into moral fits over a defalcation of a paltry thousand and odd dollars by the clerk of a Toronto public office, may well stand aghast at the frightful disclosures of official iniquity in New York and Washington, and precipitately beg to be excused from joining their rustic fortunes with any such depraved crowd.

MANHOOD,
How Lost, How Restored
JUST PUBLISHED, a new edition of DR. CULVERWEL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical cure (without medicine, of Spermatorhoea, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.
Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents.
The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.
Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps.
Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the Publishers,

SAVE YOUR MONEY.
There is no class or remedial agent so extensively or so justly used as MEDICATED PLASTERS; the timely use of one of Alcock's or Wells' STRENGTHENING PLASTERS, will prevent much suffering and sickness, especially if predisposed to weak lungs, or any affection of the Chest or Back. They afford great relief in Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, &c. For sale at
