ON THE SCREEN AT THE NEW LYCEUM

Madeleine Carroll and her co-star, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. together with Tullio Carminati, form the eternal triangle which is the basis of the story of "Safari," the Paramount drama which comes on Wednesday, and Thursday, July 3-4 to the New Lyceum Theatre. Muriel Angelus, Lynne Overman and Billy Gilbert are featured players. Edward H. Griffith directed.

A motion picture as timely as tomorrow's headlines flashed across the screen when "The Mortal Storm" comes to the New Lyceum on Monday and Tuesday, July 1-2.

Characterized by brilliant performances upon the part of an outstanding cast, this film is designed to make audiences think. In brief, it tells the story of a family, a happy family, which suddenly finds itself beaten, divided against itself and helpless against a regime of terror which sweeps down upon it.

Margaret Sullavan, who may always be depended upon for a sterling performance, surpasses anything she has done previously as the hapless heroine, Freya Roth. From start to finish she lives the life of the girl she portrays with sympathy and deep feeling.

The same rule applied to James Stewart in his role of Martin Breitner.

The surprise of the piece, however, comes in the person of Robert Young who, for the first time in his screen career, essays the role of a villain.

A skillfully contrived story, expertly directed and brilliantly enacted by a splendid cast, makes "Safari," the Paramount drama which stars Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Madeleine Carroll, comes on Wednesday and Thursday, July 3-4th at the New Lyceum Theatre, an outstanding screen effort. Having for its principal locate a West African jungle, it offers a deft combination of romance, adventure and comedy.

The story has to do with a safari planned by a wealthy Baron, Tullio Carminati, who arrives on his yacht in M'Pola, with Madeleine Carroll and Muriel Angelus as his guests. Madeleine is determined to marry Carminati and welcomes the opportunity to arouse his jealousy by becoming deeply interested in Fairbanks, a big game hunter Carminati has hired to lead the expedition.

Strong-willed and independent Fairbanks immediately antagonizes Carminati, and refuses to accompany the hunt until Madeleine persuades him. Flying over the area the safari will travel, Fairbanks and Madeleine are forced to remain alone all night in the jungle, arousing Carminati's insane rage.

On a lion hunt Carminati intentionally wounds a lion and suggests that Fairbanks make the kill single-handed. Fairbanks emerges with a torn arm, disbands the camp, and returns to M'Pola after angrily tongue-lashing both Madeleine and Carminati. He plans flying to Europe and the war. In a series of tensely dramatic scenes, the picture is brought to an unexpected but wholly believable conclusion.

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions. These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!
