Maryland State Fair.

The third annual exhibition of the Maryland State Agricultural and Mechanical Association will commence on Tuesday next, on the Pimlico Grounds, near Baltimore, and continue for four days, closing on Friday. Present appearances indicate that the exhibition will be more successful than any of the preceding ones. The grounds have been greatly improved, and the avenues of approach leading thereto newly graded. The grand stand has been thoroughly renovated and painted, and presents a fresh and inviting appearance. Several additional buildings for stabling purposes, and a building for the use of exhibitors of poultry have been erected. The entries already made of stock of every description are very large, and the agricultural and other departments of the exhibition will be fully represented. Each day during the continuance of the exhibition there will be trials of speed on the track, which is in splendid condition.—Altogether the exhibition promises to prove a great success, both as to the display of exhibitors, the trials of speed, &c.

NATIONAL COMMERCIAL CONVENTION.—The National Commercial Convention met at Baltimore on Monday. The body was called to order by John W. Garrett, Esq., the president of the last convention, held at Cincinnati, who made an address on the occasion, and after an impressive prayer by the Rev. Dr. Slicer, speeches of welcome were made by Mayor Banks and the Hon. Wm. Pinkney Whyte. There were about four hundred delegates present, representing the commercial and industrial interests and capital of the whole country, including different States and municipalities, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, railroad and steamboat, manufacturing and mining corporations, &c.—Among the subjects proposed for discussion by the Convention are railroad and water communication, the finances, education, reciprocal trade with South America, the proper disposition of the public lands, the Mississippi levees, civil service reform, direct trade between the Southern seaports and Europe, abolition of licenses on commercial travellers, the refunding of the cotton tax, abolition of forced State inspections, the Chesapeake and Delaware ship canal, foreign immigration, &c.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.—Ex-Attorney General Hoar, in his speech before the Massachusetts Republican Convention, of which he was chairman, took strong ground in favor of woman suffrage, arguing that "until the women of the land are allowed to vote, the Republican party has not accomplished its work." If white women are allowed to vote of course negro women will be entitled to the same privilege—hence it is the mission of the Republican party to give the ballot to negro women. What will be the next step of the "party of progress?"

TRIAL OF PAYMASTER HODGE.—The court martial for the trial of the defaulting paymaster Hodge, of which Gen. Meade was president, met at Fort McHenry on Tuesday. On the arraignment of the accused he pleaded guilty and submitted a written confession. This left the Court nothing to do but make up its finding and sentence, which will first be submitted at Washington. The exact amount of his defalcation is $445,406.60, which was taken in sums of $500 to $50,000.

Eugene L. Jackson and James A. Polhaums, New York brokers, were arrested on Tuesday by the United States deputy marshal, on the charge of complicity with Hodge, and were admitted to bail in $25,000 each. They declare they are innocent. They were Hodge's local agents.

THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR DEMONSTRATION IN BALTIMORE.—The great Knights Templar parade in Baltimore on Thursday of last week was the grandest Masonic demonstration that has ever taken place in this country. Over five thousand Knights were in the procession, and the precision with which the various difficult evolutions were performed called forth unbounded applause from the multitudes assembled on the line of march. The city was completely overrun with strangers.

THAT SUNKEN COUNTY.—The story going the rounds of the newspapers about the submerging of a large district of Florida beneath the waters is pronounced by the State engineer to be a pure invention.

ORPHANS' COURT, Tuesday, Sept. 26th.—Releases from the heirs of John H. Burchinal to Wm. D. Burchinal, adm'r, were received and ordered to be recorded. A power of attorney from Rachel M. Clark, administratrix of Joshua Clark, constituting and appointing Chas. H. Baker her agent and attorney to settle said estate, was received and ordered to be recorded. Rachel M. Clark, adm'x of Joshua Clark, returned an inventory of the personal estate of said deceased. Letters of administration on the personal estate of John Greenwood were granted to J. A. Pearce and Geo. W. Greenwood, and L. S. Fowler and John L. Stam were appointed to appraise said estate, and the usual notice to creditors ordered. C. H. Baker, exec'r of Wm. T. Baker, returned his first administration account.

THE NEW RAILROAD.—The project of that rich corporation, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, to build a new railroad between New York and Baltimore is assuming a tangible form. The Baltimore Sun says that Col. S. R. Johnson, with a corps of competent engineers, is at present surveying the route.

LAND SALE.—R. Hynson, Esq., trustee, sold on Tuesday the farm of the late T. D. Burgess, containing 60 acres, to R. W. Calder, at $35 per acre.

THE personal property of Mr. Richard Peacock will be sold at trustees' sale, at his residence, near Galena, next Friday.

Another Circus Coming.

The great European Circus is coming to Chestertown. It will exhibit here on Wednesday next, Oct. 4th. The Jacksonville Sentinel speaks thusly about it;

The Great European Circus, which has excited the fondest anticipations of the juvenile portion of our community for days past, has come and gone. The day was an unusually fine one, and hundreds of the rural population came flocking in from early morn until high noon. Our every hand might be seen rustic lads and lasses, sauntering hand in hand through the streets, and gazing in wrapt amazemant at the huge pictorial posters depicting the wonders of the coming show. Retail dealers in pop beer, ginger bread and peanuts drove a lively trade, but ordinary business was not enlivened much. The procession through the streets was really grand, much superior to anything of the kind heretofore witnessed in this city.—During the afternoon the large pavilion was filled to its utmost capacity, and the performance seemed to give universal satisfaction. In fact, the unanimous verdict of those present seemed to be that it was "the best circus they ever saw." The entire equipment—pavilion, wagons, costumes, &c.—are bran new, and the performers are all selected from the highest rank of the profession in the United States and Europe. A prominent feature of this circus, and one that others would do well to imitate, is that they perform everything to the letter that they advertise, omitting nothing. The crowd at the evening performance was even larger than in the afternoon, and the company must have gone away with their exchequer pretty well lined. One of the most commendable features about this circus is that there is not a "rough" connected with it, and every employe, from the hostlers up, seemed to be temperate and civil.

COMMUNICATED.

Thomas James Ford Smith, Esq.

Messrs. Editors:—The gentleman whose name heads this article is, I understand, offering himself for the office of County Commissioner of the Republican party for the first district of Kent county, Maryland. I confess I am somewhat shocked at the idea, that a gentleman of such ability, and I might say such administrative ability, did not offer himself, with his unbounded popularity, to the Republican party as their standard bearer—i. e., their candidate for Governor of the Commonwealth of Maryland; then his aspirations might have been satisfied, after he had reached the United States Senate and reveled with Senator Revels, who he swears is his equal politically, socially, religiously, for all time to come. I shall not dispute him, for he says, and tells his dark brethren, and names them too, that Democrats good and true will vote him, if he only gets the nomination.

I tremble when I think that the Republican party has such an ægis to place in nomination against our candidate, Robert S. Griffith. However, if the Republicans of this district should attempt anything of the kind, tradition shall be ransacked, and you shall hear again from MORE ANON.

Masseys, Sept. 28, 1871.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.—Col. W. W. W. Bowie, of Prince George's county, was recently a candidate for nomination as State's Attorney for that county. The county convention met and nominated another gentleman, whereupon Col. Bowie was solicited to run as an independent candidate. He replied to this solicitation thro' the columns of the Prince George's papers, saying that he "belonged to the party, not the party to him." This is the right spirit, and it would be well for aspirants to office to remember the sentiment of Col. Bowie. When candidates go before the people and submit their claims to them for decision, they and their supporters are in honor bound to abide by that decision. All cannot be gratified; some must be disappointed; but let such persons put themselves in the place of the nominees, and ask themselves how they would like to be opposed by an independent ticket, had they been nominated? If it is important to keep up party organizations, party nominations should be respected. If a man be disappointed in his aspirations, let him bow with deference to the judgment of his party and bide his time. Another opportunity may crown him with success.—Democratic Advocate.

BUTLER DEFEATED.—The Massachusetts Republican State Convention on Wednesday nominated Hon. Wm. B. Washburn for Governor by 190 majority over Gen. Butler. It is said that Butler accepts the result and will not run as an independent candidate, as he had threatened to do under certain contingencies.

A NEGRO OFFICER.—A. Ward Handy, colored, has been appointed filing clerk in the Baltimore postoffice, at a salary of $1,000 per annum. Many a poor white man would have been glad of the place at a much smaller salary.

SENATORS Sumner and Wilson have authorized the Boston Journal & Advertiser to state that they deplore the "extraordinary canvass" which General Butler has "precipitated" in Massachusetts, and that in their opinion his nomination as Governor "would be hostile to the best interests of the Commonwealth and the Republican party."

QUEEN ANNE'S ITEMS.—We find the following in the Observer:

The Democrats and Conservatives on Tuesday nominated the following ticket: State Senator, James T. Earle. House of Delegates, Dr. Roderick W. Eareckson and Capt. Budd S. Ford. State's Attorney, Thomas J. Keating. Sheriff, Wm. C. Dudley. County Commissioners, Wm. T. Hammond, Jos. E. George and Daniel Friel. Orphans' Court, Wm. K. White, Richard C. Tilghman and Aug. McCabe. County Surveyor, Benj. S. Elliott. This is a good ticket and will be supported by the Democracy as a unit.

Thomas J. Keating, Esq., sold at Sudlersville, on Saturday, the farms of Benj. Coppage, containing 327 acres, and a tract of woodland containing 191 acres, to Jacob B. Felton, of Delaware, for $7,600. Also, the farm of Noah C. Merchant, containing 350 acres, to Stephen J. Bradley, at $9 per acre.

THE Democrats and Conservatives of Talbot county have nominated the following ticket: For House of Delegates, Wm. Goldsborough and Robert R. Butler; for Sheriff, Oliver P. Sparks; for judges of the Orphans' Court, Wm. G. Roberts, T. Haddaway Leonard and W. H. Bruff; for County Commissioners, Henry E. Bateman, Francis A. Wrightson and John Kersey; Surveyor, Chas. E. Shanahan.

In Cecil county the same party have nominated Andrew J. Pennington, Jas. B. Groome and Levi R. Mearns for the House of Delegates; Clinton McCullough for State's Attorney; Richard Thomas for Sheriff; James A. Lewis, Jas. McCauley and Jas. M. Evans for judges of the Orphans' Court, and John F. Stevens, John W. Beavans and Joseph J. Johnson for County Commissioners.

In Caroline county the same party have nominated Dr. A. Hardcastle and W. H. Deweese for the House of Delegates, Jas. A. Roe for Sheriff, and P. W. Downs for State's Attorney.

The Republicans of Cecil county have put in nomination a ticket, as follows:—For the House of Delegates, Job. Haines, David K. Ralston and Isaac D. Davis; for county commissioners, David Palmer, Palmer C. Strickland and Luke Brown; for judges of the orphans' court, Lewis T. Roberts, Isaac Z. Collins and Sutton Scarborough; for Sheriff, Chalkley B. Cutler; for State's Attorney, L. Marshal Haines.

SHOCKING SUICIDE—A Man Blows Himself Up with a Keg of Powder.—Norwalk, Conneticut, September 21.—A most distressing casualty happened about one mile above the town this morning, at six o'clock, arousing the neighborhood, who awoke but to find that a terrific explosion by gunpowder had taken place. It was soon ascertained that it proceeded from the house of Mr. Horatio T. Cook. On proceeding thither a most horrible sight presented itself. The house was literally rent in twain, its east end blown out, the roof lifted, windows gone, ceiling demolished, and on fire. But the most sickening sight was the blackened and disfigured corpse of poor Cook, which lay thrown back, buried in the burning debris. Mrs. Cook was also found seriously injured, and in a most pitiable condition. Mrs. Cook furnishes the following account of the circumstances preceding the affair:

It is known that Mr. Cook belongs to a family predisposed to insanity, and Horatio, when a lad, was kicked in the head by a horse, from which he has no doubt specially suffered. He was in the Insane Asylum at Hartford two years, some five or six years ago. During the last few weeks he has been ill from intermittent fever and congestion of the brain. Just before daylight he, having a chill, called his wife up and desired her to lie down beside him. This she did, and, falling asleep, he quietly arose and went into her room, where, at the foot of the bed, there had been stored a keg about half full of blasting powder, which he used in his business as a rockblaster. It would seem from the position of the remains that he moved the keg out from the bed, laid himself over it and touched it off. Previous to exploding the powder he had carefully gathered up all of Mrs. Cook's clothing in the upper part of the house and threwn them down the cellar, with a view of their preservation, thus showing entire deliberation in planning his own destruction. To the fact that the house was very slightly built, and the windows up and the bed room doors open, may be attributed the almost marvellous escape of Mrs. Cook—the only other occupant of the house at the time. The remains are shockingly blackened and burned, but not so badly mutilated as would be supposed.

THRILLING SCENE—Fight Between a Leopardess and Two Hyenas.—An English journal of a recent date gives the subjoined account of a fearful combat in a menagerie at Carnarvon, Wales, between a leopardess, three hyenas, and a keeper:

"Shortly before the feeding, when the carnivora were becoming exceedingly active and parading their respective dens with evident pleasure in expectation of their daily meal, a leopardess, which had its habitation with three other performing leopards, had quietly bored a small hole in the partition, and at the sight of three performing hyenas, her next-door neighbors, dashed through and made a terrible onslaught on the three animals. They, in turn, played their part—two of them remaining in deadly combat with the leopardess, while the third hyena, which had evidently learned that flight was sometimes the best part of valor, escaped through the hole by which the leopardess had entered, only to find itself surrounded by greater dangers, namely, three growling leopards. These appeared at first quite amazed at the unexpected visitor, and for some seconds held consultation by crouching and growling at the further end of their den. A policeman gave the alarm, and Lorenzo, with the agility and intrepidity of a tiger, rushed into the hyenas' den, and, inviting two keepers to follow him, the three human beings could be seen in the midst of the combatants, who by this time had redoubled the fight. The grasp was a terrific one, and a fatal one. Sooner than we can write, one hyena lay dead. The leopardess released her captive only to make an attack upon the other. Lorenzo, rushing at the neck of the leopards, made an appeal to his two human comrades to reach the leopardess' tail to Mr. Fairgrieve and three other gentlemen who had come up on the outside of the den. Then there was a sight worth seeing. The leopardess doubled and redoubled, plunged and replunged, but was safe so long as the tail was in the hands of the captives. Self-preservation then became the first law of her nature, and with the assistance of Lorenzo and his friends inside, the gasping hyena was released. During this scene within the hyenas' den, the other keepers managed, by shifting doors, to separate the fugitive hyena (No. 2) from the other leopards."

THE election in Pennsylvania takes place on the second Tuesday in October, which is the 10th of the month. The Lancaster Intelligencer thinks that if a full vote be polled the Democratic ticket will be elected by 20,000 majority. But for a prevalent supineness in the party at that time, it says Judge Sharswood's majority would have been fifty thousand.

THE New York Nation, in speaking of the efforts of Ben Butler to get the nomination for Governor of Massachusetts on the Republican ticket, makes a "ten strike" into the Radical camp as follows. The "animal" will next pounce upon the Nation. It must be careful:

"His progress has certainly been sufficiently great to cause the retirement of Mr. Jewell, and to force the managers to get Senators Sumner and Wilson to come out, declaring that they would rather not see him nominated. This declaration could not have been extracted from either of these gentlemen in 1868, when Butler was beginning his career in Massachusetts politics. Mr. Sumner then refused to say a word against him, Mr. Boutwell spoke in his behalf, and the Republican Committee helped him to the best of its ability. If there be justice in heaven, they ought now to have Butler for Governor, whether they want him or not.—No community or party has a right to train up an animal of that sort, and let him loose on the country at large, and then complain of his doing a little tearing and rending around the old homestead.—To have a notorious "liar and blackguard" for chief magistrate of their State would be a fit and logical conclusion, and the only fit and logical conclusion, to the course of the party and its press towards this man for the last five years."

A TALE OF TWO CITIES.—"Three murders sum up the record of the horrors produced by Sunday rum within the last twenty-four hours," says Monday's New York Herald. "Love, hate and rum are doing the deadly work of cholera and war." "I have the honor to announce that I have no report to make," said the Richmond (Va.) chief of police on the same morning. There had not been an arrest made during the previous forty-eight hours. Among the latest lengthy disquisitions of the New York press was one showing the sad religious destitution of the Southern people, and the need of sending them missionaries.

MANY men in Massachusetts who have heretofore voted the Radical ticket, have already declared their intention to vote with the Democracy this fall, the Democratic platform being of a character entirely unobjectionable to all true patriots.

OBITUARY.—On the 22d Sept., of congestive chill, at the residence of her parents, near Chestertown, Mrs. MARY SAPPINGTON, widow of the late Dr. Asbury Sappington, in the 31st year of her age. The life of this estimable lady was, from her earliest childhood, one continued exemplification of the power and beauty of Religion. Under all the circumstances of her life of vicissitudes, the light of her christian character shone forth. Ever gentle and affectionate, she was a dutiful daughter, and a devoted wife and mother, promoting the happiness of all connected with her, and winning, especially, the hearts of little children by the sweet tenderness of her manner towards them. In all good works she was faithful, visiting the sick, ministering like an angel of mercy to the wants of the needy, and soothing by her kind and pious attentions the dying moments of her departing friends.

In the mysterious order of Divine Providence, great trials were allotted to her, which she bore with christian fortitude and resignation, knowing that "all things but sin fall out by God's appointment," and that "He loveth whom He chasteneth." Less than a year ago the grave closed over the remains of her husband, and shortly afterwards she was called to mourn the loss of a beloved sister. But misfortunes, trials and bereavements only purify and expand the soul of the true christian.—Bowing submissively to the decrees of Eternal wisdom, she devoted herself to the comfort and care of her family, and to the interests of the Church. In behalf of the Catholic Church in prospect in Chestertown, she exerted her energies to the utmost. Her labors were crowned with success, and a bright career of usefulness seemed to be before her. Her loss to the Church, to her family and friends, particularly to her two little children, now orphans, is incalculable; but we earnestly hope and believe that our loss will be her eternal gain. Long and tenderly will her name and memory be cherished by all who knew her and appreciated her worth. May her soul rest in peace! Amen. M.
