DEATH OF HON. WM. H. SEWARD.—The telegraph announces the death of one of the most distinguished of the public men of the country, the Hon. Wm. H. Seward, at his residence in Auburn, New York, on Thursday of last week. Since his return from his late extended tour of foreign travel Mr. Seward has been in failing health, although occupying himself, with his accustomed energy, in preparing a history of his travels. Mr. Seward was born in Florida, Orange county, N. Y., May 16, 1801. He was the son of Sam'l S. Seward, a physician and merchant, who for seventeen years held the office of first judge of the county. He graduated at Union College, New York, and spent six months as a teacher in Georgia. He was admitted to the bar of New York in 1822, beginning practice at Auburn. In 1830 he was elected to the State Senate of New York as an anti-Mason, by a majority of some 2,000. In 1834 he was nominated for Governor by the whig party, but was defeated by the election of Wm L. Marcy, although in every county he led his ticket. In 1838 he was more successful, having beaten his former competitor, Governor Marcy, and been elected to the governorship by a majority of over 10,000. He held this office for two terms, having been re-elected in 1840.

During his tenure of the governorship the correspondence known as the "Virginia correspondence" was widely published in relation to slavery and the rendition of fugitives from justice. In February, 1849, he was elected to the United States Senate. It was in his speech in the Senate on the admission of California, in 1850, that he introduced the phrase "higher law," applying it to what he considered the law of God as being higher than the constitution. In 1858 he made an electioneering speech in Rochester, N. Y., in which he spoke of the collision between the systems of free and slave labor in the United States as an "irrepressible conflict," and indicating that the United States must become either entirely slaveholding or entirely free labor. His second term in the Senate closed March 3d, 1861. In 1860, a large portion of the republican party favored his nomination for the presidency, and in the convention on the first ballot he received 173 votes, and Mr. Lincoln, the next highest, 103, while 233 were necessary for a choice.—On the final ballot Mr. Lincoln was nominated. On being elected Mr. Lincoln offered him the chief place of his cabinet, and he entered upon the duties of Secretary of State March 4, 1861. His career during the war, in his attempted assassination, and his services as premier under President Johnson are fresh in public recollection. Mr. Seward was not only distinguished as a statesman and lawyer, but was a finished orator and a man of general scholarship and literary attainments.

ADDRESS OF THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES.—The following address of the National Democratic Committee to the people of the United States has been issued:

The October elections are over. They enable us to form a tolerably accurate idea of the true political situation of the country.

In Georgia we have to recount a victory for the liberal ticket so unexampled as to take her out of the list of doubtful States, and practically to pronounce in advance the decision of at least 125 voters in the electoral college. To this number it is only necessarry to add sixty votes to elect Greeley and Brown.

In Pennsylvania the distinguished chairman of the liberal committee has eloquently characterized the methods by which the result of the election there was accomplished. We commend his statement to the thoughtful attention of the country.

In Ohio, despite most unprecedented gains for the liberal-democratic ticket, the Grant managers have carried the election by a reduced majority, having brought to the polls their entire reserve vote. Had our democratic friends in certain localities of that great commonwealth shown the same earnestness and activity, and enabled us, like our enemies, to record our entire strength, they would now be exulting over a brilliant victory. In Indiana the democratic and liberal forces have achieved a most important success over Pennsylvania tactics most unscrupulously employed by the administration and its allies, showing thus that a free people when aroused know their rights and dare maintain them. Indiana has fairly demonstrated that she can neither be "bought nor bullied." The moral of these results is that victory is still in plain view for our national ticket, and that energy and courage will assure it. That victory must be won. If we mean to preserve free institutions on this continent we must assure it.

The event in Pennsylvania, on Tuesday last, when considered in its causes, is the most appalling political catastrophe that has ever taken place in this country. Should the system through which this catastrophe was brought about to be condoned by the people and foisted on the other States, it seals the doom of freedom in America. A sad contrast it is surely that the city in which our republic was born amid the anthems of a free people should now be the first to toll the knell of its liberties. It is for the free, unbought people of all the States to calmly review the fearful crime against suffrage in Pennsylvania, and to decide whether it shall be repeated within their own borders.

For the first time the system of free government and the sanctity of the ballot are really on trial in the United States. From this hour forward the preservation of the franchise in its integrity dwarfs all other issues.

Let our friends in each of the States catch inspiration from the heoric conduct of our fellow-citizens in Georgia and in Indiana, and from now till November let their struggle be manful and unceasing for liberty and an untainted ballot-box, for reform and an honest administration of the government. AUGUSTUS SCHELL, Chairman National Dem. Com.

WILMINGTON, DELAWARE.—The board of trade of Wilmington, Delaware, has just issued its annual report, from which the following interesting statistics have been taken: Population of Wilmington and suburbs, 40,000; value of real estate, $25,000,000; personal estate, $18,000,000. The city proper has an area of eight square miles, and contains 41 churches, 15 public schools, 16 private academies and 8 banks. Ten newspapers are published regularly. There are five charitable institutions, three insurance companies, 18 loan associations, sixty-five secret societies, and eleven incorporated companies of a miscellaneous character. The articles manufactured during the year ending October 1st, 1872, amounted in value to $20,125,000, and the capital employed amounted to $12,375,050

ROSENZWEIG AGAIN.—Chief Justice Ingraham, sitting in Supreme Court Chambers, in New York, has granted a writ of error in the case of Rosenzweig, convicted in the Court of General Sessions of surgical malpractice—in the case of the young woman of the famous trunk mystery—and now undergoing sentence in the State prison at Auburn. Under the statute this writ is granted as a matter of right, but does not stay sentence pending the argument of the case on appeal.

THE MARYLAND JOCKEY CLUB—Arrival of Horses—Reversal of the Rules.—The annual fall meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club, whose last season was decided by the New York Herald to have been "the most brilliant meeting of the year," will begin on Tuesday of next week, lasting four days, with one off day—Thursday. The premiums offered in the several races amount to about $25,000, and are so well distributed as to give nearly all horses appearing during the meeting a chance for a winning.

Some of the most prominent stables have already arrived on the grounds, among them those of Mr. August Belmont, the well-known New York banker; McDaniel & Co., and Sanford, all having fine horses on their stud lists. The track is being put in excellent running condition by Mr. J. D. Ferguson, the energetic secretary of the Jockey Club, and every accommodation shown to those who have already arrived. More are expected today and to-morrow, and on or before Saturday there will be an assemblage of some of the brightest stars in the turf firmament of this country. The French pool plan, so popular in New York, wherein a party may invest as low as $5, will be adopted at the track, but the pools sold in the city on the evening preceding each day's races will be conducted on the old plan.

The lovers of racing are already in a flurry of pleasurable excitement and anticipation over the coming event, and all are anxious to learn whether "Monarchist," whose star seems just now to be in the ascendency, will compete with "Bassett" in the four-mile race. Some doubt exists in the premises, as it is hinted by those who claim to know, that "Bassett" is certainly withdrawn, whilst others assert as positively that he will be entered. Whether he is or not, though, Monarchist, it is stated, will be, and will have some powerful competitors, thus guaranteeing a great race.

AN IMMENSE WILD PIGEON ROOST IN MARYLAND.—The Cumberland (Maryland) News reports that for some time past there has been an immense roost of wild pigeons in Allegany county, about five miles northwest of Oakland, on Mr. William Schley's land. Five or six acres of land upon which the birds roost were covered with the pigeons in such countless numbers that they bore to the earth the alders upon which they settled. The News says:

"So great was the number of birds that they were piled upon each other in places from one to two feet in depth. The scene is described as wonderful and almost beyond belief. The fluttering of the countless thousands of wings, as the birds were flocking in and struggling with each other for an alighting place, was like the roar of a waterfall, and could be heard at a distance of two miles, while the snapping of broken limbs of the trees added to the uproar and confusion, as the startled birds would arise to settle down again, perhaps in the same spot where their great weight had but the instant before broken their perches and precipitated them to the ground. It is estimated that all the flocks of pigeons for perhaps fifty or sixty miles around thus gather at this one spot each evening during their annual migratory visit to the immense forest regions of the Allegany mountains in quest of the heavy mass of acorns abounding there. This is the only roost known this season in this or any of the bordering counties, and is perhaps the only one within a circle of several hundred miles. It is a well-established fact that these birds have but one roosting place within a very large territory, and in their transit to warmer latitudes, and during their stoppage by the way, use one place only as a roost at night. At this wonderful roost on Col. Schley's place thousands and thousands of pigeons have been nightly captured by men and boys with guns, clubs and bags. After nightfall a person can go among the birds and scoop them into the mouth of a bag."

A CHICAGO RETROSPECT—The Work of a Year.—The Chicago papers all give an extended history of the city between the great fire and its first anniversary, October 7, 8 and 9. From the Inter-Ocean we condense some of the leading facts:

The total cost of buildings which have been erected in the burnt district is $45,558,200. Thirteen new hotels have been completed or are now in course of construction. Six Chicago elevators, having an aggregate capacity of 2,475,000 bushels of grain and containing 1,559,395 bushels of grain, were destroyed by the fire. Four have already arisen in place of the old, and the fifth will be ready by November 1. The storage room in Chicago elevators in the fall of 1871 was 11,375,000 bushels. Not only has this been regained, but it has been absolutely increased within the twelve months by fully 1,000,000 bushels.

In dry goods the number of houses is about the same as a year ago; the volume of business is fully 20 to 25 per cent. larger. The decline in real estate was not permanent. On the contrary, estimating moderately, the increase in the gross valuation of the 2,000 acres burned over has been not less than 15 per cent. in the past year. The increase of the grain trade in the year under review is upward of 11 per cent. The total exceeds by 26,000,000 bushels the receipts of 1870, and by 17,000,000 bushels the receipts of 1868, the largest grain year previous to the fire. Outrunning the average of the general increase, the receipts of corn are larger by 16,000,000 bushels than in any year before the fire, while oats, though showing comparatively a small increase, are above the average of the eight years previous to 1871. In boots and shoes and kindred branches the number of large houses is about the same. The increase in the business has been marked. Eleven leading firms report sales of over $10,000,000 since the fire, and an average income of 25 per cent.—That percentage is probably not far from an average of the whole trade.

SNOW.—The line of the Pittsburg and Connellsville railroad between Confluence and Sand Patch was on Friday visited by a brisk snow-storm of an hour's duration. Of course the snow did not remain upon the ground, but at one time the earth was white for considerable distance along the railroad track.—Cumberland (Md.) News.

THE Ohio democratic State central comcittee met at Columbus, and agreed to prosecute the campaign with vigor.—Among those present were Geo. H. Pendleton, Geo. W. McCook, Senator Thurman, and several members of Congress.

Old Things Have Passed Away.

This is at least true of the old method of treating the long abused and much abused human body. It is no longer considered wise to put a patient to the torture in order to cure him of a disease in which pain is already undermining the energies of his system. True science ranges itself on the side of nature, and endeavors to assist her in her fight against disease. This is the province of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most approved tonic ever advertised in this country. It may be recommended as a fall medicine, par excellence; for it is in the fall that biliousness, dyspepsia and malarious fevers are especially prevalent. The frame, exhausted by the heats of summer is relaxed and feeble at its close, and requires, we may say DEMANDS, artificial assistance. Afford it that assistance in occasional doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and the evils referred to may be escaped. Throughout the far West, and on the steaming alluvial of the Southern rivers, all the varieties of periodical fever are probably rife to-day. Had a course of Hostetter's Bitters been commenced by the sufferers a month ago, i. e., before the unhealthy season set in, seven-eighths of them would in all probability be in their usual health at the present time. So much for want of forecaste. So much for not keeping in the house, and using daily, the best safeguard against epidemic and endemic fevers.

As flocks of imposters and imitators are trying to follow in the wake of the great American remedy, therefore be sure that the article you buy is genuine and verified by the proper trade-marks. The true article can only be obtained in bottles. Beware of the spurious bitters sold by the gallon or in keg.

To FARMERS!

PACIFIC GUANO COMPANY'S

Soluble Pacific Guano!

THE attention of Farmers and other consumers of Fertilizers is invited to this Guano, as worthy of their especial notice. Its use for several years in Maryland, Virginia and other Southern States for all crops, has given it a standard character for excellence unequalled by any other.

It possesses all the QUICKNESS of Peruvian Guano, with PERMANENT QUALITIES not found in that article. 250 lbs. of this Guano are found more than equal to 300 lbs. of the best Super Phosphates.

It RIPENS the crop from five to seven days earlier than the Phosphates, which feat alone gives it incalculable advantages.

The Great Fertilizer.

WHANN'S

RAW BONE SUPER PHOSPHATE.

FARMERS who are about purchasing Fertilizers for seeding their WHEAT should by all means use WHANN'S RAW BONE SUPER PHOSPHATE, which, for the past ten years, has met with unexampled success on this important crop.

Wheat grown with Whann's Phosphate has a large well filled head, stiff straw, and is far less liable to smut and rust than when grown with stable or other manures.

Whann's Raw Bone Super Phosphate

is a COMPLETE MANURE, containing all the elements needed by growing plants. It is rich in SOLUBLE PHOSPHATES and AMMONIA, and while it possesses the prompt and active properties of Peruvian Guano, it has the more durable qualities of Pure Dissolved Bones from which it is made.
