TRICKING THE GYPSIES.—The Seaford Citizen tells the following story about the Gypsies recently encamped near that town:

"For ways that are dark" the Gypsies are peculiar, but one of their tricks was discovered by a shrewd old farmer while they were encamped in Maryland, recently. It seems that they had a fine horse, so trained that when they traded with any one he would lie down, and no amount of persuasion could induce him to get up again, and the consequence was the Gypsies would offer, for a certain consideration to trade back again. The old farmer listened attentively as a friend expitiated upon the good qualities of the horse, and he mentally resolved to posess it, and this is how he got it: He hitched up a pair of mules and taking a horse whose end was nigh at hand, he started for their camp. He offered to give them $10 and his horse in exchange. Of course his offer was quickly taken up; the halter was untied and he started off with his new bargain, but down went the obstinate beast on the ground. The Gypsies smiled significantly and immediately offered to trade back for an extra $10. "Narry trade," responded the old man. "Jim," he yelled to his black man, "Jim, bring up them mules" Jim obeyed, and a rope was put around the horse's neck and the mules started. The situation was rather uncomfortable for the tricky animal, and he was soon upon his feet. The Gypsy was astonished, and vainly tried to get him back, offering $150 for him. The farmer was inexorable, however, and quietly remarked as he left the camp with his prize: "$10 ain't much to lose."

We learn that the gentleman has since been offered $250 for the horse, but refused it, as he has not only proved to be sound but a very fast traveler.

ONE of the most remarkable contributions to the temperance discussion yet elicited is the sermon of Dr. Howard Crosby, preached on Sunday morning at the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York. Dr. Crosby dissents entirely from the common view of the drunkard as a person to be pitied, and would treat him instead as a criminal to be punished. He regards the keeping of tippling shops as equally criminal; and finally charges the total abstinence party with serious responsibility for the drunkenness of the land thro' a reaction provoked by their preaching a false gospel. On this point he said:

"And here I make the charge against my total abstinence friends, with all regard for their honesty of purpose and with a true sympathy with their motives, that they are making very many to stumble by preaching a false gospel. The churches swarm with total abstinence societies, total abstinence prayer-meetings, total abstinence celebrations, total abstinence bands of hope, and total abstinence literature, until it is the most natural thing in the world to suppose that total abstinence is the one great burden of the Gospel. Now, what is the natural effect of all this upon the world at large? It simply disgusts them into a determination of opposition which increases the drunkenness of the land. I believe that the misguided efforts of good men in the total abstinence cause have increased greatly the evil they sought to abate. As a minority they have been always defeated in legislation in our State, when, if they would join men of moderate views, who would put down drunkards and drunkard factories, they would win a glorious victory for true and healthful temperance.

A GREAT CURIOSITY.—Last week Mr. Henry Kline, of Juniata township, brought to this office one of the most remarkable curiosities we ever saw. This consisted of a hen's egg, having a well developed snake inside the shell. The egg was one that was fresh laid and full size. When broken, Mr. Kline noticed something mixed in the white which he thought he would take out. He therefore lifted it up, when he noticed it move, and closer examination showed a tongue dart out in the most approved snake fashion, while the eyes could be plainly seen. So singular a freak of nature was worth particular notice, and so he placed the egg and snake in a glass and brought it to this office, where it was examined by a great number of persons, all of whom expressed their astonishment. The snake was about two inches long and about as thick as a turkey quill, and was almost colorless. The question naturally arises how did it come there, and what would have been the result had the egg been hatched?—Bloomfield (Pa.) Times.

GOING BY CONTRARIES.—While the mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, is issuing proclamations virtually to suppress the anti-liquor crusaders, or rather warning them from interfering with the law rights of others and disturbing the peace, the authorities of Columbus, Ohio, are taking measures to protect the crusaders and suppress anticipated riotous demonstrations against them. The firemen have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to assist the police if necessary. In the smaller towns around Columbus the crusaders have been very successful. Many of the liquor dealers in Findlay, Clyde and Bellevue have surrendered; in New Lisbon all the saloons are closed; and in New Philadelphia the town council has passed an ordinance totally prohibiting the sale of liquor.

CREMATION.—Austria is the first country to adopt measures for the instruction of cremation as a mode of disposing of the bodies of the dead. Sir Henry Thompson's paper on cremation has been translated twice into German, once at Cologne, and once in Gratz, a city in Austria containing a population of 100,000. The Austria publication was prefixed by an introduction written by Dr. Kopl, formerly physician to the King of Belgium. Influenced, it is said, by this paper, the communal council of Vienna has adopted, by a large majority, a proposal to establish in the cemetery the necessary apparatus for burning the bodies, the use of which will be optional and open to all. The council of Grats has passed a similar resolution.

THE WAY "to minister to a mind diseased," is to take Peruvian Syrup, a protected solution of the protoxide of iron, which gives strength and vigor to the whole system, restores the digestive organs to perfect health, thereby restoring the mind to its natural vigor.

No Excuse for being Sick.

No person can use Boschee's German Syrup without getting immediate relief and cure. We have the first case of Coughs, Colds, or Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, yet to hear from, which has not been cured. We have distributed every year for three years over 250,000 sample bottles "free of charge," by druggists in all parts of the United States. No other manufacturer of Medicine ever gave their preparations such a test on this. Go to your Druggists, STAM & BRO., or F. W. WICKES, and get a bottle for 75 cts. and try it—two doses will relieve you.
