INDEMNITY FROM SPAIN.—It is at length announced that Mr. Cushing, our minister to Spain, lately arrived at Madrid, has, under instructions from the government of the United States, and in accordance with the protocol in regard to the Virginius affair, made a peremptory demand upon the Spanish government for full indemnity to the unfortunate victims of the Santiago massacre. This will be gratifying news to all Americans who wish to see their government prompt in redressing wrongs inflicted by foreign nations upon its people, and also to all the friends of humanity. While we regret that the U. S. should be behind the British government in making such a demand, still it is better late than never. The American position in regard to the Santiago massacre is, to say the least of it, quite as strong as that of Great Britain. There was a period in the history of this county, before we had encumbered ourselves with an enormous national debt, and had pursued a domestic policy calculated to estrange and embitter our own people when our position would have been promptly recognized and acted upon.

It would be difficult to imagine that under such an administration as that of Andrew Jackson any foreign nation would have attempted violence or wrong to American citizens. The summary manner in which he handled the Spaniards in Florida when, in 1818, he seized a Spanish fort and a Spanish town, and the power of his country felt and reverenced by the Spanish government, and this when the United States was comparatively a weak power, shows that neither Spain nor any other country would ever trifle with American rights or American citizens while such a spirit as that of Jackson controls the helm of state. At the same time it is right to admit that the country under Jackson's administration, though less populous than now, was free from debt and its people united among themselves, whereas now the dominant party, by pursuing a policy which entails greater wrong and injury upon one section than they have ever suffered from a foreign foe, has induced such governments as Spain to believe that we will be indifferent to trespasses and insults, which do not interfere with our malignity towards one another. Even Spain will have more real consideration for the United States if we compel her to render us justice. The Spanish name has been synonymous with cruelty and barbarity, to which will soon have to be added political impotency. Her factions have been fighting at home for the control of their own government, until it would really seem as if it were an act of humanity in the civilized governments of Europe to intervene, and by force of arms compel Spain to keep the peace in her own dominions. As for Cuba, it exists as a colony of Spain only by our suffrance. With a breath of our mouth we can blow it away from her at any time, but we would prefer that Spain respond to the demand of Mr. Cushing, and make the most full and complete indemnity for the Santiago massacre, and then reform herself and her miserable Cuba colony.—Balto. Sun.

HYDROPHOBIA.—Successful Treatment of a Case in Michigan.—Dr. Silas Stephenson, of New Bedford, Penn., writes to the New York Tribune as follows:

The sad account of the death of Francis Butler, the dog-trainer and fancier, from hydrophobia, has caused me to revive a similar case which occurred at Flint, Mich., January 19, 1872.

Mr. Burt True, of said place, was bitten by a rabid dog some time in May the previous year. The animal left the imprint of several teeth in the centre of his right hand. Being some distance from surgical aid, the wound was not cauterized with nitrate of silver until twelve hours thereafter. It healed kindly, and was not in the least irritable up to the date above given. Then well marked symptoms of hydrophobia developed themselves, such as convulsions, frothing at the mouth, "barking like a dog," exertions to bite everything, dread of water, etc. Soon after the attack Dr. Axford was summoned, and discovered the terrible nature of the disease. The course of treatment as here detailed was pursued, with a happy result:

One grain morphina sulphas was injected under the skin every four hours, and half a dram of powdered castor was given per orem, mixed with syrup. The effect was the alternation of convulsions and repose, when two days thereafter, Sunday morning, the patient was wrapped in a woollen blanket saturated with a warm solution of muriate of ammonia. Except the occasional inhalation of small quantities of chloroform, the entire treatment has been given. Vomiting proved troublesome for several days, but on Monday the patient became comparatively quiet, and gradually convalesced from that time. Dr. Axford had treated a similar case with the same result, some time previous. During the convulsions the patient would seize the pillows with his teeth, shake and tear them like an angry dog, and the strength of five men was required to hold him.

MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA BOUNDARY.—The arbitrators selected by the States of Maryland and Virginia to effect a final settlement of the boundary line controversy, held a preliminary meeting at Willard's Hotel, in Washington City, on Thursday of last week. After a session of several hours the meeting was adjourned to July, 21, 1874, at which time, it is expected the umpire will be chosen, and the case put in position for a hearing.

A Brilliant Record of Cures.

An American humorist tells us that it would have been money in his pocket if he had been born without a stomach, and then proceeds to figure up the cost of a chronic dyspepsia, to which he is a martyr, and which he says it is impossible to cure. On this point, "Josh Billings," (for he is the party referred to) is mistaken. Unless his stomach differs from all other dyspeptic stomachs, Hostetter's Bitters will cure him in less than three months. This it would be safe to guarantee under any penalty. There are a few, a very few, actual specifics for disease in existence, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be set down as one of them. In cases of indigestion it never fails. Persons who had suffered for many years almost every conceivable species of torture from this agonizing complaint, have been permanently cured with the Bitters in six weeks. Hundreds of such instances are on record, authenticated by the testimony of prominent men in every walk of life, eminent physicians among the number. But this celebrated vegetable preparation is something more than a stomachic and tonic. It is also an alterative of wonderful virtue. In liver complaint its effect is as direct and immediate as that of calomel or blue pill, and far more salutary; and in all diseased conditions of the bowels, notably in cases of constipation, its regulating properties are in the highest degree serviceable. The new settlements in the west and all low-lying tracts of country infested with miasmatic exhalations, so fruitful at this season, of the various types of intermittent fevers, should be always well stocked with this incomparable chologue, which will cure any case of fever and ague in a period varying from three days to three or four weeks, according to the violence of the complaint. Nervous disorders which are always aggravated by the adulterated liquors usually prescribed by physicians, are readily cured by a course of this admirable combination medicine, in which the properties of a stimulant, a tonic and alterative are happily blended.

LIGHTNING CONDUCTORS.—The frequent occurrence of late of destructive thunder storms in various parts of the country has revived discussion as to the best means of protection from lightning. A paper was read not long ago before the meteorological section of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia by Prof. John Wise, in which he contended that lightning rods have no protecting power, and that the only protecting power that has yet proved to be efficacious is the metal roof. While it may be true enough that houses having lightning rods have been struck and damaged, this may have been the result of inefficiency or imperfect construction of rods. To demonstrate his position Mr. Wise showed that the house struck was protected by rods of the proper quality and diameter, the joints securely fitted, the insulators of the right material, and the branching terminations in the earth continued into moist ground, and a sufficient number of points upon the rods along the salient parts of the buildings they are designed to protect. It is conceded to be uncertain how large an area a rod of given length can protect. Different French electricians have variously rated it as a circular space of radius from one to three times the height of the rod above the highest point to which it is attached. Not much confidence can be place in these conclusions. As an evidence of the protecting influence of a single point not reaching to any considerable distance, a case is cited of the foremast of a ship being struck, causing serious damage to the vessel, when the mainmast was porvided with a conductor. Of course the protection of lightning rods only applies to the flash which comes from above. One feature of the storm this season is the discharge of electricity from the earth. In the case of a cow recently struck by lightning in a Western town, the electric fluid emerged from the ground directly under her, and leaped up to meet the streak of lightning darting downward through the air, and passed through her on its way, leaving her dead and blasted on the ground. If the back of this cow had been bristled with iron rods she could not have avoided her fate; though possibly if she had followed the stereotyped directions to lie on a feather bed, with another feather bed on top, she might have escaped all harm except from suffocation. Dr. Franklin, who is the leading authority on the subject, thought the best security from lightning was to lie in a hammock suspended by silken cords in the middle of a large apartment. Persons who are specially afraid of lightning can avail themselves of this hint, and remain suspended between heaven and earth until the electrical terrors have banished.

PROTECT YOUR BUILDINGS!

Which may be Done with Less than Quarter the Usual Expense by the Use of GLINES' PATENT SLATE ROOFING PAINT!

A Roof may be covered with a very cheap shingle, and by the application of this Slate he made to last from 25 to 30 years. Old Roofs can be patched and coated, and made to look much better, and last longer than new shingles without the Slate, for

ONE-THIRD THE COST OF RE-SHINGLING

The cost of Slating new Shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them, and the Slate is Fire-Proof against sparks and live coals falling upon it, as may be easily tested by any one, and as appears from the fact that Insurance Companies make the same tariff that they do for slated roofs. For tin and iron it is equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and NEVER CRACKS OR SCALES.

For Cemetery Fences it is particularly adapted, as it will not corrode in the most exposed places. Roofs covered with Tar Sheathing Felt can be made water-tight at a small expense.

The Slate or Paint is Extremely Cheap!

Two gallons will cover a hundred square feet of shingle roof, or over four hundred of tin or iron. Price of the Slate, ready for use, is $2 cts. per gallon, $16 per half-bbl., or $30 per bbl. of about 40 gallons, with a liberal discount to the trade. We furnish and apply the material at $2.50 per 100 square feet in the vicinity of this city. We use therefor does not affect the water from the roof, it turned off in 48 minutes for the first one or two rains. The Paint has a firm body, but is easily applied with a stiff brush. It fills up the holes and pores, and stops the leak. One coat is equal to ten of ordinary paint. The color of the Slate when fresh applied is a dark purple; in about a month it changes to a slight, uniform slate color.

And is to All Intents and Purposes Slate.

It is a slow dryer, but rain will not affect it in the least in one hour after it is put on. Samples sent to any part of the country by Express, C. O. D., at the following prices. If ordered to be sent by freight, the money must accompany the order:

DYSPEPSIN

A Certain Cure for DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COMPLAINT, Jaundice, Billiousness, Sick Headache, and Habitual Costiveness.

WHAT is life without the enjoyment of health? If you had the wealth of Crœsus, and afflicted with Dyspepsia, or its kindred diseases, you could not enjoy life. Dyspepsia is a prevalent disease in the U. States, brought about by our habits and irregularities. The Materia Medica has been exhausted to find a remedy, and the skill of the most learned Physicians has failed to effect a cure. Notwithstanding this declaration we unhesitatingly say—"MILLER'S DYSPEPSIN' is a Certain Cure for Dyspepsia and the many complaints incident thereto. It has been before the public a sufficient length of time to fully test its merits, and in every instance where it has been used according to directions, it has resulted in giving relief and effecting a cure. With each bottle is a Circular describing the symptoms of the diseases named, and for which only we claim it as a specific.

☞ Give it a fair trial, and rest assured you will be benefitted.
