The Kent News.

SATURDAY . . . JULY 11, 1874

Senator Bayard on National Politics.

The New York Tammany sachems celebrated independence day by an old-fashion talk in the "wigwam." Statesman-like speeches were made and much sound political advice given. Among others a letter from Senator Bayard, of Delaware, was read. In it he says:

"I am hopeful of the future in this, that it seems scarcely possible the thoughtful, conscientious, and patriotic men of our country can any longer be kept apart in political action by the reiteration of those hollow catch-words which for so many years have filled the radical press and the mouths of their party leaders, chiefly uttered to provoke sectional and partisan animosities, and which have with them taken the place of argument and that reasonable discussion needful in public affairs. The broad question—ever and anon arising—old as the hills and now beseeching the ear of the American people for recognition and settlement in this generation is, whether limitation upon the powers of those who rule us shall be insisted upon, or whether in the name of the general welfare, and under the old crafty and specious plea of public safety, the people shall be deprived of local self-government, and our federal system of States united shall harden into the form of a centralized government, controlled by class and moneyed interests. Well may you cite the 'burning shames' of Louisiana and Arkansas! Would to heaven the list ended even there! But add Florida, Alabama, and the District of Columbia, and the catalogue is still incomplete. How slowly and unwillingly has the hand of the spoiler been withdrawn from the pocket of our merchants! Within how few weeks have we seen the great labor and difficulty with which the opponents of the administration at Washington have procured a repeal of those laws which laid our entire mercantile community powerless at the feet of a band of special agents and informers, with their hired robbers of private fortune and assassins of personal reputation! Shall the indignant and alarmed protest, scarcely a week old, of the worthy Governor of the State of Virginia, addressed to the President of the United States, against the lawless and insolent orders of Attorney General Williams, issued in relation to the local elections in the city of Petersburg, fall unheeded on the ears of American freemen? Let us hope not; but rather let us hope that the hearts and minds of our countrymen, ignoring party prejudices and ties, may be opened and awakened on this coming anniversary of the hearty and independent resolution of their forefathers to the necessity of imposing and maintaining constant checks upon official power. This is the broad issue underlying the vast field of our political controversies. If by common consent we all join in giving over to punishment the citizen who has infracted the law, how much more severely should we visit abuse and unsurpation of power by the ruler to whom we confided it? Are not our liberties in greater danger from the latter class of offenses than the former? And is not the atmosphere of our times redolent with indifference and disregard of the most solemn pledges to legal and constitutional limitations upon power, executive, legislative, and alas, judicial? And if such pledges are to be kept, who shall be relied upon but honest men?

"The democratic party can furnish such men; and such men only are worthy to be guides in the holy strife for political reformation so needed in the land. Let us present as our candidates all over the Union none but men of unstained reputation and character, and the first great step on the onward march will be well and hopefully taken."

☞ Sudden wealth upsets men as frequently as it makes them. Very few know how to use money unless they have earned it by painful application to business. The man who drew the big Crosby Opera-House, in Chicago, some years ago, died a poor man, for he had not been used to handling such sums of money, and lost it. The journeyman-carpenter, in Peoria, Ill., who, three years ago, fell heir to $250,000, by the death of an uncle, has his money yet; for he was so conscious of his inability to use it as other men do, and so afraid of losing it, that he simply hoards it taking from the principal enough each week to pay his expenses. He thinks it will support him as long as he lives, as it doubtless will; but a more miserable man never lived. Johnny Steele, the Petroleum Prince, ran through his millions in riotous living, inside of three years. The number who have used suddenly-acquired wealth wisely, is very small. L. H. Keith, of Kingston, Mass., is an exception. He held a ticket in the third Gift Concert of the Kentucky Public Library, and that ticket drew the capital prize of $100,000. Mr. Keith, a cool, self-poised man of business, simply went to Louisville, took his money at the hands of Gov. Bramlette, the manager, and went home with it, and, without any particular fuss, invested it in his business, and is rapidly converting that $100,000, into $200,000. Should he draw the grand prize of $250,000 in the fifth (and last) of these popular concerts, that takes place in Louisville, July 31st, he would be precisely the man that he now is. Such men are never unduly elated or unduly depressed. They are self-poised, and keep always on an even keel. Every man believes he could use money wisely, but few do it. We should like to be tried with a million or two.—Would that we held the ticket that is to draw that $250,000! We would try to hold the money.—Toledo Blade.

A Brilliant Record of Cures.

An American humorist tells us that it would have been money in his pocket if he had been born without a stomach, and then proceeds to figure up the cost of a chronic dyspepsia, to which he is a martyr, and which he says it is impossible to cure. On this point, "Josh Billings," (for he is the party referred to) is mistaken. Unless his stomach differs from all other dyspeptic stomachs, Hostetter's Bitters will cure him in less than three months. This it would be safe to guarantee under any penalty. There are a few, a very few, actual specifics for disease in existence, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be set down as one of them. In cases of indigestion it never fails. Persons who had suffered for many years almost every conceivable species of torture from this agonizing complaint, have been permanently cured with the Bitters in six weeks. Hundreds of such instances are on record, authenticated by the testimony of prominent men in every walk of life, eminent physicians among the number. But this celebrated vegetable preparation is something more than a stomachic and tonic. It is also an alterative of wonderful virtue. In liver complaint its effect is as direct and immediate as that of calomel or blue pill, and far more salutary; and in all diseased conditions of the bowels, notably in cases of constipation, its regulating properties are in the highest degree serviceable. The new settlements in the west and all low-lying tracts of country infested with miasmatic exhalations, so fruitful at this season, of the various types of intermittent fevers, should be always well stocked with this incomparable cologne, which will cure any case of fever and ague in a period varying from three days to three or four weeks, according to the violence of the complaint. Nervous disorders which are always aggravated by the adulterated liquors usually prescribed by physicians, are readily cured by a course of this admirable combination medicine, in which the properties of a stimulant, a tonic and alterative are happily blended.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

The partisans of negro equality have not been successful in forcing it upon the military institution at West Point. The four negro appointees to the Academy this year were unable to pass the examination, and were rejected; and the young man, Smith, who was accepted several years ago in consequence of the clamor about the alleged attempt to ostracise American citizens of African decent, is still painfully struggling through the course, being two years behind his white comrades who entered with him. It may all be very wrong to throw obsticles in the way of the black aspirant for honors which have hitherto been appropriated by white men; but until the advocates of equality can reconstruct human nature, these inborn race prejudices will exist and influence the actions of men. Preach as you may, the feeling is there and cannot be eradicated. If Smith, the colored cadet, ever succeeds in graduating and goes into the army, his career through life will be one of continued isolation and humiliation. The white officers will have a thousand ways of making the intruder feel that his presence is unpleasant. Somebody is responsible for placing this poor colored boy in this mortifying position. If he had his own way, doubtless he would gladly retire to a more congenial occupation. In spite of all argument about the meanness and sinfulness of ostracising a human being on account of his skin, this race distinction is going to be made, just as it has been made since the world began. The effort to force a violation of natural laws on a larger scale, in the shape of the Civil Rights bill, will fail in practice just as effectually. The black man may be declared by law to have equal social rights with the whites and yet in the contact he will retire discomfited and humiliated.—N. Y. Sun.

THE CENTENNIAL.—A more encouraging exhibit of the resources and prospects of the centennial at Philadelphia has just been made public. It shows that the total amount required is $5,441,000, while the board of finance can already depend upon $4,300,000. A letter has been sent by Secretary Fish to our ministers abroad, the effect of which will be to place the director general in communication with the commissioners already appointed by foreign governments, and to give others, who have not taken action to secure a representation in the exhibition, such assurance of its character and importance as will induce them to speedily begin the organization of means for the display of their arts and industries.

To Get GOOD WORK DONE!
WHEELWRIGHTING AND Blacksmithing!
Plows, of all varieties used in this section made with Smooth Castings.
Harrows made of best material
It gives us pleasure to inform the public that we are still prosecuting Blacksmithing in all its branches, HORSE-SHOEING and CARRIAGE SMITHING. MACHINE SMITHING a specialty. Country Smithing, and all kinds of Repairing done in a neat manner.
WHEELWRIGHTING in all its branches. We keep none but the best workmen, and work seasoned lumber. We keep on hand at all times over twenty thousand feet of Lumber under cover. Our Wheelwrighting can be relied on, as you have found our Blacksmithing, of the best workmanship. We build to order and keep on hand
IRON-AXLE WAGONS, for farm and road use, of all sizes. EXPRESS, MILL & MARKET WAGONS and DEARBORNS, on hand and made to order. We flatter ourselves that we can get up a better job than can be done on this Shore, and equal to any in this or any adjoining State.
We give our whole attention to our work, and do not intend to lose our hard-earned reputation; and ask all wanting anything in our line to give us a call and look at our stock and be convinced that we mean what we say.
Our celebrated CULTIVATOR TEETH always on hand.
☞ Prices to suit the times.

The New American
Sewing Machine
IS THE BEST.
Self-Threading Shuttle—Simplicity.
IT IS A SIMPLE MACHINE, having but few working parts, and always ready to work. The simple manner in which the Machine is threaded, makes it easy of accomplishment by the most inexperienced. There being NO HOLES to thread either above or in the Shuttle.
The Shuttle requires no threading, being ready to work as soon as the Bobbin is placed in it. If the Machine accidentally turns backward, it does no harm and breaks no threads or needles.
SAMPLE MACHINES may be seen at the Millinery Store of Miss MAGGIE J. WYATT, Chestertown, and all orders addressed to the undersigned at Hanesville, Post Office, will be promptly attended to.
