LOCAL FARMERS WANT WORD "GARLICKY" REMOVED FROM WHEAT GRADE.

Efforts Will Be Made To Eliminate Phrase At Once And If Done It Will Be Beneficial To All Tillers Of The Soil.

For years there has been a cry among farmers that they have been robbed by the grain merchants. During the past week an incident occurred in Baltimore city which verefied this belief. It has been suspected that all along the farmer has not been getting all that belonged to him, but just where the leak was could not be definitely ascertained.

A farmer shipped several hundred bushels of wheat to Baltimore city and when the captain of the boat reported to the grain merchant for his freight money it was stated that the grain weighed 65 bushels more than the captain's figures. The grain merchant stated that the owner of the wheat would be paid for the surplus and if the captain could make any arrangements with the owner about a division he was at liberty to do so.

Then again the grading of wheat is a great loss to local growers. Garlic is an abnoxious weed, but not any more so than the word when used in grading wheat. The fact that the entire Eastern Shore grows nothing else but garlicky wheat makes the selling price of grain coming frfom ths section lower than western wheat. In the wheat quotations it will be seen that No. 2 red wheat sells for more money than garlicky wheat. A short time ago the difference in price of these two grades was as high as 22 cents a bushel.

Merchants in Baltimore city interested in Baltimore county farmers have tried for several years to have this evil remedied. Two years ago the difference in price was reduce to 12 or 15 cents a bushel, and this years it is but 5 cents. This has been brought about by friends of the farmers, and while this has meant much to local growers, the merchants in Baltimore city have not yet stopped. They are trying to eliminate the word garlic altogether in the wheat grading. The matter has been taken up with the Secretary of Agriculture, and the Baltimore Chamber of Commerce has a committee at work at the present time trying to bring this about.

The president of the Gambrill mills is quoted as saying that the local wheat makes better flour than the western wheat. The grain is better, yet in spite of this the price is lower than the western grain for the reason that it is graded garlicky. If this word can be eliminated from the grading it will probably mean much to the farmers.

But some of the more progressive farmers are making an effort in the meantime to get rid of garlic in Baltimore county. One farmer last year raised some wheat that was graded No. 2 red, free of garlic. If one farmer can do this the others can, is the belief of many. What is needed is the cooperation of the entire county in eliminating the plant from the fields. One man cannot do it unless the others do, for the seed will scatter from one field to another.

From reports heard this week several plans are on foot to improve the price of local wheat, and with the assistance of the farmers much can be speedily accomplished in the way of better grading and by careful selection of buyers the farmers can get all he is entitled to.

MAN FOUND DEAD.

Discovered Wedged In Seat Of Auto Near Kingsville.

Dr. Fritz could not explain what caused the car to leave the road and plunge down the embankment.

The youth was found in a sitting posture in the driver's seat of the automobile. The steering wheel was pressing against his stomach and had wedged him tightly against the seat. The gasoline, dripping for many hours, had saturated the youth's clothing and the covering of the seat. Large portions of skin had been burned off by the gasoline, Dr. Fritz said.

Dr. Fritz gave a verdict of accidental death caused by gasoline fumes asphyxiation.

FIRE WRECKS PUMPHOUSE.

Reflection Leads Many To Think Towson Hospital Ablaze.

The burned building was situated near the Charles street entrance to the hospital grounds and was about a quarter mile from the main structures. A brisk wind carried the flames toward the hospital and several trees in the path of the blaze burned before the fire was extinguished.

Officials of the institution stood ready to awaken and remove the patients should the flames reach dangerous proximity. The Towson Fire Department, after a stubborn fight, put out the fire before it became menacing.

having sloping sides with opaque glass. This feature will guarantee excellent ventilation and light. The very attractive entrance is located on the side of the building facing the main factory buildings and the front of the office overlooks the campus bordered on one side by the factory buildings and on the other by residences belonging to the Company and occupied by those employed there.

The building will be situated on a knoll with such elevation that it will occupy a very commanding view of the Black & Decker and surhounding properties. There will be a basement under two-thirds of the building which will house the individual heating plant of the oil-burning type and also provide storage space for about twenty-five automobiles. The total floor space of the office will be approximately 10,000 square ffeet

VESTMENTS GIVEN CHURCH.

A set of vestments to be worn at mass in the Catholic Church has been presented to the Holy Family Church, Liberty Road, Harrisonville, by Mrs. Sarah P. Browning, a member of the church. The vestments are the work of Chinese girls at St. Columban's Mission, Han Yang, China.

The vestments were obtained by Allen F. Browning, son of Mrs. Browning, an engineer on the United States steamship Argonne, from a friend in Han Yang. Mr. Browning sent them to his mother, with the request that they be presented to the parish.

SCHOOLS OPEN MONDAY.

The white schools of the county will reopen on Monday. The institute for teachers at the State Normal School at Towson closed on last Friday.

AT THE MARYLAND.

Vera Michelena and Fred Hillebrand were co-stars in the musical comedy "Take It From Me." When this piece ceased to exist they became joint vaudeville headliners. Miss Michelena has been awarded a favorable verdict in three separate accounts—the uality of her voice, her distinct attractiveness and her sartorial taste. She is one of the well-known prima donnas who alternates between musical comedy and vaudeville. Previous to "Take It From Me" she held similar posts with "Listen Lester," Ziezfeld Follies and other important productions. Mr. Hillebrand is a light comedian of repute. Like his co-stars he has been seen in both vaudeville and musical comedy. Their present vehicle is caller "All For Vera." It is a fine combination of wit and humor.

AUDITORIUM.

Ina Claire, the Charles Frohman star, will be seen in a new role, that of Denise Sorbier in "Grounds ffor Divorce," when she appears at the Auditorium next week. The play is said to be one of the most sprightly ever turned out by Continental Europe and is originally from the pen of Ernest Vajda, a Hungarian playwright whose name is well known in his native Budapest, and destined to be eually well known in these parts as the result of this smart and ultra-modern comedy which has been adapted for Miss Claire's use by Guy Bolton. The production is the joint effort of the Charles Frohman Company and Lee Shubert, and one's appetite may be stimulated by the recollection that it is the Frohman Company that put on that other Hungarian comedy, one of the greatest successes in theatrical history, "The Swan," which is now playing at the historic Empire Theatre, new York.

BEBE DANIELS AT THE BOULEVARD.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week Richard Dix and Bebe Daniels appear in "Unguarded Woman." This is a drama extraordinary which deals with problems of the present day in a surprising frank manner.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday they present "Wanderer of the Wasteland," with Jack Holt and Billie Dove starring. The story of a "He-Man" with action that will keep your interest at high tension throughout.

FORD'S.

"It is an astonishing thing," says Douglas Fairbanks, playing in "The Thief of Bagdad," at Ford's Theatre, "that absolutely nothing is known of the author, or authors, of any of the collections that comprise The Arabian Nights.

"As a matter of fact there is no one set selection that is absolutely guaranteed to be the original. In four texts and twelve manuscripts there are only fourteen stories common to all. We think of the Arabian Nights as The Thousand and One Nights, but in an early version of Major Turner Macan's there are only two hundred and sixty-four tales, and Dr. Patrick Russell, the great Natural Historian of Aleppo believes that the original nights didn't number more than two hundred.

"All we know is that the stories originated in the Orient sometime between the 10th and 16th centuries and were the work of many professional story tellers, who added to and changed them."

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS In "THE THIEF OF BAGDAD"

This beautiful story of romance and adventure abounds in happenings of astounding and unbelievable magic.

Not to be shown anywhere else in Baltimore this year.

T. M. C., critic of The Sun, said: "Douglas Fairbanks' latest cinema success, 'The Thief of Bagdad,' is both amazing and charming and is like a personally conducted tour through the 'Land of Enchantments.' A feast for the children and all who have been children."
