FINED $100 AND COSTS

Grover C. Bledsol, Convicted Of Manslaughter, Following Auto Collision.

Grover C. Bledsol, 1814 Pennsylvania avenue, Baltimore, who was convicted of manslaughter on account of the death of William McKay, who was killed as the result of Bledsol's machine colliding with a truck on the Philadelphia road on the night of the 17th of May last, was fined $100 and costs by Judge Frank I. Duncan on Thursday in the Circuit Court at Towson.

A sentence of $50 and costs and thirty days in jail was first imposed, but the sentence was changed when Judge Duncan learned that Bledsol had already spent twenty-five days in jail.

It was alleged that the defendant was intoxicated at the time of the accident, which was denied by him. He was defended by Attorney William H. Lawrence. Judge Duncan said that whether Bledsol was drunk or sober he was guilty of recklessly driving his machine.

KEEPING KOOL WITH KOOLIDGE.

THE DUTY NEAREST YOU—WHAT ARE YOU DOING FOR JOHN W. DAVIS?

Like Great Battles, Political Campaigns Are Won Only Through Organization—Let Us Have Another President Of The Cleveland Or Wilson Type.

Great military battles are never won by bringing together a great mass of men and hurling them unorganized and undisciplined into an engagement. Ten thousand such soldiers would be annihilated by a trained troop of a thousand men.

And so it is in a great political campaign—thorough organization is absolutely necessary to insure success. This is a great contest and one that means much to the general prosperity of the country. The Party in power is doing everything that can be done to retain their hold on the Government.

There has never been a National Administration where members of the Cabinet betrayed the trust reposed in them so flagrantly as during the administration of Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

During the past week a Congressional committee has been and is still investigating the contributions

MANY FAIL TO ACT

Statistics Show Thousands Stay Away From Polls.

In 1896, only 80 per cent. of the eligible voters of the County voted. In 1900, but 73 per cent. cast their ballots. In 1908 only 66 per cent. voted. In 1912 there was 62 per cent. voted and in 1920 less than 50 per cent. went to the polls.

Within the last decade there has been a retrogression of civic conscientiousness—a failure on the part of a large number of citizens to perform their duty of citizenship.

Yea, voting is a privilege as well as a duty.

MILD WINTER AHEAD

Towson Prognosticator Does Not Care What Goose-Bone Prophets Say.

Goose-bone prophets to the contrary, it is a four-to-one bet that the coming winter will be normal, according to little Mr. Dance, bailiff of the Orphans' Court at Towson, and a weather prophet of no mean ability.

He has been noting the reports that have been coming in as to large nut-crops, and squirrels making unusual hoardings. Once in a while, he said, the long-range nature forecasters make good and that keeps them in high standing until the next lucky guess. He doess not scoff altogether at signs. It would be better, he said, if people were more weatherwise. The ruralite and the sailor, he said, are better "weather sharps than the city dweller, but there is no reason for it except that they live more in the open.

As for predictions, however, he said, all signs fail except for short-range forecasts and he has little patience for the other kind.

"What," he asked, "is the meas-

ELECTION OF DAVIS IS ONLY WAY TO AVERT DEADLOCK.

In an editorial captioned, "How To Avert A Deadlock," the New York Times expresses doubt of President Coolidge's ability to prevent LaFollette from getting enough electoral votes in purely Republican States to keep the election of a President out of Congress.

"It is this possibility that makes the Republican managers nervous" says the Times. "In casting about for some way to avert the peril, they have hit upon the device of asking Democrats to vote for Mr. Coolidge so as to make sure of his election. This is a trifle cool on their part, since the great difficulty of Republican creation."

The editorial then analyzes the political situation as it existed at the beginning of October, and declares the avoidance of a deadlock in the Electoral College is a matter of enough interest to turn enough voters one way or the other to prevent that outcome at the polls next month.

"But it is possible to show mathematically and politically that this interest would be most purely preserved by a turning of detached voters preserved by a turning of detached voters in the doubtful states to Mr. Davis," says the Times. "Even if they went to Mr. Coolidge, they would not certainly give him a majority. But they demonstrably would give Mr. Davis a majority."

COUNTY IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION URGES SUPPORT FOR SCHOOL LOAN

Amalgamated Organization Holds Semi-Annual Meeting At Elks Club, Towson---Edward H. Burke And Stuart S. Janney Speakers.

The Baltimore County Improvement Association, an amalgamation of various community Improvement Association, at its semi-annual convention held at the Elks' Hall, Towson, indorsed unanimously the proposed $1,500,000 bond issue for schools that will be submitted to the voters November 4.

Edward H. Burke and Sutart S. Janney were the principal speakers. Mr. Burke declared that 20 new schools for white children and 7 new schools for negroes were needed urgently, and that the funds for the structures could not be raised by direct taxation, because this would mean an additional 50 cents on the tax rate for three years and a greater amount for a shorter time.

Approval of the bond issue, he said, would add only 5 cents a year to the tax rate for 30 years.

Mr. Janney emphasized the importance of medical and physical examination of school children and the value of physical exercise under trained teachers. He said he had heard of some opposition to the bond issue, based on the argument that these educational features were fads and frills, taking up time that could be spent better on reading, writing and arithmetic.

In this connection Mr. Janney pointed out that the school schedule provided for the physical examina-
