THE GRAND TURK.

Fabulous Extravagance in the Sultan's Palaces—Twelve Hundred Wives in Sixteen Harems—Service of Ten Thousand Persons Daily at His Command.

The New York Mercury says:—Few Americans have any conception of the fabulous extravagance of the daily life of the sultan of Turkey. There is nothing to equal the Golden Horn anywhere in the world. The Sultan has defaulted on his debts, and he is generally considered to be in serious political trouble. Yet, in spite of all his difficulties, his enormous establishment is kept up undiminished, and his faithful Mussulmans contribute cheerfully to support the successor of the prophet in a style of life so gorgeous as to surpass the most boundless imagination. The grand Turk keeps in his pay not less than three hundred and fifty cooks to prepare the meals for himself and his court; he has four hundred and twenty coachmen, Jockeys and stable boys, and his many gardens and parks are looked after by two hundred and twenty-five watchmen, guards and gardners, not counting the detail of two or three regiments of soldiers every day for duty at the palaces and the parks. There are one hundred and ten door-keepers, and three hundred and forty waiters for the the various buildings. For his private amusement the Sultan has an orchestra of four hundred musicians, a ballet corps of four hundred dancers, and three hundred operatic and dramatic actors. Three thousand people are required for the personal service of the Sultan. It is well that the Mohammedan religion not only authorizes, but directs the grand turk to be a polygamist on the most extended scale. Hence Abdul Aziz maintains in all sixteen harems, in which he supports more than twelve hundred women, who are divided into three classes—regular wives, recognized favorites and candidates for promotion to the higher ranks. Each of the wives has a retinue of twelve ladies of honor, the favorites are similarly attended by six ladies, and the candidates have two each, but every one of these ladies of honor has from two to ten female slaves to wait upon her. Besides these there are other harems, one known as that of the Kadin-Effenkis, being the mothers of the Sultan's infant sons and daughters, and the harem of the sultannas, being the grown-up princesses, daughters of the grand Turk, who each have a retinue of twenty servants. For the private entertainment of all these women the Sultan supports another corps of ballet dancers, an orchestra of female musicians, while for the more menial offices of the household two hundred female slaves and four hundred chambermaids are engaged.

In the Selamleik, the place where all official receptions are held, his majesty employs two thousand five hundred officials. Attending on his person are twenty-five adjutants, seven chamberlains, six secretaries, and one hundred and fifty secretaries of lesser grades, who are subdivided into groups, each of whom has special functions, one taking care of his wardrobe, another of his coffee, another of his tobacco, another cleans the smoking pipes, and still another must always be ready to light his pipe. A very high official is the Barbar-bashaw, whose sole duty is to attend to the Sultan's beard. This official is generally more influential at court than the grand vizier or prime minister himself. Rusliri-bashaw is the superintendent of the kitchen, and at each meal of the Sultan this official stands by his side and tastes from every dish as it is brought in, and what he does not approve the Sultan will not eat. Kulhamil-bashaw is the head of the stove brigade, about eighty men, who make all the fires in the place, and Damadji-bashaw commands a company of 120 men who have nothing else to do than to dust the furniture and beat the carpets. For himself and his harems the Sultan keeps fifty physicians, surgeons, apothecaries, and thirty-five more of the lower rank for the servants of the palace. The chief occupation of these consist in preparing cosmetics and perfumery for the women. In addition there are fifty kawassis and one hundred batadjis consisting of a sort of private messenger service, to carry communications between the Sultan and the harems. Besides, as a special guard, there is a corps of black eunuchs, about two hundred strong, who act as watches over every entrance to the harems, and their chief has the peculiar title of "Head Guard of the Gates of Happiness." In all, the Grand Turk feeds daily over 11,000 persons in his palaces, which is a larger retinue than all the other crowned heads of Europe maintain together.

To Keep Meat Fresh.—Says the Balt. Sun: There is no good reason why farmers should eat so much salt pork, leaving all the fresh to the inhabitants of the cities and villages, when the following method will keep meat fresh for months, even in the warmest weather:

As soon as the animal heat is out slice the meat up as for cooking. Prepare a large jar by scalding well in hot salt and water. Mix together some salt and pulverized saltpeter, in the proportion of a teacupful of the former, and cover the bottom of the jar with the mixture, adding a little ground pepper. On this place a layer of the meat, sprinkling it with a little salt and pepper, the same as when broiled and prepared for the table. Continue in this manner till the jar is full.—Now fold a cloth or towel, after wetting it in strong salt and water, in which a little pulverized saltpeter has been dissolved; press the cloth closely over the meat, and set away in a cool place. On removing each layer be sure to replace the cloth, pressing it on as at first. After slicing it is best to let the meat lie over night to drain off any blood that may ooze from it. It is necessary that the cloth be occasionally changed or taken off and washed in scalding salt and water as at first. In this way farmers can have meat the year round.

Large parties of men who possess the two valuable elements of science and capital are, it is said, coming to the United States this year to explore thoroughly its mining regions. So numerous and rich are they, that they will charter ocean steamers for their exclusive accommodation. While the news of the probable influx of money for the relief of the unimproved mining regions of the country will be hailed with enthusiasm at the West, other parts of the Union would be more delighted to hear that general immigration promises to revive this year. It would bring the famous importations which we most desire because they stay here and become permanent additions to the population, wealth and labor of the republic.

A feature of the Centennial Exhibition of peculiar interest to smokers is the fine array of meerschaum pipes from Vienna, which are contained in a gorgeous show case, shaped something like a pagoda. Here are displayed a marvellous collection of meerschaums, varying in price all the way from $25 to $1,000.

Pullman, the palace car man, resides in a $300,000 house in Chicago.

A Cure for Bronchitis.

Adamsburg, Snyder Co., Pa., July 10, 1869. Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Son, Boston.

Gents:—About two years ago I had a severe attack of bronchitis. My throat was very sore, and at one time I could not speak above a whisper. Reading in one of your pamphlets of the cures that had been effected by Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I was induced to give the article a trial, the result of which was quite satisfactory. The use of one bottle restored me so much that I thought there was no need of taking more, but upon taking a slight cold, I felt the trouble returning. I then took half a bottle of the Balsam, which has entirely cured me. I now with pleasure recommend this invaluable article to all who are suffering from similar diseases, and am confident that, after a single trial, they will speak of it in the terms I now do. Respectfully yours,

Mrs. Sarah Smith.

Caution.—Beware of preparations bearing similar names. Examine the bottle carefully before purchasing, and be sure you get Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, having the signature of "I Butts" on the wrapper. 50 cents and $1 a bottle.

Burning Out Stumps.—I dig a hole about 8 or 10 inches deep by the stump—if possible, between two projecting roots. If I cannot find two, then beside one.—Then take a 2-inch auger, with a long shank; set it near the centre of the top of the stump, ranging the point to the hole dug by the side, and bore through. Make a fire in the hole in the ground, and there is no more trouble with the stump, except to fill up the hole where it once was. The auger hole serves as a flue or pipe that draws the fire, not allowing it to go out.—Southern Cultivator.

Summer Oysters.—The Princeess Anne Herald learns that Wm. H. Roberts & Co., of Baltimore, intend to introduce a new business at Crisfield during the summer season. They have rented an oyster house and intend to shuck 1,000 gallons of oysters per day and ship to different points of the country. They have an apparatus for pumping the air out of the oysters, and it is said they will keep for any length of time after. They are to be put in gallon cans. This same company intend to handle thirty thousand crabs per day—they are to be cooked and shipped in the shell.

Handsome Salaries.—According to the testimony of Col. Thomas Scott President of the Pennsylvania Central, R. R. presidents are not very badly paid for their official duties. The president of the P. W. & B. road, he says gets $30,000 a year, while the controlling head of the Erie road is compelled in these times of financial distress to content himself with the insignificant salary of fifty thousand dollars a year!

An unknown man, while proceeding along the track of the New-Haven Railroad, with a bag filled with chickens, was struck and knocked down an embankment a distance of 40 feet. A number of persons who witnessed the occurrence ran to the spot, expecting to see his mangled remains, when the man sprang to his feet and inquired whether that was the accommodation which had just passed.

A clothier in Danbury excited public curiosity by having a large apple painted on his sign. When asked for an explanation, he quietly inquired: "If it hadn't been for an apple, where would the ready-made clothing stores be to-day?"

The battle of the pavements in London has been won by wood, the city engineer having shown in its favor that a horse before falling may be expected to travel on granite 132 miles, on asphalt 191, and on wood 440 miles.

The folly of the Ohio Democracy has apparently consolidated the public sentiment of the Democracy of Maryland, and our State is likely to be a unit at St. Louis for Bayard and Tilden, or Tilden and Bayard.

It is said that a mixture of lime and strong brine is an excellent wash for all binds of fruit trees, as it destroys lichens and other eppiphytic plants found on the bark.

Time is money, but health is happiness. If you have a bad cold or cough, use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, it will cure you.—Price, 25 cents.

A subject for debating societies:—"Which is the best way to get news, by borrowing your neighbor's paper or subscribing without any intention of paying?"

Mrs. Ira Mead, of Greenwich, who is one hundred and six years old, says: "Few people die after they get to be a hundred."

Irate wife (whose husband has returned home late)—"Now, I'll give you a piece of my mind." Husband—"Don't, my dear, you can't spare it!"—Judy.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

No people in the world suffer as much with Dyspepsia as Americans. Although years of experience in medicine had failed to accomplish a certain and sure remedy for this disease and its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Heart burn, Water-brash, Sick Headache, Costiveness, palpitation of the Heart, Liver Complaint, coming up of the food, low spirits, general debility, etc., yet since the introduction of Green's August Flower we believe there is no case of Dyspepsia that cannot be immediately relieved. 50,000 dozen sold last year without one case of failure reported. Go to your Druggists, Sharp & Bro., Chestertown, or E. B. Britton, Millington, and get a sample Bottle for 10 cts., and try it. Two doses will relieve you. Regular size 75 cts.

FARMERS

TAKE NOTICE!

According to previous notice given through the papers, we be leave to inform the public that our Phosphate is now manufactured and sold under the name of

HUBBARD'S

Standard Bone

PHOSPHATE,

INSTEAD OF

Hubbard's Improved Star Bone.

We wish it fairly understood why we make this change. The facts are as follows: There have been various kinds of recipes sold and peddled out under the name of "Star Bone," and the reputation of the Phosphate is constantly diminishing consequently the opinion of many is that brands of the same name are of a like inferior quality. Notwithstanding we have the confidence of our customers, it has been a great impediment to us in introducing our Phosphate in some localities, owing to the prejudice of the people against the brand, although we have under all circumstances endeavored to convince them that there was a vast difference in the formula, though there is some similarity in the name. And in view of the embarrassment which might naturally occur to our business, we deem it expedient to make the change that we may protect ourselves, and will guarantee to our customers a better Phosphate than ever; as our experience has taught us that our success depends on the superior quality of our goods. Our trade has rapidly increased year after year, which is due wholly to its intrinsic merits; it has worked its way into popular favor to such an extent as to require greatly enlarged facilities for manufacturing. We ask but one trial to convince all of its superior quality, and hope farmers will carefully test the STANDARD with any other brands they can get. All orders promptly filled from our factories either at Chestertown, Md., or Wyoming, Del., as may be desired. Thanking our patrons for past favors, we are yours, respectfully,

OFFICES: 42 South Delaware Av., Phila., Pa. Smyrna, Delaware.

To all Persons whom it may Concern:

Whereas, there are divers persons engaged in the manufacture of an artificial Fertilizer, which they call or represent to be "Star Bone" Phosphate. And whereas we, the undersigned, have a copyright for our trade-mark, obtained in pursuance of an act of Congress in that behalf, and duly registered. Now, therefore, ALL persons are hereby notified to discontinue immediately the manufacturing and selling of said Star Bone Phosphate, under penalty of the law, (unless they are manufacturing and selling under our license,) as we are determined to maintain our legal rights.

Since we began manufacturing the Original Star Bone Phosphate, which has gained such an enviable reputation and become so extensively known throughout the country, some persons have tried to deceive the farmers by offering them a fertilizer which they represent to be our manufacture. The result of their imposition is shown by the fact, that in order to obtain trade at all, they have been obliged to change their place of business as often as twice in two years, and now have begun operations in still another place. We now forewarn them that if they intend manufacturing and selling fertilizers, they will have to sell them under some other name than "Star", or "Star Bone" Phosphate.
