MORTON'S PROCLAMATION.

Senator Morton has written a letter. Of course it is a political letter. It is also a remarkable letter. It places Mr. Morton in direct and open antagonism to the President's southern policy. He does not say in words that he will oppose the President—he leaves declarations of that sort to Mr. Blaine—but no one, after reading the letter, can mistake his postion. Here and there he pays a back-handed compliment to Mr. Hayes, but besides the undying hatred toward the South, which runs through the whole letter, he declares in terms that the main argument of conciliation upon which Mr. Hayes founded his southern policy was "an argument of expediency, not of right and justice.' This is intended to place the President before his party and the country as a trimmer and trader in expedients; to hold him up to the scorn of every man who loves honesty of conviction, manliness of character and fair play. This is one of the strong aims of the letter, and this is one wherein it will fail. Mr. Hayes has adopted the only policy which right and justice dictated, and the only one which could have satisfied the people. It is labor thrown away for Mr. Morton to profess to give even a half-hearted support to the President's policy, and to declare that he wishes it well. He does not wish it well. His own letter contradicts him. He appeals to the war passions of the North, rakes up and reiterates all the old slanders against the South, and assails the whole people of that section. He warns the North against the "solid South," and makes a passionate appeal for a solid North to oppose it. By argument, misrepresentation and fervid declamation he seeks to array section against section, restore the color line, and tear open once more a fast-healing wound.—Mr. Morton forgets nothing; learns nothing. No man did more than he to reduce the Southern States to satrapies through that destructive contrivance known as reconstruction; no man tried harder to hold them there. It was a sad blow to statesmen of his ilk when the federal government took its iron hand from the two remaining dependencies, and allowed them once more to take their places among the States of the union. He admits that "republican governments in Louisiana and South Carolina could only be kept in place by the army," and he is tortured by the thought that they were allowed to fall to pieces by lack of federal troops to sustain them. He declares that Grant ought to have promptly recognized the usurpers and sustained them by force. All of which means that it is the first business of the federal government to sustain the Republican party, right or wrong. This is the dangerous doctrine of centralization which, under Grant, strained this country until the chords were about to snap, and this is the doctrine which Mr. Hayes has dared to oppose. There are republicans who will applaud this letter, with all its disloyalty, just as there were republicans who applauded Mr. Blaine's fiery amnesty speech. It may be remembered that Mr. Blaine's bombshell hurt nobody so much as himself. Mr. Morton would have done well to profit by that example.—Balto. Gaz.

THEN AND NOW.—A striking contrast between the condition of affairs in Mississippi under carpet-bag rule and that now presented under a democratic home-rule administration is furnished by Mr. E. V. Smalley, a correspondent of the New York Tribune, in a letter from Jackson, Miss. Mr. Smalley says that since the overthrow of the carpet-bag government in 1875 taxation has been greatly reduced and brought within reasonable limits. The rate of the State levy is only five mills on the dollar; under the republican regime it was 15 mills, and the valuations, then excessively high, have been greatly reduced. County taxes have, on the average, been cut down fully one-half, and a law has been passed restricting the whole amount of county and State tax that can be levied without special enactment to 15 mills on the dollar, a rate which the taxpayers in most Northern States would think exceedingly low. The Legislature spends less than half as much money as it formerly did. Retrenchments in county expenses has fully kept pace with that in State outlays, and it is within bounds to say that the people have been relieved of more than one-half of the burden of taxation.

PROVING THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY.—The New York Nation remarks that the damaging admissions made by Ex-Gov. Chamberlain to a Herald interviewer, lately published in this paper, as to the ignorance and in experience of the republican party, white and black, in South Carolina, and the greater wisdom, experience and capacity for affairs of the democratic party, and his belief that, under these conditions, the people would be satisfied with Gen. Hamptou's administration, have taken away the last foundation stone of any republican opposition to the Southern policy of the President. The most ignorant politician in Congress could not stand against the force of some of Chamberlain's admissions. The Nation notices the fact that at the recent Chamber of Commerce dinner in New York no reference was made to the colored man. Shipbuilding, civil service reform, the tariff and the currency were talked about, but the colored man was not mentioned.—"Democrats and republicans alike are fully agreed at last upon the one point—the colored man must work out his own salvation."

THE INTERNAL REVENUE COMMISSIONER replies to an inquiry from St. Louis that any person selling distilled spirits or wines for any purpose whatever, on medical prescription or not, is liable to pay special tax; but that sales of mixtures containing such wines or spirits which cannot be used as a beverage, or of artificials containing them put up as medicines, in bottles or other inclosures, duly stamped with United States proprietary stamps, according to the provisions of schudule C, do not involve such liability.

LET us be clean, in order that we may by healthy. To be thoroughly so, and to counteract eruptive tendencies and render the skin white and smooth, let us use Glenn's Sulpher Soap. No eruption can withstand it. Depot, Crittenton's No. 7 Sixth Avenue, New York. Hill's Hair & Whisker Dye, black or brown, 50 cts. j 9-4t.

FALSE IMPRESSION.

It is supposed by a certain class of citizens, who are not practical or experienced, that Dyspepsia can not invariably be cured, but we are pleased to say that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER has never, to our knowledge, failed to cure Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint in all its forms, such as Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Sick headache, palpitation of the heart, low spirits, &c., &c. Out of 30,000 dozen bottles sold last year, not a single failure was reported, but thousands of complimentary letters received from Druggists of wonderful cures. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sample Bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cts. For sale by C. F. STAM, Chestertown, and E. B. BRITTON, Millington.

FRANCIS SCOTT KEY.—It is gratifying to the citizens of this State, both as Marylanders and Americans, to see that the memory of the great patriot-poet, Francis S. Key, of Maryland, author of that inspiring national ballad, "The Star-Spangled Banner," seems to grow in honor with the lapse of time, and to receive homage from people in the most distant parts of the country. The poem which he composed while a prisoner on board the British fleet during the bombardment of Fort McHenry will last as long as the republic. The sentiment evinced by Jas. Lick, of San Francisco, in the large amount left in his will to commemorate the genius of Mr. Key, has animated a citizen of Boston, Nathan Appleton, Esq., who has addressed a letter to Mayor Moberly, of Federick City, Md., stating that on the 14th of June, 1877, the centennial anniversary of the American flag, he intends to deliver an address in the old South Street Church of Boston on Francis Scott Key and "The Star-Spangled Banner," and requests the mayor and all other persons in Frederick City to send him such items and information in regard to the subject matter of his address as may be in their possession. Mr. Key lies buried in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Frederick City, and it is proposed to erect a monument over his grave. This is the object of Mr. Appleton's address, which will probably be delivered in Boston and all the prominent cities of the Union.

In 1867 a resolution was offered in the Legislature of Maryland by Gen. John A. Steiner, of Frederick, proposing an appropriation of $5,000 for a monument over the remains of the author of the noblest and grandest national anthem of the United States. The proposition failed in consequence of the empty state of the treasury. Now that the matter is taken up elsewhere it would be proper that Maryland aid in this work of gratitude as a memorial of the appreciation of our people of the merits of the great national poet.

REPORTS from all parts Ohio and Indiana point to a remarkable yield of the grain crops. It is estimated by farmers that the product will equal if not exceed the memorable year of 1864. A large acerage of corn is planted and is doing finely. Slight frosts were experienced in some sections during the recent cold spell, but the damage is inconsiderable. The prospect of immense crops of all kinds and high prices is making the farmers bouyant and hopeful and giving an impetus to trade in the cities.

A WHITE woman residing in Stewart county, Ga., was murdered by three negroes on Saturday morning. They were promptly hanged, the colored people residing in the neighborhood assisting in the lynching.

The best physicians assure us that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a reliable and never failing remedy. All druggists keep it. 25 cents a bottle.

It tells you all about the Morale of Generative Physiology, the Physiology of Marriage, of Wedlock and Offspring, Physical Contrasts, True Morality, Empiricism, Perversion of Marriage, Conjugal Precept and Friendly Counsel, Physical Infirmity, its Causes and Cure, Relations Between the Sexes. Proofs of this Expansion of Vice, The Misories of Imprudence, Ancient Ignorance and Errors, MEANS OF CURE, Cure of Body and Mind. TRUE PRINCIPLES OF TREATMENT, Address to Patients and Invalid Readers, The Author's Principles. The price of this book is only $1.00

This Book also contains More Than FIFTY PRESCRIPTIONS for the above named and other diseases, each one worth more than the price of the book.

Also, another valuable medical work, treating exclusively on MENTAL AND NERVOUS DISEASES; more than 200 royal octavo pages, twenty elegant engravings, bound in substantial muslin. Price only $2.00. Barely enough to pay for printing.

The Book for young and middle-aged men to read just now, is the Science of Life or Self-Preservation. The author has returned from Europe in excellent health and is again the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, No. 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass."—Republican Journal.

"The Science of Life is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published."—Boston Herald.

"Hope nestled in the bosom of Pandora's box, and hope plumes her wings anew since the issuing of these valuable works, published by the Peabody Medical Institute, which are teaching thousands how to avoid the maladies that sap the citadel of life."—Philadelphia Enquirer.

"It should be read by the young, the middle aged and even the old."—N. York Tribune.

The first and only Medal ever conferred upon any Medical Man in this country, as a recognition of skill and professional services, was presented to the author of these works, March 1st, 1876. The presentation was noticed at the time of its occurrence by the Boston Press and the leading journals throughout the country. This magnificent Medal is of solid gold, set with more than one hundred India diamonds of are brilliancy.

"Altogether, in its execution and the richness of its materials, and size, this is decidedly the most noticeable medal ever struck in this country for any purpose whatever. It is well worth the inspection of numismatists. It was fairly won and worthily bestowed."—Massachusetts Ploughman, June 3d, 1876.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

For Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Eruptions and Eruptive diseases of the skin. Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Blotches, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and Uterine disease, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, General Debility, and for Purifying the Blood.

This Sarsaparilla is a combination of vegetable alteratives—Stillingia, Mandrake, Yellow Dock—with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and is the most efficacious medicine yet known for the diseases it is intended to cure.

Its ingredients are so skilfully combined, that the full alterative effect of each is assured, and while it is so mild as to be harmless even to children, it is still so effectual as to purge out from the system those impurities and corruptions which develop into loathsome disease.

The reputation it enjoys is derived from its cures, and the confidence which prominent physicians all over the country repose in it, prove their experience of its usefulness.

Certificates attesting its virtues have accumulated, and are constantly being received, and as many of these cases are publicly known, they furnish convincing evidence of the superiority of this Sarsaparilla over every other alterative medicine. So generally is its superiority to any other medicine known, that we need do no more than to assure the public that the best qualities it has ever possessed are strictly maintained.
