SATURDAY - - - - - - NOV. 17, 1877

THE TRIAL OF JUDGES GRASON AND YELLOTT.—We announced last week that these two judges, who were indicted by the Grand jury of Baltimore county, for alleged corrupt practices, had been tried at Annapolis, whither their cases had been removed, and acquitted. It appears that there was some defect in the indictment but if the charges had been specifically stated as intended, it was clearly the opinion of the court that there was no evidence to substantiate them. The following is the decision of the court:

Judge Miller said in deciding this case the court does not intend to go into many matters argued by counsel. The question of law which the court will decide is as to the power of the court to adjourn the term pending the session of the grand jury. In deference to the able argument of the attorney general the court will say a few words, though they will not go into the question argued as to the general powers of grand juries in investigation of cases before them. The constitution prescribes that two terms of each Circuit Court shall be held yearly at which juries shall be summoned, and two terms at which there shall be no juries. The judges may also appoint special terms to suit their convenience. The Legislature says the terms of court shall commence on such days as the law names, but the length of the terms, the time of adjournment, &c., is nowhere fixed, and is left to the judicial discretion of the judges.

Now what is a term? It is so long as the judges determine. From time immemorial the judges have exercised the power to adjourn the terms of court, and the Court of Appeals have decided that they have that power. We have therefore no doubt as to the power of the court to adjourn the term during the session of the grand jury. But this is a judicial act in which they may be held liable for corruptly acting. If the judges cut short the course of the grand jury for the corrupt purpose of stopping an investigation, or if they continue a session and refuse to adjourn a grand jury to procure indictments by them for corrupt purposes, the judges may be tried and punished. But the authorities are full and clear to the effect that the corrupt intent must be specifically charged in the indictment. There have been too many decisions on this point by the Court of Appeals to leave any doubt of it now. The judges are as much entitled to have this allegation a part of the indictment against them as the humblest individual in the land. It must be alleged and proved as alleged.

But the court has no hesitation in saying that the charge of corrupt motives if properly made is totally unsupported by the evidence. There is no sufficient proof in the whole case to support such a charge. A verdict of not guilty and a discharge will therefore be entered. The court thought no blame attached to the judges under the second court for not trying certain cases.

The case of Judge Yellott, indicted for drunkenness, has been postponed until the 22d day of January next.

BALLOT-BOX SMASHERS IN CAROLINE.—On the night after the election, at Harmony, in Caroline county, just as the judges of election were through counting the straight tickets, and were about to commence counting the scratched tickets, some roughs who were either mad or drunk entered the room, smashed the lamps, and destroyed the ballots that had been counted. The judges and clerks fortunately secured the tally lists and the tickets that had not been counted, which enabled them to complete the count. The affair is disgraceful, and the rioters ought to be punished. The Denton Journal says legal proceedings have been commenced against the offenders, but does not say who they are.

HELP IN ACQUIRING KNOWLEDGE.—In acquiring a knowledge of the English Language, and especially in learning the meaning of words, probably no other work, nor many other books altogether, can afford so much aid as Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, with its 3,000 Pictorial Illustrations, its precise and full definitions, its careful discriminations of synonymous words, and its many valuable tables. It is, in itself, a whole library of the language. Let one family have a copy of this work, and use it faithfully, and another be without it,—the difference in the progress of the two families in getting knowledge will be very great.

THE Elkton papers say that wild fowl abound in the upper waters of the Chesapeake. Last Monday one gunner killed 540 ducks; another killed eleven geese at one shot. "Box" shooters on Monday got from 113 to 250 ducks for each box.

A MONUMENT to the memory of Senator Morton is to be erected by popular subscription, each Indiana soldier being expected to contribute at least one dollar. Colonel Ingersoll has been invited to lecture on the life and character of the deceased statesman, in Indianapolis, in aid of the fund.

FOR the same reason that an overworked horse, or servant, or man, becomes slower and slower in every notion, so also do the Liver and other great organs grow slow in action and work weakly. Liver Disease inevitably causes Constipation, and Constipation is the begining of the decay of the physical system. Prevention is better than cure, and the timely use of Keller's Vegetable Life Drops will most certainly correct the wrong action of the Liver, remove Constipation and restore the run-down system to full vigor.

"ELECTION EUCHRE" is a new game at cards, played with the ordinary euchre pack, to which is added a card marked "Aliunde Joe."

Delays are Dangerous.—If this axiom is true respecting the ordinary affairs of life, still more obviously so as regards the exigencies o approaching disease. Unquestionably! Yet how many neglect to practically recognize this plain truth when health is in the balance. Of the many premonitory symptoms of disease a hacking cough is the most prophetic of peril. Arrest it at the outset with Dr. WISHART'S PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL, and so avoid Consumption, Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, and, indeed, all Affections of the Respiratory Organs, are entirely cured by this sovereign remedy, which also eradicates Dyspepsia, Piles, Gravel, Nervous Debility, Torpidity of the Liver, Urinary Difficulties, Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Scrofulous Affections, and the infirmities peculiar to the gentler sex. This Cordial derives its virtues from the vegetable kingdom, and is infinitely to be preferred, both on account of its superior efficacy and freedom from nauseous and injurious properties to the officinal drugs so often administered with no other effect than to offend the palate and disorder the stomach. The Pine Tree Cordial can always be relied on to do what is claimed for it. Sold by all Druggists. Principal Depot, 916 Filbert street, Philadelphia. mr24.

ELI PERKINS explains how he got "left" at Detroit, missed his train, and lost a lecturing fee. Somebody handed him the card of a female barber, and he visited the shop, and enjoyed the delicious sensation of being shaved and shampooed by her velvety fingers. When "she put her little fingers plump against his face," and "her arms around his neck," he declares that "he never felt so in his life," and "wondered what his wife would say." He went through the whole catalogue of shaving, hair cutting, &c., and while doing so the train took its departure.

IN some portions of Texas, where greenbacks have never been plentiful, the people have resumed specie payments, receiving and paying out gold in their daily transactions without any premium. Tired of waiting on the slow process of Congressional legislation on the subject, they concluded that as the premium had become so very small—less than 2 per cent., and in some places even 1 per cent.—it was not worth while to bother about it any longer.

THE St. Michael's Comet says that Levin H. North, living on James H. Covey's farm, on Tilghman's island, on going out early on Saturday morning to feed his stock was much surprised at seeing a fine deer—a full-grown buck—standing in the field. After much difficulty he was captured, and attracted a great deal of attention, as crowds of visitors went to see the deer. Where did he come from?

THE steamer Highland Light took from Baltimore a few days ago a party of fifteen or twenty farmers from the neighborhood of Penn Yann, Yates county, Western New York, for Dorchester county, on a land buying expedition. They are well-to-do farmers, and if suited expect to buy large tracts of land and settle.

THERE is now a prospect that some time in the near future Philadelphia will see the novel spectacle of good government. The late election revealed the pleasant fact that the republicans have lost their knack of stuffing ballot-boxes and manipulating election returns.

THE St. Michaels Comet says there was a big porpoise hunt in Spencer's Creek, near that town, on Saturday week. The hunters bagged two porpoises, each about eight feet long. They got into the creek during a very high tide, and when the water went down they could not get out.

THE Catholic Church at Salisbury, Md., was burned to the ground on Sunday night. The fire was discovered about 11 o'clock, and the structure was entirely consumed. Loss about $2,00. The church was of wood and constructed about six years ago.

ANOTHER good man gone wrong. The carpet-bag Congressman Smalls, of South Carolina, has been convicted of bribery by a jury, one-half of whom were negroes. "Put him in the bag."

GOV. TILDEN'S idea about the Southern policy is that it was nothing but a necessity of Hayes' situation, and that it has lost the North to the republicans without gaining the South.

MR. L. T. BENNETT, of Cecil county, has a horse 39 years old.
