A Model Woman.

WHO, HAVING NOTHING BETTER TO CARE FOR, WILLS $10,000 TO HER HORSE.

Miss Marilla Richer, who is fighting to be made a notary public of the District, is a New Hampshire lady. In appearance she is stately, majestic, short, curly black hair, rich, dark complexion, deep blue eyes, and, although very independent, she is withal engaging and attractive. She wears on her bosom a large round pin, in which is set a miniature of a fine black stallion, a pet of hers, to which she has willed ten thousand dollars, and the interest of that amount is appropriated to his perfect care and keeping as long as he lives, with a suitable sum for a handsome burial. For two or three years Miss Richer has read law with "Judge" Belva A. Lockwood, and has been a constant attendant at court while important trials were on. When rent days and board bills come around all she has to do is to open a tin trunk, take out a few bonds from a big pile, cut of the necessary coupons, draw a little interest, and the thing is over without disturbing her equanimity in the least. She can waltz like a West Ender and sing like a bird, but would give more for one half an hour with her "darling Blackstone" than for a lifetime in the fashionable world—a world, by the way, she is fitted to adorn. She has a deep and abiding sense of the misfortune of being born a woman, but makes up for it in setting before men the example of a woman moving daily among men, pursuing many of their avocations and keeping a name for honor and virtue like burnished silver.—Washington Post

The Goose Bone.

It seems that there is a man in Kentucky who wisely saves a young goose every year, whose breast bone reveals to him the kind of winter which awaits him. As this, he holds, is an unerring index of the future, we subjoin his interpretation there for the benfit of all whom it may concern:

The Louisville (Ky.) Commercial of the 7th instant says: "This year our goose has insisted upon taking its own time in getting fat, and numerous letters have been received from different parts of the country, inquiring after our little prophet, but until our goose got fat and offered its life as a sacrifice to science there was no chance for a consultation. A study of its meteorogical coloring indicates that we are to have a severe winter. There is some cold weather about the 1st of December, which we are now realizing, but it will not last long, and the next week or two will be more pleasant, with the prospects good for fair Christmas weather; altogether December will not be a very cold month, but what it lacks will be fully made up in January. The new year will probably be welcomed by bright weather, but the welcome will be brief, and we will have cold weather before the middle of the month, which will continue, with the interspersion of a few bright days, at the last of the month, into the most severe weather we have had for years. February will be a cold, blustering months, and winter will no doubt go a good way along with spring, carrying cold weather and snow into March. Those who took stock in the goose bone will lay in their fuel, and keep plenty of warm clothing about the house, as the little prophet predicts a long winter, and some very severe weather during January; according to it, we will have a long spell of cold weather during the first two months of the new year."

TRUE STRENGTH.—We must measure a man's strength by the power of the feelings he subdues, not by the power of those which subdue him. And hence, composure is often the highest result of strength. Did we ever see a man receive a flagrant injury and then reply calmly? That is a man spiritually strong. Or did we ever see a man in anguish, stand as if carved in solid rock, as if mastering himself? Or one bearing a hopeless daily trial remain silent and never tell the world what cankered his home peace? That is strength. We too often mistake strong feelings for strong character. A man who bears all before him, before whose frown domestics tremble, and whose bursts of fury makes the children of the household quake, because he has his way in all things, we call him a strong man. The truth is that he is a weak man; it is his passions that are strong—he, mastered by them, is weak.

TAKE YOUR COUNTY PAPER.—The Waverly Magazine, one of the soundest and most popular periodicals published in the United States, thus discourses on county papers: "Do the city papers say anything in regard to your own county? Nothing. Do they contain notices of your schools, meetings, churches, improvements, and hundreds of other local matters of interest which your own paper publishes without pay? Not an item. Do they ever say a word calculated to draw attention to your county and aid in its progress and enterprise? Not a line. And there are men who take such contracted views of this matter that unless they are getting as many square inches of reading matter in their own paper, they are not getting the worth of their money. It reminds us of a man who took the largest pair of boots because the price was the same as the pair much smaller that fitted him.

A BRIGHT story is told of the accomplished wife—now dead—of Gen. Hooker. When she was the admired Miss Groesbeck, of Cincinnati, she was once at an evening party when a fashionable young dandy was asked if he would like to be presented to her. "Oh, yes," said he, laughingly, "trot her out." The lady overheard the remark, and when he was presented she adjusted her eye-glasses deliberately, and slowly scanned his clothing from boot to collar. The survey finished, she waved her hand and carelessly said, "Trot him back; I have seen all there is of him."

A MAN must have a very active temperament who blows his brains out because he has nothing else to do, but that is what happened in New York the other day.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. In 3 years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine was distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of throat and lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that GERMAN SYRUP will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist and ask what they know about it.—Sample bottles 10 cts. Regular size 75c. Three doses will relieve any case.

Josh Billings' Proverbs.

"This life is like a game of cards. We must play the hands dealt to us, and the credit is not so much in winning as in playing a poor hand well."

"When I hear a man bragging about what he did last year and what he's going to do next year, I can tell pretty near what he's doing now."

"Don't despise your poor relations.—They might get rich some time, and then it would be so hard to explain things."

"The reputation a man gets from his ancestors wants about as much altering to fit him as their clothes would."

"There is no woman stationed on the face of the earth who tries so hard to do right and fails oftener than the average mother-in-law."

"An enthusiast is an individual who believes about four times as much as he can prove, and can prove four times as much as anybody else will believe."

"Falling in love is like falling down stairs; it's hard work to find out just how the thing was done."

"A man who has been waiting for the last fifteen years for something to turn up is still in the same business."

"A poodle is a woman's pet, and I have seen some I would like to swap livings with."

"Mice can live anywhere comfortable but in a church; they fat very slowly in a church. This proves that they can't live on religion any more than a minister can."

"The worst tyrant in this world is a woman who is superior to her husband and lets everybody know it."

"Love is like the measles, you can't have it but once, and the later in life we have it the tougher it goes with us."

"Great thinkers are not apt to be great whistlers. When a man can't think of anything he begins to whistle."

"The man you can have to work on a farm for nothing and board himself, just about earns his wages."

"Neatness, in my opinion, is one of the virtues. I have always considered it twin sister to charity, but none work so hard as the victim of ecstatic neatness. I have seen a neat person who would not let a weary fly rest long enough on their best wall paper to take breath, and who would chase a single cockroach up and down stairs until his legs were worn off."

DESPONDENCY.—The most perilous hour of a person's life is when he is tempted to despond. The man who loses his courage loses all; there is no more hope of him than of a dead man; but it matters not how poor he may be, how much pushed by circumstances, how much deserted by friends, how much lost to the world; if he only keeps his courage, holds up his head, works on with his hands and with unconquerable will determines to be and to do what becomes a man, all will be well. It is nothing outside of him that kills, but what is within, that makes our troubles.

SENATOR HILL, of Georgia, has accepted conditionally an invitation to deliver an address before the Tennessee Press association in June next. In his letter of acceptance he says: "I really desire to address a press association, because there is no power in this country capable of doing so much good, and really doing so much evil, as the press of this day."

CRIES of murder in the night appall us; a bad cough ringing through the house in the hours of darkness is equally suggestive of danger and death; sooth it, and cure it with Leary's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. Other remedies may have disappointed you but this never fails. Only 35 cents. d29-2t.

A PHILADELPHIAN whipped his entire family in one day, beginning with two children, following with his wife, then taking his two sisters-in-law in hand, and finishing with his mother-in-law, with whom, as the narrative says, "he wiped the floor and swept the dinner dishes off the table."

IF you dream of a boiled owl, seated on a monument, smiling at a red cow half seas over, and dyeing its central tail feather a mazarine blue, it is a certain indication that there is money coming to you whenever you see a Russian Lieutenant-Colonel asleep under a sycamore.—Puck's Dream Book.

A FACE without charming features may be rendered actually repulsive by blotches or pimples. Glenn's Sulphur Soap, promptly remedies all complexional blemishes as well as local eruptions of the skin, burns, bruises, scalds, &c. Sold by all Druggists. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, black or brown, 50cts d22-4t.

As a precaution against fire, the roof of the new Connecticut Pulp Mill, at Holyoke, Massachusetts, is to be constructed of soapstone instead of slate.

THE constitutional amendment in South Carolina levying a minimum tax of two mills, in addition to the poll tax for educational purposes is likely to be adopted

THIS is to give notice that all citizens troubled with Cough or Cold shomld at once procure a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

A SHOPKEEPER, of great experience, says that however talkative clerks may be during the day, they are always ready to "shut up" at night.

GREENLAND has no cats. Imagine cats in a country where the nights are six months long.—N. Y. Sun.

WATERS & SONS' ORGANS AND PIANOS are first class and durable, and lower in price than any other reliable make.—☞Don't buy any low price inferior make which will be a source of regret and annoyance all your life. See advertisement. Address WM. K. JUDEFIND, Agt.
