SATURDAY.....JULY 17, 1880.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT:

WINFIELD S. HANCOCK,

OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT:

WILLIAM H. ENGLISH,

OF INDIANA.

THE Democratic Committee met at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, at noon on Tuesday. Wm. H. Barnum, of Connecticut, was unanimously elected chairman, and Frederick O. Prince, of Massachusetts, secretary. The committee then adjourned to Governor's Island to attend the presentation of the presidential nomination. The committee appointed by the Cincinnati convention to notify the candidates arrived at Governor's Island in the afternoon on a special boat, with members of the national committee and others. They were met by General Hancock in the parlor of his house. Hon. John P. Stockton made a brief address introducing the secretary who read the official notification Gen. Hancock's reply was brief. He thanked them for the honor conferred, and stated he would have his letter of acceptance ready shortly, in which he would say all that he had to say to them in reply. Mr. Stockton then formally notified Mr. English of his nomination. In reply he stated that he accepted the high trust conferred with feelings of profound gratitude, and that he would at an early date convey his acceptance in the customary manner. Those present were introduced to Gen. Hancock, who had a few words of welcome for each of them.

Gen. Hancock's grandson, named after himself, died Tuesday morning from cholera infantum, while his parents, who reside in Mississippi, were on a visit to Governor's Island. This event depressed the General, and the committee's visit to tender the nomination was in consequence purely formal. Mr. English reached Governor's Island at noon and was heartily greeted by General Hancock on the verandah of his residence.

Nicholas M. Bell, Esq., read the official letter, from which we make the following extracts:

"That which chiefly inspired your nomination was the fact that you had conspicuously recognized and exemplified the yearning of the American people for reconciliation and brotherhood under the shield of the Constitution, with all its jealous care and guarantee for the rights of persons and of States.

"Your nomination was not made alone because in the midst of arms you illustrated the highest qualities of the soldier, but because, when the war had ended, and when in recognition of your courage and fidelity you were placed in command of a part of the Union undergoing the process of restoration, and while you were thus clothed with absolute power, you used it not to subvert, but to sustain the civil laws and the rights they were established to protect."

Gen. Hancock then took from the hands of Mr. Bell an engrossed copy of the platform, mounted in a handsome morocco case, and also a copy of the letter of the committee. Then facing the delegation, in clear, deliberate tones he replied as follows:

"MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE COMMITTEE: I appreciate the honor conferred upon me by the National Democratic Convention, lately assembled at Cincinnati, and thank you for your courtesy in making known that honor to me. As soon as time permits me to give the subject that grave attention belonging to it, I shall prepare and will send you a reply of a formal nature accepting the nomination of the Democratic party for the office of President of the United States."—[Applause.]

Mr. Bell then read the letter notifying Hon. William H. English of his nomination for the Vice-Presidency.

Mr. English replied as follows:

"MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE COMMITTEE: As a practical business man, not much accustomed to indirection of action or circumlocution of speech, I will say plainly and in a few words that I accept the high trust which you have tendered me with feelings of profound gratitude, and that I will, at an early day, formally and in writing, make the acceptance which I am informed is usual upon such occasions. In doing this I fully realize the great responsibility of the situation, the care, the turmoil, the anxiety, the misrepresentation, the abuse which are certain to follow, and I understand thoroughly that all the resources and powers of our political foes from all parts of the land will be concentrated against us in Indiana, my native State, in the first great battle to be fought, probably the most important of all that are to be fought. But there are great occasions when the discharge of high patriotic duties is to be considered above all personal considerations. I shall not disregard the unanimous voice of the representatives of the American people which you speak here to-day. [Applause.] I fully realize the importance of the situation. I am profoundly grateful for the honor which has been conferred, and I have an abiding faith that with the favor of God and of the people we shall succeed in this contest." [Applause.]

ON Wednesday, after attending to routine business, the national executive committee of the Democratic party and the committee appointed to make formal notification of their nominations to Gen. Hancock and Mr. English did a graceful act by calling upon Mr. Tilden. They went to the ex-Governor's residence in a formal way, in their official capacity, and then and there, through their spokesman, ex-Senator Stevenson, the president of the Cincinnati convention, recognized Mr. Tilden as the President de jure of the United States, commending him for his patriotism and noble self-denial in laying down his claims four years ago to avert civil war, and also for his equally patriotic self-denial in saving the party from a faction fight by withdrawing in 1880. Mr. Tilden's brief response was dignified and manly. He said that a solution which enabled the democratic party of the United States to vindicate effectively the right of the people to choose their chief magistrate, and which at the same time relieved him from the burden of the canvass and of four years of administration, was at once worthy of the occasion and agreeable to him personally. He gave Gen. Hancock his best wishes, promised him his individual support and co-operation, and thought he would be elected.

A BURGLARIOUS ATTEMPT to enter the dwelling of Rev. E. B. Newnam, in this town, was made, at a late hour last Sunday night, but was frustrated just as the burglar was about to enter the kitchen through one of the windows. Miss Newnam had not retired, and before doing so, as it fortunately happened, in looking out of her chamber window, her attention was arrested by a figure stealthily creeping toward the rear of the house, which she kept in view, and gave an alarm as she saw him about to effect an entrance. The fellow fled at Miss Newnam's outcry, and made his escape.—Transcript.

TALBOT county has a population of 19,083, an increase since 1870 of 3,946.

JOHN L. THOMAS, Collector of the port of Baltimore, at the recent republican meeting held in that city paid the following high tribute to Gen. W. S. Hancock. In his speech Mr. Thomas said:

"I am sorry General Hancock is not a Republican, so I could vote for him and speak for him and work for him. Aside from his brilliant and dashing war record as a Union soldier, which is known to every one and admired by all who love the old flag for which he fought, I am indebted to him for many acts of kindness. I knew him personally and intimately. I was with him for some time in his Indian campaign of 1867 in Southern Kansas and Colorado. I traveled in his ambulance by day, ate at his table and slept in his tent at night. When I was hungry or wearied from travel he ministered to me. I will say for him that he is a most perfect gentleman, with a heart as kind and big as his form, with integrity as inflexible as his courage is undaunted."

THE POPULATION OF KENT.—The census enumerators for this county have filed a duplicate of their lists at the clerk's office, and if, on examination, it had not been definitely ascertained that many names had been omitted, including whole families, the people of the county would be surprised to learn that our population had increased only 112 since 1870. The enumeration by districts for 1870 and that returned for 1880 is as follows:

Districts.	1870.	1880.	Increase.	Decrease.
First	4,500	3,583	.....	917
Second	3,166	3,114	.....	52
Third	2,454	2,688	234	.....
Fourth	3,639	4,141	502	.....
Fifth	3,343	3,688	345	.....
	17,102	17,214	1,081	969

The population of the towns and villages in 1870 was as follows: Chestertown 1,871, Galena 307, Masseys 78, Millington 420, Sassafras 281, Chesterville 81. None of these except Chestertown have been distinctively reported by the late enumerators, and consequently their gain or loss cannot be stated; but it is known that many of them have increased considerably, while none have sustained a loss.

It appears from the above that the principal decrease is in the first or Masseys district, the falling off amounting to the astonishing number of nine hundred and seventeen, while it is estimated by those who ought to know that the towns of Millington, Galena and Masseys, all of which are within the bounds of that district, have increased 400 in population since 1870. If this be true, the decrease in the agricultural portion of the district would be 1,317 since the last census. It was not believed that this could be the case, and last Tuesday a few gentlemen from that district, well acquainted with the people, went over the enumerators' returns (which are rendered in alphabetical order) from A to D, and detected the omission of quite a number of families from the list, some of them comprising from eight to a dozen persons! It is reasonable to suppose that similar omissions were made in names beginning with other letters of the alphabet, and that in all probability the district, instead of losing 917 of its population since 1870, has not fallen off at all, if it has not acquired an actual gain. A gentleman from the second district also reports several families in his neighborhood that were not visited by the enumerator. Our people are justly indignant at the loose manner in which this important matter has been attended to by some of the enumerators, and complaint has been made to the proper authorities in regard thereto. From the well known character of General Walker, the superintendent, and his extreme desire to have this matter properly attended to, he will no doubt order the census to be retaken, in at least the first district, by persons who will do it correctly. Kent is a live county, and while enlarging her towns and dividing her farms and building houses, she is not willing to have it published to the world that she is standing comparatively still in population.

HANDSOME ALTARS.—The interior of the Catholic Church, up town, has been much improved by the addition of two very handsome side altars. They have been built after a Gothic model by our well known mechanic, Mr. E. C. Reiche, and reflect great credit upon him. The altars are located within the sanctuary on either side of the main altar, and their addition improves the appearance of the main altar, whilst at the same time they complete the furniture of the pretty little edifice. A statue surmounts each altar. On one we have the infant Saviour in the arms of his Mother, and on the other St. Joseph, the worthy spouse of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The niches in which these statues are placed are of a very beautiful carmine tint, and the effect of the perfectly white statues in the deep red niches is very pretty indeed. These altars were donated to the church by a distinguished visitor to our town, who does not wish it to be make public. This church, from nothing in the beginning, now has five altars, vestments, a good choir and an increasing congregation, all proofs of what can be done through energy and zeal.

ANOTHER STEAMER ON CHESTER RIVER.—Messrs. Hines, Taylor & Co., have purchased the steamer Massachusetts and intend running her from Crumpton to Baltimore during the peach season. We learn they have had her machinery thoroughly overhauled and she is now pronounced by the U. S. inspectors to be in a splendid condition. She will commence her regular daily trips, as will be seen by advertisement in another column, on Monday, July 19th. The Massachusetts is fitted up with ample sleeping accommodations for passengers.

MESSRS. HUBBARD & SON, in a double column advertisement elsewhere in to-day's paper, call attention to their well known Standard Super-Phosphate, and specially ask a trial on the wheat crop of 1880. This firm, as heretofore explained by us, has gone to large expense in the erection of additional buildings and purchase of machinery, and claim that their facilities now enable them to meet the wants of farmers with a first-class phosphate at a very reasonable price. They also extend a cordial invitation to everybody to visit their works near Chestertown.

THE OIL PAINTING by John H. Redue, which Mr. E. B. Jones placed in the Catholic fair last Christmas to be disposed of by chances, will be drawn for to-day, 17th inst., at 10 A. M., in Mr. John Hines' office. All interested are invited.

OVER 500 fine and perfect fitting suits for men and boys marked down 25 to 50 per cent. This is by far less than the present price of production. C. N. Oehm & Son, 230 W. Pratt St. and 55 Hanover St., one-price clothiers. Clothing made to order.

THE ANNUAL PICNIC of St. Dennis' congregation takes place next Thursday in McCauley's woods. A cotillion band will be present, and it is hardly necessary for us to say that a good time may be expected.

ORPHANS' COURT, Tuesday, July 13.—Present, Judges Nicholson, Shallcross and Willson.

The last will and testament of John Jervis, deceased, was admitted to probate, and letters testamentary on the personal estate granted unto Sarah Jervis.

Thos. B. Hynson, one of the appraisers of the personal estate of Jas. P. DeCorse, dec'd, returned the inventory and appraisement of said estate.

Abraham Harlock, one of the appraisers of the personal estate of Thos. Fowler, dec'd, returned the inventory and appraisement of said estate.

IN 1836 there were twelve newspapers published on the Peninsula; now there are about fifty. Cecil has 4, Kent 3, Queen Anne's 2, Talbot 4, Caroline 5, Dorchester 4, Somerset 4, Wicomico 2, Worcester 3, Accomac, Va., 1, Sussex 5, Kent 4, New Castle, including the city of Wilmington, 9. But four of these are dailies, and are published in the city of Wilmington. All the rest are weekly publications.

THE population of Queen Anne's county is 19,468, an increase of 3,297 since 1870. This will entitle the county to three members in the House of Delegates. The constitution provides that all counties having over 18,000 and less than 38,000 inhabitants shall be entitled to 3 members.

REV. THOMAS GUARD, of Mount Vernon M. E. Church, Baltimore, will preach at the M. E. Church as Church Hill on Tuesday night next, the 20th instant. Dr. Guard is perhaps the best pulpit orator in this country.

A LETTER from Warwick, Md., states that several peach orchards in that neighborhood have been sold at 30 cents per basket.

THE EQUINE DRUG advertised in another column, is said to be about the best in use.

EXCURSIONS.—This week has been favorable for excursions and a number have taken place. The one on Wednesday to Woodland Beach, per the Kent County Railroad, was not largely patronized—only about 50 going. That on Thursday, by the Sunday Schools of Galena circuit M. E. Church, numbered over five hundred, and included the schools at Galena, Chesterville, Locust Grove and Sassafras. The large company enjoyed the attractions of Woodland Beach and the "socialities" of the occasion with great zest, and returned to their homes in the evening without a single unpleasant incident. It was altogether a delightful excursion and reflected credit upon the managers. A somewhat novel incident occurred on the way up—a real marriage on the train. Mr. Horace Skeggs, from Locust Grove, took to himself a blushing bride in the person of Miss Arey White, of Barnard's wharf, Rev. Mr. Bryan performing the ceremony to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The military excursion of the Kent Guards to Annapolis, on the steamer Chester, yesterday, was also a successful affair. About one hundred and fifty went from Chestertown and vicinity, while the additions at the other wharves on the river swelled the number to large proportions. The company went with full ranks and were accompanied by Weber's band, of Baltimore. We had not heard the result of the target contest at Annapolis when we went to press.

EXCURSION TO CAPE MAY.—Next Wednesday is the day for the excursion to Cape May. Bear it in mind, and do not allow a rainy morning to keep you from going. You will be under cover all the way and at Cape May the sun may be shining. An opportunity like this to visit that celebrated sea-side may not again be afforded this season—certainly none more favorable will be—and those who can possibly arrange to do so should go next Wednesday. The "Thos. Clyde," which will receive the excursionists at Bombay Hook, is one of the most splendid and safe steamers upon the Delaware Bay, and the eighty miles ride on her, with the delightful views and exhilarating breezes of the bay, is of itself worth the price of the ticket, to say nothing of the numerous attractions at Cape May, where about five hours will be allowed for sight-seeing and for the enjoyment of the unsurpassed surf bathing. The "hack" nuisance, which excursionists had to contend with in former years, is now done away with, and fine open cars of ample accommodations run every few minutes from the steamboat landing to the city, at a charge of five cents per passenger. The attractions at Cape May, it is believed, will be greater on the 21st of July than at any other period of the season. See advertisement in another column.

BODY RECOVERED.—The body of Capt. W. W. Clayton, whose drowning on Thursday afternoon of last week was recorded in the last issue of the NEWS, was found by two colored men last Saturday morning near Primrose's Point, on the Queen Anne's shore, about a mile below the place where he was knocked off his vessel. An inquest was held and an examination of the body disclosed the fact, as surmised by us last week, that he received serious injury from the violent blow that knocked him in the water. His left cheek bone was broken, which must have been done by the detached cleat as it swung, attached to the mainsail's rope, furiously across the deck. The body, which was much swollen and greatly disfigured, was interred in Chester cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

Great sympathy is felt by the whole community for the orphaned children, and on Sunday this found practical demonstration at the Meth. Prot. Church. The four children of the deceased are members of the Sabbath School of that Church, and at the afternoon session the distressing affliction was mentioned, and, without begging, a collection was asked for their relief; each of the classes responded heartily, and the amount footed up over thirty-six dollars. This is practical sympathy and worthy of record.

DROWNED AT TOLCHESTER.—Jas. A. Brownley, aged 14 years, son of Thomas J. Brownley, of Baltimore, was drowned at Tolchester Beach on Tuesday afternoon under most distressing circumstances. Young Brownley, with his mother, sister and a younger brother, came over on an excursion to the Beach. Instead of bathing in the bay, James and his brother went into the fish pond back of the bath house, where they presumed the water was shallow. In the meantime Mrs. Brownley and her daughter stood on the shore watching the boys. James ventured out too far and slipped into a hole where the water was quite deep, and sank. His mother rushed into the water to rescue her son and she also sank, and but for the exertions of the younger son, who seized her dress, she too would have been drowned. Miss Brownley gave the alarm, and those bathing in the accustomed place hastened to the pond and succeeded in recovering the body of the drowned boy, which was taken home by the afternoon steamer.

HOT WEATHER.—Tuesday was the hottest day known in this locality for many years. The thermometer at our office door, which is shaded all day, stood at 100° from three to half-past four o'clock in the afternoon, whereas in the same position it has never been observed heretofore to reach 98° but once. In some places in town, however, the mercury was as low as 94°. But for a good (westwardly) breeze the heat would have been almost insufferable. In the signal station at Baltimore the heat was 99° and at Norfolk 100°.

THE first excursion of the season to this town was made last Monday by the J. O. A. M., of Baltimore, on the steamer Keyport. The same society made an excursion to Chestertown last summer, and were so much pleased with the place that they resolved to repeat it. The armory was secured and many of the excursionists spent most of the time in dancing. The party numbered about six hundred.

DR. T. S. HOLTON, who has for a number of years been a practising physician in Chestertown, has removed to Baltimore county. The doctor has for a long time been suffering from ill-health, and for that reason is compelled to discontinue practice. The best wishes of his numerous friends here go with him and his family.

ADDITION TO THE KENT GUARDS.—A large addition to the Kent Guards is about to be made by the young men of Still Pond. Twenty-seven applications have already been received. The Still Pond members, we learn, will form a squad and drill at the village; on all parades they will unite with the Guards in full uniform.

H. W. VICKERS, Esq., as Attorney, sold at private sale on Monday last the farm belonging to Miss Millimints Peacock, near Crumpton, Queen Anne's county, to Mrs. Mary Urian, of this county; terms private.

AT CAPE MAY.—The "pride of Maryland," the Fifth Regiment, left Baltimore yesterday with full band and drum corps, for Cape May, where they encamp for a week or ten days. Those who go on the excursion next Wednesday will have the pleasure of seeing this noted Regiment.

THE GRAIN MARKET.—Southern Wheat has lost several cents in price this week. Yesterday's Baltimore papers quote Fultz at 1.10a1.12, and long-berry at 1.13a1.14.

FINE SHOWERS of rain in this county this week have revived the drooping corn and materially helped young clover and growing fruit.

THE finest Irish potatoes we have seen this season were raised by Mr. Wm. Burk. They were of the Early Rose variety, the largest 6 to 8 inches long and 7 to 9 in circumference, and all of them smooth and perfect. The only fertilizer used was cod sake, applied directly upon the seed when planted.

MR. EDW. W. DILL has left at our office a red sweet potato, the largest and finest of the season.

THE New York Dispatch says that Gen. Hancock is to be at Cape May next Tuesday and remain several days. If this is true, it will prove an additional attraction to visitors.

MR. LEBANON M. P. Sunday School, of Baltimore—Rev. J. B. Jones, pastor—made an excursion to Tolchester yesterday.

CARP CULTURE.—Upon invitation of Mr. Richard Holliday, of Queen Anne's county, Fish Commissioner Hughlett last Saturday examined the fish pond of the former. Mr. Holliday has a very nicely constructed pond of about a quarter of an acre of land, and four feet in the deepest part. It is so constructed that he can draw all the water from it in about an hour and a-half. In this pond, which is constantly supplied with fresh water by springs, Commissioner Hughlett last December placed seventy-nine little German carp, from an inch and a-half to two inches in length, looking very much like little minnows. Last Saturday the water was drawn off and the fish taken out in a net, and measured exactly eleven inches—a growth of nine inches from the time they were deposited in the pond. This experiment conclusively shows that with a little care these fish can be raised here with great success, and as they increase very rapidly and require so little attention, we do not see how it can fail to be profitable.—Easton (Md.) Ledger.

A PROTEST FROM TAXPAYERS.—At a meeting of taxpayers of Caroline county, Md., recently held at Denton, over which T. S. Noble presided, resolutions were adopted declaring that as taxpayers they were entitled to know how the money raised for the support of the public schools has been expended; disapproving the action of the county commissioners "in levying additional money to the amount required of them by law to pay for the support of the public schools without first investigating the accounts of the school commissioners in the distribution of the public money;" declaring that the school commissioners deserve "to be publicly censured for declining to allow a committee of the taxpayers to examine the vouchers of the expenditures of the public money in support of the public schools," and requesting them to resign or allow a committee of the taxpayers to see how their money was expended. Addresses were delivered by J. W. Bryant, Twiford Noble and E. W. Williamson.

THE census returns from Delaware are all in, and the population of the State is 145,282, against 125,015 in 1870, an increase of 20,267 in ten years. The population of Wilmington is 45,585, against 30,841 in 1870. By counties the population foots up: New Castle 77,901, Kent 32,605, Sussex 34,776.

JOHN B. BROWN, ESQ., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Queen Anne's county, has appointed committees in the several districts for the purpose of organizing Hancock and English campaign clubs.

HORSES that are used upon the road require a great deal of care this hot weather. Drive them slowly, water often and use no check-rein, but give them their heads, especially when they are stopped for any length of time.

GREAT improvements have been made in the larger hotels at Cape May since last season, notably in the Stockton, Congress Hall, Columbia, Windsor and others.

A NEW style of "society youth" has appeared at the seaside. He allows his hair to grow long, brushes it behind his ears and refuses to talk upon any topic but decorative art.

ONE man at Crisfield ships about 1,000 dozen soft crabs every week. It is said that by some process, known only to himself, he can make a hard-shell crab shed, or turn to a soft one, in twenty-four hours.

COL. CHARLES DUFFY is arranging for a grand reception to the Fifth Maryland Regiment at the Stockton House, Cape May, upon the occasion of their encampment.

HARFORD county claims a population of 28,000, an increase of 6,000.

ANNOUNCEMENT—LIFE OF GENERAL WINFIELD SCOTT HANCOCK.—We are glad to know that the well known publishing house of Hubbard Bros., of Philadelphia, have in preparation and will soon issue the "Life of Gen. Hancock," written by his old-time friend, Hon. John W. Forney. The career of the brilliant soldier who is soon to be transferred to the White House furnishes material for a volume which, in deep and thrilling interest, has rarely been equalled in the annals of American biography. It is fortunate that its preparation has been assigned to Colonel Forney, who for twenty-five years has been known as one of the ablest editors and most brilliant writers in America. His known ability, and his personal intimacy with Gen. Hancock, are a sufficient guaranty that the book will be full, complete and authoritative—a volume of permanent value, and in this respect widely different from ordinary campaign literature. It will be sold only by subscription, and must meet with a very large sale.

FRUIT EVAPORATORS.

MCFARLAND & CO.'S AUTOMATIC.—Since my card of last week I have sold two more of our Automatic Fruit Evaporators—one to Messrs. T. J. & J. T. Shallcross and another to Mr. J. R. Clements, at Rolph's Wharf. The one purchased by Messrs. Kennard & Co., has been put up at their Phosphate factory near the depot, Chestertown. It will be ready for practical operation, with all the latest improvements, this (Saturday) morning, and a cordial invitation is extended to all interested in the fruit business to call and examine it, as we are satisfied of its superior merit, and that it only needs to be seen to be appreciated. Its economy in working, its simplicity, and the durable character of all its parts, together with its great capacity, recommend it to all.—Peach growers should supply themselves at once, as they will have no difficulty in getting rid of any quantity of evaporated fruit at good prices, while they may not be able to dispose of the raw fruit for enough to pay expenses during the limited peach season. Orders left at Kennard & Co's will reach me, or may be addressed to me in Chestertown, and I will explain everything to your satisfaction. WM. M. PETERS.

Cut down by time's unerring blade,
And planted in the tomb. F. D. B.
