The satisfaction which Mr. Bacon gave while acting in the subordinate capacity of curate continued after he had been promoted to the rectorship. A letter of Mr. Callister to Mr. William Henderson, of Ramsay, in the Isle of Man, dated Aug. 21, 1748, says: "Brother Evan have been acquainted of the Island with Mr. Thomas Bacon. He is now our parson, and I think him the worthiest clergyman I ever knew, and a friend to the Bishop. He is a strong vindicator of T. S. M. (Thomas, Sodor and Man) and a potent advocate for him." On the same day Mr. Callister wrote to his brother Ewan: "Mr. Bacon has since my last been inducted into the parish, and gives entire satisfaction to all his parishioners." The following extract from a letter Mr. Callister, written from the Head of Whitehaven, shows how he spent the interval between leaving Oxford, to Mr. Tear, of Douglas, and dated Aug. 26, 1748, will testify to the continuance of the interest in which Mr. Bacon was held. At this date he also had left Oxford, and had removed to Dover. "I am now removed a great way off from where I was, and so is Mr. Bacon. He has I know a great many services to send to the Island, and I cannot see him above once a month or thereabouts. I assure you he is a very considerable man here, and in great esteem with every great man from the Governor to the Parish Clerk. I am very happy in his conversation and friendship, and so is everyone that is acquainted with him. I have sent you enclosed a couple of his minuets, which are excellent. I had got these ready for you long ago. He had innumerable fine things, but when I think of writing them down I have not opportunity, and when I have time, I don't think of 'em!" In a letter to his brother of the same date, Mr. Callister says: "Mr. Bacon and his family are well and in great esteem. Since I removed up here they are removed from Oxford about twelve miles nearer me. I had the pleasure of entertaining them in March last at Oxford, when Mr. B. toasted you, and Mrs. Bacon expressed with tears of gratitude some sense of obligations they owed to you, which I take to be trifles; but this acknowledgement is good of her, as they are now above being obliged, in a necessary way, having a very genteel erable income. T. S. M. (Bishop Wilson) and he hold strict correspondence." Even if these written testimonials to his acceptability were wanting there are other evidences, quite as emphatic and decisive. These were the renewed interest of his people in all matters relating the church During the protracted infirmities of the former rector the temporal affairs of the parish had been neglected and religion itself had languished. Among the very first steps taken by him was to have the boundaries of the glebe belonging to the parish accurately defined, as the old marks had been effaced and disputes had arisen as to its limits. This glebe had been long occupied by Mr. Manadier, but it seems that Mr. Bacon had no wish to reside upon the farm, probably preferring the companionship, which even such small towns as Oxford afforded, to the seclusion of the country, for he was socially inclined.‡ In the year following his induction measures were taken to enlarge the church for the accommodation of the increasing congregation. This work, which nearly doubled the capacity of the building, was not completed however until 1750, when that part of White Marsh that is still standing was completed and formed the nave to the old framed church, which made, as it were, a transcept of transcept to the new brick addition. Besides enlarging the parish church Mr. Bacon caused the Chapel of Ease, on King's creek to be renovated, and he restored the services in that place of worship which seem to have been interrupted for years before.‖

CHURCHWARDENS' ACCOUNTS AT EASTON.

Tenore præsentium Nos, Thomas, permissione Divina Sodorensis et Man Episcopus omnibus facimus universis, quod die Dominica Beatæ videlicet die mensis Martii Anno Domini millesimo septingentesimo quadragesimo quarto, et nostræ consecrationis quadragesimo septimo, Nos in Ecclesia parochiali Sancti Michaelis, apud Easton de Chapel in Parochia predicta celebrantes, Dilectum nobis in Christo Thomam Bacon, Diaconum, in Americam transire, Deo optimo maximo favente, in animo habentem, et per Reverendi in Christo patris et confratris nostri Edmundi Londinensis Episcopi approbationem et commendationem de vita sua laudabili et moribus, per literas testimoniales commendatum ac in doctrina et scientia per Examinatores nostrum approbatum (præstito primitus per eum Juramento de supremitate Regiæ Majestatis agnoscenda subscriptisq articulis tribis istis in 3651 Canonum Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ contentis) ad Sacro-sanctum Presbiterium, ordinem juxta morem et ritum Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ in ea parte salubriter editum et ordinatum admisimus ipsumq Thomam Bacon Presbiterium et Ministrum Verbi Dei rite et canonice ordinavimus. [sigillum] THO. SODOR ET MAN.

The certificate of ordination to the diaconate, was dated Sept. 23, 1744, and was in almost the same words. It therefore need not here be copied.

‡This property which was once the glebe of St. Peter's parish is still known as the Manadier farm, and lies not far from old White Marsh Church.

‖Mr. Allen is in error in his statement that the Chapel of Ease of St. Peters parish was erected during Mr. Bacon's incumbency. It was built many years, at least fourteen, before his institution. The parish records indicate that church services were held there by him as early as 1749; but they give no indication of their celebration for a long time previous to that date.

I have been using John Lucas & Co.'s Celebrated Enameled Ready-Mixed Paint, very extensively for the last two years and have tested it very thoroughly, and after using from eight hundred to one thousand gallons in 1879 alone, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the best paint in the market. The following qualities make it superior to any I have ever used:

1st. It has no water in it, and can therefore be used in the coldest as well as the warmest weather.

2d. Two coats of this paint will give as much satisfaction as most other paints with three coats.

3d. One of its most desirable qualities is its uniform thickness; it is not so thin in a warm weather as to be fit only for priming, nor so thick in cold weather as to not spread easily and evenly.

I have the exclusive sale of it in this county.

I have obtained the signatures of the following persons upon whose houses I have used this paint during the years 1877-78-79 (all of these houses were new and most of them finished with only two coats) and they recommend it as entirely satisfactory in solidity, brightness and durability.
