The Kent News.

SATURDAY.....APRIL 30, 1881.

ANY MEMBER of the Baltimore city council who advocates the driving of cattle and hogs thro' the streets of that city should be chased at least two squares by a vicious ox—before he casts his vote.

HON. CARL SCHURZ has returned to journalism, his first article in the St. Louis Westlitche Post being on the situation of the Senate. He asserts that it is the Republicans who are obstructing the public business, and, that the Democrats claim, properly enough, that the Republican plan would be followed by repetition of the corrupt carpet-bagger rule. "In fact," says Mr. Shurz, "the fight over a few Senate offices is nothing else but a fight for the possession of the federal power in the future."

DESPITE the opposition manifested toward him John Kelley still reigns as Grand Sachem of Tammany Hall. However small the majority by which he retains his place, or questionable the means by which that small majority was obtained, it does not change the fact that he still remains an obstacle to Democratic unity and success in the Empire State. The efforts of the New York Democracy to reorganize the party and to harmonize all its elements may come to naught unless the persistence and determination of Roscoe Conkling to run the State produces irreconcilable differences in the Republican ranks.

AT a meeting of Governor Hamilton's friends, held a few days since, it was resolved to open the campaign at once, although, as a matter of fact, the campaign was really opened a fortnight or so ago, when a gentleman distinguished at one time for his devotion to the interests of the Annapolis lobby, called on a prominent Baltimore merchant and besought him, for the sake of "Hamilton and reform," to lay hold of the fuse with which it was designed to fire off the Governor's bombshell. The American says that the prominent Baltimore merchant was very much in favor of reform; but he was so taken aback at seeing it advocated by the gentleman distinguished at one time, etc., that he positively declined to have anything whatever to do with the bomblet.

THE MONUMENT to Rear-Admiral Farragut was dedicated at Washington on Monday. There was an imposing military celebration and a brilliant gathering of distinguished citizens and officers of the navy. Eloquent tributes to his memory were delivered by President Garfield, ex-Postmaster General Maynard and Senator Voorhees. Mrs. Farragut, widow of the Admiral, was present and expressed herself to all inquirers as being exceedingly pleased with the statue, she regarding the likeness as perfect and the general idea of the excution in exact accord with her taste and desire. The artist, Vinnie Ream-Hoxie, modeled the work at her home in Washington, and saw it executed at the navy-yard. The statue, which cost $20,000, is of bronze, ten feet high and rests upon a pedestal ten feet high and seven feet square. It represents Admiral Farragut with a marine glass in his left hand and his foot on a block and tackle.

SENATOR BUTLER, of South Carolina, having recently stated on the floor of the Senate that if he did not furnish irrefragable proof of a corrupt bargain between Senator Mahone and Republican Senators he would resign his seat in the Senate, the Baltimore Gazette says that he has no need to bring forward proofs of the infamous bargain. The proofs conclusive are already before the public. Senator Burnside cannot silence self-evident facts by hammering his desk and bellowing out that they are false. Here are facts that are quite sufficient: Mahone received the support of the Democratic Readjusters of Virginia on the ground that he was a Democrat. His newspaper organ in Richmond during the whole campaign proclaimed his stanch Democracy. Finally and conclusively Mahone claimed in his first speech in the Senate, in reply to Hill, that he was "a better Democrat than Hill." But though thus a Democrat, it was announced before the session opened that Mahone was in treaty with the Republicans. He received marked attention from their leaders, and held frequent close conferences with them. It was evident that by selling out to the Republicans he could give them control of the Senate committees. It is a custom which has the force of law that newly-elected senators do not receive the chairmanships of committees. Mahone was named by the Republicans as chairman of one Senate committee, and placed on the postal committee, where he could influence the appointment of postmasters in Virginia. He also names Repudiator Riddleberger as sergeant-at-arms. Mutual benefits result. By Mahone going over to the Republicans they are able to control the organization of the Senate. Mahone receives the exclusive patronage of Virginia so as to help "Mahone and repudiation." A bouquet of flowers is sent from the White House with the compliments of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield on the day that renegade votes with the Republicans and transfers the Senate to them. Does anybody want additional proofs? If so he had better go and see his family physician, for his brain must be seriously affected. It is quite needless for Senator Butler to bring forward any further proofs; and that venerable mattonhead, Senator Burnside, only makes himself ridiculous by pounding his desk and denying it.

Another Dish of Hamilton Hash.

The Baltimore American of last Monday, under this heading: "Hamilton's Efforts to Shake Down the Pillars of Democracy," states that His Excellency has had printed twenty thousand pamphlets giving details of Legislative extravagance and "showing up" the shortcomings of the Democracy, and that these pamphlets would be backed by the active co-operation of an organization to be styled "Hamiltonians." The American, while it apparently appreciates the Governor's efforts to transform the Democratic party into a "Hamilton party," seems unable to "sip the sweetness of the honey" and strongly intimates that the change for better in the way of reform would be like "jumping from the frying-pan into the fire." The following is the American's editorial reference to the Governor:

Governor Hamilton does not seem to have any higher opinion of the Democratic party than the Republicans themselves, but it has taken him a precious long time to find the party out. Indeed, we suspect that the Governor has only recently begun to read the American regularly; otherwise he would surely have given due credit to this journal for publishing in 1880 what he now announces as a brand-new discovery. Of course, the Governor is not to be blamed for this; it is not his fault, but his misfortune, that he is always a year or so late in politics. He is to be pitied, not to be scolded; and our Democratic cotemporaries who manifest a disposition to wax indignant over what they are pleased to term the Governor's attempt to break up the party, should remember that this is only one of his period masquerading frolics. The Governor is very fond of posing as a simple-minded country gentleman, with old-fashioned ideas about the administration of public office, but everybody knows that when it comes to filling those offices with men of his own appointment, he picks out, in his happy ignorance of human nature, a set of gentlemen whose chief distinction is that they only become reformers when there was no longer any chance for them to be anything else. If, perchance, the O. L. D.'s (Hamiltonians) should succeed in getting control of the nominating conventions, we are very much afraid that reform would be sprinkled with camphor and speedily laid away in the party clothes-press with the fancy costumes of previous campaigns. The Governor is one of those amiable persons who believe only what they wish to believe, and his advisers doubtless take good care not to snicker in his presence. They are perfectly willing to let the Governor draw their chestnuts out of the fire, if he can, no matter how badly his own fingers may be burned.

THE following appointments of tax collectors for Queen Anne's county were made last week: First district, John E. Everett, new appointment; second, Samuel Spry, reappointed; third, Nehemiah Bailey, new appointment; fourth, Jos. D. Tolson, reappointed; fifth, W. H. Price, reappointed; sixth, Wm. H. Ceal, new appointment.

THE death of General Joe Lane leaves only two surviving generals of the Mexican war—Gen. Harney, aged 81, and Gen. Robert Patterson, of Philadelphia, now in his 90th year.

A BAD BEGINNING.—Governor Hamilton's campaign was formally opened at Annapolis on Tuesday night, when speeches in his behalf were made by Dr. Eli J. Henkle and Mr. Michael Bannon. After Dr. Henkle had spoken, arraigning the "managers" and eulogizing the Governor, State Senator Wells, of Anne Arundel, who was present as a spectator, took the floor by permission and spoke in opposition to Dr. Henkle's arraigument of the party managers, creating a great deal of excitement and applause. He said that Messrs. Henkle, Bannon & Co., who now denounce the ring, were unquestionably charter members of it. Their object now is to smooth their paths for future political preferment. The people of the State know them too well, however, to put faith in what they say. He denied that the last Legislature had not carried out reforms, and quoted several instances, such as making provisions for funding the defense loan at a lower rate of interest, reducing the salaries of the adjutant-general, weigher of live stock, inspector of coal mines, officers and crew of oyster navy, repeal of the bounty law, &c. Dr. Wells was heartily applauded, and, taken altogether, the meeting clearly demonstrated the fact that the people have no sympathy with the efforts of a few disappointed politicians to distract and divide the democratic party. The object is too apparent, and if overweening ambition and egotism were not clearly manifest, the "rule or ruin" spirit of these agitators is sufficient to discount all their claims.

Dr. Henkle is an aspirant for the office of State Treasurer in the place of Hon. Barnes Compton, and Mr. Bannon announced in his speech that he was a candidate for political [judicial] honors and for re-election to the House of Delegates.

INCONVENIENCING TRAVELERS.—Mr. Hiram M. Brown, the owner of what is known as Whatland's mill, a short distance northwest of this town, gives notice that he will commence repairing the "managers" and eulogizing the Governor, State Senator Wells, of Anne Arundel, who was present as a spectator, took the floor by permission and spoke in opposition to Dr. Henkle's arraigument of the party managers, creating a great deal of excitement and applause. He said that Messrs. Henkle, Bannon & Co., who now denounce the ring, were unquestionably charter members of it. Their object now is to smooth their paths for future political preferment. INCONVENIENCING TRAVELERS.—Mr. Hiram M. Brown, the owner of what is known as Whatland's mill, a short distance northwest of this town, gives notice that he will commence repairing the arch under the public road at that place next Monday, and that until completed travel by that route will be suspended. This will be a serious inconvenience, as fully one-half of all the country people who come to Chestertown reach it by that route. We would suggest that a temporary bridge be improvised, which could be done at no great expense. But if this should be deemed impracticable, some of our enterprising livery men might erect a temporary shelter to protect and feed horses and run carriages between that place and town. It would no doubt pay.

A NEW EXCURSION STEAMER FOR TOLCHESTER BEACH.—The New York excursion steamer Nellie White has been purchased for the excursion season between Baltimore and Tolchester Beach, which will open the latter part of May. The steamer, which carries 900 passengers, is intended as a companion to the Pilot Boy, and will be under command of Capt. W. C. Eliason. The new hotel at the beach will soon be completed and other improvements made, which will render it a much more pleasant and attractive resort than hitherto.

JUDGE WICKES rendered a decision in our Circuit Court last week which is of some importance to farmers. It was to the effect that where a farmer hires a laborer for a year or part of a year at a given price per month, and the laborer leaves without any just reason before the time expires, the employer is not bound by law to pay the employee anything he may claim to be due him at the time he quits his service. The case was that of Thomas Wiggins vs. John A. Miller, an appeal from James Cohee, J. P., who decided in Wiggins' favor. The court reversed the decision of the magistrate, and made Wiggins liable for the costs above and below.

SHEEP KILLED BY DOGS.—On Monday night Mr. James S. Gemmill, of Worton, had eight sheep and seven lambs killed by dogs, and the balance of his flock greatly damaged. On Tuesday night Mr. P. Dwyer had nearly his whole flock killed, and Mr. William Carter also lost several head. These miserable curs, not worth ten cents a dozen, are not only keeping every farmer in constant dread, but are almost preventing what would be, if we had a good dog law, one of the most valuable interests of the county.

FIRE.—The large brick dwelling house on the Webb Pond farm, on Sassafras river, was destroyed by fire at one o'clock last Monday morning. It was occupied by two sons of Joseph J. Webb. The fire originated in the kitchen and is believed to have been accidental. It was insured for $2,000 in the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Kent county.

CHESTER CONCLAVE, I. O. Heptasophs, was recently instituted at this place by C. E. Baird, Esq., of Baltimore, a representative of the Supreme Conclave, and the following officers were installed: Chancellor, Thomas G. DeFord; Archron, James E. Taylor; Provost, J. Frank Connelly; Secretary, Wm. A. Wheatley; Financier, J. Burton Burchinal; Treasurer, James A. Shaw; Prelate, Wm. J. McFeeley; Inspector, Jos. W. Thompson; Warder, John W. Palmer; Sentinel, John A. Rollison; Trustees, Chas. W. Kennard, James B. Sappington, M. A. Toulson; Medical Examiner, Dr. P. Cooper.

GEORGE E. HADDAWAY, Esq., editor and proprietor of the Easton Ledger and the St. Michaels Comet, has been reappointed collector of State and county taxes for 1881. What with the profits from his two papers and the commissions accruing from collections, he ought soon to commence another publication or two in some of Talbot's thrifty towns!

THE Masonic Temple, erected at Easton by Coates Lodge No. 102, A. F. and A. M., will be dedicated by the Grand Lodge of Maryland next Wednesday. A large number of excursionists are expected from Baltimore and elsewhere.

ELECTION OF TOWN COMMISSIONER.—On Monday C. T. Westcott, Esq., was re-elected Town Commissioner to serve three years. His only opponent was Mr. Thomas Ellis, who received 26 votes out of a total poll of 115 votes cast.

LOSS OF A VALUABLE HORSE.—Mr. T. Shaffer, of Kennedyville, has met with quite a loss in the death of his horse, Keystone Patchen, who died suddenly last week. Keystone cost Mr. S. one thousand dollars a few years ago.

THE Kent Guards have an invitation to attend the anniversary banquet of the Fifth Maryland Regiment, to be held in Baltimore the 23d day of next May.

THE OSBORNE SELF-BINDER.—Jos. H. Hossinger, Esq., purchased and took home last Friday the Osborne Binder that was on exhibition on the green during court. The Osborne is a great favorite in this county, as well as in others on the Peninsula. It is in the hands of one of our best farmers as agent, John C. Sutton, of Locust Grove. See his adv. in our columns.

ORPHANS' COURT, Tuesday, April 26.—Present, Judges Nicholson, Shallcross and Willson.

Wm. Perkins, adm'r of Wm. E. Anderson, colored, returned his third and final account.

Henry C. Kennard and James A. Pearce, executors of Thomas C. Kennard, returned their second administration account.

Jos. H. Hossinger, adm'r of Thos. Wright, returned his first and final administration account and dividend of the personal estate of deceased.

Sarah Jervis, adm'x of John Jervis, returned her first and final administration account.

THE ladies of Piney Neck M. E. Church will have an oyster supper and festival next Thursday evening. We guarantee a feast for epicurs, and a good time generally.

$2.00 EXCURSION.—The Kent County Railroad will make another of those popular excursion trips to Philadelphia on Wednesday next, May 4.

NINE deaths from small-pox have occurred in Wilmington, Del., during the last week, and six new cases were sent to the almshouse on Monday.

HON. M. P. O'Connor, Representative in Congress from the second South Carolina district, died at his home in Charleston Tuesday morning.

THE Maryland Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church meets May 18, at St. Peter's, in Baltimore.

A MARYLAND SENATOR'S VIEWS.

Senator Sulivane, of Dorchester county, one of the ablest members of the Senate, and a close and impartial observer of men and things, has an editorial in this week's Cambridge Chronicle concerning Gov. Hamilton's bomb, from which we extract the following:

The truth is that Governor Hamilton was bitterly disappointed last winter was a year at finding a legislature composed of men who modestly supposed that they were as well acquainted with the wants and wishes of their own respective constituents as he could possibly be, and who committed the unpardonable fault of wishing to enter into consultation with him as to the best methods of practically carrying into operation the pledges of retrenchment made to the people at the last Democratic convention. It will not be forgotten that the entire body of Democratic members of the legislature met in caucus, renewed the pledges of the preceding political campaign, and appointed a committee, consisting ex officio of the Board of Public Works of the State and of a number of well-known Democrats, to wait on the Governor and devise with him the frame of bills to enact into laws in order to attain the end proposed. And that, positively refusing to co-operate with this committee, Gov. Hamilton called to his assistance Mr. Michael Bannon and some dozen or more gentlemen like him, and together with the Republicans vigorously resisted every measure of retrenchment in public expenditures introduced into the legislature. These matters are well understood by all intelligent persons who visited Annapolis last winter, as well as the ultimate motive which spurred on the Governor to undertake that no measure of retrenchment should be adopted unless he himself should have the entire credit of it with the people of the State.

How he and his coterie did absolutely succeed in impeding and finally rejecting various salutary measures of reform is well known, but we will recall one just by way of reminder. All will remember how after a protracted fight in the oyster committee of the House of Delegates, his followers having failed to engraft on the report of the committee a provision giving to the Governor the appointment of every oyster police officer in Maryland, resorted to dilatory motions in the House to defeat the whole bill, though it reduced the expenses of the State treasury some $30,000 per annum. A plain and bold attempt, in the very face of his outcry for reduction of expenditures, to keep the expenses of the oyster navy at $60,000 per annum, unless the Legislature would consent to strip the State Fishery Force of the authority heretofore uniformly invested in that Board and confer upon him, Governor Hamilton, the sole appointment of every officer of the oyster police force throughout the State! And every one knows how very nearly he succeeded in his purpose of defeating that great measure of reform, which only finally passed both Houses in the last hours of the session. How largely instrumental he and his peculiar friends were in actually preventing the passage of the bill for mortgage taxation (he himself having a fortune invested in that species of security) is also well known to every one who passed the winter of 1880 in Annapolis, and there stands the journal of the two Houses to corroborate the fact to those who may think these things incredible. But these are mere samples of what we allude to.

PARVIS RETURNS—He Comes Unexpectedly and is Surrendered by His Bond.—The Centreville Observer of Tuesday says: On Wednesday last Mr. George T. Parvis, whose arrest and subsequent bailing on the charge of forgery we have already noticed, came down on the train, taking the people, even his own friends and family, by surprise. The report here was that he had gone South, and nobody ever expected to see him here again. His arrival, therefore, suddenly and unheralded, was a surprise to everybody. He spent the day Thursday in town, and on Friday morning was taken by Mr. Wm. E. Temple, one of the securities on his bail bond, before Esquire Blake and surrendered into the hands of the law. Mr. Blake issued a commitment for him and Constable Jump lodged him in jail to await the action of the grand jury at the approaching term of court.

THERE is an exceedingly effective feature in the liquor law recently passed by the Delaware Legislature. One of its sections makes the owner, and not the renter, of premises where liquor is sold responsible for any and all violations of the law. There are other very stringent prescriptions in the law, but this one is considered a sharp ax at the root of the whole business. No owner of a property will be willing to rent for such purpose while he is amenable as the actual offender for an infraction of the law.

MR. PETER COOPER, the venerable philanthropist, is reported as declaring that the proposed world's fair enterprise shall not fail, even if he has to go to the rescue with his own money. Mr. Cooper is further quoted as saying that it would "be a great disgrace, not only to the city of New York, but to every business man in America, if the affair should prove a fizzle."

SUSSEX COUNTY, Delaware, has a new and singular industry in the shape of a plaque factory, with a napkin-ring annex. The factory is at Frankford, and the plaques and rings are made of walnut and maplewood. One hundred and seventy hands are employed, and large orders for the plaques have been received from Paris, Rome and Vienna, where they are in great demand by artists and amateurs in decorative art.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Wilmington News describes the court-house at Elkton as a cast-off barn built just after the Revolution. The judges' bench has the look of an auctioneer's block, and everything is in harmony with it. The building is called an eye-sore and a disgrace to the county, and totally unfit, from the want of ventilation, for the assemblage of large crowds.

ELECTION.—Capt. A. L. Colmary, president; Capt. Wm. Cundiff, treasurer, and J. F. Tarbutton, secretary, of the Sassafras River Steamboat Company, have been re-elected for the ensuing year. The affairs of the company are in a prosperous condition.

CAMBRIDGE Chronicle: "The shad fishermen are having extra good luck on the Choptank this season. Can't part of this be attributed to our State fish commission? The young shad deposited in the upper waters of our river several years ago are returning full grown, no doubt."

FOR several weeks the measles have been literally ravaging Broad Creek Neck, Talbot county. But few families, especially in the lower part of the Neck, have been exempt. Several deaths have resulted from the disease.

WE understand now why President Garfield kissed his wife and mother inauguration day. Poor man, he has been kept so busy he hasn't had time to kiss either of them since. Perhaps he foresaw this.—Burlington Hawkeye.

A WRITER from Havre deGrace in the Wilmington News of Tuesday says: Our fishermen are catching all the fish they can handle. Last night one gilling boat caught five hundred shad. Herring are plentiful, bringing from $4 to $5 per 1,000. Shad sold yesterday for $12 per 100.

A RECENT assessment shows the value of property in Centreville, real and personal, to be $410,000. This does not include stocks, bonds, private securities or other evidences of debt, which are by law exempt from taxation for town purposes.

JACOB TOME, of Port Deposit, lost in Baltimore last week a pocket-book containing $30,000 in securities. Payment was stopped on the papers.

A THIEF entered Peter Tome's house in Port Deposit, chloroformed the family and stole $380 in cash.

THE new Czar leads a very simple life. He rises early and breakfasts with his family, and then puts on his boiler-iron overcoat and takes a walk in the back yard.—Boston Globe.

THE fishermen of the lower Peninsula refuse to give fish to the fish commission because artificial propagation will make fish so numerous that there will be no profit in catching them.

REV. D. L. GREENFIELD, of Centreville, Md., will deliver the annual anniversary address before the Scott Literary Society of the Conference Academy, at Dover, in June.

WILSON & RUTTER, at the Gridiron fishery, on the North East river, caught three hundred and five thousand herring at one haul last week.

THE Wilmington Conference Academy of Dover a few days ago received a contribution of $100 from Hon. T. F. Bayard.

A CHILD two years and six months old, son of James B. Hess, of Queen Anne's county, fell into a well last week and was drowned.

THE stock to the Denton National Bank has nearly all been subscribed. There remains only about $3,000 yet to be taken.

THE Southern convocation of the diocese of Easton will be held at Princess Anne, Maryland, May 3, 4 and 5.
