SATURDAY.....JUNE 11, 1881.

ECLIPSE OF THE MOON.—The June moon fulls on the 12th, and gives us the rare treat of a total lunar eclipse. No celestial phenomena is easier to understand. The earth passes between the sun and moon and obscures his light. It can only occur at the time of full moon, and there would be a total eclipse of the moon every month if the sun's path and the moon's path were on the same plane or level. But the moon's orbit is inclined to the ecliptic about five degrees; therefore the moon must be at her node of crossing point at the time of full moon in order to be totally eclipsed. She is, however, much oftener far enough from her node to be above or below the earth's shadow when there is no eclipse, or she may be near enough to her node to pass through a portion of the earth's shadow when she is partially eclipsed. But on the morning of the 12th the conditions are favorable for a grand exhibition of the darkening power of the earth's shadow. The moon is full, she is at her node, she is in perigee or at her nearest point to the earth, and she will pass centrally through the earth's shadow. The eclipse begins—that is, the dark shadow enters upon the moon—at 26 minutes after midnight. The total phase commences at 1 hour 29 minutes, and ends at 2 hours 51 minutes. The eclipse ends at 3 hours 52 minutes. On the 21st the moon is in conjunction with Mars and Saturn. On the morning of the 22d the heavens will present a superb picture, made up of the waning moon and the bright planets Venus and Jupiter. Between five o'clock on the morning of the 21st and 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the 22d the moon is in connection with five planets, Mars, Saturn, Neptune, Jupiter and Venus.

A LUNATIC'S ATTEMPT TO SACRIFICE HIS WIFE AND CHILDREN.—Elijah Sterling, a lunatic, who lives with his family about two miles from Crisfield, Md., almost butchered his wife at midnight on Thursday of last week, inflicting injuries with a hatchet which will probably prove fatal. Dr. G. D. Atkinson, of Crisfield, was sent for, and soon arriving, did all he could for the woman. Both of her eyes are blackened; there are four wounds on the head, two large deep ones on the back of the neck nearly down to the spinal column, and two more on the left arm and one on the right. One of the blows on the head penetrated to the skull just above the left ear, and another inflicted an ugly wound three inches below. The doctor thinks there is a possibility of recovery. Sterling was arrested and committed to jail. While in the lock-up he attempted to commit suicide by banging his head against the walls. He was afterwards taken to the jail at Princess Anne by Sheriff MacCready. Sterling says that an angel appeared before him and told him that it was the Divine will that he should kill his wife. He loved his wife, he said, but the word of the Lord must be obeyed. His statements are rambling and contradictory. He also says that he sharpened the hatchet for the purpose of killing his wife.

The Baltimore Sun states that Sterling was brought to that city on Wednesday by the sheriff of Somerset county and taken to Spring Grove Asylum. His wife and son are both recovering from their wounds.

MR. CONKLING AS A SUMMER ATTRACTION.—Some one has made the suggestion that if Mr. Conkling should not be able to get back to the Senate he would make a magnificent hotel clerk at Saratoga or some other high-toned summer resort, and in this way he could still keep himself prominently before the public. This is a brilliant idea. In arrogance, hauteur and incivility it is nip and tuck between Mr. Conkling and that particular kind of hotel clerk who shines with magnificent impudence upon weary wayfarers, and people who have traveled around much have often wondered whether Mr. Conkling modeled his manners after bifalutin hotel clerks or they modeled after him. Standing behind the counter of a big hotel at Saratoga or Coney Island, or some other fashionable watering-place, with a crowd of humble suppliants before him, begging for the privilege of being fleeced, Mr. Conkling would have a splendid opportunity to display his withering contempt of mankind in general. As pertinent to the present situation, Mr. Conkling has less sympathy for the ridiculous and humiliating position in which he is placed for the reason that he owes it all to his overweening vanity and his persistent habit of looking upon all others as his inferiors. If he had met Mr. Blaine's advances much less than half way during the last winter there would have been no antagonism of consequence between him and the administration, and even since the nomination of Robertson, if he had condescended to go to the White House and been moderately reasonable in his demands, matters might have been arranged so as to prevent the split which he has brought upon the republican party.—Wash. Cor. Balt. Sun.

WILLIAM PENN'S REMAINS.—It seems that in the negotiations for the transfer of the ashes of William Penn from their resting place in England to the great city which he founded in America no account was taken of the trustees of the cemetery in which they have rested for 163 years. After the consent of his surviving lineal descendants had been obtained it was supposed that there was no other person in existence who could interpose any legal obstacle to the proposed removal. The mayor and councils of Philadelphia, the Pennsylvania Historical Society and the State Legislature united in a request to the English descendants of Penn to permit the people of Pennsylvania to pay this posthumous honor to their illustrious ancestor. Gov. Hoyt requested Mr. George Leib Harrison, a wealthy citizen of Philadelphia, who was about to sail for Europe, to act for the State government, and to do whatever might be necessary to secure the object in view. Mr. Harrison is now on his way across the ocean, but it is not likely that he will succeed in his mission. Under date of June 4, Mr. R. Littleboy, one of the trustees of the burial ground in Buckinghamshire in which Penn is buried, writes to the London Times that no application has been made to the board of trustees for the removal of the remains, and if such a request were made it would not be entertained. It is to be presumed that without the consent of the legal custodians of the cemetery the grave of Penn cannot be disturbed, and it is said that Penn and his last wife were buried side by side in the family lot, and that there is no record by which the one grave can be identified from the other.

FACTS THAT SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES.—This is a bad time to be accusing the Democratic party in this State, of corruption. The quotations of the stock board are a sufficient answer. The Maryland securities at the top of the market; the State taxation among the lowest. The Baltimore city bonds ranging from 118 to 125½, and city taxation lower than that of any large city in America. These facts speak for themselves. They show by the stern test of the money market that the public funds are wisely, honestly and economically managed by the Democratic administrations, municipal and State. The confidence of the people in the purity of Democratic administration is unshaken by the "bomb-shell" fizzle, and by the small aggregation of chronic soreheads that call themselves O. L. D.'s. The so-called reform movement will not split the democracy, nor depress the quotations on city securities. It will end as it began, in a fizzle—a bomb-shell that won't explode.—Md. Repub.

THE ATLANTA EXPOSITION.—Mr. H. I. Kimball, the director-general, has issued an official prospectus of the Atlanta (Ga.,) International Cotton Exposition. It will open October 5 and close December 31, and, from all present indications, will be a complete success. In the language of the prospectus, the exposition being the first world's fair ever held in the South, very properly derives its title from the leading Southern product—the staple which forms the nucleus of the widest range of Southern industry—but its scope is by no means confined to cotton and its analogous interests. The classification, comprising six departments and forty one groups, is designed to include in the most satisfactory manner possible the prominent branches of industry, without diminishing in any degree the pre-eminence of cotton and its accessories. Considerable progress has already been made on the buildings in which the exposition is to be held, and they will all be in readiness by the day named for the opening of the exposition.

AN OVATION TO SENATOR ROBERTSON.—Two thousand citizens of Katonah, N. Y., and surrounding county, assembled to greet Senator W. H. Robertson, Senator Conkling's powerful opponent, on his arrival at home Saturday evening from Albany. Rev. Dr. Wheatley delivered the welcoming address, during which he said the people had assembled to express their admiration for "that manly independence which will not bow to the dictation of an imperious leader." Mr. Robertson responded at length, during which he hit the "machine" some hard licks, and concluded by declaring that neither of the resigned Senators, nor any other person hostile to the present national administration, can be elected to fill the senatorial vacancies.

ONE of the Newport cottages has just been fitted up in Oriental style at a cost of $70,000, and is said to be the most luxuriously appointed house in the place. It is said that $6,000 was paid for one parlor rug alone.

THE Baltimore Item says that early in the coming fall Miss Helen Abell, third daughter of Mr. A. S. Abell, of the Baltimore Sun, will be led to Hymen's altar by Col. L. V. Baughman, of the Frederick Citizen.

IT is rumored, says the Frederick Times, that President Garfield will appeal to Congress for protection from Maryland delegations. Call out the army, Mr. President; it is the only recourse.

LETTER FROM GALENA.

GALENA, June 5, 1881.

Editors Kent News.—A few items from our place may again interest your many readers. Prof. J. Y. Atlee, of Chestertown, favored the members of the Galena Literary Society, a few evenings since, with an exhibition of his whistling accomplishments. The melodies, &c., which he whistled, with piano accompaniment, were certainly exquisite and required no little exercise of ability. The Professor (who is a member of the Galena Literary Society) will favor the public with some of his best efforts at the Society's entertainment, to be given in the fall. I say in the fall because, owing to the unusual number of calls upon the generosity of the public to contribute, i. e., in the way of church fairs and festivals, school exhibitions and excursions, it has been thought best by members of the society to postpone their entertainment until cooler weather in the fall. An elaborate program may then be expected from them.

The society of Odd Fellows have awarded the contract for their building, new and block, to Mr. Thos. H. Sallaway. The structure will cost between $4,000 and $5,000, and will be one of the greatest improvements Galena has yet made. Work will be immediately commenced upon it. The building is to be 30x35 feet and three stories high. The first story will be made into two store-rooms, the second story is to be a public hall, and the third story will be used by the order as a lodge room. The building will be frame.

Galena seemed to be much astonished, a few days since, because one of our "bee men" captured and brought through her streets a stray swarm of bees. He had them in an open peach basket upon his shoulder.

Our streets have been handsomely turnpiked by the road supervisor; but alas! it has left our forlorn and neglected sidewalks lower than ever, and subject to the entire flood of waters from the roads. The supervisor very truly says he is not hired to make sidewalks, but, nevertheless, it does look very strange that after paying good round taxes for public improvements, the county commissioners should not allow that money to be used for the greatest good of the greatest number. The greatest number in our village are pedestrians, and consequently the greatest good would have been done by using the money wrung from us by taxation, in part at least, to improve our sidewalks. That abomination of a crossing still remains unimproved at Swantown. For twenty rods one has to wade through muck and mire in traveling from Galena to Sassafras, when an outlay of $150 would bridge the stream and remedy the whole nuisance. Counsel any one of our county commissioners to ride on that road a few times or haul a single light two-horse load through that "slough of despond" once, and we venture to say that such a shameful state of things would speedily be remedied. We bear no unkind feelings toward our worthy commissioners, but rather sympathize with them in their endeavor to deal justly with a too frequently ungrateful and fault-finding public; still, in the cases we have named, they evidently deserve censure. As we pay the bills we have the right to growl when growling is necessary.

OBSERVER.

A PUNCHED TICKET.—A verdict was rendered in Boston a few days ago against the Boston and Albany Railroad Company which is calculated to make railroad conductors careful about the manner in which they deal with passengers who present tickets which they deem to be irregular or spurious. Mr. Murdock, the plaintiff, purchased a ticket from the agent at Springfield, Mass., which had been punched, either by accident or inadvertence. The conductor refused to take the ticket, and when the train arrived at Pittsfield the passenger was ejected from the car and turned over to an officer, charged with attempting to swindle the company. The Springfield agent admitted that he sold Murdock the ticket and telegraphed an explanation and apology on the following day. Murdock recovered $4,000 damages, and the railroad company has ordered its Springfield ticket agent to pay the judgment or vacate his place.

A FEAT IN CABLE TELEGRAPHY.—The New York Evening Telegram boasts of the wonderful rapidity with which the success of Iroquois in the Derby race was flashed across the ocean to that journal and placed before the public. The Telegram, which is regarded as the evening edition of the New York Herald, had a telegraph instrument on the grand stand, and had made perfect arrangements for the rapid transmission of the result. How successfully this was done the Telegram sums up as follows: "Horses got away at 10.21.5, New York time. Result reached New York at 10.24, New York time. Time occupied in transmission, 5 seconds." Of course the dispatch was very brief, perhaps simply reading, "Iroquois winner." Nevertheless the feat is a marvelous one, even in this wonderfully rapid age.

THE tribunal at Heibronn has recently sat upon a case which in the annals of criminal proceedings is probably without its equal. A laborer of Lauffen, accused of having attempted the life of his father, deposed that he had hanged the old gentleman by his own express desire and command. The father himself was to have appeared in court to answer an accusation of fraud and embezzlement, but was detained at home in consequence of a fractured leg. Feeling himself guilty, he, in order to escape public disgrace, commanded his son to hang him. The son finally obeyed the parental order, carried the old man into the attic, and there hanged him until he was dead. The Heibronn tribunal sentenced the obedient son to three years and nine months' imprisonment.

OLD John Hanks, who still lives near Decatur, Ill., mauled rails with Abraham Lincoln, and cherishes the greatest reverence for his dead friend's memory. He recently showed the following quaint and characteristic note to a reporter. It was sent about a week before Mr. Lincoln's marriage:

"Dear Hanks: I am to be married next Thursday eve, the 18th, to Mary Todd. I hope you will be on deck at early candle light.

A. LINCOLN."

THERE is commotion in Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory, because Lee Chin, a Chinaman, has married Mrs. Eva H. Lee, a white woman. As the laws of Wyoming forbid such intermarriages, the parties went to Colorado, where they do not, and had the nuptial knot tied. Now they have been indicted for miscegenation, and the Chinese ambassador at Washington and the Chinese consul at Denver propose to see their countryman through his trouble in the courts.

NEWS comes of a falling-out between Adam Forepaugh and his $10,000 beauty, Louise Montague. Instead of a $10,000 contract, it is said, Forepaugh's engagement of the lovely Louise was at $150 a week, but it appears that Forepaugh, the gilded edge having worn off, regards even that as rather an extravagant sum to pay a woman for riding an elephant in parade about once a week. The beauty is reported, however, as being determined to hold the showman to his bond.

COLONEL JOYCE, of whiskey-ring notoriety, and who for a time indited poems from a prison in Missouri, was asked the other day if he was in the star-route ring. "I am sorry to say," replied the light-hearted Colonel, "that I had none of that pork." The Colonel should look alive and not get left like that.

SECRETARY WISDOM says there is no friction in the Cabinet, and that he does not believe that Secretary Blaine inspired the appointment of Collector Robertson. The President himself told a prominent politician the other day that Mr. Blaine did not dictate Robertson's appointment.

LIEUT. BRODEN, secretary of the West Point alumni, announces a membership of 400. His statistics show that 3,878 cadets have graduated from West Point since the Military Academy was located there. Of this number 1,530 are still living, of whom 991 are in the army.

A POPULAR vote on the question whether the purchase of spirituous liquors, with the exception of wine and cider, shall be prohibited, will be taken in North Carolina in August next.

THE beach birds, such as the curlew, willet, plover, gray-back, yellow-shank, robin breast, sand snipe, gray snipe and many other different varieties, are said to be literally "swarming" on the Chincoteague marshes.

KIT ADAMS is authority for the statement that Jay Gould refused his wife a new spring bonnet the other day because he wanted to buy a Texa railroad with the money.

Notice of Confirmation.

C. A. Leary & Bro., use of Columbus A. Leary, vs. Wm. R. Coleman.

Judgment before Rob't W. Calder, Esq., Justice of the Peace, for $56.76, with interest from the first day of January, 1878, until paid, and costs.

THE subscriber, having purchased the real estate of the above named defendant, William R. Coleman, at a sale thereof in virtue of an execution issued upon the foregoing judgment, made the ninth day of October, 1880, by Nathaniel Voshell, constable, hereby gives notice that she intends to apply to the Judges of the Circuit Court for Kent county, at its next session, to be held in Chestertown on the 11th day of July next, for a confirmation of said sale, when and where the said defendant, or his creditors, or other person or persons, claiming any interest in the matter, will have an opportunity of stating their objections, if any they have, why the sale should not be confirmed, and for that purpose are hereby warned to appear.

The property purchased by the subscriber consists of two acres and six perches of land situated about one-fourth of a mile from Rock Hall, on the public road leading to Rock Hall, adjoining the land of John Hersch and others, improved by a dwelling house and out-buildings, and was struck off for the sum of $107.86, subject to a mortgage held by S. J. Wickes.

LIFE INSURANCE.

THOS. L. HINES
is still representing the Old Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co.
OF PHILADELPHIA.

There is no more reliable or trustworthy Insurance Company in the United States, and parties thinking of Life Insurance cannot do better than with the Penn. Many of the best citizens of this county are insured in the Penn, and all are pleased with their investment, having received a dividend each year.

Go to THOS. L. HINES, next door to the Bank, and get information.
