The Kent News.

SATURDAY.....JUNE 18, 1881.

Chesterville and Vicinity.

Messrs. Editors:—On Monday morning last Mr. S. W. Aldridge narrowly escaped serious injury, resulting from the getting away of his horse. He was driving a colt, and while closing the gate the horse started. In trying to catch the reins he was caught between the wheels, thrown violently to the ground and dragged some distance. Fortunately he escaped with some severe bruises and surface scratches about the face and arms. The horse ran but a little distance, when he was taken up by some one, and did no damage to either himself or vehicle. Our friend A. is an apt scholar; but there are two things he is slow to learn: first, that he is no longer a colt himself; second, that he can't manage them half so well as fifteen years ago.

We hear it stated that Dr. Roseberry, of Locust Grove, is about to remove to West Virginia, having been tendered a position at a large iron works there, at a handsome annual salary. It is said that Dr. Roseberry will be succeeded at the Grove by Dr. J. Horton Kelley, of Still Pond.

The Children's Day came off very nicely at the Grove last Sunday. The M. E. Society there have a good prospect of soon building a nice church. Galena and Chesterville will observe Children's Day to-morrow.

Dr. Register, the new presiding elder of the Church South, on this district, will preach in Chesterville to-morrow morning.

And so the Transcript was transported to and from Millington recently. The bends in Morgan's Creek, the overleaping foliage of Chester river and the classic shades of Sand Town, seem to have struck him. But what could have been the matter that he failed to see or mention Corktown! O, Transcript, how cruel! O, poet, how dull! If ever you get another free ride to the town of two churches and a bridge, and pass Corktown unnoticed, you will forfeit your—reputation as a journalist and a poet.

Mr. J. J. Hurlock, on the home farm of the late J. S. Hurlock, is improving the old mansion by the addition of another story. This, with other improvements already made, will greatly change the appearance of things for the better on the plantation. But these things are what we might but reasonably expect; for any one who knows J. J. H. knows that he is full of such matters, and must do in order to exist. He doesn't know how to be still.

Chesterville public school picnics this afternoon; Hybernia next Saturday afternoon, we believe.

As melting as it was on Thursday night, 9th instant, Mr. Walter M. Spry and Miss Katie Price, daughter of Mr. David K. Price, near Locust Grove, were moulded into one. The matter had been long contemplated—this giving of a fair Price to a Spry fellow—and neither wind nor weather was to stop it. They are both happy, their friends are happy, and your itemizer is happy in chronicling the event. And so may it always be.

On another occasion, when we have nothing else to do, and are neither too tired, too sleepy, nor too lazy, we will try to say something about a "Trip from Chesterville to Chestertown." We herewith promise not to leave out Corktown.

WALTER.

SHENANDOAH ALUM SPRINGS,
June 13, 1881.

Messrs. Editors:—Having now been at the above named springs about ten days, and finding it so very pleasant in every respect, I have concluded to remain here during the warm weather.

These springs are located in Shenandoah county, Virginia, near the North Mountain, 12 miles from Mount Jackson Station, Valley Branch B. & O. R. R. The mineral waters are three alum springs, the largest in Virginia; also five springs comprising chalybeate, healing, sulphur, iron and arsenic waters. The location is very fine. The general mountain scenery, the view of the valley from Fort Ashby, the pure dry atmosphere and cool nights, make it most delightful. The grounds are on an elevation of over 2,000 feet above tide-water. The buildings front on a large lawn. The table is furnished with vegetables, mountain mutton, beef, poultry, milk and butter, fruit, &c., in abundance, all furnished from the premises. A gap in the North Mountain near by causes a constant current of air to circulate through the hotel buildings. Plenty of game. A gentleman from Boston sojourning here and myself had fine sport a few days ago chasing young wild turkeys. I have seen as many as six rabbits at one time playing on the large lawn in front of one of the hotel buildings. There are some deer and black bear in the county, but they are scarce in this immediate neighborhood. In sight stands the ruins of an iron furnace burned during the late war, and there is an abundance of iron ore just back of the furnace in the mountains. The roads are kept in good repair by each person (male) between the ages of sixteen and sixty working two days in each year thereon. F.

GENERAL GRANT, laying aside his usual reticence, talked with a Chicago reporter on Monday with much freedom concerning the situation in Albany, and expressed himself as being in entire sympathy with Mr. Conkling. In regard to the situation of affairs in Albany Gen. Grant said:

"If you want to know what I think of the manner in which Mr. Conkling has been treated by the President and by his colleagues in the Senate I will tell you without any hesitation. I think it is most outrageous, and if you want to know where I stand in the present contest, I will tell you that I am with Conkling and Platt. Mr. Conkling is my friend. He has been a warm supporter of mine, but for all that I do not to-day owe him near so much as Garfield. It is true Mr. Conkling did not support Garfield in the Chicago convention, but he saved him in November. Without New York State Mr. Garfield could not have been elected, and without Mr. Conkling New York State would not have gone republican. When Mr. Conkling went to Warren and commenced his vigorous campaign for the republican party and Garfield, matters looked very serious; defeat was almost certain. It was then and then only that republicans took heart, and from that time on the battle turned. Mr. Conkling went into the campaign because he was a republican and because he desired the success of his party, not because of any trade he had made with Garfield. It was in accord with the resolutions which he offered in the national convention pledging the support of every delegate to the candidates nominated, whoever they might be. This was done because several had declared that if I was nominated they would bolt. In regard to the Mentor treaty, of which we have heard so much, there was not a word of truth in the sensational reports that were published concerning what occurred during our visit. We were in the State speaking, and in compliance with Garfield's oft-repeated requests, I determined to call at Mentor, as it could be done without putting us much out of our way. Conkling said that he would go with me. Arriving at Garfield's house we found a crowd of people there, probably 150 in all. We went into the house and sat down and talked with Garfield and others present, but not a word was said by either Conkling or myself to Garfield in the way of a trade or a bargain, nor was any understanding whatever arrived at. All that we said while with Garfield was in a general way; it could be heard by those around us. In fact it would have been impossible for us to say anything that those around us could not hear. So all this talk about the Mentor treaty is mere nonsense."

WE can never be too thankful to the English press for keeping us posted as to the affairs in the United States. The London Truth, ostensibly a veracious paper, has the following: "Mr. Hayes, the ex-President of the United States, is coming to Europe about the end of next month, and after making a tour through this country, he will proceed to visit France and Germany. It is expected that Mr. Hayes will appear in the pulpits of Wesleyan chapels; he is a shining light in the denomination."

DR. ATKISSON, who is attending Mrs. Mary Sterling, the sufferer from the insane assault of her husband, near Crisfield, says that if she recovers, of which there is a prospect, it will be one of the most remarkable cases of vitality on record. She was over three hours and a-half crawling to the nearest house, three hundred feet away, and several times her maniac husband passed near her, screaming in the most diabolical manner and yelling her name.

IT is semi-officially announced by the administration papers, that the Star route prosecutions are to be put off until after the November elections, as it is thought that the disclosures made, and the rank of the person implicated will knock the Republican party into "smithereens" in some of the States if the exposures were made now.

REV. E. B. NEWNAM preached for Rev. J. P. Otis at the M. E. Church in Centreville on Sunday. The Observer says that his sermons were excellent and appreciated by the congregations, which were large.

IT is reported that the real heir to the Tichborne estate, James Riches Coles, is in an insane asylum at Winnepeg, Manitoba.

GOOD LOGIC.—A word to those who neglect to avail themselves of the business opportunities we offer. For nearly thirty years we have largely supplied the retail demand for Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing in this city and State satisfactorily. The class of Clothing we make is too fine for dealers in small towns to keep, and is much better than is generally found in large cities. If you want a good article at the lowest possible price call upon C. N. Oehm & Son, Pratt and Hanover streets, Baltimore.

IT is now permitted under the laws of the United States for a Chinaman to marry a white woman—so the Chief Justice of Wyoming decides. Mr. Lee Chin is the happy man. Another decision will perhaps empower a white man to marry a Chinaw'oman or China doll. Mrs. Lee Chin, if true to her name, will have her say out.

A BOSTON COMPANY proposes to invest three hundred thousand dollars in a cotton factory at Vicksburg, Miss. The speeches of Senators Dawes and Hoar on alleged outrages in Mississippi have evidently had but little effect in cultured Boston.

A CORRESPONDENT of the New York Sun, in view of the hopelessness of the deadlock at Albany, puts in nomination the following distinguished New Yorkers: For the long term, Iroquois; for the short term, Foxhall. Both would make a good run.

THE New York Sun believes that the number of immigrants to the United States, in the decade between 1880 and 1890 will reach fully five millions. Germany is now the largest contributor.

THE Denton Journal publishes a card in which it is announced that Mr. Philip W. Downes, of Caroline county, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for next comptroller of the treasury of Maryland.

THE total cost of the trial of Cadet Whittaker does not quite reach $40,000, but even this sum, the New York Herald thinks, "is enormous in comparison with all that either the cadet or the government has to show for it."

SEN. DAVID DAVIS' wealth is estimated at from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, made principally by investing in the suburbs of growing Western towns.

THE merchants of Centreville have agreed to close their stores at 8 o'clock in the evening during the summer. Those of Chestertown ought to follow suit.

CAPT. JOHN M. GILL, of Pekin, Ky., has in his possession one of Santa Anna's wooden legs, captured by him at the Battle of Cerro Gordo.

THE graduating class of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis numbered 67 cadet midshipmen and 24 cadet engineers.

MATTHEW S. PROCTOR, a colored man, has announced himself as a candidate for county commissioner in Charles county.

FARM WAGON!

To our Friends and the Public:

In introducing these Wagons on the Peninsula we feel that we are doing something to benefit the public.

It is an acknowledged fact that most Wagons are built of green material.

Ours are built of the VERY BEST and most THOROUGHLY SEASONED MATERIALS, and the workmanship

Cannot be E[illegible]d

☞ We recommend them to be in every respect an article superior to any other Wagon built or sold on the Peninsula, and know their use will demonstrate this fact.

We are located in the midst of an excellent Timber country. We carry a very large stock of thoroughly seasoned Oak, Ash, Hickory and other Lumber adapted to our business, and are prepared to make any size or style WAGON or CART at short notice, and will give, when desired, a guarantee on every Wagon and Cart we sell.

☞ Farmers and Carters please give us a call. Yours, truly,

W. A. HYLAND & CO.
