THE EASTON STAR

TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1882.

L. DEF. MILBOURNE & CO., Newspaper Advertising Agents, 136 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md., are authorized to contract for advertisements for THE STAR, at our best rates.

THE scarlet fever is prevailing to an alarming extent in Berks county, Pennsylvania.

REV. SAMUEL D. HINMAN, in a suit for libel against Bishop William H. Hare, has secured a verdict of a jury for $10,000 damages. Bishop Hare has appealed the case.

MR. M. H. DEYOUNG, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, the leading republican paper on the Pacific coast, says the veto of the Chinese bill will result in sending solid democratic delegations to the next Congress from California, Oregon, Nevada, Colorado and Washington Territor.

MESSRS. ALBERT RITCHIE and A. C. Trippe, Supervisors of Election of Baltimore city, have sent their resignations to Gov. Hamilton, in order that there may be no doubt about his constitutional right to appoint two colleagues for Mr. Enoch Pratt, who was the only appointee of Supervisor that was confirmed by the Senate.

IN consequence of the illness of Speaker Keilholtz, the signing of the bills passed at the late session of the legislature and not signed by the Governor before the adjournment, and which were to have been signed yesterday, had to be postponed to a day not yet fixed. The Governor returned to Annapolis last Saturday somewhat improved in health.

Comely! Attractive! Winning!—These expressive words are often and properly applied to the fair ladies of our favored land, who keep their hair abundant and natural in color and lustre by the timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. The Vigor is safe and agreeable; and its effects are very lasting, making it the most economical, and at the same time the most beneficial and elegant of toilet preparations.

Shocking Disaster in Baltimore.

On Thursday last about 2 o'clock P. M. the boiler of large corn and grist mill, corner Pratt and Fremont streets, exploded, killing 7 persons, and wounded 7 others, and demolishing the mill, and two other buildings in the rear of it, on King street. The disaster created intense excitement in the city, and thousands visited the ruins during the afternoon.

Mahone Defeated—Massey Victorious in Virginia.

The Readjuster bill to apportion the State of Virginia into Congressional districts, and to shoe-string the districts so as to give three-fourths of them to the Mahoneites, was signally defeated in the Virginia legislature on Thursday. The result is regarded as a triumph of Ex-Auditor Massey over Senator Mahone.

THE Baltimore Gazette passed away on Saturday, and fell into that sleep that knows no waking; but over its grave the Day broke yesterday morning, and promises to be as bright and cheerful as a summer morning. Mr. Croasdale's new paper more than fills the place of the departed Gazette. We wish it success. It is democratic, but will represent no faction. It will be a journal that all Democrats may tie to.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR has shipped the last of the Half-Breed Garfield cabinet. Secretary William H. Hunt, of the Navy Department, has been appointed Minister to Russia, and William E. Chandler, of New Hampshire, has been made Secretary of the Navy. Gov. Kirkwood, of the Interior Department, has been sent home to Iowa, and United States Senator Henry M. Teller, of Colorado, has been made Secretary of the Interior.

THE firm of A. T. Stewart & Co., of New York, is going out of business. Judge Hilton has learned at last that he can't run a big dry goods store and fight the Jews at the same time. The house is said to have spent all of the $3,000,000 cash in hand left by Mr. Stewart to his credit in bank, and to be $3,000,000 in debt. Its wholesale, importing and jobbing business are all gone "where the wood bine twineth;" and several of its mills have been sold. Its Chicago branch has proved a dead failure.

SENATOR MITCHELL, of Pennsylvania, is becoming rampant, and now accuses his colleague, Senator Don Cameron, of bad faith in the matter of the removal of Collector Sullivan and the appointment of Mr. Jackson as collector of internal revenue in the twenty-third district of Pennsylvania. He says Senator Cameron promised that Sullivan should not be disturbed. Mr. Mitchell indicates his purpose to stand up for his rights hereafter, even if it leads to an open break with his colleague.

Political Revolution in the West.

At the town elections out West this spring, there appears to have been a general smash-up of the Republican party. The most serious part of the business to the Republicans is, that the Germans have cussed and quit them, and are coming over to the Democrats by thousands, promising to revolutionize parties in the Western States. The following towns all went democratic, by large majorities, most of them hitherto redubican strongholds: Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dubuque, Detroit, Dayton, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, and a hundred others of less note. The Republicans are aghast at this unexpected result.

The Press and the Court.

All three of the Republican papers of the circuit, the Easton Gazette, the Denton Union, and the Cecil Whig, favor the re-election of Judges Robinson, Wickes and Stump. The Union proposes a convention of all parties, to meet at Centreville and nominate them spontaneously, and thus take the judicial election "out of the mire of politics." The following Democratic papers of the circuit are likewise in favor of the re-election of the present judges. The Chestertown Transcript; the Kent News; the Centreville Record; the Centreville Observer; the Denton Journal; the Greensborough Free Press; the Easton Ledger; and THE EASTON STAR. The St. Michaels Comet, a neutral paper, advocates the re-election of the present judges. The Cecil Democrat and the Elkton News are opposed to the re-election of Judge Stump; Mr. Cruikshank, the editor of the Democrat, being himself a candidate for Judge Stump's place on the bench. The Caroline Democrat has not yet declared itself one way or the other. It will thus be seen, that the great preponderance of influence on the part of the newspapers of the circuit, is in favor of the re-election of the present judges. When the papers, Democratic, Republican, Independent, and Neutral, all agree upon a matter, the people will be safe in following their advice.

Horses, Cattle and Chickens.

For colic and grubs, for lung fever, cough or hide-bound, I give Simmons Liver Regulator (liquid) in one ounce dose; or, one teaspoonful of the powder in a mash twice a day. You can recommend it to every one having stock as the best medicine known for the above complaints. In using it with my chickens, for cholera and gapes, I mix it with the dough and feed it to them once a day. By this treatment I have lost none where the Regulator was given promptly and regularly.

SHALL THE REPUBLIC BE PRESERVED?

Mr. Tilden's Letter to the Jefferson Club of New Haven.

GREYSTONE, March 29, 1882.

GENTLEMEN: I have received your letter in behalf of the Jefferson Club of New Haven, inviting me to be present at their commemoration of the birth of Thomas Jefferson. Although I am obliged to deny myself the pleasure of meeting with you on that occasion, I share the feelings which bring you together.

Mr. Jefferson has many titles to the reverence of the American people and of all lovers of liberty throughout the world. He was among the earliest, most resolute, and most steadfast of the patriots who upheld the popular rights in the incipient struggles of our Revolution, when the part he took required a higher order of courage, of intellect, and of genius than were necessary at any subsequent period of our history. He penned the immortal statement of the principles that led our ancestors to assert the independent existence of our country, and which has been substantially adopted as a model for every people who have since attempted to establish national independence on the basis of human rights.

He was first in his day to completely emancipate his own mind from the monarchical and aristocratical traditions which still enslaved most of the best intellects of the country.

But the obligations of the world to Mr. Jefferson do not end here. On the completion of the Federal Constitution, Governeur Morris, being asked what he thought of it, answered: "That depends upon how it is construed." After the organization of the Federal Government, a powerful class sought to impress upon its practical working the similitude of the British system. Mr Jefferson was the great leader of the party formed to resist these efforts, and to hold our institutions to the popular character which was understood to belong to them when the Constitution was ratified by the people.

By his inflexible adherence to free principles, by his untiring efforts, by his counsels, and by the magic of his pen, he was the principal agent in rescuing from its greatest peril, and while yet in its infancy, government by the people for the people.

The arduous contest resulted in a political revolution which brought Mr. Jefferson into the Presidency. He put the ship of State, to use his own expression, upon the "republican tack." He arrested centralizing tendencies, reinvigorated local self-government, restored the rights of the States, and protected and enlarged the domain of the individual judgment and conscience. For eight years he administered the Government, and for sixteen years it was administered by his pupils under his observation and advice. Thus was established a habit which largely shaped the standards for the guidance of the popular judgment, the modes of thinking of statesmen, and the general course of government for sixty years. How important such a habit is will be appreciated when we consider that usurpation has often been successfully accomplished in other countries by men wielding the executive power; and when we are reminded that Jefferson sincerely feared that Hamilton, who thought our Government a "frail and worthless fabric," would change it if he came into power; and when we also recall the fact that Hamilton himself has left on record his belief that Burr would have wrought a personal usurpation if he could have grasped the Presidency.

Mr. Jefferson gave to our administrative system an aspect of republican simplicity; he repressed jobbery as well as all perversions of power, and by his precepts, his influence, and his example, elevated the standard of political morals. In his personal practice he was not only pure, but, to make his example more effective, he refrained, while administering the greatest of official trusts, from all attempts to increase his own fortune, even by methods open to every private citizen.

"In a period when there seems to be little respect for the limitations of power prescribed by our written Constitution; when assumptions of ungranted authority are rife in all the departments of the Federal Government; when that Government is being gradually changed into an elective despotism, meddling in everything belonging to the State or to individuals; when every new assumption of ungranted power creates new opportunities, new facilities, and new incentives to favoritism and jobbery; when the civil service has been converted into a balance of power to determine the elections by pecuniary and other illegitimate influences; when the perversion of high trusts to the private gain of the official is frequently committed with apparent unconsciousness of wrong, and passes almost without rebuke, it is time that the teachings and the example of Thomas Jefferson be invoked to keep alive the glimmering spark of official virtue and public honor.

Your fellow citizen,
SAMUEL J. TILDEN.

Malaria, Chills and Fever, and Bilious attacks positively cured with Emory's Standard Cure Pills—an infallible remedy; never fail to cure the most obstinate, long standing cases where Quinine and all other remedies had failed. They are prepared expressly for malarious sections, in double boxes, two kinds of Pills, containing a strong cathartic and a chill breaker, sugar coated; contain no Quinine or Mercury, causing no griping or purging; they are mild and efficient, certain in their action and harmless in all cases; they effectually cleanse the system, and give new life and tone to the body. As a household remedy they are unequaled. For Liver Complaint their equal is not known; one box will have a wonderful effect on the worst case. They are used and prescribed by Physicians, and sold by Druggists everywhere, or sent by mail, 25 and 50 cent boxes. Emory's Little Cathartic Pills, best ever made, only 15 Cents. Standard Cure Co., 114 Nassau Street, New York. 4:18,8m

The Atlantic Monthly for May is a noteworthy number. Mr. Longfellow's poem of "Mad River, in the White Mountains" possesses peculiar interest as being the last one from his pen, and the final proof of it was revised by him only a day or two before his last brief illness. The opening chapters of Mr. Thomas Hardy's new serial, "Two on a Tower," are given, and promise a story of unusual interest. The Atlantic has secured the sole right of serial publication of this story, both in America and England. John Fiske contributes an article on "The Arrival of Man in Europe," which supplements his popular scientific treatise on "Europe before the Arrival of Man," in the April number. H. H. writes a capital character sketch, entitled "Aunty Lane;" and Edward G. Mason gives an entertaining history of "Old Fort Chartres," one of the early French forts in Illinois, some traces of which yet remain, and in the vicinity of which many descendants of the old French settlers are still living. Miss Phelps's serial, "Doctor Zay," and Mr. Bishop's story, "The House of a Merchant Prince," are both continued, and Eugene W. Hilgard concludes his paper on "Progress in Agriculture by Education and Government Aid," in which he makes some criticisms on the conduct of the Department of Agriculture, and suggests needed improvements in it. The third chapter in the valuable series of "Studies in the South" treats of methods of emigration, life in colonies, the fortunes of the negroes, fertilizers, cotton, the cypress swamps, and the Texas climate.

A celebrated lawyer said the three most troublesome clients he ever had were a young lady who wanted to be married, a married woman who wanted to get a divorce and an old maid who didn't know what she wanted.

The action of Carter's Little Liver Pills is pleasant, mild and natural. They gently stimulate the liver, and regulate the bowels, but do not purge. They are sure to please.

Strange Fatality—Three Sisters Die in Quick Succession.

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—A singular case of fatality, in which three sisters died within half an hour, was reported to the coroner today. Two of the deceased women, Sarah Watson, a widow, aged 52 years and Mrs. Cynthia Winsmore, aged 58 years, resided at No. 329 Wharton street, and the third, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, at 1335 South Fourth street. About 10 o'clock last night Mrs. Winsmore went to her bedroom to retire for the night, when she heard a noise in her sister's room. Upon reaching her room Mrs Watson was in a dying condition. Medical assistance was promptly summoned, and Mrs Smith was also sent for. The physicians found Mrs. Watson in a comatose condition, and administered ammonia, but she did not revive, and expired in a few minutes. Before they had recovered from their astonishment Mrs. Winsmore was overcome and fell to the floor in an unconscious state, and in ten minutes she died, and ten minutes later Mrs. Smith, the third sister, was a corpse. The physicians were nonplussed, and the greatest consternation spread through the household. The only theory upon which the deaths are accounted for is that Mrs. Watson was seized with a conjestive chill and died from an attack of appoplexy which ensued and that both Mrs. Winsmore and Mrs. Smith died from nervous prostration, which caused attacks of heart disease or appoplexy. There is no suspicion of foul play, as the family lived on the most amicable terms, and the surroundings all point to natural deaths. Post mortem examinations were made on the bodies this afternoon, and the result will be reported at the coroner's inquest, which will probably be held to-morrow.

Horsewhipped In the Street.

RED BANK, April 11—Henry Patterson, a storekeeper of Oceanic, New Jersey was horsewhipped in the street by John Enright, another storekeeper, on Saturday. Mr. Enright is to be married in a few weeks to an estimable young lady of Red Bank, whose hand at one time, it is said, was sought by Patterson. Last Tuesday the young lady went to New York to purchase her wedding apparel. A few days afterward a scandalous report was circulated about her departure. Enright learned that Patterson was the author of the report, and on Friday he confronted him with proofs of the charge. Enright then demanded a retraction, which Patterson refused to make. He then left Patterson, saying he would give him twenty hours to publicly retract his remarks or take the consequences. Meeting Patterson again on Saturday, Enright asked him to retract, and on his refusal he produced a long carriage whip and belabored Patterson until he sought refuge in his store. Afterwards, a crowd having gathered, Patterson came out of his store and attacked Enright, but the latter, who is the stronger of the two, got the better of him. Patterson tried to get a warrant of arrest for his assailant, but no justice could be found to issue one. This morning Patterson began a civil suit against Enright for $2,000 damages. Enright will institute a suit for slander for $5,000 damages against Patterson. The young lady will also institute a suit for slander. She returned from New York to-day and is at her parents' home.

Peterson's Magazine, for May, is received; as bright and welcome as May itself. The principal steel engraving, "Comin' Thro' The Rye," is especially beautiful, and illustrates a capital story by Frank Lee Benedict. The article on "Scandinavia," with its numerous engravings and its account of the Vikings, is one of the very noticeable papers for which this magazine is becoming famous. Then there is a charming love story, "Barbara," by a new contributor, from whom we hope often to hear. Mrs. St. Johns powerful novelet of Washington society deepens in interest with the chapters in this number. The illustrations for fashions, embroideries and the fancy work generally, are as numerous and new in style as ever. There are two colored patterns, a specialty with "Peterson," no other giving these patterns. We do not see how any lady, or even family, can do without this invaluable monthly. The price is but two dollars a year.

Maryland and Delaware Ship Canal.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The bill which was favorably reported to the House today by Representative Holitzell, from the Committee on Railways and Canals, authorizes the Secretary of War to lay out and construct a canal through the States of Maryland and Delaware to connect by the most practicable and convenient route the waters of Chesapeake and Delaware bays as a means of military and naval defense and for commercial purposes. The bill provides that the canal shall not be less than 100 feet wide at the bottom, 26 feet below mean low water mark and 178 feet wide at low water level, with locks 60x600 feet in the chambers and sufficient to allow the passage of vessels drawing 22½ to 23 feet of water. The bill provides for suitable surveys, for condemnation of lands, obtaining right of way, etc. It empowers the Secretary of War to establish regulations concerning the use and navigation of the canal and appropriates $1,000,000 to carry into effect the provisions of the act.

Mr. Parnell's Release.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The Herald's special from Dublin says: "Mr. Parnell was released from Kilmainham jail at 6 o'clock this morning, and took the train for Kingstown at 6:30 on his way to England. He was released on parole for a week in order to enable him to visit a sister in Paris whose child has just died."

Big Results From Little Causes.

"Do you know?" remarked a man to his friends on Chestnut Street, a day or two ago, "I believe both Conkling and Platt had a bad case of skin disease when they resigned!" "What makes you think so?" inquired the listener in astonishment. "Well, you see they acted in such an eruptive manner—so rash—ly as it were. Save? "Oh yes, I save. "they were *boil*ing over and merely resigned to humor themselves, I suppose." If such be the case, the National difficulty might have been averted by applying Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases.

Death of Ida Greeley.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Mrs. Nicholas Smith (Ida Greeley) died this morning of diphtheria at her father's old homestead Chautauqua, N. Y. Mrs. Smith leaves three children, the youngest being four weeks old. She was ill only one week.

Floods in the Northwest.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 11.—The frost last night checked the rise in the Mississippi which was threatening the city. The Red river continues rising, and is now above flood height. At Grand Forks, Dakota, a pontoon bridge was swept away and a log boom broken, and 200 families driven from their homes.
