Sarsaparilla

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Eruptive and Pustular Diseases, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause premature decay. It stimulates and restores the vital functions, promotes healthy strength, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is fully to experiment with the numerous low-priced substitutes, or cheap nostrums, which profess to contain the same virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disaster and death may be firmly nested. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for 40 years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.

Breaking Colts.

I have noticed that a colt breaks easier at three and generally makes a better horse, than one that remains unbroken until he is older. I don't know why this should be unless it is because a young colt can be easier brought under subjection than an older one. The way that we have always broken colts, and have found it a very good way is to let them go until they are coming three. We take a warm, sunshiny day in the winter when we have nothing else of importance to do. When the colt we are about to break is full of play, we take and put a bitting rig on him, which is composed of girth, crupper, and two side straps, which run from the girth on the sides of the colt up across in front of his hips to the crupper strap. We also have a bridle without blinders, which is made up out of a bit and strap running up over the top of the heap, which can be changed in length by the means of buckles on the sides of the head. It also has a check which runs up from the bit through gags on either side of the head, from there it goes back to the back pad, and is fastened to it by a buckle or hoop. There are also two straps running from the bit (one on each side) back to the girth, and fastened to it by buckles. These straps are for the purpose of keeping the head straight with the body, for most colts have a tendency to keep their head sideways.

When we have got the bitting rig on him all right, we lead him out in the barnyard, or some other good place, where there is no danger of the colt hurting itself, and after leading him around for a few minutes we let him loose by himself, but keep around so that we can see that he don't hurt himself, and occasionally shorten the check. You want to be very careful and not get the check too short at first, for if you do there is danger of his hurting himself by rearing. I have known of such casualties.

We repeat this treatment for several days, but after he gets pretty well used to it we harness him up and hitch him beside a good gentle horse, and drive them around on some straw, about three feet deep, on the barn floor, which has been put there for that purpose. After the colt gets a little leg weary, we hitch him to a sleigh or wagon, and drive them a short distance. We repeat this drive every day for sometime, each day a little farther than the previous one. You want to be very gentle and careful with them, and if they are a little inclined to be contrary or vicious it is a good plan to caress them frequently.

By saying that I think it is a good plan to break colts at the age of three, I do not wish to be understood that I think it is a good plan to work them hard, for it is not. Because if they are used for hard service before their joints become settled or surrounded by a full-grown texture of muscles and sinews to support them, they are liable to become strained, causing spavin or bony enlargements that will destroy their future usefulness. Any imbecile can break down a colt, but it requires good sense to build them up, after they have been crippled by ignorant taskmasters. It is not worth while to risk the experiment of converting sound colts into invalids, when they will live longer and perform more service if suffered to ripen into the full matured horse before being put to hard work.—Cor. Rural Home.

The Culture of Cantelopes.

Regarding a perfect cantelope to be among the very highest grades of fruit grown in the world, we cannot refrain when the season comes round to mention how they may be raised with success. Almost every person having a garden of any size should try his hand at it, as it can be done with almost as much certainty as raising a crop of corn. The ground should have a warm exposure and be friable—clay mould not being adapted. The hill should be dug out eight or ten inches, two feet in diameter, and filled with well-rotted manure, rich soil and sand—turnpike dirt is excellent as a substitute for the latter. Five or six seeds should be placed at equal distances about an inch in depth, and the "hill" should be even with the other soil, except the season promises to be wet, when they should be raised. They should be about six feet apart each way, and the plants when they have passed all danger, should be thinned out to two or three in a hill. The beds must be kept clear of weeds and grass, and when the vines commence running they should not be disturbed, as the rootlets connected with the vine and by which it is largely supplied with nourishment will be broken. The ground, as the vines begin to extend, should be gone over with an iron rake, especially after a heavy shower, to loosen it and give these rootlets a chance to take hold. The seed should be planted at the time of corn planting.

Sowing round the hill, a few inches distant, early radish seed, will generally protect the young plants from the bugs, and always will be more or less beneficial. Should bugs appear, a sprinkle of weak whale-oil soap and water, or of carbolic acid soap and water, will soon send them adrift.

The best variety of cantelope to plant in this section is the "Citron," the "Jenny Lind," the "White Japan" and the "Casaba." The Nutmeg is the best of all.

There is no reason why all our farmers should not have a patch of cantelopes for family use. A plot of ground 40x40 feet would be enough for a moderate-sized family and if it is not to spare in the garden, select a suitable place on the farm land. They can raise far superior fruit to any found in the city markets.

How to Judge a Horse.

The weak points of a horse can be better discovered while standing than while moving. If he is sound, he will stand firmly and squarely on his limbs, without moving any of them, the feet planted flatly upon the ground, with legs plumb and naturally poised. If one foot is thrown forward with the toe pointing to the ground and the heel raised, or if the foot is lifted from the ground and the weight taken from it, disease may be suspected, or at least tenderness, which is a precursor of disease. If the horse stands with his feet spread apart, or straddles with the hind legs, there is weakness of the loins, and the kidneys are disordered. Heavy pulling bends the knees. Bluish or milky-cast eyes in horses indicate moon blindness, or something else. A bad tempered horse keeps his ears thrown back. A kicking horse is apt to have sprained legs. A stumbling horse has blemished knees. When the skin is rough and hard, and does not move easily and smoothly to the touch, the horse is a heavy eater and his digestion is bad. Never buy a horse whose respiratory organs are at all impaired. Place your ear at the side of the heart, and if a wheezing sound is heard, it is an indication of trouble—let him go.

A medicine of real merit is sure to be very widely imitated, but the genuine only maintains its reputation and continues to be universally recommended by those who have used it, as a true tonic is Brown's Iron Bitters.

THE GOLDEN SHEAF.

A Fertilizer specially adapted to the Soil of the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

$20 PER TON

Sold at a very small profit on cost of production and clear of Agents' commissions.

THE COMPOSITION NO SECRET

Made Without Sand or Dirt.

FOR SALE BY

THE OXFORD GUANO CO., Oxford, Md.

W. H. SETH, Secretary.

The attention of Farmers who desire to secure a good fertilizer at a reasonable price, is respectfully called to the above named brand.

The season of the manufacturers has been to originate a compound of plant foods directly adapted to the soil of the Eastern Shore of Maryland, and to fix the price thereby at the lowest possible figure, cutting off all agents fees of 25 and 50 per ton and adding to the actual cost, only a very small profit. We think this fertilizer has not much intrinsic value as most of the high price manures, and feel confident that farmers who may think proper to use it will say that in no season since the mill it will equal them.

The analysis is made by Prof. G. A. Liesle, shows it to contain:

Ammonia, from	25 to 1.25 per cent.
Phosphoric Lime, from	5.00 to 7.00 "
Lime	22.10 "
Carbonic Acid	25.07 "

The lime and carbonic which are essential to plant growth, are obtained from oyster shells ground to powder, instead of being burnt. This combination not only distributes with the necessary for dirt or sand to bind the phosphates, but is a most valuable adjunct to their action.

We are also manufacturing ground lime, which we propose to put upon the market at a low price.

CARRIAGES.

Persons wanting new carriages will find it to their interest to give me a call, as I can furnish them at lowest rates with McLean & Kendall's best Baltimore made carriages. This firm makes as fine carriages as are made in the United States.

Samaritan Nervine.

SAMARITAN NERVINE

SAMARITAN NERVINE

Cures Epileptic Fits, Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus Dance, Vertigo, Hysteria, Insanity, Apoplexy, Paralysis, Somnambulism, Insomnia, and all Nervous Diseases. This infallible remedy will positively eradicate every spectre of Nervous Disorganization, and drive them away from whence they came, never to return again. It thoroughly destroys the germs of disease, by neutralizing the hereditary taint or poison in the system, and permanently eradicates the disease, and utterly destroys the cause.

SAMARITAN NERVINE

Cures Female Weakness, General Debility, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Painful Menstruation, Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Gravel, Inflammation of the Bladder, Irritability of the Bladder. For Wakefulness at Night, there is no better remedy. During the change of life no Female should be without it. It quiets the Nervous System and gives rest, comfort and nature's sweet sleep.

SAMARITAN NERVINE

Cures Alcoholism, Drunkenness and the habit of Opium Eating. These degrading habits are by far the worst evils that have ever befallen suffering humanity. Thousands die annually from these noxious drugs. The drunkard drinks liquor and becomes he likes it, but for the pleasure of drinking and treating his friends, little thinking that he is on his road to ruin. Like the Opium Eater, he first uses the drug in small quantities as a harmless antidote. The soothing influence of the drug takes strong hold upon its victim, leading him on to his own destruction. The habits of Opium Eating and Liquor Drinking are precisely what eating is to Alcoholism, or an insatiable craving for it. Once in the habit, it becomes its cravings until it paralyzes both the stomach and appetite. So every drink of liquor or dose of opium, instead of satisfying, only adds to its fierce fires, until it consumes the vital force and itself. Like the gluttonous tapeworm, it cries "Give, give, give!" but never enough until its own capacity devours itself. Samaritan Nervine gives instant relief in all such cases, induces refreshing sleep, quiets the nerves, builds up the nervous system, and restores body and mind to a healthy condition.

SAMARITAN NERVINE

Cures Nervous Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Asthma, Bronchitis, Scrofula, Syphilis, diseases of the Kidneys and all diseases of the urinary organs. Nervous debility, caused by the indiscretions of youth, permanently cured by the use of this invaluable remedy. To you, young, middle-aged and old men, who are covering your nakedness by with a mantle by silence, look up, you can be saved by timely efforts, and make ornaments to society, and honoured in the crown of your Maker, if you will. Do not keep living a sore burden, until it sapps your vitals, and destroys both body and soul. If you are troubled with any of the diseases Samaritan Nervine. It will restore your shattered nerves, arrest premature decay, impart tone and energy to the whole system.

BRICK AND TILE.

Salmon Brick, Arch Brick, Red Brick, Paving Brick, Well Brick, Pressed Brick, and from 2 to 7 inches vent, at all prices, from $12 to $75 per thousand.

WE are now prepared to deliver bricks in any part of Talbot county, or anywhere on the water or or railroad out of the county, at 20 per cent. BELOW OLD PRICES, for the cash. We have a heavy stock on hand, of splendid quality, and are determined to command the brick trade of this section, if superior prices and low measures will do it.

Our stock of Tile is very heavy, and we sell it very low for cash; but are prepared to enter into arrangements with farmers, who may want to put in tile, and who may not have the cash, to give them six or nine months credit. The tile ought to go in, and the springy land be made productive, and we are willing to help those who are short of money.

We invite a call from all those in want of either brick or Tile.

JOSEPH H. WHITE, Easton.
