SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

Constipation, Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Chronic Diarrhœa, Jaundice, Impurity of the Blood, Fever and Ague, Malaria, and all Diseases caused by Derangement of Liver, Bowels and Kidneys.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED LIVER.

Bad Breath; Pain in the Side, sometimes the pain is felt under the Shoulder-blade, mistaken for Rheumatism; general loss of appetite; Bowels generally costive; sometimes alternating with loose; the head is troubled with pain; A dull and heavy feeling, with considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful feeling of having neglected some duty which ought to have been done; A slight, dry cough, and flushed face is sometimes an attendant, often mistaken for consumption; the patient complains of weariness and debility; nervous, easily startled; feet cold or burning, sometimes a prickly sensation of the skin exists; spirits are low and despondent, and, although satisfied that some remedy would be beneficial, yet one can hardly summon up fortitude to try it—in fact, distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred when but few of them existed, yet examination after death has shown the Liver to have been extensively deranged.

It should be used by all persons, old and young, whenever any of the above symptoms appear.

Persons Traveling or Living in Unhealthy Localities, by taking a dose occasionally to keep the Liver in healthy action, will avoid all Malarial, Bilious attacks, Dizziness, Nausea, Diversion, Depression of Spirits, etc. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage.

If You have eaten anything hard of digestion, or feel heavy after meals, or sleepless at night, take a dose and you will be relieved.

Time and Doctors' Bills will be saved by always keeping the Regulator

In the House!

For, whatever the ailment may be, a thoroughly safe, purgative, alterative and tonic can never be out of place. The remedy is harmless and does not interfere with business or pleasure.

IT IS PURELY VEGETABLE,

And has all the power and efficacy of Calomel or Quinine, without any of the injurious after effects.

A Governor's Testimony.

Simmons Liver Regulator has been in use in my family for some time, and I am satisfied it is a valuable addition to the medical science.

J. GILL SHORTER, Governor of Ala.

Hon. Alexander H. Stephens, of Ga., says: Have derived some benefit from the use of Simmons Liver Regulator, and wish to give it a further trial.

"The only Thing that never fails to Relieve."—I have used many remedies for Dyspepsia, Liver Affection and Debility, but never have found anything to benefit me to the extent Simmons Liver Regulator has. I sent from Minnesota to Georgia for it, and would send further for such a medicine, and would advise all who are similarly affected to give it a trial as it seems the only thing that never fails to relieve.

"P. M. JANNEY, Minneapolis, Minn.

Dr. T. W. Mason says: From actual experience in the use of Simmons Liver Regulator in my practice I have been and am satisfied to use and prescribe it as a purgative medicine.

A Few Hints About Horses.

Give horses salt frequently.

Road horses should have their front feet stuffed with flaxseed twice a week.

When light shoes are needed, particularly the hind ones, have them made of cast steel.

Don't hook your horse to the sleigh tine same as to your wagon, but give him more trace.

Horses wearing boots should have them loosened while under the shed at the road house.

If your horse should pull on one line or throw his head up and down and fight and pull on the bit, have his mouth and teeth examined.

The hand-pieces of driving reins frequently become smooth from use, causing the hands to shift. In such cases rub the lines with powdered rosin

If you wish to drive your horse with an open bridle have him tried with one before putting him to your top wagon, otherwise he might get away from you.

Some horses, in trotting, in putting their hind feet to the ground strike principally on the toe. Such horses should have their heels lowered and should wear shoes without heels.

Skunk cabbage is said to be good for heaves in teaspoonful doses night and morning. Moisten the hay and grain. Be careful with the diet. Never work a heavy horse on a full stomach.

Steel bits should be kept in a warm place until they are placed in the horse's mouth. Any person can realize the sensation of placing a cold bit in a horse's mouth by first touching it with his own tongue.

An excellent remedy for mange is: Oil of turpentine, one pint; add cautiously two ounces of vitriol, stirring the mixture constantly; then add eight ounces linseed oil; to be rubbed in with a brush twice a day.

If your double team did not work to suit you to-day, one crowding the pole, while the other pulls his head to one side, see that the reins are right, and in hooking them up to morrow, put the off horse on the near side.

Tar is one of the most useful articles to be kept about a stable, internally use a teaspoonful night and morning for chronic coughs; externally it is particularly useful in thrush and all diseases or wounds of the foot. Mixed with fish oil it is one of the best remedies for hard or brittle feet.

The thoroughbred horse is large in size, often reaching sixteen hands in height. Though not as heavy-limbed as the Clydesdale or Percheron they are more muscular in proportion to their bones, which are very fine, and, comparing their endurance, activity and speed with the larger breeds, are not inferior to them in any respect for farm purposes.

Be Ready Early.

A season of activity is near at hand. Spring is coming with its pressing work. Are farmers ready for sowing and planting? Every implement should be provided beforehand, that no time may be wasted in purchases or repairs after the work should begin. We have known a half day of plowing to be lost because the whiffletrees were not at hand. Some farmers start out with their plowing without a single plow point in stock, and when one is needed, the team is taken from the field and driven to the store. Such a loss of time is a serious matter, and should be thoughtfully guarded against by ample provisions of all such articles of the farm. It is a poor time to mend a harrow when it should be at work in the field.

We do not favor that economy—if it may be so called—that relies upon the neighbors for many of the tools of the farm. There are certain farm implements that may be owned in partnership, as a roller or reaper, but the constant borrowing of rakes, forks, etc., is not a wise and economical practice. Be provided with all these essential farm tools, and have them in good order, and at hand when the time arrives for using them.

Now is the time to look to those matters, and make all needed preparations for the busy days that will soon be here. In the peace of winter prepare for the war of spring.

More Sheep on the Farm.

The agricultural returns show that the value of sheep is better understood than it was, judging from the increased number now in the country. Sheep are valuable ouside of their worth for mutton and wool. Whether in subduing raw prairie, or in bringing the new "clearing" into shape for plowing and pasturage, a flock of sheep will be found both the speediest and cheapest workers within reach of the frontier farmer. In older settlements, where rotation of crops is resorted to, they may be employed for gleaning grain fields, and gathering from corners and by-ways intruding weeds and grasses, that, if not destroyed, would reduce the profit of growing crops, while adding materially to the labors of the husbandman during subsequent seasons. The Southern States, as well as some of the Southwestern ones, are the ones wherein the sheep would be very profitable.

Turnips, according to the Poultry Yard, are good for fowls in winter, when the ground is covered with snow and no grass is obtainable. I (says a correspondent) give two flocks of Plymouth Rocks, thirty in each, six quarts of yellow globe turnips once in two days' alternative with a little animal food. The turnips are chopped fine enough to be eaten without difficulty. The skin of this vegetable is pungent and has a somewhat stimulating effect.

In pruning trees all stems half an inch or more in diameter should be covered with some waterproof substance like grafting wax or shellac, of the consistency of cream. The bark and outer wood will thus be preserved, and the wound will in a season or so be covered with new bark. If this precaution is not taken the branch will decay from exposure to wind, rain, heat and cold.

A Life Doubly Assured.

A resident of Bangor, Maine, writing to C. N. Crittenton, New York, for a supply of HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR, mentions incidently that three months ago a New England life-insurance company refused to grant him a policy on the ground that he was consumptive. "But," he adds, "thanks to the healing properties of that invaluable preparation, my lungs are perfectly sound, and I yesterday passed a medical examination without an objection, and insured my life for $5,000." Of druggists generally.

PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS cure in one minute.

A pure, radiant complexion is one of woman's greatest charms. It is attainable by the daily use of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, which removes blemishes of the skin, cuticular ailments of every description, and as an eliminate disinfectant.

His long experience as a Baker justifies him in claiming that his bread and cake are excelled by none. Fresh bread and cakes baked every day, Sundays excepted.

Meals served at all hours, from 6 A. M. to 11 P. M. Oysters by the plate, fried, roasted or stewed.

A good beef steak always ready, and French coffee a specialty.

Ice Cream made to order in winter, and kept constantly on hand in summer.

Terrapin and Game suppers furnished, but they must be specially ordered a few days in advance, so as to give time to procure the game.
