CHESTERTOWN:
SATURDAY MORNING.....SEPT. 23, 1882.

Chesterville and Vicinity.

Messrs. Editors:—In referring to your quarterly meeting record, as published last week, some persons might infer that Presiding Elder Martindale would preach at Galena next Sabbath evening. Although that village was named, yet Galena circuit was meant by the reference, and the elder will preach at Chesterville on the night of the 24th, that point forming a part of said circuit. We have thought best to make this explanation that none might be misled.

A series of extra meetings was begun in the Galena M. E. church last Sunday night. Extra services are also contemplated at the Chesterville M. E. Church about three weeks hence.

While on the church business, here is a matter worth noting. One of our best citizens, yet nevertheless not a religious man, was asked to contribute toward raising the ministers salary, and responded promptly and liberally. After a little reflection he said, "I believe in keeping up the churches. What would a community do without them? Take them away, and our morals would decrease; our degradation would be speedy and sure, and our farms would not be worth half their present price. Why I think it the duty of all land owners to contribute to the support of the church nearest their estate, whether they reside on them or not, because of the wholesome moral influence the churches exert in the community, making the neighborhood more desirable, and thus increasing the value of land." These (to our mind) are very sound reasons to come from an irreligious man, and it would be no harm for land owners in general, and christians in particular to stick a pin right here.

Miss Ella R. Day, several years since a teacher of our public school, is on from her home in New York, and is now visiting friends at Sassafras and Chesterville. She is the same bright, pleasant little lady, and she meets with kindly greetings from her numerous friends.

Mr. F. P. Roe, our blacksmith, has had to close his shop of late on account of sickness. He is out again, however, and in a few days we hope to hear the ring of his anvil. WALTER.

A FARMER'S SOLUTION NOT SATISFACTORY—SICKNESS—THE DOCTORS BUSY.

Messrs. Editors:—Though the pen of "Simon Sharp" may not put a fence around Salem church, it has called into exercise the remarkable talent of "A Farmer" whose solution of "Simon's mystery" appeared in the NEWS of the 9th. "Farmers" we are told, "have fences that they may be able to keep their stock on their own premises—where they should be." What if a farmer's own stock should find the same convenient gateway or gap that his neighbor's so often find to get in, are they so well tutored as to decline to go out? You are not expert at conundrums friend "Farmer." Your solution does not solve. Why the expense of fences if there still be left a way in and a way out? That is the question you are invited to consider and solve, if you can.

The peach crop is gathered and the bustle and turmoil over, now comes the busy preparation for wheat seeding.

Malarial and other fevers have been quite prevalent for a few weeks and doctors have had enough to do. Some families dissatisfied with the severe treatment and heavy doses of the old school practice are considering and trying the homeopathic theory. SIMON SHARP.

A STRANGE STORY—The Wife of Engineer Melville Says He Has Deserted Her.—The Philadelphia Press of Tuesday published the following: "Since Engineer Melville's return from his perilous voyage to the Arctic seas there has been some comment upon the fact that he did not at once rush to the arms of his family the moment he reached the shores of his native country. He waited to be feasted in New York and tarried a day and a night in Philadelphia, although his wife and children were waiting in their home but six miles distant. Mrs. Melville has also been criticised for not leaving Sharon Hill to meet him, but this did not appear strange to some who were familiar with her slight eccentricity of character, as evidence in the recent trouble she had with the United States government in obtaining a larger allowance from her husband's salary. Now, after all the fine words that have been written about the emotional meeting of husband and wife after such a long and cruel separation, the announcement comes that Engineer Melville has deserted his family. Mrs. Melville was seen at Sharon Hill this afternoon, and told the following story: "My husband has left me; gone I know not where, never to return. Gone without one word of explanation as to why he deserted me.'

"Do I understand you to say, Mrs. Melville, that your husband has deliberately deserted you?"

"Yes, sir; he left this house last night. He refused to remain here and cursed me before he went. It is too terrible, it will kill me; it will kill me. But I will tell you everything, though my heart is breaking and I feel that I'm going mad. When Melville had greeted his children Saturday night on the porch he came to me. I was waiting for him in the dining-room. He came in and I said to him: "Oh, George, I am glad to see you; are you not glad to get back?" and then I kissed him, but he made no reply and his arms hung light at his side. Then Meta caught him by the hand and said: 'Kiss me again, papa, I'm so glad to see you,' and he turned upon her and exclaimed in an angry manner, 'Who taught you to say that.' Then I said, 'Oh, George, don't talk so, some one will hear you; the house is full of your friends. Let us go out into the parlors and receive them.' 'They are not friends of mine,' he replied. 'They are your friends, not mine,' I answered, and led him in the parlors, but one or two of the guests had heard this gruff greeting, and were greatly astonished. Shortly afterwards he seized his hat and left the house, saying he would end the matter now and for all time. I called to him but he was gone out in the darkness, and I was left alone. It was too much for me to bear, and I broke down completely. Just think of the disgrace! My children knew that my husband and their father had deserted me. He left me without a dollar in the house, or food to eat; left us without anything—my children and myself—without one word of explanation, and I have not seen him since, nor do I know where he is."

THE costliest pair of shoes and stockings ever heard of are said to have been worn by a New York lady at the White Sulphur Springs, during the season just closed. The shoes cost $30, and the stockings were valued at $90. They were made of black silk, and midway between the ankle and the knee was a green tree embroidered in silk, and resting upon the branches of the tree were bright-plumaged birds, some in the act of flying. On the "bulge" or largest part of the stocking was a huntsman, clad in red shirt and trousers, taking aim at the birds in the tree. Upon the instep was the monogram of the lady wrought in gold letters. Between the knee and the upper part of the stocking were eighteen narrow bands of many varying hues. A reporter tells this story, but does not explain how he obtained the description.

MELVILLE AT HOME.—Chief Engineer Melville arrived at his home, Sharon Hill, on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad, about six o'clock Saturday evening, accompanied by a party of prominent Philadelphians. The streets were lined with people, who cheered lustily upon the appearance of the Arctic hero. Across the avenue leading to his cottage an arch was erected, on which was the inscription, "Welcome Home." Engineer Melville's residence was beautifully illuminated, as was also nearly every cottage on the place. He met his daughters on the threshold of their house. The meeting was very affecting. His wife, whom he had not seen for three long years, he received privately, and no one saw the meeting. He was presented with a letter of welcome from the citizens of Sharon Hill, after which he held a public reception, which was attended by 2,000 people.

THE FATE OF TWO LITTLE DEAF MUTES.—About a fortnight ago two deaf mute boys named Ackers, one eleven and the other nine, were carried to Staunton, Va., from Franklin county by their father to the State institution for the deaf, dumb or blind. They became very homesick and made up their minds to run away. They escaped before daybreak Monday morning and by 9 o'clock had trudged six miles in the direction of their home, about 175 miles away. As they were walking on the railroad track, near Fisherville, the train came along but they could not hear it. One was killed, but the other may recover.

A MILLIONAIRE'S PALACE CAR.—Mr. Wm. H. Vanderbilt's new palace car for his private use made its first appearance at Saratoga last week. Its designer claims that in comfort and elegance this car excels even the car owned by Baron de Rothschild, of Vienna, and in which he recently visited Beyreuth. The Vanderbilt car includes a sleeping-room furnished with a bedstead instead of a berth, a small parlor, an office and a smoking-room. It is intended whenever guests accompany Mr. Vanderbilt to be connected by a bellows cover with another car which Mr. Vanderbilt has hitherto used.

ACCORDING to the New York Commercial Bulletin canned fruits are ready to sell for future delivery to an extent greater than packers are willing to meet, and prices have already advanced from 10 to 15 per cent. Canned tomatoes have experienced an advance of fully 10 per cent., the demand being great. Prices, it is expected, will be well maintained by the general demand for consumption from every quarter.

IT looks as if Secretary Folger had the inside track for the Republican nomination for Governor of the State of New York.

A PANTHER six feet in length was recently killed in Buchanan county, Va. It had for a long time been a terror to the neighborhood.

A CONVENTION of the colored ministers of this State, having for its object how to best advance and promote the interest of the colored race, was in session in Baltimore last week. Bishop Wayman was the presiding officer.

A TRAMP had an Illinois woman arrested for giving him a bogus half dollar, and an exchange naively suggests that it is best to deal squarely even with the tramp. Rush at him with a red-hot poker in your hands and blood in your eye.

MR. JAY GOULD'S experience with politicians, according to his own showing, is not of the most pleasant character. He says he is being continually "struck" by politicians, and that he has dozens of pigeon-holes in his desks filled with the demands, the threats and the entreaties of politicians—men of all parties. Mr. Gould says nearly all of his money is embarked in various enterprises, and all he wants is honest government and, he might have added, a few more millions of dollars.

THE BEAUTY SEEKING DAMAGES.—Miss Louisa Montague, Forepaugh's $10,000 beauty, has filed a declaration in a Philapelphia court, stating the grounds of a suit which she has recently instituted against the veteran showman for $10,000 damages. She says she was accepted as the "loviest lady in the land," and as such was promised a reward of $10,000; but although she appeared in the street processions or grand pageants of the defendant for thirty weeks, during the spring and summer of 1881, she avers that Mr. Forepaugh has entirely failed to pay her the promised $10,000.

MY WIFE SAID I WAS A FOOL when I brought home a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic. But when it broke up my cough, drove away her neuralgia and cured baby's dysentery, she thought I had made an excellent investment.

We give below the opinions of a few of our customers:
SUDLERSVILLE, MD., August 6, 1882.
Messrs. Thompson & McFeeley—With pleasure I here answer your request regarding the result of your Phosphate, which I used last fall on wheat, on stock grown and which gave me 30½ bushels to the acre; expect to use it again this fall. That we bought of you this spring for corn is acting like a charm; expect to get 65 or 70 bushels to the acre if it keeps seasonable.
Yours, Respectfully, R. J. GOODHAND.
CENTREVILLE, MD., July 31, 1882.
Messrs. Thompson & McFeeley—Dear Sirs: I used your Reliable Phosphate by the side of a goods that cost me more money, and by actual experiment I found that your goods gave me more wheat per acre than the other, notwithstanding I had less of yours on the acre than of the other. I am very much pleased with the results and shall use it again. Respectfully Yours,
WM. H. PRICE.
CENTREVILLE, MD., July 25, 1882.
Messrs. Thompson & McFeeley—Dear Sirs: I used your Corsica Compound by the side of two other Phosphates that cost me more money, and it gave me a better yield of Wheat than either of them. The clover where I used your goods is also much better than on the rest of my field. I am perfectly satisfied with its results. Respectfully, Yours, WM. DEVER.
CENTREVILLE, August 1, 1882.
Messrs. Thompson & McFeeley—Gentlemen: I am perfectly satisfied with your goods. I believe it to be as good as anything that I used. RICHARD T. EARLE.
CENTREVILLE, MD., August 1, 1882.
Messrs. Thompson & McFeeley—Dear Sirs: I used your Corsica Compound, costing me $30 per ton, by the side of a standard phosphate costing me $37, and got a much better yield from your goods than from the $37 goods. The grass is equally as good, if not better. I am especially pleased with its results and shall use largely of it this fall.
P. S.—It drills splendidly. Respectfully, Yours, WM. E. TEMPLE.
CENTREVILLE, MD., July 22, 1882.
Messrs. Thompson & McFeeley—Dear Sirs: I am very much pleased with both grades of your Phosphates; am more than satisfied with their results, and shall use them again this fall.
Very Respectfully, Yours, J. O. RASIN.
CENTREVILLE, MD., July 18, 1882.
Messrs. Thompson & McFeeley—Dear Sirs: In reply to your inquiry I can say that both your "Reliable" and "Corsica Compound" gave me entire satisfaction, giving me more wheat than any other goods I used—some of them costing more money. Your "Reliable" I am especially pleased with, and expect to use a considerable quantity of your goods this fall. J. B. THOMAS.
TEMPLEVILLE, July 23, 1882.
Messrs. Thompson & McFeeley—Sirs: I used your Phosphate (Corsica Compound) last fall on wheat and Rye; it acted well on both and I have an excellent stand of grass on land where it was used. Shall use no other this fall. Yours, &c., JOHN T. TEMPLE.
