An Ancient Law in Connecticut.

The Hartford Courant exhumes the annexed law which it says was passed by a "general court" which sat in that city in 1664:

"For in as much as it is observed, that many abuses are crept in and committed, by frequent taking of tobacco:

"It is ordered by the authority of this courte, That no person under the age of 21 years, nor any other that hath not already accustomed himself to the use thereof, shall take any tobacco until he hath brought a certificate under the hands of some who are approved for knowledge and skill in phisick, that it is usefule for him, and allso, that he hath received a lycense from the courte for the same. And for the regulating of those, who either by their former taking it, have to their own apprehensions, made it necessary to them, or upon due advice, are persuaded to the use thereof.

"It is ordered, That no man within this colonye, after the publication hereof shall take any tobacko, publiquely, in the street, highwayes or any barne yards, or upon training dayes, in any open places, under the penalty of six pence for each offence against this order, in any the perticulars thereof, to bee paid without gainesays upon conviction, by the testimony of one witness, that is without just exception, before any one magistrate. And the constables in the severall townes are required to make presentment to each perticular courte, of such as they doe understand, and can evict to be trangressors of this order."

A MILITARY MOTHER.—A German paper gives an account of a strange incident which occured lately on the occasion of a marriage before the civil authorities in Algeria. The official required the consent of the mother, and asked if she was present. A loud bass voice answered "Yes." The mayor looked up and saw a tall soldier before him. "That is well," he said; let the mother come here—her consent and signature are necessary." To the astonishment of all present, the soldier approached the mayor with long strides, saluted in military fashion, and said: "You asked for the mother of the bride; she stands before you." "Very well, sir," replied the mayor, "then stand back, I can take no proxy; I must see the mother, I tell you!" "And I repeat," rejoined the soldier, "that she stands before you. My name is Maria L I have been thirty-six years in the service; I have been through several campaigns, and obtained the rank of sergeant; here are my papers, the permission to wear uniform, and my nominations as sergeant-major." The mayor carefully examined the documents and found them perfectly correct, and completed the marriage of the bridal pair, the mother blessing them so fervently with her deep bass voice that all present were more startled than touched.

One of our "dead head" subscribers, who happened to be over in Charleston the other day, tells the following:—

A fellow representing a Boston bucket factory came ashore from a steamer, carrying about a dozen dimunutive specimens of his merchandise, and taking the first street he came to, offered them right and left. He had not progressed far before a negro policeman arrested and carried him before a coal-black justice, charged with pedling without license. The sable magistrate not only fined him the cool sum of $100, but roundly lectured the man of buckets on his conduct. He paid the fine and left the "court" and city in thorough disgust.

On the same day another drummer from New York, was arraigned before his sable honor for the same offense. The drummer insisted that he had made no sales. Whereupon the black dignitary told him to prove that, but while hunting up his proof he must leave $50 by way of bail. The drummer handed over the money, went out and brought in three or four merchants, who stated that he had sold nothing to them. After the witnesses got through, the following decision was delivered:

"Dis court hab heard de prefixes and de conclusion to dis case, and decides dat de Yankee hab left the case in doubt; and it bein de law to gib de State de benefit of de doubt, de court will keep de fifty dollars."

These are facts.—Macon Telegraph.

BUTLER'S OPINION.—The New York Herald in noticing the fact that General Butler, of Massachusetts, was at the Astor House, says:

"The General expresses the opinion that there is no use for the Republicans to commence laying pipe for the next Presidency, or any other Presidency, unless they radically change their financial policy."

"General Butler thinks that eventually the colored population will go for repudiation. They have sense enough to see, he urges, that it is not to their interest to help pay an enormous National debt, which they had no hand in creating."

There is sagacity in the above, for whatever Butler may be, no one ever accused him of being a fool. There would be a beautiful moral retribution to the bondholding influence, which, by fraud and force, has assisted to force negro suffrage upon the South, to find in the end, that their iniquitous debt has been repudiated by the aid of their proteges. If the negro is permitted to vote, this will probably be the case.

FREE AGENCY.—Man is free to do right or wrong. The truth has been presented to him; he is free to judge which he will take, but only free inasmuch as Deity is infinite goodness; and as there is no infinite principle of evil, he cannot go in that direction beyond the moral limits of the soul, whilst in goodness he can go onward forever, to Jehovah. He is here to judge which he will take, right or wrong, but at the same time he is not free to make the wrong permanently triumphant, for it can never be so. The right is the infinite, and consequently it always predominates over ignorance, error and darkness.

The Lynchburg News says that if the faith we profess in the wisdom, intelligence, and patriotism of the masses, have any foundation, in fact, if "curses come home to roost," if dishonest devices ever return to plague the inventors, then may we look forward with sanguine expectation to the speedy advent of the day when a righteous retribution shall overtake the most profligate, unscrupulous and reckless party that ever had an existence under any government, and consign to merited contempt and eternal obscurity the men who have played the most prominent part in the great political drama which is no being enacted.

A paper out in Illinois talks in this reasonable way: "If you owe one but a single dollar go and pay him; when there is so little money we ought to keep it moving around lively. Jim owed us, and we owed Bill, and Bill owed Jim. Jim got mad because we made him pay one morning last week; but we paid Bill, and Bill paid Jim, and Jim went to bed that night happy as a clam, with just as much money as he had in the morning, and three men out of debt."

Bone Dust.
THE subsriber has just erected at his farm, near the city, the most improved machinery for making BONE DUST, and is now ready to fill orders for any quantity, which will be delivered at the shortest notice.
THE BONE DUST
will be finer than any heretofore made by him, (no chemical process resorted to,) enabling the Farmer or Planter to sow it with the Drill.
Mr. SAMUEL SANDS, well known to the Farmers and Planters of the United States, as the former editor of the American Farmer and Rural Register, will have charge of his office, No. 63 South Gay Street, near Pratt, and will be happy to receive the visits or orders of his old friends.
FORTY-FIVE DOLLARS PER TON, put up in neat bags. No charge for bags. Farmers and others are invited to visit my work, I have nothing to conceal.
My men have nothing nice to perform, therefore I have no "non-admittance" signs on my premises. Persons are free to examine my Factory, and the modus operandi of Dust-making.
I cannot afford to pay 5, 10 or 20 per cent, to commission merchants, as my profits do not exceed 10 per cent.
BONE DUST, as manufactured by me, is A simple, and its quality cannot be made to conform to the price.
