CHESTERTOWN:
SATURDAY MORNING.....Dec. 16, 1882.

Penagraphs and Incidents for the "News."

WELL DONE HOWARD AND ANNE ARUNDEL—REFORM AND NO MORE STEALING—BRO. ROBSON ON OYSTERS—FLOGGING IN SCHOOLS—FATAL SHOOTING CASE.

Old Kent congratulates the citizens of Howard and Anne Arundel, and especially the ladies of the State capital on their triumph in the cause of humanity. Keep the ball rolling! The citadel will have to surrender, and the tyrant Alcohol must be dethroned. "Carthago delenda est." The handwriting is on the wall.

"Reform" is the party watchword now, and perhaps it may extend so far as to give the people—to the men and women whose labor creates all wealth—the same currency now given to banks, brokers, stock-jobbers, speculators, and other gamblers, instead of dollars worth 85 cents.

Editor Robson is about right on the oyster question. May his "Star" be always in the ascendant! How would it do to lay off beds of from one to five or ten acres, and rent them to citizens at public auction, thus making them private leasehold property, protected as other property by law, and thus dispense with an expensive navy? This plan, if I mistake not works well in Rhode Island.

I presume the long-mooted question of corporal punishment in the schools may be considered finally settled by the recent action of the State Board of Education in the case of A. J. Thawley, of Queen Anne's. It has always appeared to me that every time a teacher strikes a child he diminishes the self-respect of the child, and his own influence over him.

On Wednesday evening 6th inst., Elbert Scott, a colored man, was visiting at the house of Moses Rasin, near Crawford's lane. A little boy, a son of Rasin, also named Moses, began to tease him; Scott desired him to desist, saying if he did not he would shoot him. The lad continued his badinage when Scott drew a pistol and accidentally discharged it, the ball entering the head of the boy causing almost instant death. Scott ran to the neighbor's and distracted with grief told what he had done. He reached home almost frantic at the result of his indiscretion.

A coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental homicide and Scott was discharged.

Thomas Nugent is officiating as clerk for Mr. Greenwood; Thomas is affable and obliging.

Mr. Casey, who succeeds J. A. Schwearer in the cartwright and smithing business, and became his tenant, has moved in and started business without delay. Success must follow fidelity and industry.

Our carpenters are all busy trying to close up their contracts before Christmas.

Heard From At Last.

Editors Kent News:—"Yes, heard from at last," no doubt some of those people will say who have been solicitous as to the whereabouts of "Observer" these many months. If he has been taking a nap it certainly is not of so sound and lasting a character as that which the Galena Lit. Society seems to be enjoying. We fear the laudable spirit that permeated that hopeful band of seekers after mental food has somewhat died out. The monuments of the enterprising spirit therein exhibited—the neat street lamps—still of course adorn our streets, but alas, seem to cry out in shame at their ruinous neglect. "Observer" does not yet believe the Literary Society is really dead, but, like the Galena Light Guards (a military company organized in Galena some months since) it is simply resting on its laurels. Of the latter organization it has been whispered abroad that it received a cruel shock when the fact became apparent that all the members of the company had not been elected as officers. "Observer" is inclined to brand that as an oblique deviation from the downright truth. A superstitious idea prevails here, that any kind of an organization once formed in Galena is bound to die. We should, as good citizens, having the least grain of local pride, try and refute such an idea by lending a hand to push on every good word and work.

Galena is by no means at a stand still. If the agitation in respect to running the Kent Co. R. R. through Galena is still kept up as for the past few weeks no one knows what benefits may accrue to us. With no such grand stimulus as a railroad to Galena would be, we yet see evidence of increased prosperity on every hand. Our merchants are enlarging their stores and branching out into other lines, such as furniture, queensware, fancy and millinery goods, &c., at a rapid rate. One of the best evidences of a growing local trade is the keen competition manifested by our most enterprising store keepers. Messrs. Whitaker & Bro. propose on the opening of the new year to devote a spacious second story of their store house to the display of a large stock of furniture; Mr. T. H. Horsey is now occupying what is asserted to be the finest store room in Kent county, while Mr. Peacock certainly will have to enlarge his store room if he adds much more to his already large stock of goods. So with our stores and shops. Are they not jam full of everything that is nice and tempting?

Why on earth our merchants don't let Kent county people generally know of these facts through spicy advertisements in our county papers "Observer" fails to understand. 'Tis folly hiding such drawing lights under the bushel of indifference to our natural mouth-pieces—county papers. Every one you know, they say, reads the KENT NEWS.

Now that the painting up "boom" has struck Galena there is no stop to the improvements one beholds. Commencing at the north end the ball has just moved right on down Main street at a very encouraging pace; and best of all the colors are varied and pleasing to the eye. The "painting up" spirit is growing, and it may get so strong before long that it won't be safe to live in a weather-beaten, paintless structure.

Public opinion seems to be divided as to whether that double wedding, that intimately concerned several Galenaites, has or has not yet taken place. The anxious will doubtless be satisfied ere long. Rumor has it another Galena couple have it in mind to enter the stall of connubial bliss just about Christmas. I will try and season another dish of news for you shortly if I am a keen enough OBSERVER.

Letter From Rock Hall.

Messrs. Editors:—A word from our blooming little village may not be amiss.

For some months the carpenter's hammer has been heard in more than one direction the livelong day. Many of our oystermen have been convinced that small houses of their own is better than paying rent. Among them are Wm. Urie, Thomas Rodney, Wm. Warner, H. Webb and J. Dowling. The houses are all being built with a view to being enlarged as times prosper. Some that were built two years ago are now being enlarged, which gives them quite a respectable appearance. Our prosperous merchant, Alexander, continues to add to his tenant houses, finding them more profitable than worn-out peach trees. The enterprising firm of Leary & Son have added three more comfortable dwellings as their share of improvement. A. P. Sharp is putting a much needed addition to the dwelling and store occupied by B. F. Legg, which will still need considerable whitewashing before the town's people will take much pride in pointing it out as a central object.

The oyster trade has been quite brisk till Boreas burst one of his wind-bags on the Alleghanies last Thursday week, which came tearing down here at such a rate that the calm and placid oyster snapped his fingers at both tongsman and dredger. At the same time Jack Frost turned down the mercury to within 10° of zero, which effectually stopped work for the present; we hope it will not last many days, and there will still be a good fall's work done before winter sets in. We find Capt. Willson still makes himself exceedingly troublesome to dredgers who attempt to work on reserved ground; several of whom he has captured and caused to be fined this fall. At the same time, we are told, the mischievous little imp, Cupid, is stealthily weaving his gossamer web around him, it is positively stated that he has become so entangled he will be obliged to apply to the preacher for relief at no distant day; no one seems to pity him, poor fellow!

The canning firm of Apsley & Downey have done a good and we understand a paying business, which encourages us to hope they will enlarge their facilities by another season, as all we need to insure good prices for our fruit crop is facilities for handling it in its season; no danger of an over-supply, the world is getting to be a large place and all mankind evince a taste for fruit, and we have heard of no place that can compete with this peninsula for peaches—which is, and will continue to be our specialty.

We are not sure, however, that the canning house has not had something to do with so many of our girls being afflicted with heart disease. What is singular in the present epidemic is that it assumes nearly as many different types as there are boys in the neighborhood. There is the Johnnie, the Willie, the Marion and the Tommie types. It is said there are two or three cases of the Tommie, which is passing strange, as he is not a bad boy, but seems to be rather young to be so familiar with the—with the— But we congratulate ourselves that our worthy pastor, Rev. Mr. Green, has a specific that will cure the most virulent cases, that would baffle the skill of our doctors—Willson and Fisher. We have not heard of a single relapse in a case that he has handled. Some of our very best girls seem to be exempt from this disease, two especially, for whom, it is said, a certain Johnnie and Willie would gladly take the job of grinding their scissors for life. If they ever do succumb we hope there will be relief at hand, as such natures always take things strong. SCRUTATOR.

AN EASTERN SHORE SENSATION.

TWO YOUNG HILLSBORO', MD., COUNTERFEITERS—NOTES WHICH WERE ALMOST PERFECT—FINE PLATES FOUND.

A Hillsboro', Md., letter says, under date of Dec. 10: For over a week the most intense excitement has prevailed in three counties of the Eastern Shore—Caroline, Queen Anne's and Talbot—which meet in a point in the outskirts of this town.

For nearly two years two young men, the sons of prominent and highly-respected citizens of this neighborhood and not yet twenty-four years of age, have been engaged upon what they said was a new invention. They worked secretly and kept everything carefully under lock and key, so that no prying eyes could discover their valuable secret before they could secure a patent. Their fond fathers dreamed of the wealth and fame that would soon flow in on their sons; for latterly these young hopefuls assured them that their invention was rapidly nearing completion and bid fair to revolutionize the world. Now it turns out that they were engaged in making and perfecting the plates and dies with which to manufacture counterfeit money. They carried on their operations in an upper room of an old frame farm house near this town, in Talbot county, belonging to R. A. Stevens and in the tenancy of a Mr. Dulin. They manufactured counterfeit silver half dollars and dollars, a counterfeit $5 note of a National Bank of Sandusky, Ohio, and a counterfeit $10 note on one of the National Banks of the State of Vermont. The counterfeits are all exceedingly dangerous. A counterfeit $2.50 gold piece resists the acid test and can only be detected by a pair of coin balances, being a very little short in weight. The plates from which the notes are printed are said to be the most perfect ones ever executed by counterfeiters. All that part of the note including the red seal, known as the Treasury work, is absolutely perfect under the microscope. It has been stated, whether authoritatively or not is not ascertained, that the United States authorities have offered $10,000 for the production of the plates and dies. These articles are believed to be secreted somewhere in this vicinity and the detectives still have hopes of unearthing them.

HOW IT WAS DISCOVERED.

Two or three weeks ago these young men made a descent on Centreville, Queen Anne's county, and passed a considerable quantity of their counterfeit gold on the unsuspecting merchants of that town. A few days later several citizens of Denton, Caroline county, received letters from a party in Baltimore, signed D. C. Clarkson, offering to sell them counterfeit money at the rate of $100 counterfeit for $20 of good money, or $25 counterfeit for $5 of good money. One of the citizens of Denton who was thus favored handed his letter to the cashier of the Denton National Bank and he forwarded it to the postmaster of Baltimore city. The postoffice authorities at once took the matter in hand and soon succeeded by means of decoy letters in arresting one of the young men before referred to, who gave the name of Thos. Gale. When arrested he presented a written order for the mail of D. C. Clarkson. This young man turned out to be Thomas G. Atkinson, eldest son of Dr. E. Atkinson, of Caroline county, who was recently appointed to a position in the Baltimore Custom House. He is the same party who last summer shot William Ringgold, of Caroline county, during a dispute about some peaches, and is now under indictment for assault with intent to kill. At the recent October term of the court he was released from custody under bail in the sum of $3,500 for his appearance at the April term of the court, at Denton, to answer this charge.

The other young man, who is the son of one of our largest farmers and peach-growers, (whose name is withheld for the present) took the morning train at Ridgeley, Caroline county, one day about a week ago, and has not since been heard from. It is currently reported, however, that he is rusticating in Canada. Special agent Henderson, of the Postoffice Department, and Gilkeason, of the Secret Service Bureau of the Treasury, paid a visit to Denton and Centreville last week to obtain evidence in the Atkinson case. They recovered five spurious two dollar and a-half gold pieces, which had been passed on merchants in both places, who fully identified the parties who passed the counterfeits upon them. Atkinson had a hearing before United States Commissioner Rogers on Friday, and was held for the action of the United States grand jury.

Carroll County's Cause Celebre.

FARMERS SIGNING CHECKS FOR CASH INSTEAD OF WALNUT WOOD.

Special to the Balto. Herald.

A dispatch from Westminster, dated Dec. 11, says: The Circuit Court for this county was called this morning with Judge I. Thomas Jones on the bench. A large number of farmers were present at the opening of the court, attracted by the Dennison case, which was set for trial to-day. The facts upon which the case was based are in brief that a man named Samuel D. Miller went through a portion of this county last spring and contracted with various farmers for walnut logs and caused them to sign written agreements. Shortly afterward notes against a number of these farmers, for sums varying from $2,000 to $3,000, turned up in the hands of Mr. John E. Dennison, a bill broker in this city. These men all say that they never signed any of the notes; that they are all forgeries, and refuse to pay them. At this term of court the grand jury found a true bill against Dennison and Miller, charging them with conspiracy to defraud. Mr. Dennison at once placed himself in the hands of the officers of the law and was admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000, Mr. B. W. Buckingham becoming his surety. Miller has not been apprehended. D. N. Henning, Esq., State's attorney, Hon. Wm. P. Maulsby and Hon. Charles B. Roberts appeared for the State and Hon. Wm. N. Hayden and James A. C. Bond, Esq., appeared for the defendant, Dennison. About ten days ago the defendant asked for a bill of particulars, and this was ordered by the court and furnished by the State. To-day the defense demurred to the bill of particulars and to each count in the indictment. This demurrer was overruled by the court. The witnesses were then called, when it was found that one of the most important witnesses for the prosecution was absent. A large number of spectators were present, and this is one of the most important cases ever tried before this court and the people are attracted because all the parties are well known throughout the county and because of the array of legal talent on both sides of the case.

The Prohibition Movement.

A CAMPAIGN FOR AN AMENDMENT TO THE STATE CONSTITUTION DETERMINED UPON.

Largely attended meetings were held Tuesday afternoon and evening, in Baltimore, in response to a call of the executive committee of the Maryland State Temperance Alliance, for the purpose of organizing a movement to secure the prohibition of the sale of liquor in Baltimore by constitutional amendment or otherwise.

A number of addresses were delivered. The Rev. Henry E. Johnson, of Chatsworth Independent Methodist Church, said the question was the expediency of removing the saloons. There are 2,800 of them in the city, and at $20 each their daily expenses are $56,000. Some persons would lose employment, but the $56,000 would be thrown into the retail trade of the city.

Col. Thomas J. Shea, of the committee on resolutions, read a report setting forth the gratitude of the Alliance for success in the local option cause, which now prevails in 14 of the 29 counties in the State; declaring that the work will be continued, and closing with the following resolution:

"That, in the opinion of this convention, the time has come to strike for the highest attainable good in this direction—that is to say, for an amendment to the constitution of the State of Maryland by which the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the State shall be forever prohibited; and that to this end the executive committee of the State Temperance Alliance be requested to take the necessary steps for the organization of a campaign which shall have for its object the securing of appropriate legislation to submit to voters of the State, for their adoption or rejection, such an amendment to the constitution of the State."

The preamble and resolutions were then adopted amid applause, and the convention adjourned with a benediction by Dr. Grammer.

EX-SENATOR GEO. E. SPENCER, a fugitive star-route witness, recently visited his brother, Dr. Spencer, at Watertown, N. Y., but left on Saturday for Kingston, Canada. Dr. Spencer is represented as saying that his brother was in Washington all through the last star-route trial, and occupied a room next to that occupied by Col. Bliss.

THE CELEBRATED HYLAND

FARM WAGON

And Iron Frame Cultivator

To Our Friends and the Public:

In introducing these Wagons on the Peninsula, we feel that we are doing something to benefit the public. It seems to be the unanimous verdict of Farmers that our Wagons track better and run lighter than any others made on the Peninsula. This was the decision of the Judges of the Worton Fair, held in September, 1881. Every piece is carefully selected, and nothing but the best material is used.

Our DEARBORNS and CARTS are EXCELLED BY NONE.

Please give these implements a trial, and you will find it to your interest.
