SATURDAY MORNING.....JULY 7, 1883.

BISHOP PINKNEY'S DEATH.

Rt. Rev. William Pinkney, D. D., L. L. D., Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland and rector of Ascension Church, Washington, died very suddenly about six o'clock Wednesday morning at the rectory of Sherwood Church, Cockeysville, Baltimore county, where he had gone to consecrate the new Sherwood Church, which was to have taken place on Thursday.

In 1868 he was elected bishop assistant to the late Bishop Whittingham, whose health had been very bad, and consequently most of the work of the diocese fell on Bishop Pinkney. He was consecrated at Epiphany Church, Washington, in November of that year. On October 17 Bishop Whittingham died, and Bishop Pinkney became Bishop of the Diocese of Maryland by succession.

Bishop Pinkney was born in the city of Annapolis in the year 1810, and so was 73 years old at the time of his death. His father was the brother of the great lawyer, Wm. Pinkney, the grandfather of Mayor Whyte, of Baltimore, and ex-Judge Pinkney. The Bishop was named after his uncle. His mother was a sister of Governor Grason.

The death of Bishop Pinkney leaves the standing committee of the diocese in charge until a successor is chosen. They will probably call an extraordinary convention, to meet within the next two or three months, to choose a successor. A two-thirds vote of the clerical and lay delegates is necessary to a choice. Among those mentioned for the place are Rev. Dr. Lewin, of Washington; Rev. Dr. Leeds, of Baltimore, and Rev. Dr. Orlando Hutton, of Montgomery county, who preached the historical discourse at the centenary.

THE ceremonies connected with the unveiling of the statue of Gen. R. E. Lee at Lexington, Va., on Thursday of last week were participated in by a throng memorable both for its numbers and for the distinguished character of a large proportion of the individuals composing it. Seldom since the 10th of April, 1865, have so many persons whose names will adorn the annals of the Confederacy been brought together. But besides being representative of the military element, the occasion brought out thousands of civilians from all parts of the country. Maryland had her contingent, composed in part of veterans who had fought scores of battles under Lee's leadership, and in part the alumni of Washington and Lee University who had studied under his direction while president of the institution endowed by Washington. After the unveiling of the statue the principal event of the day was the address of Major John W. Daniel, Virginia's most distinguished orator. Taking for his theme the life and character of Gen. Lee, the speaker sketched his career, including the campaign under Scott in Mexico, and the period in 1861 during which he commanded the troops of his native State; the three years of his leadership of the army of Northern Virginia—his victories, drawn battles and defeats; and finally, the five years at the close of his life, during which, as president of Washington College, he assumed the modest role of an educator of the sons of the brave men he had been wont to lead in battle. The theme was an inspiring one, and Major Daniel treated it with more than his usual ability, producing an oration concise and chaste in style, but abounding in passages of extraordinary force and beauty.

ON Saturday morning last, after some ten days of dodging the officers of the law, Messrs. Richard F. Beirne, editor of the Richmond State, and Wm. C. Elam, editor of the Richmond Whig, met in an open space in a grove of oaks on the farm of Phillip Killian, near Waynesboro', Va., and shot at each other. At the second exchange of shots Mr. Elam was seriously wounded in the right thigh, a little below the hip, and was taken to the house of Mr. J. F. Lewis, near Port Republic, where he lies in a critical condition. Mr. Beirne came off unhurt. The affair was the outcome of editorials which had appeared in their respective papers. Mr. Beirne, in the State, spoke of the Mahone party in its true colors, and said that "a more vicious, corrupt and degraded gang never followed any adventurer than those who hang about the petty boss. These fellows it is who, having never a scruple in promoting mixed marriages and mixed schools, and in opposing honest white men—honest colored men, we trust—in the strong desire to turn aside so dire an evil, accuse their opponents of using their own offensive word, 'Nigger.'" Mr. Beirne suggested that the Mahone party, which was looking about for a name, might adopt "Nigger" as a fitting title. Mr. Elam was very angry. He wrote that "We laugh at the State's vituperation and vaporing, and beg to remark that not only does the State lie, but its 'editor and owner' lies, and the poor creature who may have actually written the article in question also lies—all, jointly and severally—deliberately, knowingly, maliciously, and with the inevitable cowardice that is always yoked with insolent bravado." Mr. Beirne then challenged him.

AN ASTOUNDING STATEMENT.—In the Criminal Court of Washington city on Friday of last week, in his closing address in the Creek murder case, United States District-Attorney Corkhill made the following remarks, which are calculated to attract wide-spread attention on account of the importance and gravity of the statements:

"I cannot allow this occasion to pass without calling attention to the remarkable exhibition of want of character of the witnesses both for the government and the defense. In this case and one tried a few weeks ago of a similar character, almost one hundred witnesses have been examined, and so much perjury and utter disregard of the obligations of an oath I never saw in a court of justice. It suggests to me that those worthy and benevolent gentlemen and ladies who are soliciting money and devoting their time to reform and christianize the heathen from Greenland to Africa can find work closer home, here at their own Capitol. If these one hundred people represent the neighborhoods in which they live, under the very dome of this temple of justice and within sound of the church bells, there is a field ripe for the harvest, and as worthy of labor, as fully demanding their attention, as can be found on the sands of Africa or shores of Abyssinia."

NEW PAPER MILL.—Mr. H. C. Carter has been elected president of the company which is now engaged in building large paper mills between the Tidewater canal and the Susquehanna river, near Shure's Landing. The water power is valued at $30,000, and is capable of developing from 5,000 to 10,000 horse-power. The capital stock of the company, $100,000, has all been paid in, Mr. Carter having taken one-fourth of it. The paper will be manufactured from wood by newly invented machinery, instead of being dissolved by acid, the usual plan. The new enterprise will give employment to a large force of workmen, and will be a valuable addition to the business interests of Harford county.—Harford Democrat.

THE GARFIELD MONUMENT.—The trustees of the Garfield Monument fund have selected as the site for the memorial to President Garfield a spot in Lake View Cemetery, Cleveland, on the brow of a hill near the southern boundary of the cemetery, a short distance from what is known as the Mayfield road. The point selected is the highest in the cemetery, and commands a beautiful view of the country for miles in every direction. The Cemetery Association will donate from three to five acres of ground, which will be embellished with flowers, trees and shrubbery. Sufficient funds for the construction of the monument have not yet been collected, but it is hoped to commence work on it in about a year.

HINT TO WATERMELON GROWERS.—One of our exchanges furnishes the following: "The ravages of the yellow-striped bug that infests and destroys watermelon, cantaloupe and all other kinds of vines may be prevented by sprinkling the vines with a mixture made by soaking a handful of any kind of tobacco in a gallon of water, and adding a tablespoonful of cayenne pepper and a tablespoonful of baking soda.—Sprinkle the vines in the evening and repeat the application occasionally as required."

A STATUE OF GEN. LEE.—The model of the statue of General Robert E. Lee, which is to be erected in New Orleans, arrived at New York Tuesday by steamship, where it will be cast in bronze. The entire monument will be 11 feet high. The statue, representing the general in full uniform, with his arms folded, will be 16 feet in height, and will stand on a Doric column 95 feet high. The name of Tivoli Square, where the monument is to be placed, will be changed to Lee Circle.

CLOSE OF THE INSTITUTE.

The Teachers' Institute closed its session Friday night. Our last issue gave the proceedings up to Thursday evening.

After the formal opening of the session Friday morning Miss Richmond again took up the subject of literature, and discussed selections from Coleridge.

Succeeding her, Prof. Smith took up the subject of botany, and analyzed the ox-eye daisy. By blackboard drawings, he illustrated the structure of this well known flower as seen under a microscope. He said the easiest and best way in which to learn botany, is by a direct study of plants. He advised teachers to impart a knowledge of botany to their pupils by teaching them to analyze plants, commencing, however, with a less complicated flower than the daisy.

Miss Richmond took up again the subject of history, and reviewed the previous day's exercises with chart of Squares. She closed the discussion of how to teach history, by reading a brief outline of the reign of Queen Elizabeth. The outline was given in an original paper which demonstrated that Miss Richmond is possessed of considerable literary skill. After the reading of the paper, there was a short recess. On the calling of the institute again to order, at the request of some of the teachers, there was a drill in calesthenics, conducted by Miss Richmond, who put a number of teachers who had been Normal School students through a series of calisthenic movements.

Prof. Smith gave some hints about teaching printing to the primary grade. He illustrated upon the blackboard the rules for forming the Gothic alphabet, by drawing all the letters of the alphabet in Gothic style.

Before the adjournment of the day session of the institute, Miss Richmond made some remarks complimenting the teachers upon their earnestness and attention. She advised every teacher to keep up with current history of events by taking a daily paper or at least the county papers. She thought also that every teacher should take a good school journal.

In the evening, the hall was filled with an audience to listen to the address by Dr. F. L. Bardeen. The subject of the address was, "The Earth—A Great Magnet." The speaker gave a short history of the loadstone with the origin of its present name, explained the properties of the magnet and how artificial magnets are made, first by rubbing with another magnet, either artifical or natural, second, by electricity, and third by hammering. He gave experiments illustrating these methods. He also showed the difference between magnets and magnetic substances. By experiments he developed the law of attraction and repulsion. He next introduced experiments to sustain the theory that the earth is a magnet, using a strong artificial magnet with which to perform the experiment, and repeating the experiments, using the earth as the magnet. Three distinct proofs of this kind were given. The "Inclination" and "declination" needles were explained, with their methods of use, &c., also "Isoclinic" and "Isogonic" charts and their practical use to navigators. Scraps of interesting history were given to show the development and use of the magnet in navigation. He closed by giving several theories as to the cause of terrestrial magnetism, which were, first, that of electrical currents traversing the earth from West to East, and third, the thermo-electric or sun theory. During the lecture, a great number of interesting experiments were performed, which those who had not near seats could not very distinctly see. The address was quite a long one, lasting one and three-quarter hours.

After the address, Miss Corbaley again sang in solo, and was so enthusiastically encored, that she was compelled to appear a second time. Prof. Orem also performed very artistically upon the piano.

DR. THAYER,

—THE—

Great Specialist,

Will be at the following places on these dates and remain one week at each visit that the afflicted may reap the benefit of his large experience:

CHESTERTOWN,

Arriving at ARMSTRONG'S HOTEL,	Monday, May 28;	remain until	June 4
Return "	" June 25;	" "	July 2
" again "	" July 23;	" "	" 30
Last visit "	Aug. 20;	" "	Aug. 27

GREENSBOROUGH.

Arriving at BRICK HOTEL,	Monday, June 11;	remain until	June 18
Return "	" July 9;	" "	July 16
Last visit "	Aug. 6;	" "	Aug. 13

It will be seen that the Doctor will be at Chestertown and Greensborough, arriving and leaving on the above dates.

A Physician who has had a most wonderful, uninterrupted and successful practice for a quarter of a century, and traveled a great portion of the Old World—England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Italy, Sicily, Switzerland, Turkey; also China and Japan, Central and South America, for study and information. A graduate of medicine, not only in America but also in France.

He is competent to Treat the most Obstinate Complaints that have baffled the Skill of the most Eminent Physicians of the day. He does not treat Symptoms that so many complain of, but goes to the Root and Cause of the Disease, and will tell you how you feel better than you know yourself.

Therefore it is obvious that a man that is capable of knowing the course must be more qualified to make a successful and speedy cure, without keeping the patient lingering along from month to month or year to year, until the sufferer has almost given up in despair of ever being cured or benefitted. He does not bleed you out of your money at one dollar and two dollars a visit, day after day and month after month, as the general practicing physician does, but gives you the benefit of his long practice and medicine at a fair and reasonable price and within the reach of all.

DR. THAYER

Treats successfully and guarantees a cure in any of the following complaints: Liver Complaint, Consumption, Malaria, Diarrhoea, nervous, sick and bilious Headache, Constipation or Costiveness, Neuralgia of the Heart, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Kidney Complaints in their worst forms, and Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, loss of Energy, loss of Appetite, Restlessness, loss of Sleep, Tiredness in the morning on rising, a general breaking down of the whole system, Catarrh of the Bladder, Blood and Urinary Complaints in their worst forms, Rheumatism and Diabetis, Asthma or Shortness of the breath, Goitre or Thick Neck, Lung and other complaints.

Female Complaints.

Those ladies that are afflicted so much with falling of the Womb or that feeling of Bearing Down, Leucorrhoea or Whites, should lose no time in giving Dr. Thayer a call, even if they have despaired of ever being benefitted, as he will give them a medicine that will cure them in a very short time.

Office hours from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

☞ Consultation free and strictly confidential.

Extract from Frederick Daily Times:

Dr. Thayer's success in treating and curing all chronic and complicated diseases has become known to us to be an accomplished fact, and it is certainly surprising and remarkable that a man—a perfect stranger—should come among us and treat all diseases with such almost superhuman results that have baffled the skill of the most noted physicians. The people of Centreville and its surroundings will now have the opportunity of calling on Dr. Thayer; the sick and afflicted and heretofore incurable can call and be treated and receive the benefit of this remarkable man's skill. It is certainly surprising that persons afflicted come to him and are told of all their complaints by him almost better than they know themselves, as in most cases they have hitherto been treated for symptoms and not the cause of the disease. Dr. Thayer strikes at the root of the complaint. We would advise all, no matter how afflicted, not to delay in giving him a call.
