HOBBY RIDING WITH MAX CHAMBERS

STAMPS

"The King of Hobbies". That's the term applied to stamp collecting because it is probably the most widespread of all sparetime activities. Like music and athletics it interests boys and girls, young and old. Collectors have a fancy name for the hobby of stamp collecting. It is philately—with the accent on the second syllable—a as in ate. It is the one international hobby.

Benjamin Franklin began the present postoffice system of about 48,000 offices in Philadelphia in 1737. In those early days the postmaster or storekeeper wrote his name across the corner of the envelope and the rider or stage coach driver collected on delivery.

We have seen the stamp grow from the seal of a signet ring carried by a personal messenger to the small colored perforated piece of paper stuck on an envelope with sweet potato glue carried by the pony express, the old '97, the air mail and finally during the last month by the rocket plane.

There are dozens of stamp collecting classifications. Some collect only commemoratives, others precancelled and still others only United States stamps. Many enthusiasts specialize on one foreign country and some collect all from everywhere. First day covers are attracting considerable attention and collectors of cachets (pronounced ca-shay) are finding many new and interesting events to add to their collections. The 1934 Hobby Monument cachet issued at Federalsburg is now worth thirty cents. A cachet will be issued on September 12 for the Chesapeake Bay Fishing Fair.

It is easy to start and fascinating to continue. The Late King George V, possessed a marvelous collection and our own President Roosevelt prizes his rare collection very highly. It has been valued at $50,000. From stamps we learn geography, arithmetic, history, art and language. The oldest postmistress in the United States is Mrs. Molly Stewart who has served Oxford, Maryland for fifty-nine years.

There are a lot of peculiar postoffice names on the Peninsula. Painter, Punguoteague, Birds Nest are in Virginia. Then up in Maryland you might build some Goodwill by taking a Chance for Monie near Dames Quarters in the vicinity of Eden. Crapo is to Golden Hill what Secretary is to East New Market which is not near North East or West. There is a Bivalve and an Eldorado, a Fowling Creek and a Love Point. There's Hope for Melitota by Still Pond and up in Cecil, they say Rising Sun and Blue Ball in the same breath. Yes, they're all names of Peninsula postoffices.

Among the stamp collectors are Marvin Smith, Federalsburg; Ross Truitt, Bridgeville; Anna R. Banning, Vienna; Rover Adams, Crisfield; Ralph Jackson, Cambridge; Eileen Hurley, Nanticoke; Ellsworth Price, Centreville; John North, Easton. Altogether there are more than 100 known stamp collectors on the Peninsula.

Many Accidents Don't Happen, But Are Caused

"Lubricate For Safety" Is Slogan Of Gulf's Drive

In a recent interview, H. P. Hobart, General Manager of Gulf's Lubricating Sales Department, used a report of the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue to substantiate his belief that many accidents are caused by improper lubrication or by the lack of lubrication. In analyzing this report, Mr. Hobart said, "Out of 80,488 motor vehicles involved in accidents, over 90% were apparently in good condition. The condition of drivers in approximately 40% of the accidents was apparently normal. From these facts the conclusion may be drawn that accidents involve machines which have some mechanical imperfection, even though they appear to be in perfect condition."

Many persons who are driving what they consider to be safe cars are really chauffeuring vehicles that are accident hazards. The lack of proper lubrication, or improper lubrication, causes concealed parts of the steering mechanism, shackle bolts, drag links, and wheel spindles to become so worn that a sudden turn or bump in the road may cause them to snap. When such an event occurs, the driver is left to bring back to control a vehicle that threatens to involve itself, as well as others, in a serious accident.

Play safe—Lubricate for Safety, is the advice of Mr. Hobart.

Excavations at Jamestown, Va., the first American settlement, have unearthed only three silver coins and a number of copper ones indicating that the colonists did most of their trading by swapping.

Pastures Do Better When Given A Breathing Spell

A breathing spell for pastures pays good dividends in more forage and better gains in weight of cattle, according to tests by the Bureau of Animal Industry at the Ardmore field station, Ardmore, S. Dak.

Two-year-old steers grazed continuously on native range stocked at the rate of 1 steer to 10 acres from May 15 to September 14 (122 days), gained 83 pounds per steer as compared with 157 pounds gained by similar steers on alternate grazing but at the same rate of stocking.

It was estimated that from 10 to 15 percent more grass remained at the end of the experiment when the area was grazed alternately than when it was grazed continuously.

Steers receiving a barley supplement of 9.57 pounds per head daily on alternately grazed range gained 297 pounds per head. An additional group fed a barley supplement of 9.8 pounds per head daily for the last 66 days on grass gained 227 pounds per head.
